Paradise BISCUITS

Beautiful
Madlang

...the province of
Papua New Guinea!

A Special Feature for The Independent Newspaper & Wantok Newspapers

When PNG beckons visit Madang

MADANG is endowed with a picturesque town straddling a peninsular and deep water harbour surrounded by pristine coral reefs, islands and mountains.

Madang is also a province of breathtaking grandeur...of massive mountain ranges, active volcanic islands, a mighty river system, lush coastal plains and endless tropical rain-forest.

Both Madang province and Madang township are welcoming to visitors and offer a host of cultural, environmental, adventure and leisure experiences.

Whatever attracts you to Papua New Guinea...tropical paradise, vibrant traditional culture, adventure, luxury or sightseeing, Madang offers the lot in a variety unmatched by any other in PNG.

When visiting PNG, explore tourist friendly Madang where you will be greeted by happy smiling and friendly people.

Although small, the town has modern facilities, including hotels, department stores, markets and artefacts shops.

There are lots of places to choose from when one is choosing accommodation. There are five hotels to choose from—the Madang Resort hotel, Smugglers Inn, Jais' Aben Resort, The Coastwatchers Hotel, Malolo Plantation and Madang Lodge Motel all have excellent facilities. There are a few budget guest houses and lodges around Madang and some small village guest houses on several of the islands on Madang lagoon. When visiting Madang one should not go past the Kranget fish market located just beside the Madang Resort. Here women from Kranget island sell fresh smoked fish, squids, and octopus from 20t to K2. Also on sale are fried bananas, kaukau and fruits ranging also from 20t to K2.

Workers, students and townsfolk all end up at the fish market where they have their lunch or something filling while enchanted by the beauty of Madang.

Machine gun point on the weekend is always filled with families either having a picnic or swimming in the sea.

While children and teenagers somersault off machine gun point, the shallow parts of the beach are dotted by little heads bobbing and frolicking on the white sandy beaches. Timid mothers stand by watching their children while others sit and take in the peacefulness and the serenity of the place.

A variety of local markets sell artefacts, shell jewellery, carvings, bilums, baskets and pottery. The area is world famous for its coral reefs and superb visibility making diving good all year round. There are a variety of places to dive, an abundance of reef and pelagic fish, dramatic drop offs, shells and soft and hard corals. Those who like diving on wrecks will find the reefs liberally dotted with sunken ships.

Game fishing is a popular sport and the coastal currents around Madang province carry sailfish, kingfish, tuna, mackerel, barracuda, marlin, yellow fin and wahoo within 100 metres of the shore, providing anglers with plenty of good sport. Among these and many more, Madang is still the prettiest town in the South Pacific.

Mini markets at the road side sell coconuts, betelnuts and pepper as well as fruits at low prices.

The Madang beautification programme will boost the tourism industry and attract investors. Other people who will also benefit are the locals who sell artefacts and other art and craft work.

Madang on the road from beautiful to spectacular

by Esther Haro

BEAUTIFUL is the word many people use in their songs and speeches to describe Madang.

Situated at the northern edge of the country, Madang is rich in flora and fauna and is in itself naturally beautiful for the naked eye to perceive.

While outer lying islands lie idle hugging the shores, the white sandy beaches, coconut palms and coral reefs teeming with diverse marine life are a sight to behold.

Madang is an ideal tourist attraction, a lover's haven and paradise to many who have come and gone through the town.

However, the word beautiful will soon seem out of place in its normally used context once the Madang provincial government has carried out its beautification plan to make Madang even more beautiful than ever.

Plans are in place to give Madang a whole facelift and turn it into the most sought after destination in the country. The beautification plan that the provincial government is embarking upon will cost around K800,000.

The member for Madang and tourism minister, Alois Kingsley, is co-funding the beautification program with a total of K200,000 from his Joint District Budget and Planning Priority Committee. PNG Gardener's Justin Tchachenko has already been contracted by the government to carry out the program.

Under the program, a major clean up of the province will be conducted, landscaping will be carried out on the pond in the centre of the town as well as the provincial government headquarters and in other important landmarks of the province.

The provincial government is negotiating with barramundi farmer, Ian Middleton, to turn one area of the lagoon into a barramundi farm.

Here people will pay to get in to catch a barramundi.

These and other incentives are being closely scrutinised and plotted to turn Madang from something beautiful to spectacular.

They say an airport is the gateway to a place. In order to attract the attention of people coming into the province, work under the beautification program has already begun on the Madang airport.

Workers are busy cutting down the grass in order to make the place attractive to one's sight.

Road maintenance is also being carried out at the junction of the road leading from the airport to the town and also on the road to Madang, Lae and Highlands highway.

By the end of this year, Madang will be more beautiful than ever if not a spectacular sight for both overseas and local tourists.

Beautification program will be community based

by Esther Haro

THE Madang beautification program will be solely a community based project and once completed is expected to boost tourism in the province and bring in investors, says Justin Tchachenko of PNG Gardener.

Mr Tkatchenko whose previous beautification program at the national parliament house and at the botanical gardens prompted the minister for Tourism and member for Madang, Alois Kingsley and governor of Madang, James Yali to approach him to spearhead the program.

Mr Tkatchenko said Madang was naturally beautiful, however, the facilities needed to be upgraded and the town also required additional landscaping work to make it more beautiful and superb.

He said under his management, the beautification program would involve the development of the airport from the entrance to the junction, provincial headquarters grounds and buildings, Sir Cleland Park and the salt water lagoon.

Mr Tkatchenko said at the Sir Cleland Park, the water lily pond will be given landscaping facelift to enhance its beauty.

The salt water lagoon would be developed for recreational purposes.

He said picnic areas would be created and benches built for the public and tourists alike.

He said another lagoon would be selected and fenced off. A jetty will then be built and with the help of barramundi fish farmer, Ian

Middleton, hundreds of barramundi would be kept in that lagoon.

Tourists would be given the opportunity to catch a true PNG barramundi.

Mr Tkatchenko said the projects that will begin soon are the barramundi fish farming project, salt water lagoon and the airport development project which Mr Kingsley is funding at a cost of K250,000.

The Madang provincial government has earmarked K600,000 for the landscaping and beautification of Sir Cleland Park, the provincial government headquarters, and the state residence of the Madang governor.

"As yet the governor is living there on a temporary basis. He needs a permanent place within the province where he can carry out his official duties and entertain guests," said

Mr Tkatchenko.

The Maris Hebi orchid garden will also be done up to create a magnificent orchid garden.

Church groups, women and youth groups would be employed to participate in the program.

In total it is estimated that about 1000 people from the community would be participating in the physical cleaning up of the place.

Sub contractors too will be contracted from Madang alone to carry out the rest of the beautification program.

He said the project is expected to be completed by June.

The Madang tourism industry will benefit a lot.

This is the first time that such a program has been carried out in a province and Madang is the role model.

□ Processing and Manufacturing Industries

The industry base of the province is not that big as Morobe (Lae) and NCD (Port Moresby). The sector, however, is growing and expanding in the province. Currently, the following industries are now operated in Madang Town.

- (1) James Barnes Cannery - producers of Globe Brand Canned Meat and Cooking Oil.
- (2) RD Tuna Cannery - producers of Diana Tuna Brand of canned tuna.
- (3) British & American Tobacco - producers of cigarettes.
- (4) FRG Clothing - producers of Boss Brand clothes.
- (5) Ramu Sugar - producer of Ramu Sugar

□ Commerce

The wholesale and retail industries in Madang Town is very strong and growing. Many of these are foreign owned and operated. The major ones are:

- | | |
|-------------------------|-------------------------|
| (1) Best Buy | (6) Carpenters Hardware |
| (2) Martin Tsang | (7) Rabtrade |
| (3) Courts | (8) Hokit |
| (4) Madang Butchery | (9) Papindo |
| (5) Steamships Hardware | (10) Steven Seelo |

□ Downstream Processing

Like the manufacturing and processing sector, downstream processing is also a very small sector by comparison. Currently the following industries are undertaken.

- (1) Jant Woodchip
- (2) Madang Timbers
- (3) Madang Coffee Mill (has stopped production)

Potential Downstream Industries that are being tried are:

- (1) Coconut Oil
- (2) Dylup Coconut Fibre Matting
- (3) Furniture Manufacturing
- (4) Crocodile Skin Processing
- (5) Cement Limestone Mining
- (6) Madang Rural Products (poultry)

2.2 Social and Political Environment

□ Law and Order

Law and order situation in the province is not as bad as many may have thought. Provincial Crime Statistics show that, on average, compared to other centres like Moresby and Lae, the crime in the province is below the national average.

