Speed Up Efforts: Clarke

Papua New Guinea has been told to speed up efforts to achieve key development indicators to meet the United Nation's Millennium Development Goals (MDG) before 2015.

The Millennium Development Goals are eight goals that respond to the world's main development challenges, and are drawn from the actions and targets contained in the Millennium Declaration that was adopted by 189 nations and signed by 147 Heads of State and Government during the UN Millennium Summit in September 2000.

Visiting UNDP Administrator and Chair of the UN Development Group, Ms Helen Clarke says Papua New Guinea would not be able to achieve any of UN's development goals by 2015 if its does not change the approach and step up efforts to close the widening gap within the five year timeframe.

Promoting gender equality and empowering women, reducing HIV/AIDS, poverty alleviation, achieving universal primary education, reducing child mortality and ensuring environmental sustainability are some of the important goals that the UN wants to see marked improvements in developing countries within five years.

Speaking during the launch of the second national Millennium Development Goals Progress Report for PNG on February 15 in Port Moresby, Ms Clarke said the PNG national report had identified HIV/AIDS as the single most impediment for the achievement of MDG in the country.

"It indicates that if the present HIV incidence rate continues to climb, it is unlikely that any of the Millennium Development Goals will be achieved in the foreseeable future," she said.

Ms Clarke said things would need to be done differently for countries like Papua New Guinea to transform their prospects and meet the Millennium Development Goals deadline.

She said the UN is ready to help Papua New Guinea to design and implement policies which go beyond the conventional small projects to bring about systematic change for better in critical areas like health, education, gender equality and poverty reduction.

"The MDG is important but its objectives cannot be fully achieved without localizing it at the regional and provincial levels on a pilot basis, with the aim of gradually localizing the MDG in all provinces, districts and local level governments," the Minister for National Planning and Development, Hon. Paul Tiensten said during the launch of PNG's second progress report.

The main focus of UNDP Administrator's visit to Papua New Guinea was to access the achievements the country has made to Millennium Development Goals with particular interest on gender, HIV/AIDS and human rights issues.

In 2001, in response to world leaders' request, UN Secretary General presented the Road Map Towards the Implementation of the United Nations Millennium Declaration, an integrated and comprehensive overview of the situation, outlining potential strategies for action designed to meet the goals and commitments of the Millennium declaration.

The road map has been followed up since then with annual reports focusing on progress made on the eight goals, twenty-one quantifiable targets and sixty indicators of the Millennium Development Goals.

During her visit, Ms Clarke paid courtesy calls on the Governor General, Sir Paulias Matane, the Prime Minister, Sir Michael Somare, and the Foreign Affairs and Trade Minister, Hon. Sam Abal.

She also met and held discussions with UNDP Regional Director for Asia and Pacific, Ajay Chibber, UNDP Resident Representative, David McLachlan Karr and other UNDP officials. (more on page 4) ■

Entities Partner To Develop Indigenous Oil Industry

Chief Executive Officer of Prime Management Services, Mr. Stephen John Rose in foreground with equipment bound for the Western Province.

Two corporate entities operating in Papua New Guinea have teamed up to develop an essential indigenous oil industry in the remote Morehead area of South Fly District of the Western Province.

This follows the formal announcement of an agreement of the joint venture arrangement to develop the industry by PNG Sustainable Development Programme Limited and Prime Management Services PNG Limited at a press conference at the Ela Beach Hotel in Port Moresby on February 2.

The company that will develop the indigenous oil industry is called Waria Wari Oil Company Limited with a shareholding structure of 40/60 PNGSDP and PMSL respectively.

This translates to a start up investment of K1 million by PNGSDP and K1.5 million by Prime Management Services Limited.

The joint venture partners have signed a shareholder agreement recently that contracts Mr. Stephen John Rose to manage the business.

Chief Programme Officer of PNGSDP, Mr Camillus Midire while announcing the commencement said it is a milestone achievement for the joint venture partners in the development of oil industry.

He expressed satisfaction on the arrangement and said he was pleased with the managing partner Mr Stephen Rose who used to own Melacare Australia, and agribusiness specialised in tea tree cultivation, oil extraction, product development and marketing internationally.

Meanwhile, Chief Executive Officer of PNGSDP, Mr David Sode said he has established a trust which will hold its 40% shares in the WWO Company for resource owners until the business is profitable and stable when the shares will be discharged to the resource owners.

He said in the meantime Chief Programme Officer, Mr Midire will be the trustee of the fund.

It was also announced at the press conference that PNGSDP has allocated K1 million grant to support economic infrastructure, maintenance and development to support the business.

Managing Director of Waria Waria Oil Company, Mr Stephen Rose said discussions have been held with PNG Microfinance to extend its banking services into the area to handle the volume of cash that is expected to flow into the communities from this project and to provide financial services to the general community.

He told journalists that the business is based on harvesting and distilling leaves of the tree Asteromyrtus symphyocarpa (locally known as waria waria oil) to extract the oil.

"This is a native plant that produces high quality oil that can be used for medicinal, cosmetic and industrial purposes," he said.

He said based on several tests carried out by universities such as Southern Cross University in Lismore, Australia, the waria waria oil is proven to be consistently smooth with superior oil characteristics.

The joint venture commenced feasibility studies into commercializing the production and distillation of the waria waria oil in February 2008.

