When I Knew Copyright by Robert Trachtenberg

"A collection of smart, hilarious, and often poignant stories about that revelation for all gay men and women: when they first knew. With over eighty contributors..."

Readers will fall in love with these anecdotes, from the seven-year-old who looked under the television set to sneak a peek under Tarzan's loincloth, to the inquisitive grandmother who asked her grandson, 'You don't like a girl to get married? You prefer a boy?'"

Although this book is a great new addition to the LGBT Resource Center's library, it is also a great

All gear (mask and snorkel, fins, and wetsuit) will cost $22, provided we find enough of you to rent from them, so RSVP to qxn@ucsd.edu !! In order to get the discount, the money must be paid in advance, hence the need to RSVP. Following the event, we will continue our tradition of going out for food with a trip for brunch at a restaurant across the street!

If you would like to see something specific at these events, or any QxN event, then please attend our weekly meetings from 6:00pm-6:30pm at the LGBT Resource Center on Tuesdays. For more information contact qxn@ucsd.edu and visit our soon to exist website!

San Diego Asian Film Festival
Saturday, October 14th, 2006

Located in The Mission Valley Hazard Center

From our friends at the Cross-Cultural Center...

"Come join the UCSD Cross-Cultural Center as they sponsor a film at the 7th Annual San Diego Asian Film Festival! There will be a discussion following the film.

About the film:

LATIN PASSIONS tells the story of the Chinese diaspora through its most recognizable and enduring icon - the family-run Chinese restaurant. Filmmaker Cheuk Kwan visits Peru, Brazil and Argentina to find his Chinese restaurant owners enthralled in their enthusiasm for cooking, soccer and tango - illustrating once again the human impulse to find passions in life.

With insight and poignancy, LATIN PASSIONS introduces us to three remarkable individuals. Luis Yong is the host of a Chinese cooking TV show--a Peruvian "Yan Can Cook"--and a successful restaurant owner. He's also a practicing medical doctor and an outspoken proponent of the health benefits of Chinese cuisine. Husband and wife Lee Ho Shau and Wong Yim Sheung endured a five-hour swim to escape Cultural Revolution-era China and make a better life for themselves in Brazil; now, their soccer-crazed son celebrates the country's World Cup victory with evident national pride. 77-year-old Foo-Ching Chiang (the "Spring Roll King" of Argentina) combines his love of Chinese culture with his passion for the tango in Casa China, a restaurant and cultural center dedicated to bringing Chinese and Argentinean cultures together.

LATIN PASSIONS reveals how Chinese immigrants have not only survived but thrived as part of the complex mestizaje of Latin American life."

LGBT Resource Center Burglarized

TOP STORY

Dear Community,

The LGBT Resource Center was burglarized at some point last evening, either late night Saturday, October 14 or early morning, Sunday, October 15, 2006. Two desktop computers were taken, the one at the front desk and the one from Samuel's office. The front desk and Samuel's office were also disheveled, and everything had been gone through.

Samuel discovered the theft when he opened the Center today, Sunday. We have filed a police report.

There was no sign of forced entry, and all of the windows and doors were locked and secured.

As per the advice of the UC police, we will have the building re-keyed by the end of the day. We will also have the lights on all night tonight.

This crime appears to have been directed at our property, not at our LGBT community. The police informed us that in recent weeks both the Women's Center and Mandeville Center have experienced similar equipment thefts.

We wanted you to have this information as soon as possible. We will make more decisions on Monday and early next week in terms of responses to this incident.

Again, this appears to be a crime against our property, not against our community. It is disturbing, and certainly has an impact. We all can heighten our awareness regarding our own safety, and the safety of our property. We certainly should be more aware of our community in the space.

If you see or hear anything unusual in or around our space, especially late at night or at unusual times, please call the campus police at 858 534-4357, or 911 and report it.

Our Center will close today, Sunday, as soon as the locksmith completes the rekeying process. However, after today we will be open as we always are. We will not live in fear, and we will empower ourselves to be more safety conscious.

