A former Scripps Foundation official has been appointed as senior director of development at the University of California, San Diego.

Carol M. Dreher of Del Mar comes to UCSD after serving for the past several years as a vice president of Scripps Foundation for Medicine and Science and director of Development and Institutional Relations at Scripps Clinic and Green Hospital.

Prior to her affiliation with Scripps, Dreher was executive director of the Jonsson Comprehensive Cancer Center Foundation at UCLA and before that community relations officer for the UCLA Public Affairs Department.

A graduate of UCLA with a bachelor's degree in Political Science, she served as an aide to several federal and state legislators.

A member of the National Society of Fund Raising Executives, she served on the board of the San Diego Chapter from 1992 to 1995. Other professional memberships include the San Diego Chapter, Planned Giving Roundtable.
