Mining companies must comply with PNG laws: Akoitai

The Minister for Mining, Hon. Sam Akoitai has said that all mining companies have to satisfy a lot of stringent conditions before the Government can even allow them to invest in the country.

"I know that our mining and environment laws are well-established and are some of the most stringent in the world.

"Mining companies who operate here are well aware that they not only have to meet these requirements, but they must abide by them once they decide to invest in Papua New Guinea," Mr Akoitai said.

Minister Akoitai said that there is a lot of negotiations and discussions involved even before a company can be allowed into the country.

The Minister's comments follow an attack on the China Metallurgical Construction Corporation (CMCC) by Australian academic, Helen Hughes, who said that China has a poor mine-safety record.

"She can rave on about how she sees PNG's state of affairs, but it is quite unfair for our learned academic to penalize one company (CMCC) for China's alleged overall poor safety record," Mr Akoitai said.

The Minister said her claim also questions the sovereignty of Papua New Guinea. "The decision to bring in CMCC was done by the Government of PNG after lengthy and protracted negotiations between the officials of both countries.

Proper forum for debate in House

The Prime Minister, Sir Michael Somare, says the appropriate venue for debate for all elected Parliament members is the floor of Parliament.

Sir Michael called on all members of Parliament to attend the next session that began on 26 July 2004.

He urged all members to put the interest of their people first by attending Parliament sessions.

Sir Michael expressed concern that a great number of members of parliament did not represent their constituencies on the floor of Parliament when the House was in session.

The Prime Minister questions

the seriousness of the Opposition in challenging the government when they are given the opportunity on the floor of parliament to debate but instead choose to take holiday at expensive destinations the whole time that the parliament was in session early this month.

When the Parliament resumed on 26th July, Opposition seats were empty except the Member for Western Highlands, Mr Paias Wingti and Member of National Capital District, Mr Bill Skate were the only Opposition members present among the Government Ministers and back benches present for the current session.

Sir Paulias sworn in as 8th Governor-General

Papua New Guinea's eighth Governor-General, Sir Paulias Matane, was sworn in by the Chief Justice, Sir Mari Kapi, at a ceremony held at Parliament on June 29.

Sir Paulias office of tenure began on 29 June 2004 and will be for six years.

The ceremony was witnessed by members of Parliament, Government officials, the Judiciary, and Heads of Foreign Diplomatic Missions.

Chief Justice, Sir Mari Kapi, conducted the swearing in ceremony by inviting the Governor General to first take Oath of Allegiance, then his Declaration of Loyalty and lastly his Declaration of Office.

The statement of oath of Allegiance reads:

"I Sir Paulias Matane, do swear that I will well and truly serve and bear truer alliance to her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, her heirs and successor according to law so help me God.

The Declaration of Loyalty reads:

"I Sir Paulias Matane, realising fully the responsibilities to which I am committing myself and the consequences of not living up to this declaration and those responsibilities, freely and willingly declare my loyalty to the independent State of Papua New Guinea and its people and to the Constitution of Papua New Guinea adopted by the Constituent Assembly on 15 August 1975, as altered from time to time in accordance with its provisions, and promise that I will uphold the constitution and the laws of Papua New Guinea.

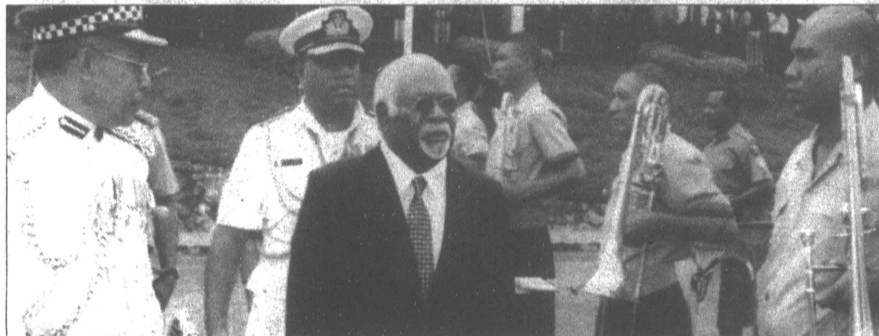

His Declaration of Office:

"I Paulias Matane do promise and declare that I will well and truly serve the independent state of Papua New Guinea and its people in the Office of the Governor-General.