They believe that the waria waria oil project is going to be a low-cost and high impact project in the South Fly District.

Financial modelling of the project also indicates that this venture is likely to be a profitable one.

Twenty villages, with a population of some two thousand families will benefit directly from the project through various engagements in the oil industry and approximately, thirty local jobs will be created.

The investment is part of the overall objective of PNGSDP to promote sustainable development and bring about income earning opportunities, especially for the people of Western Province after life of Ok Tedi Mine. ■

New Zealand Supports Smallholder Farmers

The New Zealand Government will provide K3.7 million over the next two and a half years to the Smallholder Support Services Expansion Project in Papua New Guinea.

This joint project between New Zealand and the Government of Papua New Guinea aims to help improve the quality of life for smallholder farmers and their families by increasing their access to agriculture support services and technical assistance through the National Department of Agriculture and Livestock.

"More than 80 percent of PNG's population live in rural areas and they largely rely on agriculture for their livelihoods.

"Many small farmers have limited access to technical knowledge to improve their agriculture practices and engage in markets. The assistance that the Smallholder Support Services Expansion Project provides is aimed at addressing this issue and contributing to increased household income and standards of living.

"Strengthening and expanding the project will ensure that it continues in the years to come and reaches more people in PNG," New Zealand High Commissioner to PNG, Mr Niels Holm said.

The Smallholder Support Services Expansion Project builds on a pilot project in Eastern Highlands and Morobe provinces.

The majority of the funding comes from the Government of Papua New Guinea, and New Zealand's funding will help extend the programmes to the Central and Simbu provinces, institutionalize the project's processes and systems, and support involvement by women in the scheme.

New Zealand works to support sustainable development in PNG, and contributes to improving service delivery in health and education, and improving livelihood opportunities for rural people.

In addition to supporting the Smallholder Support Services Expansion Project, the NZAID programme supports a number of other economic development initiatives, which focus on the rural population. ■

Sir Salamo Reminds New Lawyers To Uphold Court Standards

Chief Justice, Sir Salamo Injia has called on more than 40 new lawyers to be ethical in their profession during their admission to the bar early this month.

Sir Salamo said many lawyers go off-track many times and they need to be reminded of their service to the country.

"Your personal character is very important. You need to check yourselves and see if you're really a proper person for this profession. Self discipline comes in line with all that," he said.

Sir Salamo said lawyers drinking excessively in public and doing other unlawful things had to conduct themselves properly.

"Being an example, having good ethics are just some of the things that you as a lawyer should consider," he told them.

Sir Salamo reminded the newly admitted lawyers that their functions and duties were to help the people of this country, to bring their grievances to court.

"You have to be honest in your duties in court because the bulk of the population will depend on your ability. Honesty must always prevail in your line of duties in court," he stressed.

Upon welcoming the new lawyers, Sir Salamo also told them that the legal profession was the oldest profession and many people had always wanted to be part of it.

"But only people with dedication and commitment get into the system. The country needs this dedication and commitment by those who choose to be," he said.

The event saw the largest number in history, where 84 lawyers were admitted two days after their graduation at the Legal Training Institute (LTI).

During the admission briefing at the Court House, Justice Salamo Injia took half of the graduates in Courtroom 1 while the other half of the group was taken by Deputy Chief Justice Gibbs Salika in Courtroom 10. ■

New Commander Assures Nation's Security

Papua New Guinea and its people have been assured of the security of sovereignty from a revitalised defence force.

And that's from the newly appointed Defence Force Commander, Brigadier General, Francis Agwi.

He gave this assurance when he was sworn into office as the 13th Commander of the PNGDF during the hand-over, take-over ceremony at the Defence Force headquarters at Murray Barracks in Port Moresby recently.

General Agwi said more loyalty will be demanded from the members of the force at all levels.

"I will demand more loyalty from the Force and team work will also be one of the main agendas which are vital for the progress of PNG and the Force.

"I will also demand more accountability from officers to scrutinize themselves as a force in the service of Papua New Guinea in my term as Commander," he said.

He told the ceremonial parade that Papua New Guinea needs a vibrant and credible Defence Force, which will make sure the nation's security and sovereignty are well guarded.

He said revitalization in the force is also necessary to make it more capable and active at rank and command.

Colonel Agwi also assured the soldiers that he intends to work closely with bilateral partners for more technical assistance and training in the force.

He said he will work closely with his Minister, Hon. Bob Dadae and Secretary, Fred Punangi to seek government advice on issues affecting the Force.

Meanwhile, the out-going Commander, Commodore Peter Ilau who has been at the helm of the Defence Force for eight years urged the troops to focus on their way forward.

He also told them to be determined to protect national security with passion and patience.

"You must do this today for a better tomorrow. You also need vision and this must also come from your perseverance, commitment and loyalty," he told the soldiers. ■

More Text Books For Schools

More primary and community schools in Papua New Guinea will now have access to millions of new text books, thanks to the Australian High Commission in Port Moresby and the Education Department.

And to begin the distribution, Australian High Commissioner to PNG, Ian Kemish and Education Secretary, Dr Joseph Pagelio were at Erima Primary School in Port Moresby on February 11 to present new textbooks to the school.

