Dear Seaborg :

Here are two possible alternatives :

1) Thomas Murray . His logic may not be impeccable, but his heart is in the right place, and he might be interested.

2) Farrington Daniels. He is retired on half pay and very active in solar energy. I saw him recently; he looked younger than ever .

The above for what it is worth.

Sincerely,

Leo Szilard

Dear Leo:

I am returning the material that you loaned to me. I had read your article in the Bulletin, but this was some time ago and I needed to refresh my memory on it. I am going to try to read "The Voice of the Dolphins" in its original form.

I enjoyed very much our dinner the other night, and I do hope that you can pursue your ideas with some of the other people who have an interest in this subject.

With best personal regards,

Cordially yours,

Glenn T. Seaborg

Dear Seaborg:

Many thanks for the material which you returned. Attached you will find a few pages which relate to the problem of inspection and which represent a revision of the corresponding pages of "The Dolphins." This revised version is a result of my conversations with our Russian colleagues in Moscow on the topic of inspection.

There is no need for you to return this material.

Sincerely,

Leo Szilard