Aggregate total for the different crimes committed in the province show the crime in Madang is just above 200 cases of crime in a year. Monthly and the quarterly averages are below one hundred. These sorts of figures you cannot find anywhere in the major centres like Moresby, Lae, Mt. Hagen and even Rabaul who have figures doubling or tripling that of Madang.

□ Land Development and Ownership

Land in PNG is the people's biggest asset, a livelihood with huge economic potential and yet it is least developed. It is an economic asset for primary production and a supplier of the 85% population livelihood.

Ninety percent of land in PNG is customary owned. Only about 3% of the land is alienated land (state owned). About 30% of the total land in PNG is suitable for major agricultural development. Of this percentage, only one quarter is regularly used for agriculture. Less than half the arable land is therefore being used.

Madang Town Land faced this situation in the 99 years lease court case that ended in 1999 in favour of the state. Madang Town land therefore is state land despite numerous court claims.

◆ Constraint to commercial use land

The commonest problem is the land compensation demands. Other problem with freehold land is, often disputed by persons who claim either their ancestors have no right to sell land or that they received inadequate payments for the land, or the original purchase was made to the wrong people.

◆ Land Strategies

To improve land use in the province, the Provincial Government is working on a number of strategies:

1. Continue to pursue the land mobilisation program in the province
2. Develop an efficient structure of a property right that will have four characteristics:
 - (i) property right;
 - (ii) universality;
 - (iii) exclusivity; and
 - (iv) transferability and enforceability

□ Provincial Administration

The Department of Personnel Management (DPM) determines the structure of the Provincial Administration. The Provincial Public Service is part of the national Public Services Commission.

The New Organic Law (NOL) determines the manpower placement. Therefore, the Provincial Administration is very much in line with the requirements of the NOL. The NOL establishes six districts and their centres for administration, and up to three LLGs in each district. It further establishes eight types of grant, replaces funding to provincial level with funding to the LLGs and establishes seven (7) Committees for coordination.

The NOL established a series of structures in the Province Administration with a local financial limit, self-help management, localised committee for coordination, controls, cooperation, implementation and accountability.

□ Political Management

The Province was without the Provincial Governor for more than three years after the suspension and the termination of the Governor by Court. The Deputy Governor took the reins for the suspension period.

Despite the lack of political representation at the national level, the Province was operating smoothly and manages to pursue a lot of its own initiatives and the national policy directives. On a national level, the province has been able to make good progress and its ranked in the top five provinces in the country.

It was in March 2002, that the Provincial Assembly elected a new provincial governor.

□ Social and Economic Policy

The main objectives of the initiatives undertaken by the Provincial Government are aimed at effective and sustainable delivery of goods and services for our people.

◆ The objectives are:

- Increase pace of economic growth and expand the range of income earning opportunities.
- Encourage economic growth to provide sustainable revenue for the provincial government.
- Increase Rural and Welfare and Rural Development.
- Improve capacity of LLGs to formulate budget and implement programmes.
- Increase the accountability of the Provincial Government and Local Level Government System in the use of public funds.

◆ Provincial Government Priorities

In the last four years the priorities were:

- Infrastructure Development
- Social Development (Health & Education)
- Economic Development (Agriculture and Tourism)
- Law and Order

In the 2003 Budget, the Provincial Government has shifted from Infrastructure Development to Economic Development as its priority. The main priorities therefore are:

- Infrastructure Development
- Economic Development
- Social Development (Health & Education)
- Law and Order

The three main areas for development identified in its MTDS budget strategies are: Infrastructure (Roads and Communication) Social Development (Health & Education) and Economic Development. Law and Order, Youth & Women are also other priority development areas.

These main priority areas are identified to address the main problems affecting development in this province. The identified issues/problems and main objectives and strategies are:

◆ Economic Development

Main Problem: Poor infrastructure and facilities for established business and expansion to enable people to participate meaningfully in activities that will increase individual and household income levels as well as increase provincial production level and province.

Main Objective: Improve and enabling environment for the people to participate in activities that will increase productivity and increase income for individual households and the province.

◆ Social services

Main Problem: Poor education and health services are affecting the ability of the people to participate meaningfully in the development of their respective communities within the province.

Main Objective: Improve education and health of our people to participate in the development. Second objective is for development to improve accessibility of health and education services for our people. Improved education and health of our population will encourage meaningful participation by our people in the development of Madang Province.

◆ Infrastructure Development

Main Problem: Poor infrastructure development is the main cause of lack of extension services, dissemination, inaccessibility to markets all of which leads to the poor standard of services and conditions of living in the rural areas.

Main Objective: Improve infrastructure for all the people of Madang.

First objective for development is for improved transport and communication infrastructure in the province. Improved roads and communication system will increase delivery of goods and services, which will in turn, bring improved standard of living among our people.

◆ Provincial Development Strategy

To meet Provincial development objectives, our main strategy is to delegate decision making and corresponding responsibilities and resources to our managers to manage at District, Local Level Government and Community levels.

The Provincial Government therefore would like to revitalise a programme budgeting approach to its management of human and financial resources to deliver services to the people. The summaries of Strategies for achievement of the objectives are as follows:

- Improve and expand infrastructure in the province
- Improve and expand social sector development
- Improve and expand economic development
- Provide Provincial Planning and Program Coordination
- Provide effective management of provincial finances management including donor partner funding
- Improve Human Resources Development
- Improve Information Services
- Undertake disaster and emergency services

3. INVESTMENT PROJECTS

3.1 The Equity Participation Program

It is an Agro Industry based program that attempts to increase people's participation and involvement with expertise management provided by Private Enterprise as development partners. Private Enterprise and people's participation is the central theme of the program.

The Provincial Government is initiating this program through ADB assistance to address private enterprise/sector development and people's participation and involvement. The initial trial program is funded by the Provincial and the National Governments as in the Barramundi Project and the Bargam Cocoa and Coconut Projects respectively.

Though the program is in its infancy, the trial projects have shown strong indication of success which is likely to deliver affordable services to the people through their participation and improve the living standards and services to people.

□ Nucleus Farm Arrangements

The application of the Equity Participation Program is done through the Nucleus Farm Arrangement. The Equity Program co-opts the smallholders (out-growers) into being members of the Farm as shareholders thus, binding them into producing their quota and selling their crops to the Nucleus Farm. This enables the smallholder (out-grower) growers to receive better pricing for the product through the Nucleus Farm as marketing agent. The repayment of ADB Loan too would be the responsibility of the farm who would do a three ways split between the stakeholders, which are private enterprise, smallholders (out-growers), and the provincial government.

The Program fosters direct involvement of Private Enterprise in Government Loan Management through participation in the running of the Nucleus Farm. The Nucleus Farm will be run and managed by the private entity who have the expertise and management know how of the particular business activity.

The Provincial Government's emphasis in this program is to give an opportunity to people to become involved in the development of their land through small to medium scale agriculture as a means to improve their livelihood in their villages and also as active participants of the development of the private sector.

□ The Equity Projects

The main projects proposed for the Equity Program are agricultural projects. A Program of Agro Industry base Submission has already been made to the Secretary for the Department of National Planning and Monitoring. Those that have been submitted through ADB Equity Shareholding Program are:

- Ramu Oil Palm Project
- Oronga Type Cocoa and Coconut Project
- Ramu Rice (Commercial) Project
- Barramundi Fish Farming Project
- Madang Rural Products

3.2 Ramu Nickel Project (RNP) Investment

With the down turn in the national economy of the country, every effort should be made to encourage new investments into the country. In the province, the development of the K1.5 billion Ramu Nickel Project (RNP) is this lethal injection that the country needed to jerk itself out of this downward spiral and get itself back on its feet again. The project is believed to be the first of its kind in downstream processing.

RNP has been incorporated into our Provincial Plan to form part of our province's long term Economic Plan. The important components of that Project are the Mine's Closure Up Plan and the Essential Infrastructure projects which the Provincial Government through the Memorandum of Agreement (MOA) has successfully negotiated to own an operate.

□ RNP MOA Signing

A MOA was signed in the year 2000. Eleven (11) stakeholders signed the MOU. Madang Provincial Government as a party to the MOA has successfully negotiated to own and operate specific infrastructures directly associated with the mine, which are wharf, power plant and water supply.