The delivery to Erima is part a program to provide textbooks to PNG's more-than 3,400 primary and community schools and also to teachers colleges.

More than 539,000 textbooks were selected by PNG Department of Education for primary curriculum officers and funded by the Australian Government.

"I am very pleased that this is one of my first official duties in PNG. This is a very important and worthwhile program.

"Australia is pleased to support the PNG Government efforts to provide increased access to education for PNG's children and to help improve the quality of their education.

"Prime Ministers, Sir Michael Somare and Kevin Rudd agreed last year to focus on increasing the enrolment rate of children in primary school by around 20 per cent by 2015. This means an extra 300,000 Papua New Guinean children will get a chance at a primary education," Mr Kernish said.

Secretary, Dr Pagelio said the Government of PNG had set the ball rolling in the right direction on this by announcing that this year, there will be no fees for students in Elementary Prep and Grades one and two.

"But of course, it's not just about getting more children into school. We also have to focus on making sure that the resources are there for teachers to teach these children and that is what this textbook distribution program is all about," he said.

Provincial Divisions of Education are coordinating the distribution of textbooks in each province with support from AusAID and the National Department of Education.

Pallets of books are currently being sent to each provincial capital from Port Moresby and Lae.

The text Books will begin reaching schools in Central Province this month, along with those in Madang, Eastern and Western Highlands and Sandaun provinces.

Deliveries to schools throughout the country will follow soon after which is likely to be completed by the middle of the year.

The packs contain maths, science and language texts for Grades 6, 7 and 8. These books complement the educational materials procured by the European Commission, which will be delivered to schools later in the year. ■

What Are The Millennium Devt Goals?

The Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) are eight goals to be achieved by 2015 that respond to the world's main development challenges.

The MDGs are drawn from the actions and targets contained in the Millennium Declaration that was adopted by 189 nations and signed by 147 Heads of State and Governments during the UN Millennium Summit in September 2000.

The eight MDGs are:

- Goal 1: Eradicate extreme poverty and hunger
- Goal 2: Achieve universal primary education
- Goal 3: Promote gender equality and empower women
- Goal 4: Reduce child mortality
- Goal 5: Improve maternal health
- Goal 6: Combat HIV/AIDS, malaria and other diseases
- Goal 7: Ensure environmental sustainability
- Goal 8: Develop a Global Partnership for Development

Some of the MDG targets are:

many of the most important commitments made separately at the international conferences and summits of the 1990s;

- recognise explicitly the interdependence between growth, poverty reduction and sustainable development;
- acknowledge that development rests on the foundations of democratic governance, the rule of law, respect for human rights and peace and security;
- are based on time-bound and measurable targets accompanied by indicators for monitoring progress; and ➢ bring together, in the eighth Goal, the responsibilities of developing countries with those of developed countries, founded on a global partnership endorsed at the International Conference on Financing for Development in Monterrey, Mexico in March 2002, and again at the Johannesburg World Summit on Sustainable Development in August 2002.

Implementation of the MDGs

In 2001, in response to the world leaders' request, UN Secretary

General presented the Road Map Towards the Implementation of the United Nations Millennium Declaration, an integrated and comprehensive overview of the situation, outlining potential strategies for action designed to meet the goals and commitments of the Millennium Declaration.

The road map has been followed up since then with annual reports. In 2002, the annual report focused on progress made in the prevention of armed conflict and the treatment and prevention of diseases, including HIV/AIDS and Malaria. In 2003, emphasis was placed on strategies for development and strategies for sustainable development. In 2004, it was on bridging the digital divide and curbing transnational crime.

In 2005, the Secretary-General prepared the first comprehensive five-yearly report on progress toward achieving the MDGs.

The report reviews the implementation of decisions taken at the international conferences and special sessions on the least developed countries, progress on HIV/AIDS and financing for development and sustainable development. ■

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

PNG Acknowledges UAE Help

Papua New Guinea is thankful to the United Arab Emirates (UAE) for its support in acquiring the State's equity in the LNG Project through the Dubai-based International Petroleum Investment Company (IPIC).

The Independent Public Business Corporation (IPBC) has successfully negotiated for these funds from IPIC for the State's equity in the gas project.

Prime Minister, Grand Chief Sir Michael Somare met with the Foreign Affairs Minister of the United Arab Emirates, Sheikh Abdulla Bin Zayed Al Nahyan in his Morauta Haus Office and expressed the gratitude.

The Arab leader who arrived in Port Moresby on a private jet with a 19-member delegation held bilateral talks with PNG government officials.

Sheikh Nahayan said the UAE is looking towards concluding "off take" agreements with the developers of the PNG LNG projects.

Sir Michael said the visit opens the way for further talks on building trade and investment, as well as establishing formal diplomatic relations between PNG and the United Arab Emirates.

Both leaders agreed to have the two governments look into the possibility of opening up resident embassies in their respective capital cities.

The Prime Minister also discussed the possibility of concluding a Double Taxation Avoidance Agreement and an Investment Promotion Protection Agreement between the two countries to further promote trade and investment.

"Both countries can learn from each other. The UAE is a world leader in business and communication and has established a conducive environment that has attracted investments the world over. PNG can learn a lot from the UAE."

"On the other hand, we have a lot of natural resources, which we are keen to establish markets for in the UAE," Sir Michael said.