If you have any questions or need more information, please do not hesitate to contact me in the office, 858 822-3493. We will communicate to everyone more information as further plans are made.

Sincerely,

Shaun Travers
 Director, UCSD LGBT Resource Center

THEFT UPDATE

Howdy y'all~

The locks at the LGBT Resource Center have been replaced. To increase our security, we will put a key-pad entry system and an alarm system in place. Both of the systems should be in place soon.

We will be replacing the computers that were stolen with computers that have been offered to us from the Chancellor's Business Office. We truly appreciate their support, and offering the use of these computers. We will get them in place soon, and are able to utilize computers from our Bohnett Wireless CyberCenter in the short term to meet some basic needs.

I have spoken with the police department and the investigation is ongoing. I hope the perpetrators will be caught and the equipment recovered, but can not predict the future, so we will simply have to see what unfolds with the case.

If you see or hear anything unusual in or around our space, especially late at night or at unusual times, please call the campus police at 858 534-4357, or 911, and report it.

I am very proud of our community. Thank you to so many who have offered support throughout this time. Many, many things are moving forward. This is simply a bump in the road, and will not slow us down. I encourage you to take advantage of all the wonderful things happening. Read on for more information! If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me in the office, 858 822-3493.

The Women's Center is hosting a screening of Period.

"Period: The End of Menstruation? interrogates the health risks of menstrual suppression and the diverse meanings and experiences of 'the curse.'

Period includes a variety of voices from around the United States, which raise provocative questions around what is 'natural' and 'normal' and what it means to bleed." Also, intersecting with these issues are gender construction and queerness.

Following the film there will be a discussion with filmmaker and UCSD Assistant Professor in Communication, Giovanna Chesler.

"A stunning collection of essays about what it is like to be gay and young, to be different and to be aware of that difference from the earliest of ages.

In these memoirs, coming out is less important than coming of age and realizing that young gay people experience the world in ways quite unlike straight boys."

This is another great addition to the LGBT Resource Center library. A special thanks to Ted for the donation.

Q-Quote of the Week

"We named this anthology 'radical' for we were interested in the writings of women of color who want nothing short of a revolution in the hands of women--who agree that that is the goal, no matter how we might disagree about the getting there or the possibility of seeing it in our own lifetimes. We use the term in its original form -- stemming from the word 'root' -- for our feminist politic emerges from the roots of both of our cultural oppression and heritage."

Beyond Pink and Blue: exploring the space between 'male' and 'female'
Submission Deadline: October 20th

In honor of National Transgender Day of Remembrance (November 20th), in order to expand the conversations around the concepts of gender identity, and in the hope of making this corner of the world safer for transgendered individuals, The Rubber Rose would like to dedicate it's gallery space for the month of November to thinking "beyond pink and blue". We welcome submissions of personal work that explore the topic, that can give an inside perspective of where you have been and where you are going, of what it has been like, and of how you dream it can be. Submissions from those still questioning, to those who now know without a doubt, are all welcome. With your help, we would like to create a living diary from the perspective of one who has struggled in this world that forces us to decide.

Submission Deadline is Friday, October 20th. E-mail or personal delivery of work is accepted.

Saturday, October 28th, 12 - 3PM

My name's Anthony Nuñez and I am this year's Anti-Racism intern at the LGBT Resource Center. ## In Our Library

Understanding Whiteness: Unraveling Racism
 by Judy Helfand and Laurie Lippin, Ph.D.

This book makes whiteness and white privilege visible, revealing the cultural and institutional structures that are perpetuating white dominance. It is powerful and provides tools for examining what it is to be white in the U.S., for addressing fear and guilt as barriers to dismantling racism, and for identifying the small daily acts and larger organized movements that further the struggle for social justice and equality.

Resource Center Thurs. until 5pm, Friday first thing in the morning, and Saturday from noon to three. Hopefully you can reach me between now and Saturday at 3pm but if not, e-mail qxn@ucsd.edu and I will figure out a way for you to get the payment to a QxN PM.

