

Site License Agreement

from Duke University Press for Use of the Electronic Version of the e-Duke Books Scholarly Collection

NOTE: If your institution has already signed a site license for the e-Duke Books Scholarly Collection, nothing further is required. You do not need to send a license each time you renew.

Duke University Press at [REDACTED] USA, as Owner and Publisher of the e-Duke Books Scholarly Collection, hereby grants to

University of California, San Diego

Name of Licensee

a nontransferable and nonexclusive annual right and license to access, receive, disseminate locally, and use the electronic database of the books included in the e-Duke Books Scholarly Collection, according to the procedures, terms, and conditions set forth in this Agreement; and with the signature below the Licensee accepts these terms.

1. Warranty of Publisher Right to Offer Resource

Duke University Press warrants to the Licensee that it is fully authorized to disseminate, in accordance with the terms and conditions hereof, the Licensed Material; and that the Licensed Material, if used as contemplated in this License, does not in any known way infringe any copyright or other proprietary or intellectual property rights of any natural or legal person. Duke University Press reserves the right to remove any content—in particular, but not limited to, visual images—in cases where it becomes clear that Duke University Press does not hold electronic rights.

2. Scope of License

Access to an electronic database of content from the e-Duke Books Scholarly Collection will be made available to all Internet Protocol (IP) addresses within the domain of the Licensee, as described at the end of this document. All members of the Licensee's campus or institutional community who are authorized to use the computers within this domain are deemed Authorized Users of the site license. Walk-ins are also deemed Authorized Users of the site license, but do not have remote access privileges. For an organization with locations in more than one city, each location is considered to be a separate site and would require a separate license agreement unless a separate agreement could be negotiated between Duke University Press and the Licensee (with or without additional subscription fees being required by Duke University Press). Any such amendments will not be valid unless attached in writing to the License Agreement.

3. Access and Availability

Licensees will have perpetual access to content from the paid year(s). Licensees will have access to back content not previously purchased by the Licensees with a current annual order only.

Duke University Press reserves the right to collect a reasonable ongoing maintenance fee from institutions that are not current customers but wish to maintain access to their purchased content.

Duke University Press, either directly or through a contractor, shall use all reasonable endeavors to make access available on a 24-hour basis. But if access is suspended or interrupted or a defect occurs that prevents access, Duke University Press's liability shall be limited to using all reasonable efforts to restore access as soon as is practicable.

4. Permitted Use and Prohibitions

Authorized Users may view (and print within limits set by Duke University Press) e-Duke Books Scholarly Collection content from the database for their own noncommercial educational and research use, but may not further disseminate this content in its electronic form without express written permission from Duke University Press. It is strictly prohibited for the Licensee to download copies of the entire database for any purpose without express written permission. The Licensee will exercise reasonable efforts to ensure that access to and use of the e-Duke Books Scholarly Collection is

