COES PROVINCIAL CENTRE — MENDI

My name is Paul Pera and I'm the COES Co-ordinator for the Southern Highlands.

My office is at the Vocational Centre in Mendi. It was established during 1983.

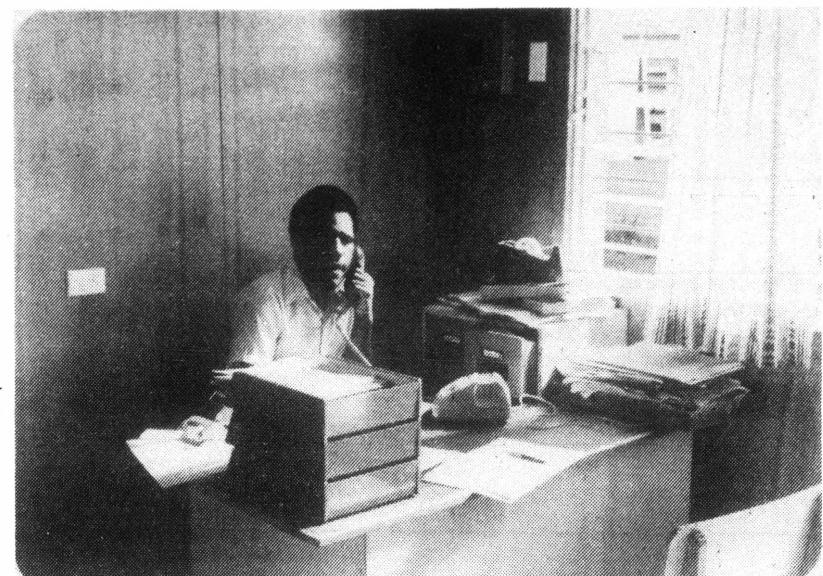

Last year I visited Kagua, Tari, Ialibu, Koroba and Lake Kopiago. I was able to supervise students doing Entrance Exams and advise others about their studies.

Students can now enrol through the Centre in Mendi and I can give them their lessons immediately. When the assignments or workbooks come in for marking, I arrange for this to be done in the Province. This means in a short time you have your work corrected.

At the Centre in Mendi, there is a classroom. I hope students will use this classroom as a place to study. There is a small library which you can use. As well, I plan to organise classes for students in the Mendi area.

Classroom being prepared

← COES Provincial Centre
Mendi.

In the Southern Highlands I hope to use High Schools to help COES students. Teachers in the Highlands have offered to assist our students with their work and, in some cases, can provide a place to study. Eventually there will be COES centres in all districts so that students will always be able to get help with their studies if they need it.

My advice to students is to remember to concentrate on your studies.

Please call in and see me or contact me by letter or telephone.

PAYING WITH MONEY

You saw last week that it is not wise to send money in the post, because money can easily be lost or stolen. It is much wiser to send a POSTAL ORDER, like this:

When the payee receives the postal order, they take it to the post office and get the money for it.

Paying by postal order is not the only way to pay people by post. A lot of people use another method of payment. They pay by using a CHEQUE (pronounced "CHEK").

Here is an example of a cheque.

Where can I get a cheque from?

You get books of cheques from a bank. You first have to put money into the bank and ask for a cheque account. If the bank thinks that you are a sensible person, they will let you open a cheque account. Once the bank gives you your cheque book you can then write out (draw) cheques to pay for things. You do not have to use cash.

But how do I pay them the money? And how do they get money for my cheque?

Good questions!

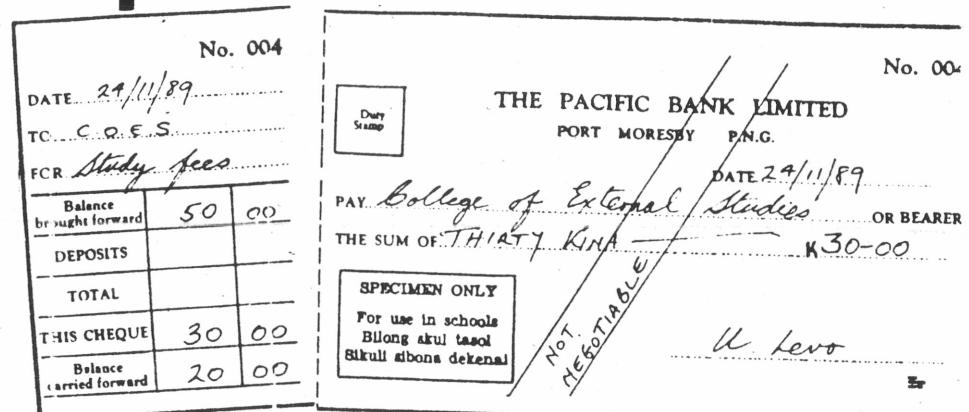

Suppose you wanted to pay C.O.E.S. for your study fees. You would fill in a cheque making it payable to the College — like this:

The left hand side of the cheque form is called the "BUTT" (just like a postal note's butt). This is your record of the payment. It tells you who the money was paid to, the date, what the cheque was for, the amount of the cheque, the cheque number, and how much money is left in your account at the bank.

The right-hand side (the bigger side) is the actual cheque. If you look carefully at it you will see who the cheque is made out to, the date, the amount (in words and figures), your signature and the cheque number.

When the cheque has been written out, it is then torn away from the butt and sent to the payee — in this case the College of External Studies. You keep the butt.

Why are the words "not negotiable" written on the cheque?

This is done for safety. This means that nobody else can cash the cheque. Only the C.O.E.S. can get the money for the cheque. When the College receives the cheque they can put it into their bank. Their bank then gets the money from yours.

If you did not put two parallel lines across the face of the cheque and write "not negotiable" in between the lines, anyone could cash the cheque and get the money.

