The Friends of the International Center at the University of California, San Diego is awarding $21,000 in study-abroad scholarships for 1996-97, according to International Center Director Mary Dhooge.

Dhooge said that $15,000 in scholarships will be awarded to UCSD undergraduate students bound for study abroad. Scholarships totaling $6,000 will be awarded to graduate students involved in international exchange and research.

The Friends of the International Center scholarship funds are derived from proceeds of the Friends' ethnic dinners and income from the Friends' Resale Shop. The Resale Shop is located in the International Center on campus at the intersection of Gilman Drive and Mandeville Way. Donations of a variety of items, including household goods, clothing, and baby items, are accepted throughout the year.