Dubai, one of the UAE's seven Emirates or Provinces, is the trading hub of the Middle East.

Sir Michael said PNG's unique link with the UAE was further strengthened through the engagement of Papua New Guinea pilots, Chief Pilots Captain Granger Narara and several other experienced pilots who are flying our flag there. ■

Hannema Undertakes Further Military Training

U.S. Ambassador to PNG, Teddy B. Taylor, former PNG Defense Commander, Commodore Peter Ilau and Lieutenant Commander, Alexon Hannema participant of the U.S. Naval Command and Staff College.

PNGDF Lieutenant Commander, Alexon Hannema departed for the United States early this month to study at the US Naval Command and Staff College on Rhode Island.

The course is designed to prepare Middle Management Officers with management skills for senior command and control responsibilities and appointments both at the administrative and operational levels within their Defence organizations.

US Ambassador to PNG, Teddy Taylor when congratulating LCDR Hannema said: "Participation in the five-months training is an indication of the United States' continued engagement with the Pacific in the field of military training and the development of future leaders in the PNG Defense Force.

"We will continue to support Pacific Islanders in this way, so they are able to contribute positively to their countries upon completion of their studies."

LCDR Hannema is Acting Director of Technical Services of the PNG Defence Force based at Murray Barracks. He holds a Bachelor of Engineering - Electrical from the University of Technology in Lae.

Each year, around 600 outstanding mid-career level officers of the Navy, all other U.S. services, civilian federal agencies and international naval officers go to the U.S. Naval War College as resident students to pursue a rigorous course of postgraduate studies.

Over half the graduates of the college's senior international course, the Naval Command College, have gone on to become flag or general officers, and more than 190 have been chosen to head their respective services.

The Naval War College's Professional Military Education curriculum focuses on three core areas: Strategy and Policy, National Security Decision Making and Joint Military Operations. ■

"It is a pleasure to have you back in the country and I assure you that my government will continue to strengthen the cordial bilateral ties we have with Australia," Sir Michael said.

He said Mr Kernish's background knowledge of the country would enable him to settle in easily.

Sir Michael invited Mr Kernish to visit other provinces as well to see and experience the variety of cultures.

"I am more than happy to come back and serve in the place where I grew up and I would be looking forward to working closely with everyone," Mr Kernish said. ■

Ministers Greeted Warmly

West New Britain people displayed colorful traditional performances to welcome the Prime Minister and Cabinet Minister for the National Executive Council meeting in Kimbe.

And the Prime Minister who was so impressed with the warm hospitality had this to say: "The courtesies extended to us have been second to none. It has, in fact, defined, for many of us what 'Pasim West' might mean."

He has thanked the people for the warm traditional welcome at the airport.

"PNG is indeed a country rich in culture and tradition and this Province has once again brought this to the fore.

"I was indeed proud to see our school children and ordinary people lining the road from the airport to Kimbe town to welcome their leaders.

"I wish to thank the parents, teachers and the school children for braving the heat to make us feel welcome."

"I also thank the churches for leading the dedication service," the Prime Minister expressed.

He said in a sense, it vindicated the Government's decision to bring the National Executive Council meeting to Kimbe.

This is the first NEC meeting ever in West New Britain and the first for 2010. ■

WNB Performance Impressive

The high economic performance of the West New Britain province has received commendable reward from the National Government.

And to compliment the good achievement of the province, the National Executive Council meeting in Kimbe has approved a funding package of K42 million to finance ten high impact provinces.

Prime Minister, Sir Michael Somare made the announcement at the farewell dinner at the Kimbe Catholic Hall on Thursday, February 18.

"I am of the firm view that we should seriously consider rewarding high performing provinces by allocating more budgetary support and resources.

"I am happy to announce that the NEC has approved the funding of the projects submitted by the province for funding under the Public Investment Program.

"These projects have been fully reviewed and their detailed project documentations have been submitted to the Government," Sir Michael said.

He said the national Government has also provided funding for District markets.

He said West New Britain is one of the few provinces that actually utilizes what Waigani allocates through the annual nation budget.

"It is therefore not surprising that the economic activity from this province continues to contribute significantly to the national purse.

"Nowhere is this impressive performance more evident than in your flagship produce, the oil palm industry.

He said the province deserved closer attention from the national government. ■

Women In Parliament

Women in West New Britain have been asked to lobby support from their political leaders for women MPs in Parliament.

The leadership of the Provincial Council of Women raised their concerns with the Minister for Community Development, Dame Carol Kidu and relayed to the Prime Minister in Kimbe during the recent NEC meeting.

"Let me assure the women of West New Britain that your concerns have been brought to my attention and the National Government will be addressing them.

"Many of them, might I add, are similar to those raised by other women groups around the country.

"On the National Council of Women Act, I am advised by my Minister for Community Development that she intends to bring to Parliament this Bill in the March sitting," Prime Minister Somare told a dinner gathering.

In relation to the reserved seats for women in Parliament, Sir Michael has reaffirmed that his Government is committed to ensuring that seats specifically designed for women are made available in Parliament.

"It would assist the Government greatly, if you women from all corners of our country, could lobby Members of Parliament, especially from your electorates, to lend their support to Government's efforts when it comes on the floor of Parliament," Sir Michael said. ■

CJ Calls For Cooperation In Judiciary

Chief Justice, Sir Salamo Injia has called on different tiers of the judiciary to seriously work together this year.