□ RNP Downstream Processing

The Ramu Nickel Project (RNP) is a first of its kind project that will go into downstream processing of its ore to produce nickel and cobalt metal in the province. The high value product would be exported out of Papua New Guinea from Madang. This means that the improved value on our export would be transferred to our landowners in terms of royalties and derivation grants for the Provincial Government and increase taxes for National Government.

□ RNP Processing Township

The processing plants and township site would be located along the Rai Coast Road at Basamuk Bay. The processing plant site would also establish a service district to serve the 800 company employees. To make this service available to the 60,000 - 70,000 people of Rai Coast District then the Rai Coast Road should be upgraded to enable them to have access to this service.

Divine Word

"RUN TO

Vision and mission

Vision

DIVINE Word University is a Catholic institution open to all, serving the society through its teaching and research in a Christian environment.

Mission

The university's vision is achieved through:

- A Catholic presence in an academic environment;
- Standards of excellence in teaching and research for students and staff;
- Emphasis on the development of moral and ethical behaviour in public, private and professional life based on Christian values;
- Dedication to social justice and offering equal opportunity to all people;
- Ecumenical acceptance of all students and staff who respect the university's vision without regard to race and religion;
- Continuous dialogue and partnership with all levels of community, business, government and cultures in the life and work of the university;
- Quality academic programs relevant to the needs of the students and the society; and
- Providing an authentic model for national unity.

Objective

The main objective of the Divine Word University is to become a vibrant Christian intellectual community and to continue developing into a first rate university. The university shares with all institutions of higher education a triple mission:

- The acquisition of knowledge, which is the mission of research;
- The transmission of knowledge, which is the mission of teaching; and
- The application of knowledge, which is the mission of public service.

Divine Word University's search for excellence is guided by its motto "Sic currite ut comprehendatis" or "Run to Win," not in a ruthless competitive way, but as an honest effort to achieve one's full potential. Divine Word University's philosophy integrates total human development and it is expressed in self-reliance and community service.

History

Divine Word University (DWU) was conceived in 1958 by two Divine Word Missionaries, Archbishop Adolf Noser and Fr Paul McViney, who wanted to carry on the Society's traditional involvement in tertiary education.

In 1964, a 99-year lease was secured on an old rubber plantation and negotiations for funding began with the government. Failure to secure government assistance for a university project forced the SVD planners into reassessment of their commitment and led to the development of a Catholic co-educational high school.

Fr Kenneth Feehan, SVD, became the director of the project in 1967. As headmaster for the next 14 years, he shaped its development and philosophy. The high school, with an enrolment of almost 600, emphasised academic excellence and self-reliance and consistently ranked in the top 10 per cent of PNG high schools.

The Society undertook a feasibility study in 1997 to look into the possibility of returning to its original idea of tertiary education. The encouraging results led to the phasing out of the high school and the gradual development of a university.

In 1979 students began enrolling in four-year diploma in Business and Communication. Divine Word Institute was incorporated by an act of parliament in 1980.

The first class of pioneer students graduated in 1982. The institute expanded its academic base with the introduction of the following programs: Diploma in Religious Studies (1984), Certificate in Christian Education (1986), Bachelor Degree in Accounting (1988), a Certificate in Applied Communication (1989), A Bachelors Degree in Development Communication (1990), Diploma in Arts (Papua New Guinea studies) in 1993, Diploma in Health Administration (1998), Diploma in Tourism and Hospitality Management (1998), Degrees in Communication Arts and Papua New Guinea studies (1999), and diploma programs in Management and Human Resource Management by Extension in 2000. A Masters degree in Educational Leadership by Extension mounted in 2001.

Divine Word University was recognised as a partner university in the development of higher education by the National Executive Council (NEC) on the August 21st, 1996 (National Executive Council Decision No: 134/96).

Philosophy

The foundation of education at DWU is a program of courses that develops human, social and religious values and help graduates become active in the development of the nation. DWU fosters a genuine Christian spirit, where people from all parts of PNG build up a harmonious unity as a true model for PNG society.

DWU aims at full human development. Students from disadvantaged areas are recruited and encouraged to reach their potential.

DWU provides a religiously orientated and socially conscious environment. While becoming professionally competent, students are encouraged to examine the ethical aspects of their profession. Students grow in their Christian faith and awareness of their social responsibility towards the underprivileged.

DWU serves the goals of the nation. Emphasis is placed on work, self-reliance and service. The University is ready to offer special training programs for the country and the Church as needed.

DWU has special interest in providing educational opportunities for women. The University encourages women to improve their status in society and to take an active part in the nation's life.

■ Being a mother did not stop Beverly Puton (right) from pursuing her career choice. Here she is with her graduating classmates, Linda Sataoro and Joyce Eiggins and daughter Brenda to share her success with. The women graduated with Diplomas in Communication Arts.

Growing in leaps and bounds

by Esther Haro

THE Divine Word University, a Catholic run institute is growing in leaps and bounds and is fast becoming one of the best higher learning education institution in the country.

The university, through its graduates from Business Studies, Communication Arts, Health Administration, PNG Studies, Tourism and Hospitality and Religious Studies, in the past years have put Madang in the spotlight.

Most of them hold positions in the tourism and hospitality area, the media, the business sector, the health sector, religious services and in the area of community development.

Recently the university established a new information systems and physiotherapy departments. This year, the first intakes of these departments will commence studies.

Also for the first time this year, students from the College of Allied Health Sciences or paramed registered at the university.

This signifies its amalgamation under the umbrella of DWU.

The university also has two new faculties - they are Education and Health Sciences.

The new auditorium which was completed last year, was the venue for the university's 21st graduation on February 9, 2003.

This year will see the completion of a new library which is funded by the PNG Incentive Fund at a cost of K10 million.

President Fr Jan Czuba said work would be completed in May.

The library will be state-of-the-art and will contain computers giving students access to the internet. There will also be two small classrooms specifically for tutorials.

Fr Czuba said the first floor of the library will house the Tertiary Distance Education Centre where courses will be offered for public servants.

Also this year four new staff houses, two new dormitories for men and women, classrooms and offices are expected to be built.

Fr Czuba said some of the new developments still in the pipeline include a major facelift to classrooms.

Ceramic tiles will be placed over the cement floors, fans will be installed as well as new roofs and all classrooms will be installed with computers with access to the internet.

Currently some of the staff are on development programs.

The university has both expatriate and national staff.

Students learn in a safe and friendly environment and the university makes it its aim to get the students involved in church activities to enrich their spiritual life.

With the addition of the new departments, the two faculties, classrooms, state-of-the-art library and auditorium, DWU is moving forward with its aim and vision to be the best education provider at the tertiary level.

Both the administration and the students always strive to live up to the university's motto "Sic currite ut comprehendatis" or "run to win."

They run to win not in a competitive way but to do their best, get good grades and to do well when in the workforce.

DWU is indeed a university where one can send one's child if you wish them to get the best out of their education and succeed in their chosen career.

University

WIN"

Meeting education sector needs in Papua New Guinea

WHEN Divine Word University (DWU) launched the Faculty of Education on February 7, 2003, the school responded to the needs of the education sector in PNG.

The university is now in the process of adopting new structures.

DWU already offers courses related to the educational field in the present departments of Religious Studies and in a Masters in Educational leadership program offered in the distance education mode. With the affiliation and or amalgamation with the teachers colleges, DWU will now present new opportunities in education within PNG and the Pacific area.

DWU has also responded to the decision of the NEC that all institutions of higher learning should be affiliated with a university for the purpose of accrediting academic standards in all institutions. At least one of the teachers colleges will amalgamate with DWU and it is likely that others will follow suit.

The Faculty of Education at DWU will be unique. Through the campus at St Benedict's, Wewak, programs will be offered in teacher education. These programs will build upon the present Diploma in Teaching program and then extend to a Bachelor in Education degree. The opportunity will also be given to providing teachers in the field to upgrade qualifications of certificates and diplomas to a degree in education.

Through the distance education mode, and through the regional centres where the Catholic teachers colleges are situated, a special emphasis will be placed on the needs of the rural areas. These courses will initially concentrate on mathematics, science, language, social science and spirituality.

Once fully established the faculty will also consider the needs of a secondary teacher education program, as has been visioned at St Benedict's for a number of years.

DWU is able to provide flexibility in the programs offered by the faculty. The university will be able to present courses in eight centres across PNG to the benefit of in-service teachers and to student teachers.

The Faculty of Education will be able to utilise existing educational facilities and take university programs to the rural areas. Initially St Benedict's teachers college, Kaindi will amalgamate with DWU to establish the faculty and the other existing Catholic teachers colleges (Holy Trinity teachers college, Mt Hagen and OLSH teachers college, Kabaleo) are likely to amalgamate in the near future.

