Euromonitor's Global Market Information Database is a commercially sensitive business reference system. It is important we ensure that our data is only accessible to authorised users within a Subscriber organisation. Authorised users are defined in section I of the User Agreement, current students, faculty and staff of the Subscriber’s institution. The database is NOT available remotely to alumni.

1. On-campus access

On-campus access to the Global Market Information Database is given using IP address recognition. Please complete the IP address range for your university:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Campus name</th>
<th>IP Address range</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>[text removed]</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

• Are members of the public or alumni able to use the library’s resources? If YES, please provide details.

Yes. As a state-funded institution, members of the public are able to use the library's electronic resources from computers located on the library's premises as defined in section 1 of the User Agreement.
2. Remote Access

Under certain circumstances Euromonitor will grant remote access to authorised users of the Global Market Information Database. We offer remote via a Referrer URL.

Please confirm if you want remote access:

- [x] YES
- [ ] NO

If YES go to section 2.1, if NO go to section 3

2.1. Referrer URL

If a Subscriber has a secure network or intranet Euromonitor will register a referrer page from that network or intranet, and authorised remote users will access the database from the referrer page. Euromonitor reserves the right to refuse remote access if security of the referrer page cannot be proved and guaranteed.

Proposed referrer page

There is no special "referrer page" per se.

http://.........n/a.........................

- Explain the security measures in place to keep this page secure. Continue on a separate sheet if necessary.

Users affiliated with UCSD have network names and passwords that are administered as part of central campus IT. Users access library resources remotely through the campus' proxy server, which authenticates the user's user name and password and assigns them a campus IP, so no additional link verification should be necessary.

- Is this page accessible by anyone other than current students, faculty and staff of your institution. If so please give details:

n/a
3. Confirmation of understanding

It is the Subscriber's responsibility to ensure that the Global Market Information Database is available to authorised users only. You must provide accurate IP address information and keep the referrer pages on your network secure. Unauthorised use of data from a Subscriber account will result in the immediate termination of access as documented in Section 3.7 of the User Agreement.

I agree to be bound by the conditions set forth above and confirm that the information supplied is correct.

Introduction

This proposal covers the licensing and use of data available as part of Euromonitor's Global Market Information Database (GMID): an integrated on-line business information system providing key business intelligence on countries, consumers, lifestyles, markets and companies.

Users of GMID

GMID is relevant to anyone who needs international business information: information analysts and market researchers, business development and strategic planning professionals, business consultants, consumer intelligence and marketing professionals and students of international business and marketing.

GMID is particularly well suited to academic libraries and used extensively by the world's top business schools. It is an excellent resource for all types of project work such as market research, international business case studies, scenario planning and comparative analysis.