If you do put two parallel lines across the face of the cheque NO-ONE else will be able to cash it and get the money.

Next week we will be looking at where our money comes from and the banks we have in Papua New Guinea.

COMMUNITY CORNER — TOOLS FOR TEACHERS

Making Circuits For Your Class

Last week you made a circuit by putting your lampholders and battery holders together. Using this circuit, you have a lamp and a battery. Let us say the brightness of the lamp is NORMAL when it is lit.

This is a circuit with one battery and one lamp.

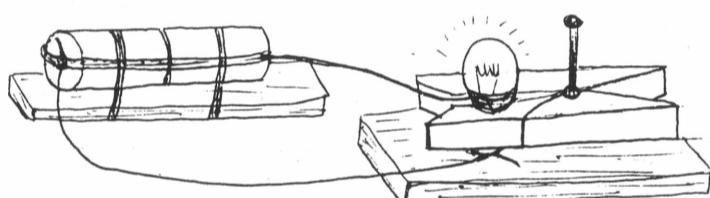

The brightness given off by the lamp is NORMAL.

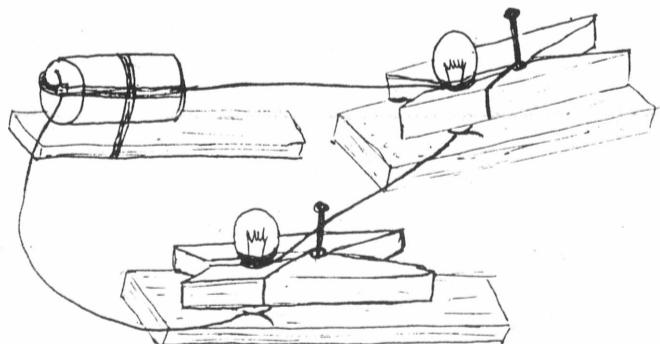

Using the things in your circuit, connect up the following circuits. In each of them say whether the lamp is NORMAL, BRIGHT or DIM.

(1) Two batteries/one lamp.

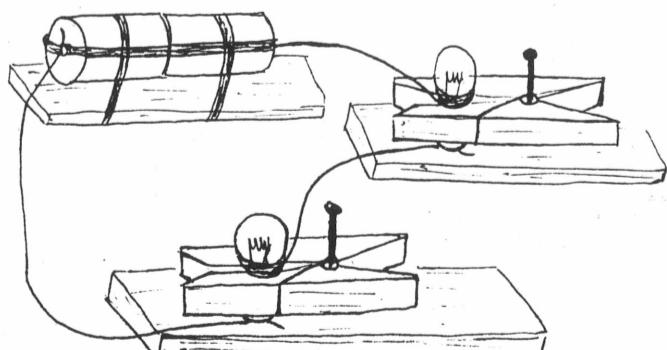

To put two batteries together you put them side by side on your wooden strip and hold them firmly with some rubber bands.

(2) One battery/two lamps.

(3) Two batteries/two lamps.

QUESTION: What happens if you leave the lamp on in all the circuits you have made?

(Answer next week.)

SWITCHES

A SWITCH is used to let electricity through only when it is needed.

You will need:

A. a piece of soft wood.

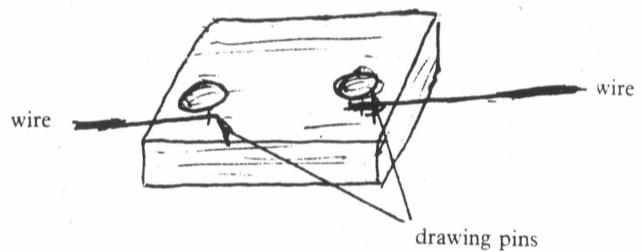

B. 2 drawing pins.

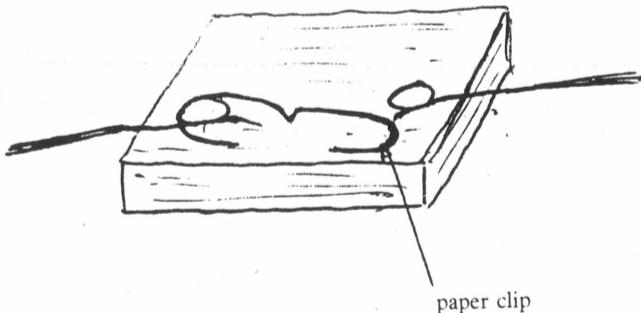

C. 1 paper clip.

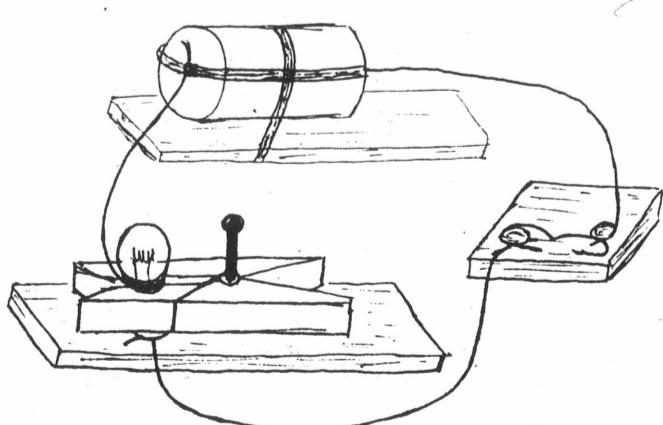

(1) Hold the wires under the drawing pins which have been pinned into the wood.

(2) Hold a paper clip under one of the drawing pins.

(3) To put the switch ON you move the paper clip so that it touches the drawing pin. This allows electricity to pass through, which lights up the lamp. Connect up your circuit using the switch to light your lamp.