In establishing the Faculty, DWU is responding to the needs of education in PNG. Courses will be created after extensive research.

DWU will attempt to meet the needs that no other PNG university is meeting, particularly with respect to the upgrading of primary teachers in the teaching service. There will be the opportunity to recognise the needs for vocational education and special education.

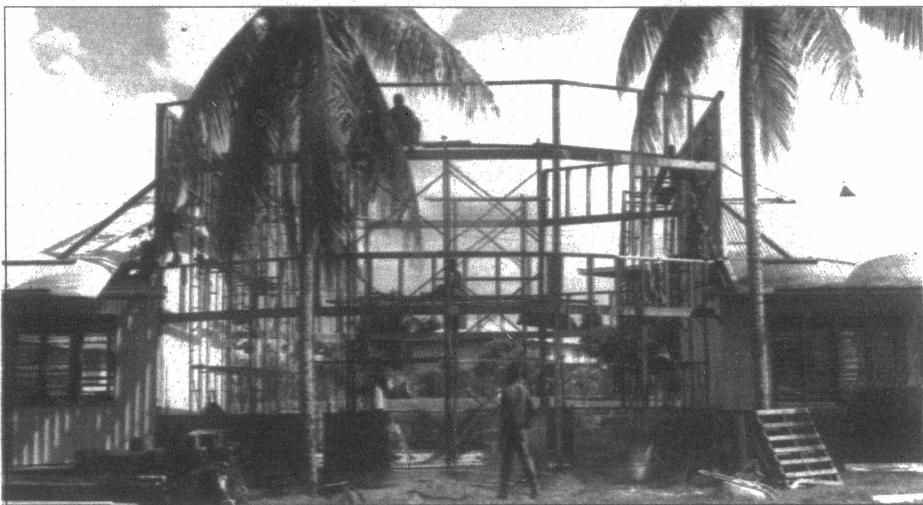

Many courses will be offered in the distance education mode to enable wide participation by teachers in the courses without leaving schools without teachers.

DWU places an emphasis on the quality of education services offered by the Faculty of Education.

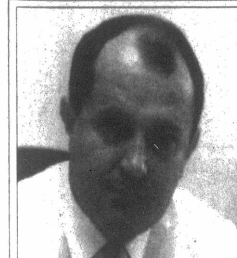

The university has already qualified staff members in place to teach and run the faculty.

By bringing other Catholic teachers colleges within the Faculty of Education, it will boast to be the largest educational faculty in the country.

The university also recognises the advantages of seeking alternative modes in teaching and research. Already, the opportunity for participation has resulted from the distance education mode.

Construction work is currently being carried out at the university grounds to build new dormitories, offices and staff houses.

TODAY, it is my privilege, on behalf of the Divine Word University's community, to welcome to our campus our special guests:

Every Graduation is an important event for everyone who has been in some way involved - be the students themselves, their lecturers, their family, their sponsors or whoever. This is the reason why we come together and in a formal manner acknowledge their achievement.

And so we are gathered today to encourage, support, recognise and congratulate those who have worked well, have achieved their desired goal and will graduate today, the reward of a job well done.

It is an honour to see our Prime Minister Sir Michael Somare and Lady Veronica at this celebration. Prime minister, your interest in us is much appreciated, and we hope we can take it as a recognition by you and your government, of the contribution this university is making to the development of our country, through the quality of today's graduates and the future graduates.

Hon ministers, our distinguished guests, staff and students, today you have witnessed an historic stage in the development of Divine Word University. The prime minister, in declaring these new faculties, moves this university on towards new developments, both in the range of courses Divine Word is able to offer, and in new buildings to accommodate the additional students who will be attracted here. I feel prime minister, that you, like this university, believe that the future of our country is closely linked to the quality of the education it is able to offer its people. We believe that by investing in the work we are doing here, the government is investing in the future of Papua New Guinea.

The vision of Divine Word University commits us to serve the diverse community of the whole of Papua New Guinea, through teaching and research in a Christian environment. This vision is implemented by the religious communities and volunteers, who themselves are a diverse group coming from all parts of the world to share their skills and experience with the people of this country.

This university has an equal opportunities policy, showing no preference of race, creed or colour, and accepting students from all provinces of PNG. We are specially committed to the disadvantaged and the development of the role of women in our society.

DWU's graduates understand the effects of the rapid exposure of PNG's people and culture to the wider world, where many of their traditional values are threatened. They have learned here how to develop solutions for themselves, and their communities, as a way of managing change in a positive, creative and ethical way.

Our study programs are intended to develop within our students a clear sense of identity as citizens of Papua New Guinea. They are encouraged to recognise their personal beliefs, and national ethos, as part of their unique cultural reality. Our intention is that they should develop a deep understanding of the roots of this reality, in the political, socio-economic, judicial, and religious traditions of the many communities that make up PNG society.

We believe that what makes the Divine Word University special, even unique, is that our search for academic and professional excellence is accompanied by a strong emphasis on Christian teaching.

The DWU's responsibility for students' education in the 21st century lies in a reformation of purpose and the creation of a vision of Christian ecumenical university that is consistent with this purpose. It must be a community of harmony and support, in which regardless of person, gift, or talent, all members feel accepted and nourished-free to risk, to grow, and to embrace their God-given potential.

It must be a community of justice, where concern for others is equal to concern for self, where service and servant are the foundation of action and discernment.

It must be a community of love, in which to witness love is to see the presence of God in the face of each member of the community.

It must be a community of educational excellence, in which students are encouraged to stretch their minds, ideas, and interest, where discovery is encouraged, and questions are basic to discussion.

It must be a community of lecturers who imitate the model teacher, Jesus, teaching with compassion, understanding, story, and example.

It must be a community of hope, in which members ask how they want to be, not what they want to be, for what one is, is not the same as how one is.

It must be a community of leaders who are willing to stand for what is right and just, to make decisions, and to be examples of faith, honesty and commitment.

It must be a community of faith, where all believe that God acts through them, that they can make a difference, that they all can touch the future.

President Jan Czuba's graduation message

This is DWU's challenge to integrate this vision with reality by keeping our purpose and character while moving forward academically and technologically. Curriculum and extension activities are redesigned to allow students to get work and research experience to enhance their academic education. Our students need to see themselves as facilitators for discovery, not dispensers of knowledge.

Our desire is to merge the best of the past with the needs and demands of a more complex and changing world. Students need to believe in something other than the material satisfactions of life; they need to serve others and pursue excellence. This Christian university offers an alternate learning environment, which can balance what we prize from the past with the imperatives of the future. This university offers an understanding of the human dimension through spiritual reading, liturgies, service to others, value-centered discussions, and pursuit of academic excellence as a moral imperative.

Prime minister, at a time when our country is challenged with global and national economic issues, and funding for services, such as education, are under pressure, the DWU community is taking a positive view of the future and, through determination and resolution, is moving forward in its vision to serve society. However, if we are to maximise our effectiveness, we must work in partnership with the national government.

Today, to you graduates, we offer our congratulations and our respect. As you have done well. At this stage you have fulfilled Divine Word University's motto, Sic currite ut comprehendatis - running to win not in a competitive sense but winning by employing your potential and by doing the best you can do. That is the real achievement!

When you are presented with your graduation diplomas and degrees. When you hold those well-deserved documents in your hand, I would like you to look at them as a mandate to do your life's mission. You have all laboured at many assignments over the years but this assignment is the most important of them all. It is the challenge to make a difference in our country. God gave you the gift of your intelligence and your various talents for a purpose, and now God's task for you is to use that gift in a positive way. I believe one life, each life, can make a difference. Believe and be convinced that you will be able to make a difference through the grace of God.

And for the other students, for those who have just arrived at Divine Word University and for those who have been with us for some time, let today be an inspiration for you.

MADANG PROVINCE

TABAH SILAU, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

ON the North Coast of mainland Papua New Guinea, Madang province consists of reef-fringed lowlands backed by some of the most rugged mountains in New Guinea, and offshore volcanic islands of Manam, Karkar, Long and Bagabag.

The town of Madang is situated halfway along the northern coastline in spectacular tropical surroundings. The area is world famous for its coral reefs and superb visibility - it's diver's paradise, and has the reputation as one of the most beautiful provinces of the country. It is a peninsula with an abundance of parks, ponds and waterways and myriads of small islands around its deepwater harbour.

