AWARDS AND APPOINTMENTS

Richard Attiyeh, dean of Graduate Studies and Research at the University of California, San Diego, has been appointed Institutional Coordinator for a three-year study on research- doctorate programs in the U.S. conducted by the National Research Council. According to the NCR, the main goal of the study is "to develop and disseminate a compendium of measures which characterize the essential features of the nation's Ph.D. programs in the sciences, engineering, and humanities, in their present state." The study will involve some 300 institutions.