Sir Salamo made this call during the swearing-in of the new Chief Magistrate, Jack August, which was witnessed by the superior hierarchy of the judiciary.

"We are one team; we basically do the same work although at different levels," he said.

He said some areas need to be attended to immediately and some require long term planning.

"But if we work together I think we can achieve our goals.

"We sit in courts basically and our functions and establishments are governed by the law so we seriously need to corporate.

"One thing for judicial officers, managers and staff in the judiciary system, our responsibility is to say what the law should be. And to live by the law and operate within the framework that is set by law," he said.

Sir Salamo said by reminding everyone that they started with the law and they should finish with the law.

Meanwhile, the new Chief Magistrate thanked the Chief Justice and said he was looking forward to working along with him and everyone else.

Mr August stated that he would start his new office with the challenge from Sir Salamo and that was 'to operate within the law, start with the law and end with the law.'

In the welcoming the new Chief Magistrate, Sir Salamo urged Mr August to work and improve the relations between the two courts, adding that, closer relations would improve productivity.

Mr August said he was privileged to be considered by the Joint Legal Services Commission for the job, pointing out that he was committed to the magisterial services.

Mr August served as the Principal Magistrate in Vanimo in the last five years and has also served in the Enga Province.

He comes from the West New Britain Province. ■

Public Prosecutors Office Gets New Vehicles

The Public Prosecutors Office has received five new vehicles from PNG Motors recently.

One car will be for use the head office in Port Moresby, while the other four will be transported to the other offices in Goroka, Mt Hagen, Kimbe and Kokopo.

Acting Public Prosecutor, Mr Jim

Wala Tamate said the new vehicles would be very helpful as they previously had only one 15 seater bus which had been transporting lawyers and doing administration runs at the same time for many years.

"Security is a priority for the lawyers. Their safety and their daily mobility needs are now taken care of by the government with the purchase of these new cars," he said.

Mr Tamate said with the plan for his office to move forward to become autonomous, this was a step forward for them.

The vehicles costing more than K430,000 were presented to Mr Tamate and other senior officers by the PNG Motors, General Sales Manager Steve Clark. ■

Reflection On Wear Red Initiative

World Aids Day 2009 may have been another tipping point in the educational response to HIV/AIDS in Papua New Guinea.

The enormity of the change in perception and understanding were evidenced by the red ribbons hanging on major buildings and workers and school children wearing red on December 1.

This was BAHA's third Wear Red campaign. There is also some valuable lessons to learn from the BAHA wear red campaign – some of them obvious in hindsight and some less obvious.

The first lesson is that, while HIV educational awareness has been on going in PNG, we have until recently been unable to seriously bring the strands of information together to ensure that the public were listening and acting on the challenge.

Disconnection from educational message to personal actions has always been a problem. It is often the case that only when people are personally confronted with HIV themselves, does the understanding become clear and behavior change make take place.

The second lesson is that the effect in the private sector has when they strongly enter the HIV and AIDS response as a partner is enormous. In the case of PNG, it was the Business Coalition against HIV/AIDS (BAHA). Through BAHA, the level of the response was elevated through cost effective measures that included:

- The Wear Red and Red Ribbon on buildings campaigns
- The toll free info lines that now do on average over 200 calls a day
- An extensive on line internet data base of HIV service organisations, health centres, testing clinics and care and support facilities.

- A rollout of 250 workplace policies that ensure proper training of workers on HIV and a non discriminatory response to dealing with HIV in the work place.
- A monthly newsletter sent to over 20,000 people per month.

BAHA has also proven to be valuable in bolstering the response of church groups, NGO's and Aid Agencies.

The third lesson is that the Wear Red and Red Ribbons on Buildings and the BAHA success has led to similar type interventions in the Pacific. The latest was the opening of BAHA Fiji - a member of the Asia Pacific Business Coalition on HIV & AIDS and a sister organisation to BAHA PNG. The red ribbon on buildings and wear red campaign will increasingly be used in Fiji. Hopefully this method of raising awareness will lap against the shores of all Pacific Island states in time.

The fourth lesson is less obvious but will require further work and re interpretation over coming World Aids day activities. Many that participated, either through red ribbons on buildings or wore red, talked about a "celebration" of World Aids day. Whether this is just an incorrect use of language or actually viewed as a celebration, we need a refinement of the message to ensure that Word Aids day is more about reflection, than celebration. -reflection of where we are at on HIV/AIDS; what we can do to help prevent HIV.

The fifth lesson is more spiritual, or if not, about the power of group consciousness. A number of writers and religious order throughout ages have spoken about the tipping point and how group consciousness can create rapid change in thinking until what is uncommon becomes common.

A HIV/AIDS red ribbon hanging over the Deloitte Tower in downtown Port Moresby.

The response to HIV&AIDS as a conscious contribution on WAD and to becoming invited in thinking about HIV started off a few years ago with only a few. This year, the number had risen to thousands taking the BAHA initiatives by displaying red ribbons from their establishments.

The exciting thing about the technological age is that it can actually accelerate group consciousness. With collaborative efforts from Digicel and B Mobile, we were able to successfully coordinate HIV messages on wear red and display red ribbons from buildings on WAD via extended texting. The message also lifts the spread of consciousness in creating a tipping point of thinking.

