

Tom Nee will conduct Minneapolis Symphony

January 9, 1968

Thomas Nee, of Del Mar, has been invited to be guest conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra on Thursday and Friday, January 25 and 26.

Nee, who is an associate professor of music at the University of California, San Diego, served as assistant conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony in 1960-61. He joined the Music Department staff of John Muir College at UCSD in July 1967.

According to Nee, the concert will take place in Northrup Auditorium in Minneapolis. The program will include The Planets, by Gustave Holst; Concerto Grosso, Op. 6, No. 11 of Handel; and Dvorak, Piano Concerto in G Minor, Op. 33, with Rudolf Firkusny, soloist.

While at UCSD, Nee is also serving as conductor of the La Jolla Civic Orchestra.