After tea His Excellency was met outside the Haus Tambaran entrance by Commodore Ilau Commander of PNG Defence Force.

He was then invited to inspect the Guard of Honour before departing for his official residence.

Overseas investors confident: PNG

A Canadian Oil and Gas company, Cheetah has opened its office in Port Moresby recently.

The Prime Minister, Sir Michael Somare, this month received the Chairman of Cheetah Oil and Gas Company of Canada who visited the five exploration projects and open their office in PNG.

The company will be doing major exploration on oil and gas in the Sepik Basin and some parts of the Highlands Provinces.

"I am glad that the Chairman of Cheetah Oil and Gas Company, Garth Braun, has come himself to see the country as this reflects the view of local and overseas investors that this Government is managing the country well," Sir Michael said.

He assured Mr Braun that his Government is doing its best to restore good governance and to mould an environment that is right for investment to grow.

Meanwhile, Chairman and CEO of Cheetah, Mr Braun said the company is happy to be given this opportunity to invest in Papua New Guinea.

"This direction your country is taking is an excellent one because you have given incentives like tax reductions to companies like Inter Oil who are already here and this reflects their confidence in doing business in PNG and we are happy to invest now than later," said Mr Braun.

He said by demonstrating in areas like tax reduction to investors, this Government will bring in more investors into PNG.

Mr Braun commended the Prime Minister for the Government's commitment to boosting economic growth and wished them every success to manage the economy.

Somare assist Fijian village

The Papua New Guinea High Commissioner to Fiji, His Excellency Mr Alexis Maino recently presented a cheque valued F$10,000 to a Fijian village on behalf of the PNG Prime Minister, Sir Michael Somare.

Mr Maino presented the cheque to Mr Berenado Vunibobo at the latter's residence, who received the cheque on behalf of the Waivou village.

It was witnessed by representatives from the Rewa Province village as well as some members of the PNG Suva community. The donation, which goes to the Waivou village Development Fund, will assist the village health project.

Prime Minister Somare made the commitment in October 2003 in appreciation of the Waivou villagers' warm hospitality after a visit to the village.

Mr Maino in presenting the cheque said that Papua New Guinea and Fiji have a long and very cooperative relationship. The assistance by the PNG Prime Minister, though small should be useful for the village project, and will further strengthen the good relations between the two countries and peoples.

Mr Vunibobo in receiving the donation said the assistance would go a long way in helping the village project.

Mr Vunibobo is a former diplomat and government minister and is a widely respected senior statesman in Fiji.

OIC upgrades to Dept of State Enterprises & Information: Temu announces

The Minister for State Enterprises and Information, Dr Puka Temu, has announced the creation of the new Department of State Enterprises and Information.

Speaking on the NBC Karai Talkback Program on Monday 19th July, Dr Temu said the structure for the Department of the State Enterprises and Information was approved on May 5 and positions of the new department will be advertised soon.

Dr Temu said the creation of the new department was an initiative of his predecessor Hon. Arthur Somare, to incorporate the governments privatization policy development and to strengthen public awareness campaign for government through dissemination of development information.

He explained that the Government was now encouraging Public Private Partnership with all government entities under its privatization policy.

He said the creation of the Department of State Enterprises and Information would mean IPBC to concentrate on State Asset management while the department will be responsible for privatization policy development and advisory.

He said the new department consists of TWO (2) Divisions namely Policy and Information divisions. The

Mr Henao Iduhu Acting Secretary

PNG-Solomon Island border agreement signed in Port Moresby - 27th July 2004

Solomon Islands PM, Sir Allan Kemakeza and PNG Prime Minister, Sir Michael Somare sign the Basic Agreement on Border Agreement between PNG and Solomon Islands in Parliament.