The Wear Red and Red Ribbon on Buildings is proving to be an effective method for getting community involvement in HIV education and awareness.

It cannot be the only method, nor is it as effective in remote rural areas. However it does provide a level of focus on the issue not seen before and a good platform for community engagement. ■

Increased PNG/United Arab Emirates Ties Envisaged

Governor General has received His Highness, Sheikh Abdullah Bin Zayed Al Nehyan, Minister for Foreign Affairs of the United Arab Emirates (UAE) and his high level delegation at Government House on the morning of February 12.

Mr. Al Nehyan and his delegation were on a two-day visit to PNG to promote cooperative relations between the two countries.

This visit is the first of its kind from the UAE.

In his welcome, Grand Chief Sir Paulias pointed out the unique relationship that shared between PNG and the U.A.E, which has seen many of our pilots flying the UAE's largest passenger jets in the world, most notably Chief Pilot Capt. Granger Narara.

And in recent years, about ten Papua New Guineans have traveled to the UAE to take up studies and take-up residency there.

He remarked on the strong economic climate in the UAE, that despite the country's small population, its Gross Domestic Product is a staggering US$200,000,000,000 per annum with earnings of US$41,800 per capital income.

He said, Papua New Guinea has a lot to offer in terms of its natural resources and invited the UAE's Foreign Minister and his delegation to explore potentials for investment in the country.

The Governor General further expressed that he would like to see PNG and UAE work together to develop trade and diplomatic relations as a stepping stone towards closer ties between our two countries.

"I would like to see our two countries develop diplomatic relations as soon as possible so we can have representations in our two countries. From there we can move towards having an honorary consul established in PNG and UAE and residential ambassadors from our two countries. We should do that immediately," Sir Paulias said.

In response, Mr. Al Nehyan expressed to the Governor General that his country and Government appreciated the invitation for the establishment of formal ties between the two nations.

Mr Al Nehyan assured that he will take this matter up with his Government and its European Head of Mission for a formal exchange of diplomatic notes between our two countries.

"We are interested in encouraging close relationship with countries in the Pacific. Though, we may be distant, we should look at building fruitful relationship as a stepping stone towards closer mutual relations," Mr Al Nehyan said.

He expressed that PNG is in a unique position and this has been made possible with the recruitment of our national pilots to UAE.

"We would like to request your Government to have an open sky policy to allow the Arab Emirates to operate in PNG and perhaps set up connection flights from PNG. PNG can be seen as the hub of flights for the Arab Emirates to other destinations in Asia and Pacific. Don't you think it will be good to see your own national pilots fly and land the Emirates planes in PNG? An open sky policy will enable many opportunities for our two countries," Mr Al Nehyan said.

The Arab Emirates operates 82 weekly flights to Australia.

Mr Al Nehyan also made it known that his country is interested in investing in PNG, particularly the LNG project.

Last year, an agreement was concluded between the national Government through the Independent Public Business Corporation and International Petroleum Investment Company, owned by the Abu Dhabi Government, which saw PNG being issued an 'exchangeable bond' covering its equity stake in Oil Search for A$1.681.000,000.

Mr Al Nehyan said, the UAE is serious about pursuing and enhancing bilateral and trade relations with PNG and called for the establishment of the protection of investment agreement to be put in place immediately.

"We want to foster relationship between our two countries. We are serious about this," he said.

Mr. Al Nehyan and his delegation left Port Moresby on Monday. ■

GG Praises Clarke's PNG Visit

Governor General has applauded the visit of former New Zealand Prime Minister and current Administrator of United Nations Development Programme, Ms Helen Clark to the country recently.

Sir Paulias said, the visit of Ms Clark fortifies the work of UNDP in PNG and is in itself an assurance of UNDP's continuous partnership with the Government to address development issues in the country.

He made this known during Ms. Clarks visit to Government House on Saturday, February 13.

He said, PNG is working towards achieving the United Nations Millennium Development Goals, especially in the areas of health, education and gender equality.

He paid tribute to the former UNDP country representative, Dr Jacqueline Badcock for her tireless efforts and active participation in supporting and establishing policies to address social issues in PNG.

He said UNDP had been particularly active in supporting women in politics and in ensuring the bill to have women in Parliament is realized.

The outcome of the bill will be known when Parliament convenes in March.

Sir Paulias said, as far as gender equality is concerned, New Zealand provides a distinctive model which PNG can learn from and emulate.

Governor General, Sir Paulias meeting the UNDP Administrator, Ms. Helen Clarke at Government House on February 13, 2010.

Women have held top positions in Government in the form of Dame Silvia Cartwright as Governor General, Ms Helen Clark as Prime Minister and Dame Sian Elias as Chief Justice of New Zealand.

He assured her that the work of UNDP in PNG is being appreciated, adding that the recently launched National Development Plan 2010-2050 highlights issues that are being promoted by the United Nations Development Programme.

In response, Ms Clark remarked that PNG is now at a stage of exciting changes, especially in regards to the abundant natural resources available to it.

She said, the liquefied natural gas project will bring enormous wealth to the country.

She said, these changes provide PNG the opportunity to push for improvements in the health and education sectors and to seriously address gender issues in all sections of the country.

