

Differences

People
Come in all sizes and colors
We are all unique

But despite our differences
We are the same

We are all human
With blood coursing through our veins
The blood
Allowing us to function and perform our daily routines

As individuals
We all do different things
Take different paths
To fulfill our dreams of reaching the career that we want

But despite our differences
We are the same

As individuals
We respect one another
And help each other through times of trouble
When we need each other the other the most

But despite our differences
WE are one.