- Remember that I will not only need your payment but your PID number as well so that I can register everyone myself. P.S. Remember I need your money by no later than Saturday. If you have any questions please respond at qxn@ucsd.edu or call me at 858-869-3193.

Thanks again and see everyone soon,

Come and take a glance through the book before the Town Hall meeting on Saturday, Oct. 28th.

"On August 29th, 2005, the city of New Orleans was forever changed when Hurricane Katrina hit. One year later, director Spike Lee presented "When the Levees Broke", that recounts one of the United States' most profound natural disasters through words and images. In addition to revisiting the hours leading up to the devastating storm, the film tells the personal stories of those who lived to tell about it. At the same time, this film explores the underbelly of a nation where the divide along race and class lines has never been more pronounced."

Rainbow Flag gone missing and replaced

On Tuesday, October 24th, 2006 sometime after 3:30pm but before we closed at 9pm, the LGBT Resource Center staff discovered that the large rainbow flag which hangs outside our Center during business hours was missing. We filed a police report and the investigation is ongoing.

We immediately replaced the flag with a newly purchased one the next morning. We also have cabled it to the railing with a steel cable and lock. This incident was directed at us as a passive homophobic act, but not as an active hate incident. There was no anti-gay graffiti or destruction of property. However, the incident is still disturbing and our community should continue to be aware in and around the space.

This incident, coming on the heels of the computer theft, should be a reminder. The incidents appear unrelated, but the timing is telling. With heightened visibility also comes a heightened need for securing our own safety and the safety of the community.

If you have any information regarding the theft, or any questions or concerns, do not hesitate to contact any of the staff of the LGBT Resource Center.

Dialogues in Sexuality Studies: Inaugural Event

Thursday, November 16th, 2006
5pm - 7pm @ the LGBT Resource Center

This event is free and open to UCSD faculty and graduate students.

Dialogues in Sexuality Studies is a new quarterly series designed to bring together UCSD faculty members and graduate students from across campus who are interested in the growing interdisciplinary field of Sexuality Studies. Each event features two short presentations—one by a faculty member and one by a graduate student from different disciplines whose work bears productive similarities. To encourage the collaborative spirit of the series, the two presentations will be followed by open discussion over an informal buffet dinner.

The inaugural event will feature presentations from:

Fatima El-Tayeb
Assistant Professor of African American Literature and Culture, UC San Diego
"Queering Ethnicity: European Minority Activism and New Media Cultures"

Meghan Duffy
Ph.D. Student, Department of Sociology, UC San Diego
"Diversity as Instrument: The Management of Difference in a Sexual-Identity Based Organization"

Dinner and discussion will follow the presentations.

wondering!). I was mainly raised in the U.S., but my connection to Mexico is ever-present. I speak Spanish a little bit of German and I can read (but not comprehend) Russian!

As part of my internship I will be holding several discussions that address the issue of racism in the queer community. As I have experienced it, the LGBT community, because of its history of oppression, tends to forget that racism, classism, sexism and a bunch of other isms can still occur in our daily interactions with other folk (albeit not in the most obvious ways). It is these covert forms of racism that I want to bring to light and dissect in order to understand, truly, what our community can do to eradicate them. I hope you all will be able to join me in my future programs, and thank you to those who attended my first program this past Saturday! Also if you see me in the Resource Center please feel free to say hi to me! I'm always open to new conversations with new people!

avoid scandal. The arrangement placed Lowe in a marriage of convenience with a mysterious widow, Miss Sylvie. Lowe and Sylvie's relationship is complex, vivid, erotic, and full of secrets. Sylvie is a light-skinned black woman who, in the course of their three decades together, gives up three dark-skinned children for adoption. But Lowe's secret is much more startling and remarkable -- Lowe is actually a woman who began cross-dressing to pass as a man because it was illegal for Chinese women to emigrate.

This is the story of the destruction of a far-away world: the burning of Lowe's shop and the demolition of his masks; and the creation of a dream: the building of a pagoda where culture and the past are accepted and acceptable.

The author, Patricia Powell, was born in Jamaica in 1966 and is the Briggs-Copeland Lecturer in Fiction at Harvard.