Its warm, wet climate and fertile soil combine to produce luxuriant tropical growth, completing the picture of what is aptly referred to as the "Prettiest Town in the South Pacific". The province is divided into six districts, namely Rai Coast, Madang, Karkar, Bogia, Upper Ramu and Middle Ramu.

The land mass is approximately 27,970 sq.km and has a population of more than a quarter of a million. In addition to the predominance of coastal features, the province also boasts some of Papua New Guinea's tallest and most rugged mountain peaks and some active volcanoes.

Madang has a large mix of 170 plus languages in all and has the potential to give a visitor a crash course in witnessing four typical PNG lifestyles. It contains island dwellers, coastal people, river's edge settlers and mountaineers.

The cultural lifestyles of the people of Madang are as diverse as the languages. Although most items of local culture are fast disappearing, traditional singings, ceremonies, carvings and gardening are still being practiced and made as generations ago.

Although carvings of some kind or other are being made elsewhere in the province, the Bogia and the Ramu River people are the most renowned who probably assimilated it from their talented Sepik river neighbors. They chisel out figures and also carve prows of their canoes and ceremonial garamuts. At the Madang market and in hotel lobbies there is a plethora of carvings of all shapes and sizes for those who wish to purchase souvenirs.

Madang is already considered as the "Tourist Capital" of PNG. Tourism is one of the largest growing industries in the province. The provincial government and the private sector are actively looking at ways to attract more tourists. Tourism in Madang is currently the third largest source of foreign exchange in the province. The government is presently investing in the tourism industry to improve the quality of tourist facilities both in Madang and throughout the region.

□ Mine Closure Plan

Our involvement in the ownership of some of the major infrastructures associated with the mine is part of our overall Provincial Development Plan but more so to get our closure plan into action on day one and not wait until thirty (30) years down the track. The Madang Provincial Government will develop and operate the wharf and the 80mw Power Plant to serve the Mine's processing plants. These infrastructures will provide us an essential catalyst to facilitate other projects for the province's growth.

□ Landowners Participation

Landowners, too, will be assisted to participate in the mine's spin off businesses to encourage local participation and in the Joint Venture. A detailed business plan for landowners' business activities is specified in the RNP Business Plan.

Our long term plan in line with the mine's development is the establishment of an Industrial/Growth Centre, within the proximity of the processing township to facilitate downstream processing of our agriculture raw materials like palm oil, copra oil, cocoa, coffee, vanilla, cava (koniak) and various spices.

□ Dedicated Alternative Wharf

The Provincial Government will also participate in the Basamuk Wharf. This wharf will be a dedicated wharf and an alternative port facility to Lae wharf for the Highlands Provinces, Islands and Momase provinces for import and export.

3.3 Provincial Government Equity in the Tuna Project

The Provincial Government is negotiating through the Tuna Project Agreement Review to participate in the Project. About 51% of the Provincial Government Equity provided for under the Lome Convention is still being negotiated.

RD Tuna Company and cannery can be able to export to the Europe market only if it provides for the Provincial Government its shares of the benefits. At the moment, RD is only marketed to the United States and the Asian markets.

The Provincial Government wishes to purchase pursines (mother ships) for storage and transport of tuna from the fishing grounds to the ports for processing. It is interested in purchasing about three boats but has not found any potential financiers for this project.

3.4 Major Infrastructure Development

The provincial road system is rudimentary and does not provide an effective network to facilitate the proposed and approved government programmes and projects in the remote isolated districts. The road development in the province consists only of between 1,115 - 1,186 kilometres of road.

The main problem in kick-starting the proposed development programs of national and provincial importance is the lack of proper road network. Poor road development has been identified as the main cause of the lack of extension services in the districts and province as a whole. Therefore, the need to open up two Highways in the province is imminent.

The two roads identified in the National Transport Plan for development in the next ten years are Madang / Saldor / Malalamai / Gali Road (Madang / Rai Coast Rd) and the Madang - Aiome - Simbai / Ruti - Baiyer River - Hagen Road (Madang / Hagen Rd).

□ Rai Coast Road Development

This 250-km road is located on the south coast of the province and it is the most important link to the provincial capital for more than 60,000 to 70,000 people of Rai Coast. This road serves as an important access road to the Provincial Capital for three (3) Local Level Government (LLG) namely: Nayudu LLG, Saldor (Rai Coast) LLG and Astrolabe Bay LLG and their District Headquarters, Saldor and the RNP Processing Plants in Basamuk.

This road is linked to Ramu Nickel Project's proposed alternative wharf that will be built at Basamuk Bay in Rai Coast to the Highlands provinces. The road will link Madang Town and the four Highlands Provinces. The Provincial Government in its Road Plan has started work on the Madang - Sogeram / Aiome-Simbai - Hagen Road section which will link the Rai Coast Road.

◆ Cost of the Road

A pre-feasibility study on the road has been completed. Our pre-feasibility study report done in 1998 indicated that the 250km road would cost K50,000,000 (K50 million) but the National Department of Transport and Civil Aviation in their Ten (10) Year Infrastructure Plan puts the figures at K70,000,000 (K70 million).

This Rai Coast Road is a declared National Road. The road was built during the colonial Administration in the mid to late 1970s and has been neglected for the last twenty - (20) years in terms of its maintenance up-keep and upgrading. This has led to a total closure of this road today.

The National Transport Infrastructure Plan identified and lists Rai Coast Road (Madang/Saldor/Malalamai) under 2.2.6 as one of the important main National Road that would be built over the next ten (10) years. Actually, the road is scheduled for a Feasibility Study to be done last year in 2001 and Design and Construction would begin in 2002 and over a four (4) year period.

□ Simbai Road Development

The Madang - Simbai - Hagen Road is a proposed second national Highlands Highway. This 300km road is located to the inter-land of the province running from Madang to Sogeram then to Aiome and on to Simbai in Madang Province, then to Ruti to Baiyer River / Hagen in the Western Highlands Province.

◆ Pilot Track

A pilot track that was funded by the Madang provincial Government and current Member for Usino Bundi has reached the bank of the mighty Ramu River in 1997, four years after it was initiated. More than one hundred and fifty kilometer of the road has been constructed from Wambusarik to Ramu River. This started in 1993 - 1997 at a cost of K2.2 million.

The Provincial Government in its Road Plan has started on the Madang - Sogeram / Aiome-Simbai - Hagen Road already with a pilot track built. In 1998, the Provincial Government under its "Provincial Rural Infrastructure Fund" allocated one and half million kina (K1.5 million) for the continuation of the road project to extend the road from Sogeram River to the Ramu River.

This road is one of the three priority road projects in the province under the Provincial Government's major Roads Plan. It is the most important link to the Provincial Capital of Madang for more than 30,000 to 48,000 people of Middle Ramu District and more than 38,000 - 70,000 people of Baiyer River and Hagen districts of WHP.

◆ Importance of the Road

It is an important road that will serve three (3) Local Level Governments (LLG) namely Simbai LLG, Gama LLG, Arabaka LLG and their District Headquarters Aiome of Madang Province. The road will link the three LLGs and their district headquarters with their Provincial Capital of Madang and Mul Baiyer LLG and the Hagen LLG of WHP Western Highlands Province to Mt. Hagen city.

It is an economic road route for the four Highlands provinces to the proposed alternate port facilities and services to be located at Basamuk Bay in Rai Coast. The road will serve as an important access road to Mt. Hagen as a major business district of the four Highlands provinces and two mining provinces of Southern Highlands and Enga.

Though the Lae - Highlands Highway is the existing road for the Highlands provinces, survey and pre-feasibility studies by Cardino & Davies indicated that it is much closer by road distance from Madang to Mt. Hagen, thus travelling time will be shorter. Therefore, it would be cheaper if this second Highlands Highway is constructed.

The National Transport Infrastructure Plan identified and lists Madang Simbai Hagen Road under its Ten Year Plan as one of the important main National Road that would be built over the next ten (10) years. Actually, the road is scheduled for a Feasibility Study to be done this year, 2001 and Design and Construction would begin in 2002 and over four (4) year period.

◆ Cost of the Road

Our pre-feasibility study report done in 1994 indicated that the 300km road would cost about K50,000,000 (K50 million) but we have put the figure to K60,000,000 (K60 million) in the 2000 PIP Submission. The Joint District Planning and Budget Priority Committee (JDP & BPC) since 1997 has made more than K5 million from its Infrastructure Grant towards the construction of this road.