Ms Clark said UNDP will continue to support the national Government in this area and recommended that these issues be incorporated into the education curriculum for all schools throughout the country.

"There will be social issues and so it will be good to have this as part of the education curriculum to teach young people how to budget their money, have access to health care and do away with alcohol consumption and gambling, these are vices. It all comes back to education," Ms Clark said.

She added that another matter of concern is corruption, and said, it is important to also include ethics early in education as a means of addressing corruption in society.

Ms Clark assured that UNDP stands ready to assist the Government tackle these issues and meet the UN Millennium Development Goals. ■

Develop Positive Leadership Skills: Sir Paulias

Governor General, Sir Paulias Matane has called on all church ministers to provide positive leadership to their congregations and ministries.

This is to enable them to become role models to church communities in their communities.

He made the call when speaking at the commencement of the Formators Course at Xavier Institute at Bomana outside Port Moresby on Monday, February 15, 2010.

Sir Paulias said, church leaders and ministers are closer to the people and therefore play a vital role in transforming the lives of individuals for the better.

He alluded to the book of Psalms 15:1-5 as the basis of his talk on leadership qualities and urged the participants to apply the counsel found in this verse in their daily activities.

"A leader is one who possesses integrity, does what is right, is honest and trustworthy, does not gossip or listen to gossip, does no harm to others, speaks out against wrong, honors others, keeps his word even if it costs him, is not greedy or gains at the expense of others, does not accept bribes and is strong and steady," Sir Paulias said.

He said, while the term

'leadership' is viewed by many as being in charge of certain responsibilities, often by an elite group of people in church, politics and business, every individual can acquire true leadership qualities as found in the Bible and live according to its teachings.

He said, individuals and church ministers who acquire such godly qualities are those who will contribute towards a healthy society and influence those in their communities to do the same.

Sir Paulias said, the breakdown of morals in our society has given rise to many social ills as seen in the rise of law and order problems and HIV/AIDS.

He said, despite these drawbacks, there is still opportunity for positive change and urged participants of the Formators Course to be agents of change wherever they serve.

He further urged the participants to set positive goals and work towards achieving these goals with total honesty, commitment and perseverance.

Xavier Institute is a Catholic Institution founded by the Conference of Women Religious of PNG and Solomon Islands in 1970. The Institute provides courses and programmes for Brothers, Sisters and Priests on the subject of leadership, preparation for final commitment as religious people and personal renewal. ■

Have A Will For Your Assets

A will is a legal document. It allows you to choose who receives your belongings and assets after you die.

A will can also be used to appoint a guardian to look after children until they can look after themselves.

Apart from these obvious advantages, a will can save the expense and possible squabbles that may arise when a person dies without a will.

Should I make a Will?

Everyone should have a will. A will is the only way you can tell others how you want your assets to be distributed after your death. It is the only way you can provide for people who may depend on you financially, e.g. children.

Of course it's always easy to put it off. Robert Holmes-a-Court didn't have a will when he died. He had one prepared, but he spent months carrying it around in his briefcase and didn't get round to signing it. Fortunately for his wife, his children were prepared to not claim their substantial entitlements under intestacy rules.

Even if you only own a few assets, it's worth making a will so that you can ensure what happens to those assets after you die. If you don't have a will, your assets will be distributed according to intestacy rules. These rules apply to everyone and do not take account of your individual circumstances or what you may have wanted. A recent amendment to the legislation enables distribution by custom which may depending on the practice in the particular area, exclude the passing of your assets to your spouse or children entirely.

A will also allows you to choose a person to manage the distribution of your assets. This person is called an executor. If you don't have a will, your assets are distributed by a court-appointed person called an administrator.

What laws apply?

The Wills Probate and Administration Act Ch 291 covers details such as:

- the validity of wills;
- the granting of administration;
- the formula for distributing assets when there is no will;

- rectifying wills etc.

The Land Registration Act 191 includes provisions for the transmission of a deceased's land in accordance with the Public Curator Act Ch 81

The Public Curator Act Ch 81 deals with the duties of the Public Curator. This is a government office that administers estates and takes possession of property belonging to a deceased who has died intestate..

The National Court Rules sets out the procedure for applying for Administration of an estate and Probate.

If a Person dies without a Will what will happen under law?

Under law if you die without a will, all land to which you have title, plus all other possessions which you own such as motor vehicles, cash in the bank, shares in companies and so on (collectively the Property) come under the authority of the State through the Public Curator.

The Public Curator has wide ranging powers including the right to take immediate possession of the property and to sell any or all the property if he believes it is appropriate to do so.

What is the process at the Public Curators Office?

The process is commenced by completing a standard form at the PCO listing down all the persons entitled to benefit from the Property of the Deceased (the Beneficiaries) and all the Property owned by the Deceased. (In terms of Beneficiaries it should be noted that initially, only the children and wife of the deceased could rightfully claim the Property of a Deceased. A recent amendment allows for the transmission of Property by way of custom).

Upon payment of the relevant fees, the Public Curator undertakes the process of applying for administration which includes the preparation of court papers to pursue the application through the National Court.

After advertising the intent to apply for administration and provided there is no claim lodged against the Property of the deceased or no dispute as to the Beneficiaries, the Curator then seeks Administration of the Property through the National Court.