The Road was officially launched and opened in 2001 by Minister for Works and Transport Hon. Alfred Pogo who declared it as a national project. Discussions have been held with AusAID, the European Union and ADB for possible funding assistance. These donors have showed positive interest therefore, but the National Government has to honour its commitment made during the launching and opening.

◆ Madang Airport Re-development (Upgrading)

Madang Airport is 2,700 meters long and is without the latest aviation equipment and lighting. There are some 13,000 aircraft movements in and out of the airport each year with about 80,000 passengers. Approximately 10,000 of these passengers are from overseas.

The terrain of PNG favoured the development and improvement of air transport as opposed to road transport. Madang has reputable air services prior to the opening of the Lae Highlands Highway, which made it prosper as an important transport system servicing the Highlands provinces. This indicated the potential that Madang has in air transport services and facilities.

The air transport network in the Province is still quite underdeveloped. This is in light of international air transport requirement (standards) and challenges the air industries will go through once it becomes more deregulated both domestically and internationally.

As part of keeping up with changing international aviation safety standards (aspects), Madang Airport was considered for upgrading and improvement through a funding from the Australian Agency for International Development (AusAID). AusAID, who agreed to commit K10 million for the re-development, however, did not make the commitment to get the project off because of reasons known to AusAID.

Under the Airport Re-development Project, the airport is to undergo three (3) stages of upgrading work. Stage One will involve extending the existing runway by 1,910 meters. This will involve extending it by three hundred (300) metres to the east to Cahili Island and to the west for a distance of 1,880 metres so that the total length of the airport is extended to 3,300 metres. Stage two involves improving the new 15 metres wide taxiway and 150 metres apron and stage three involves surfacing and runway lighting.

The Madang Provincial Government intends to fund the Air Terminal Building once the major works on the Airport are completed.

Currently, Madang Airport is serviced by Air Niugini F28 flights from Port Moresby and other centres of the country. In addition, commuter airlines operate scheduled and charter flights to more than 25 airstrips within the province and nearby provincial airstrips. These operators include Island Airways, Mission Aviation, Heli Niugini, Air Link and Milne Bay Air.

Once airport upgrading is completed, fully laden jets should be able to land and take off from Madang. This will also enable direct international flights from overseas. The A310 Airbus and B737 500 aircraft will be able to land and take off from Madang. This will bring more trade as well as tourists and for easy export of yellow fin tuna to Japan.

The Madang Town and its airport are centrally located in PNG for any international traveller who intends to travel to anywhere in Papua New Guinea. For this the proposed re-development would be the best investment for this province.

3.5 The Highway Corridor Dressing

The need to open a second highway to the Highlands is very pressing and imminent. This is because of the economic value of the Highlands provinces in terms of the gold mining and increased in business investments in WHP's Hagen city. The road will connect the industrial centre for Madang Province and the alternate port facilities to be located at Basamuk associated with the nickel mining.

Economic resources of agriculture commodities of coffee, vegetables and non-renewable resources like gold, copper, gas and even oil from the Highlands region provides a very strong justification for this second highway. Considering travelling time from Lae to the Highlands and from Madang to the Highlands, it take lesser time from Madang than from Lae to travel to the Highlands provinces.

The Madang Provincial Government has a number of projects as a "Corridor Dressing", an approach that has been considered to service the increased demand from the Highlands provinces. The projects like Ramu Sugar, Ramu Rice, Ramu Oil Palm and Oronga Cocoa and Cononut (an integrated cropping) have been proposed and considered for the areas the route will pass through. In addition to the proposed agro industry based crops and high value like cocoa, coconut, vanilla and other spices, seasonal crops like betelnut and mustard are in abundance for cash value.

This approach of "corridor dressing" would also cover the main Agriculture Projects now being approved to be implemented under the ADB Equity Shareholding Program. They include Ramu Oil Palm, Ramu Rice, Oronga Cocoa and Community Project, Barramundi Fish Farming and Madang Rural Products which have high economic yields of returns.

4. OPPORTUNITIES AND CHALLENGES4.1 Challenges

Perhaps a more crucial factor in the process of our economic development lies in the social and cultural attitude of people and the opportunities they are given.

□ Bad Publicity

Bad Publicity is the greatest challenge to overcome if we want to turn around the declining trend of the foreign investment and private sector development. We are a country with great potential for foreign investment and opportunities to explore and develop. But these potentials and opportunities are fast fading.

We should therefore approach the declining situation not only on the basis of what is happening but also on how to present the stories to others of value to us. Our greatest challenge is to address the bad publicity being portrayed about the country because this is the one of the causes of the decline in investors.

◆ Strategy

As a strategy, an intensive networking and linkages with other international agencies is required for the purpose of comparative information and access to information on other countries. This may enable balanced views about the situations of each province in the country and the situations of other countries as well.

There must be a Media Unit within IPA responsible for investigating bad publicity and counter reporting on the bad publicity. The Unit must keep an update of each provincial situation and monitor each situation in other countries as well.

Information on investments must be made available to provinces and should not be kept at IPA only.

□ Lack of Opportunities

You put it quite correctly in your letter to us that, "attracting Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) into the country at this time is fairly difficult one when we are faced with the prevailing law and order problems, poor infrastructure and other administrative barriers." (IPA Letter to the Administrator, dated 14th March 2002). In fact investment is said to be on a downward trend mainly due to our tax situation and bad publicity on our law and order situation.

If we can go back to this statement and re-examine it more closely, we may be asking ourselves ... how do we happen to have this situation in our country and is it so adverse to warrant it to be widely publicised? You sure will give me many reasons, which we all know from reports, from printed media and TV alike and from forums. The PNG Private Sector Study Report, 1996 identified many problems that hinder private sector development and investments in PNG, so is the controversial report by AusAID that brought the Prime Minister onto his feet.

What is crucial to this situation is to look at the sources and the causes of the problems than the symptoms of the problems. For the past many years, we have been trying to solve the symptoms of the problem and not the causes and the sources.

Many contributing factors have been identified as constraints to private sector development and investment in PNG, ... and yet, it is possible that the most critical factor has not yet been recognised? The answer is, YES. Our people and Land are still under-utilised, relatively untapped resources ... underdeveloped and under-used.

□ The Sources and Causes

Crime must be addressed in terms of the reasons they are committed. To us in Madang Province, we see that the problems of lawlessness, poor infrastructure and other administrative barriers to private sector growth and investments are internally created problems. The issue here is "LACK OF OPPORTUNITY AND LACK OF PARTICIPATION BY THE MASSES." The problems that we see and hear about relating to law and order, deteriorating infrastructure and administrative barriers, are symptoms of something else. We really have not understood and identified who is doing that and why is it done? We continue to think that law and order is from the unemployed and dissatisfied sections of the urban dwellers or from urban squatter settlements. Is that so, and if so, what about all the services that are provided in the urban areas are they the same as provided for the rural areas?

If any development planning is to be done, we see that it MUTS TARGET THE 85% POPULATION OF THE RURAL PEOPLE AND THE 97% UNDER-UTILISED UNALIENATED LAND. That is where we think the source and the supply of people comes from and that is where the potential for development is.

□ The Key Issue

The key issue we see today should be, HOW DO WE GET THE 85% OF OUR RURAL PEOPLE SELF-SUSTAINING SO THAT THEY CAN BE ABLE TO ALLEVIATE THEIR OWN POVERTY? Our focus of the problems faced today in the country has been urban bias, giving little attention to rural areas.

We fail to realise and know that those schools we build in the rural areas will have to send kids out to our towns and cities. Our Education System is job employment oriented, it is not skills training therefore our towns and cities will still be flooded with school leavers every year. Our culture has been bounded us into the thinking that kids sent to schools would find employment to repay the hard work we put in them forgetting our parental obligations. We also fail to see that they (85% rural population) own 97% of the most valuable resource, which is land.

Rural areas are the source of the youth; thus they are the source of the problems of law and order. We therefore need a mass mobilisation of these resources to make it productive. Law and Order is a symptom or something else, and that is, when there is no opportunity for the mass to participate, negative action is the product.

□ Strategy

We in Madang find that the problems of our lawlessness is lack of participation by the 85% of the population and the under utilisation of the 97% of un-alienated land. Therefore our strategy is to provide opportunities through mass mobilisation of the 85% population and the utilisation of the 97% under-utilised land.

We fail to learn from the textbooks that there are three stages of the technological transformation in the mode and the stages of production. The primary stage, the secondary stage, and the tertiary stage. Of course there are theories that suggest that some countries have to remain primary producers. If we can put these into perspective, we can find that, the primary stage of the production in PNG is the 85% of the population, whilst the secondary and the tertiary stages of production can be those investor who we are finding it difficult to attract. They would have the technology know-how and capital to venture into more advance production.

At this stage, we, as planners and advisers, are confused ourselves. We engage people in the areas that belong to others, thus denying the masses to participate, which mean, we engage wrong people at the wrong place of production.

We in Madang Province have therefore embarked on the Equity Participation as our approach and strategy to involve the 85% idle population and the utilisation of the 97% under-utilised land.

□ Utilising the Under Utilised

There is a need to target the two major resources, which are people and land as a measure to the issues facing us now. We know well that the 85% of the people are in the rural areas supporting themselves from the 97% of the land. These people have little or no opportunities idly working on their own to produce and supply us the most alarming situations of lawlessness.

They have to be provided with some form of commercial participation or sense of productivity. Something of a very basic skill should be devised as a means to develop them as our primary sector of the production. Primary production with the use of the 97% un-aliolated land and the 85% masses is sufficient and capable of providing a livelihood that can sustain basic life and services like education, health, clothes for the families and maybe better shelter.

The problems we hear and see, have time after time been addressed in many forums without finding any amicable solution. Armed robberies or break and enter, stealing etc are signs and symptoms of lack of opportunities for the masses. People need to be organised through some form of semi-commercial activities to utilise their own land or sea for primary production.

Take the case of Indonesia private sector development, it is somewhat a hybrid of traditional industries and modern industries. You find the traditional industries in manufacturing are dominated by industries such as food processing, textiles and wood products while modern industries are involved in chemical, plastics and metal based industries.

The point here is, our people were farmers and fishermen before white men came. Why not we maintain the labour skills that they have through programs that enhance skills and improve production levels? The 85% population therefore should be mobilised to utilise the skills that they have or to do the things they do best and that is agriculture, farming and fishing.

The plantation give away scheme has failed for many rural farmers, and investors on many occasions may have been puzzled about the land compensation demands associated with development projects and investments. People are accustomed to working on small blocks of land for sustainability and self-sufficiency. The same should be applied in a more commercial sense.

Compensation on the other hand is only an idle way of making money from the very little alienated land (3%) that the state owns. It is idleness working to make the idle work because there is very little commercial use for the 97% un-aliolated land but maximising gains on the 3% alienated land.

Land therefore needs to be properly organised so that there is enough land for everyone to do his or her bit. When only some are organised, there is room for frustrations, which leads to other problems.

□ Management Problems

Management of commercial projects in Papua New Guinea is a problem. This concern is not new to us as policy makers and planners, managers and administrators. One factor peculiar to PNG in the management could be a cultural factor, which at times poses a threat to potential investment. We must acknowledge our weakness and create venues to address them so those cultural obligations do not interfere with new concepts and approaches.

Management would have to be separated and where possible contracted out so that cultural obligation is met professionally by another party. Separation of this function we hope should give the result intended in our equity participation program approach. Our focus in this approach as discussed is that people must be prepared and geared towards these commercial activities collectively through mass mobilisation. Appropriate vocational type training institution and programs will be established.

People must be tied into primary production activities as much as possible to provide secondary industry materials of production. This would then be followed by tertiary production, which should create other opportunities for skills development and technology transfer.

Other tax related incentives in training should be given sufficient exposure for it to reach some level of standards. There is some light in this area with what is happening in other parts of the country in coffee, tea, jam etc. These are the basis for other investment opportunities but before these opportunities come, there has to be some serious infrastructure to lift the primary industry and place it at a level appropriate to move on to the next stage.

□ Cost of Doing Business

There are a number of factors that make operating a business enterprise in PNG quite expensive. These factors can be said to be the same for all the provinces because what is measured at the national level in terms of cost reflected is in the provinces.

In addition to the effects on the unit costs of relatively high wage rates associated with productivity, there are a number of factors that make operating an enterprise (business) in PNG quite expensive. The following factors are some of these constraints contributing to high cost of private sector development and investments.

1. High utility cost with electricity supply unreliable.
2. Dependent on imported raw materials, intermediate goods and expatriate staff.
3. High local transport cost.
4. Security costs are high and increasing.
5. Rental for both business and staff accommodation is very expensive.

High wage rates in themselves are not the cause of excess costs. The problem is low productivity because high productivity with associated increases in wage rates is necessary for expansion of the domestic market.

These cost factors restrict expansion and diversification plans of existing enterprises, and operate as a barrier to the establishment of new business enterprises. While there are numerous opportunities for expansion of the non-mining sector, entrepreneurs are constrained by a number of environmental, as well as cultural and institutional factors. These could be:

□ Competitive Environment

1. Natural Resources and Physical Environment
 - ◆ small domestic market;
 - ◆ fragmented domestic market with inadequate transport access;
 - ◆ inadequate infrastructure;
 - ◆ generally weak domestic manufacturing; and
 - ◆ traditional ownership patterns of land, thus poor access to land for development purposes.

2. Labour Resources

- ◆ Considerable labour force largely untapped;
- ◆ Shortage of skilled and experienced workforce especially in manufacturing;
- ◆ Productivity is below that of competing developing countries; and
- ◆ Dependence on expatriate managers and supervisors.

3. Cost of Doing Business (see discussion on the cost of doing business)

4. Security of Persons and Assets

- ◆ Law and order problems (enterprises spend much on security than they do on capital).

5. Business Skills

- ◆ Most of the small owners of business do not have the necessary experience and training to operate an enterprise effectively, thus:

- ◆ Poor linkages between local enterprise and development prospects (many enterprises cannot meet the requirements for consistent quality, reliability and price competitiveness required by the developers of major projects).
- ◆ Unfavourable reputation of national enterprises with financial lending institutions (banks).
- ◆ Lack of confidence amongst prospective entrepreneurs.

6. Access to Finance

7. Cultural Influence and Attitude
8. International Competitiveness
9. Institutional Setting

4.2 Opportunities

Opportunities do not come alone. With the right approach, technology, application and assistance, opportunities can be turned into success stories.

□ Madang Industrial Marine Park

They come with their own challenges. An Industrial Marine Park is proposed to provide storage facilities for the yellow fin tuna export and to utilise the diverse marine life found in Vidar Harbour. The park will be set up at Vidar, just outside Madang Town. The facility will involve establishing port and storage facilities to store fresh tuna and others to protect the diverse marine life of the Vidar Harbour.

The yellow fin tuna, which will be caught from its source in the Bismark Sea, will be transported by boat to Madang. This will take about one to two hours for the tuna to land at the Madang Airport or to the Park. From there, the tuna would then be loaded on the plane for the Japanese Market. It would therefore be appropriate and economical to have tuna exported out from Madang because it involves lesser time.

□ The Yellow Fin Tuna Export Market

Based on the very lucrative Japanese Yellow Fin Tuna market, the Provincial Government has initiated discussions for possible direct flights from Madang to Tokyo. The Provincial Government therefore intends to establish a main tuna landing facilities and export entry in the province. Thus the Provincial Government hopes to establish a second exist point in Madang to give international travellers a choice when travelling to PNG and for easy export of yellow fin tuna.

□ Major Source of Yellow Fin Tuna

The high valued and highly demanded Yellow Fin Tuna is found in the Bismark Sea, which is between Madang and Manus province and New Britain Island. The tuna is caught in the Bismark Sea and transported to Madang port, which is two to three hours away from the harvesting ground.

□ Major Consumers

Major consumers of Yellow Fin Tuna are the Japanese. Thus the targeted market would be Japan. Currently, yellow fin tuna is caught by RD Tuna; a Filipino Company based in Madang and is exported to the Philippines and Thailand Markets, which are then sold in the Japanese Markets.

It is estimated that, with the airport re-development project, direct international flights can take off from Madang. Thus, it will take roughly about eight to ten hours to transport tuna by plane from Madang to Tokyo in Japan. Thus, it shall take a total of about twelve (12) hours to transport tuna from the fishing ground to the market in Tokyo.

□ Current Export Point

At the moment, tuna is exported to the Tokyo Market out of Port Moresby Airport, which is one-hour flight from Madang.

By upgrading and improving the existing facilities of the Madang Airport to take on A310 and B7373, the export of the tuna can become possible through direct flights from Madang to Tokyo. It will also increase inflow of Japanese tourists to Madang thus boosting the industry in the province.