Once administration is granted, the Curator distributes the Property amongst the Beneficiaries in accordance with the percentages set out in the Wills Probate and Administration Act.

In the event there is no claim against the Property of the deceased and there are no issues as between beneficiaries the application for grant of administration is not heard in open court but is a matter dealt with by the Registrar of the Court.

If a person dies and has a Will what will happen under law?

Under Law, any Property belonging to the deceased is to be distributed in accordance with what is set out in the Will.

What is the process?

A Will must always contain provision for the appointment of an Executor.

The job of the executor is to distribute the Property of the deceased according to what is set out in the will.

The Executor must apply for "probate" to the National Court in a similar manner as applying for "administration" where a person dies without a will. This involves the preparation and filing of the appropriate court documents seeking the grant of probate and the advertising of the intention to apply.

If no claim is made against the deceased and on the grant of probate by the Court, the executor distributes the Property in accordance with the Will.

The significant difference and advantage in leaving a will is that once probate is granted, the Executor distributes the Property of the deceased in accordance with what is set out in the will.

This eliminates any doubt associated with who should be receiving what Property and will ensure that provision is made for surviving family members.

For all persons who hold any form of Real Property there is simply no argument against the necessity to prepare a will. ■

PNG Pilot Enters The Guinness Book of Records

Aveteran Papua New Guinean airline pilot serving in the Middle East has entered the Guinness Book of Records for extra ordinary achievement.

PNG's Captain Granger Narara, who is Etihad Airways' vice president flight operations, flew into the record books as he piloted an Etihad Airbus A330-200 in formation with a Sukhoi Su-26 and an Extra-300S, two stunt planes.

Granger grew up as a faithful young Christian in the Nazarene Church at Kudjip, where his father worked and later moved to Port Moresby, and became an active member of the Boroko Nazarene Church Youth Ministry under the mentor of missionary, Rev. Wallace White.

While there he was flying for Air Niugini.

A radio evangelist says Captain Narara's rise to greater heights in the aviation industry is a testimony of his commitment and dedication to God as a devout Christian.

Pastor Jack Edwards of the Radio Light Ministry, while expressing his joy in Captain Narara's achievement said other professional people in Papua New Guinea can rise up in their careers and put this country on the world map.

As a talented Christian musician, Narara served as a worship leader at the Boroko Nazarene Church and opened his home at Korobosea to the street boys of Badili, Kaugere, Koki and Sabama while flying Dash 8 aircraft with Air Niugini.

Some of the 'street boys' Narara groomed are now preaching the Gospel of Jesus Christ as pastors. They are; Rev. Ako Arua, Rev. Nick Efi and Pastor Jack Edwards.

Mr Imai Kara is a faithful Christian serving as a Protocol Officer to the Prime Minister, Sir Michael Somare.

Pastor Edwards says Narara used his resources to support the church and God has enabled him to make a breakthrough in his career and enter the world record book.

Pastor Edwards said Narara has reaped what he has sowed, and nothing is impossible for those who know the Lord.

On Narara's record breaking achievement, Etihad Airways' Chief executive, James Hogan said; "The flight formation world record was a magnificent effort by Captain Granger and the other pilots.

Etihad Airways regularly sets new records for its growth and to enter the Guinness Book of Records for the flight formation is a very special achievement for everyone at the airline."

Zoltan Veres, who flew one of the stunt planes in the flight formation record, also set another world record at the Aerobatic Show when he successfully achieved 408 consecutive rolls in his Extra-300S. ■

Success For Jazz Ambassadors

U.S. Ambassador, Teddy Taylor, Jazz Ambassadors Freddie Bryant, Gilad Dobrecky with UPNG music students.

US jazz ambassadors, Freddie Bryant and Gilad Dobrecky's visit to Papua New Guinea from February 8 to 13, 2010, was a stunning success.

While in Port Moresby, they conducted music workshops for over 150 participants and performed for over 2,000 people at various locations throughout the National Capital District, delighting crowds with their unique music and teaching scores of musicians young and old about the jazz art form.

Bryant and Dobrecky travelled around to various schools in the city throughout the week, conducting music workshops for students and performing for the schools.

During the week, they visited Marianville Secondary School, Gordons Secondary School, Korobosea International School, the Children's University of Music and Art, and the Community Partnership Art Education Program at Eight Mile.

They also conducted a two-day workshop at the University of PNG for students, music teachers, and professional musicians.

The two musicians gave a public performance at UPNG, but the highlight of the week was their highly-acclaimed performance with local musicians on Thursday evening.

U.S. Ambassador to PNG, Teddy Taylor hosted government officials, members of diplomatic missions, non-governmental organizations, and civil society to an "Evening of Jazz: A Celebration of the Black History Month" at the Moresby Arts Theatre on February 11.

The high point of the show was the combined performance of Freddie, Gilad, The Tribe, and participants of their two-day jazz workshop, including the students from the Children's University of Music and Arts at Kaugere Settlement in Port Moresby.

Their music ranged from haunting melodies played on an electric guitar and Trinidadian-created pantom to riveting songs played with a 12-string guitar and more traditional percussion instruments from around the world.

Everyone at the show, including the musicians themselves, had a wonderful time, and all enjoyed the cultural exchange and coordination of American jazz, international rhythms and Papua New Guinean accompaniment. ■