□ Other Marine Products

Madang Province is suitable for any marine products like prawns, oysters etc because of its equatorial climate and best sea grounds. Other marine products like the Barramundi Fish Farming is currently being tried in the province on the North Coast of Madang. The Provincial Government has been successful in farming Barramundi fish in the sea. The project will be expanded along the coasts of the province to the north and to south.

□ Diversified Marine Resources

The Vidar Harbour area has vast and the most diversified marine resources than Australia's Great Barrier Reef. This gives visitors, especially tourists and marine scientists to visit the site. This will facilitate and boost tourism industry in the province.

Marine research and survey has identified the area in the Vidar and Sek Harbour, which is just outside of Madang Town to have vast marine resources and most diverse species of marine life than the Australian Great Barrier Reef.

The intention to build a Marine Park at Vidar is to also preserve the marine life and for uses and purposes of benefit to all its people. Madang, having a high reputation as being a relatively peaceful town and province in the country, the development of the park would serve as one of the major tourist sites to visit attractions.

5. OVERCOMING THE BARRIERS

The common difficulties people have should be addressed in an approach that should create opportunities and or with cause and effect of other things to happen. Opportunities in skill development must be carefully organised to reflect industry development needs.

The lack of money to sustain better living standards can be addressed on the basis of mass mobilisation of the 85% population and the 97% un-aliolated land. To overcome the barriers, more emphasis should be made in the context of resource owners. In this way, the fundamental problems relating to lawlessness, in particular, can be contained.

This approach can relieve the Government from some cost of the social sector budgetary obligations. In essence, the money can be put into other productive areas to enhance skill development or infrastructure improvements or loan repayment. There is sure to be an impact on the tax system of the Government through mass mobilisation of the 85% population and 97% un-aliolated land. Income levels for the people should rise so would the expenditure by the people where in turn would see revenue for Government increase and expenditure can be managed.

5.1 Options and Strategies

With the passing of the New Organic Law on Provincial and Local Level Government, the Madang Provincial Government has designed its management and planning strategies aimed at improving government planning and budgeting and expenditure control.

These strategies are our approach in Madang Province to address the administrative barriers that too often hinder private sector development and or investment.

The provincial administration has transferred power right down to the districts to prepare budgets and spend their own budget.

□ The Madang Model

This model described in 5.1 is called the Madang Model, which is basically a Planning and Budgeting Model designed for effective government expenditure management and service delivery. The model provides the tools for realistic planning for the government and provides the mechanisms for:

- ◆ Distribution of the various grants provided for under the NOL
- ◆ Formulation and the endorsement of LLG Budgets
- ◆ District Consolidated Revenues
- ◆ Provincial Budget

The Model also aims to:

- ◆ Prevent duplication of the funding the different levels of government.
- ◆ Sharing of the responsibilities between the different levels of Government (demarcation of the roles and responsibilities).
- ◆ Provide clear areas for joint funding by different levels of government.
- ◆ Control and monitor government expenditure (expenditure management).

There are three modules in the Model.

- ◆ Module One: - Project Planning Cycle System Module
- ◆ Module Two: - Computer Accounting Consistency (Budgeting System)
- ◆ Module Three: - Monitoring and Evaluation System Module

□ Today's Situation

We have identified a number of potential areas for possible FDI. This is discussed in the 3 and 4.2 of this paper.

To fight law and order, we are working at a number of strategies to address the situation. Several options are being tried and are working well.

- (1) Direct funding of the Unit of the Police Tactical Force (Task Force) as a response unit. This funding involves logistical support of vehicles, maintenance of office and now possible accommodation.
- (2) Direct funding a number CIS projects at Beon under the Rehabilitation Program. This was launched in March of this year.
- (3) Possible construction of the National Court complex and Judiciary staff houses. We have submitted the Project under PIP, which is in the pipeline.
- (4) The Provincial Government is evicting illegal squatter settlers from the state land in Madang Town. The exercise started in 2000 and 2001. It will be continuing in 2002 once election work is over.

□ What's Next?

Mass Mobilisation through Equity Participation is our approach to engaging the 85% idle rural population and the utilisation of the 97% under-utilised un-aliolated land. The rural population of 85% is not to be said unproductive but it is idle with no incentives.

Our new policy initiative would therefore be focus on mass mobilisation and participation.

Our Vision for tomorrow would therefore be: - "One Madang - In Harmony, Reach Out and Lend A Hand." Through this Broad Statement the Province hopes to maintain its harmonious reputation and reach out to the people and help.

PROMOTING NATIONAL AND REGIONAL DEVELOPMENT

By Ptr. Romeo B. Degolacion

The popular RD Tuna Company in Madang is undertaking a major expansion. It has been the vision of the government that development and expansion ensures that PNG's resources are utilized in sustainable manner.

RD Tuna has shown its determination and commitment to this nation and its economy and will finance RD's huge expansion projects for this year.

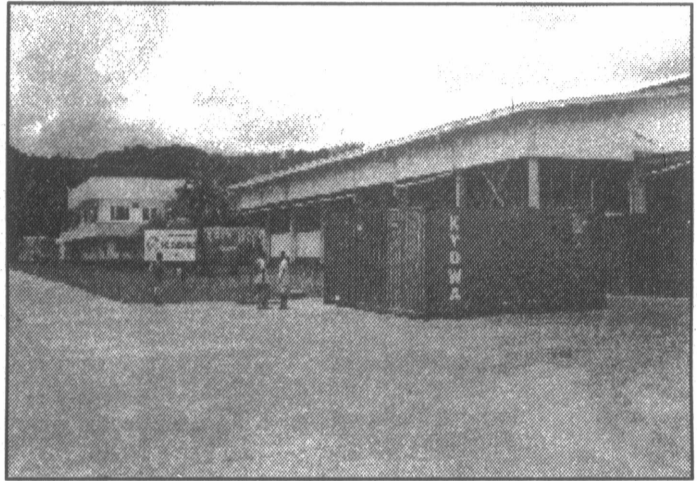

Firstly, the company is upgrading its existing 600 Metric Tonne Cold Storage to 2,000 Metric Tonne capacity at Vidar Wharf, North Coast of Madang Province. This expected additional capacity that cost US$1.4 million makes this Cold Storage the biggest in the South Pacific. The migratory aspects of tuna reprieving in the conducive waters of PNG for a season encouraged RD Fishing Expansion program to support the increasing capacity of RD Tuna Cannerns and other long liner operations.

Once this project starts, it will add to the thriving economic activities of Madang, generate employment and other spin-off activities for the surrounding communities. The target date of completion is June and start of its operation by July will need 200 workers in addition to its more than 100 workers.

Secondly, a 200 Metric-tonne Tuna and Canning Plant with a projected cost of K50 million is expected to start its construction in the 3rd quarter of this year. It will be strategically built within the proposed Marine Economic Zone in Vidar Plantation, North Coast of Madang.

Executive Vice President, Mr Ritche C. Rivera is excited to see an additional workforce of 4,000 - 5,000 for this new cannery, generate more foreign exchange, and a potential recognition of PNG as a Leading Tuna Exporter.

"With this expansion growth and the increased demand in cannery, production capacity and fish catch production, RD Group is keen to push through this project subject to the government's capability to provide additional fishing license and other packages of fiscal incentives," Mr Ritche said.

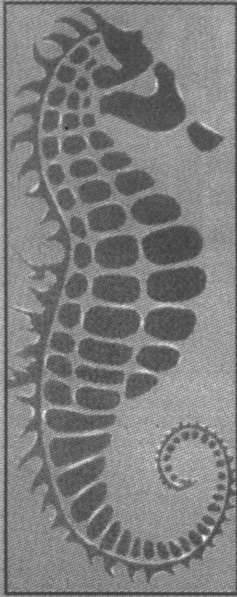

Thirdly, a 48 Hectare Rice Plantation Project is set to start next week at the 860-hectare Vidar Plantation. An initial 5-hectare will be cultivated on a trial basis by a noted agriculturist from the Philippines. RD Group aims to make this a model for the surrounding community and provide local customers with PNG grown rice, and hopefully in the future, assist the country to reduce the big import bill.

Lastly, a Japanese investor called YAMAOKA Group in partnership will also put a processing Plant in the Marine Economic Zone in Vidar. The project can process 40 - 50 MT of Yellow Fin into Steak, which will be marketed to Japan, US, Australia and Europe. This $2 million US Dollars project will need an additional 200 workers.

Managing Director Mr Peter C. Celso is very optimistic that the corporate values of RD in Partnership with PNG government will serve as a model for the other players to maximize PNG's resources in a sustainable manner and increase the socio-economic benefits for Madang.