Sir Allan Kemakeza, Sir Rabbie Namaliu and Sir Michael Somare posed after the signing ceremony.

Sir Rabbie urges Bougainville Peace Process to move on : UNOMB Term extended

The Minister for Foreign Affairs and Immigration, Sir Rabbie Namaliu and Minister for Inter-Government Relations, Sir Peter Barter have welcomed the decision by United Nations Security Council (UNSC) to extend UNOMB's term on the island.

It will be allowed to remain on the ground until the end of 2004.

The extension was granted after Sir Rabbie pleaded Papua New Guinea's request for United Nations to extend the term until the autonomous Bougainville government is elected.

Sir Rabbie recently returned from New York, after pleading PNG's request at the United Nations Security Council, for the United Nations Observer Mission on Bougainville (UNOMB) term to be extended after it expired on 30th June 2004.

Sir Rabbie called on all parties to ensure that every aspect of the peace process was completed so that UNOMB could complete its assignment before it leaves.

"It is critical that the parties cooperate in every way possible in meeting the challenge of seeing that peace in Bougainville becomes self sustaining," Sir Rabbie said.

Sir Rabbie told permanent members of the United Nations Security Council (UNSC) which includes - China, France, Russia, United Kingdom and USA, that 85 percent of the weapons previously contained, had now been destroyed, while the Bougainville Constitutional Commission was finalizing its third and final draft, on the Bougainville Peace Process.

"The message I received in return was quite clear: there is wide spread and genuine concern among members of the international community for the situation in Bougainville, and understanding of the reasons for PNG's request for UNOMB to continue providing support," he added.

Sir Rabbie emphasized that there are UN peace missions in other regions of the world, and pressure on personnel, funds and other resources are becomingly great, and therefore, every UN mission has to come to an end.

Sir Rabbie wants the collection and destruction of weapons to be completed, and work on the Bougainville Constitution to be finalized so that preparations for elections are completed and implemented in time for the autonomous Bougainville government to commence operation before the end of the year.

"At a time when United Nations' resources are stretched to the limit by peace-keeping and related activities around the world, Papua New Guinea appreciates the positive way in which United Nations' member states and officials have answered our request for UNOMB to stay on to fulfill the responsibilities given to it under the Bougainville Peace Agreement and Constitutional Amendment giving force of law to the Agreement.

"The UNSC and Secretariat have recognized the progress already made in giving effect to the commitments made in the Bougainville Peace Agreement achieving sustainable peace," Sir Rabbie said.

Both Ministers emphasized that the official announcement by the President of the UNSC is clear that this will be the final extension.

The United Nations Secretary General, His Excellency Kofi Annan, has been given three (3) months to prepare and present a plan showing how UNOMB will complete its assignment and leave within the further six (6) months agreed to.

Commenting on the extension, Sir Peter said he appreciated the great personal effort Sir Rabbie has put into lobbying for UNOMB's extension at UN Headquarters in New York.

Both Ministers have also expressed their appreciation for the United Nations continuing support.

Telikom sale: NOT ON until NEC is satisfied

The Prime Minister, Sir Michael Somare has denied allegations by the Opposition Leader that he engaged any company to value Telikom PNG.

Sir Michael said following the decision of the Telikom Board, he gave instructions to the Chairman of the Board to do an independent evaluation of Telikom.

He said, "As the Prime Minister, I will be held to account if any state owned assets are sold at a lesser prices than what they are worth and if Papua New Guinea does not get the best out of a deal."

In relations to the Opposition leader's claims, Sir Michael said, "I do not have the power or the authority to engage any company to carry out an evaluation of any state owned assets. I can only instruct the Board who then decide which company they wish to engage for the evaluation."

Sir Michael expressed disappointment that government bodies are leaking misinformation to the media. He said he will consult with the Minister for State Enterprises and Information and the IPBC over the claim by the Opposition leader, Mr Peter O'Neil that these documents were given to him by these two offices.

"That is not the way that government should run its affairs. If there are differences, they must be managed in house and not through the media," said Sir Michael.

As the Chairman of NEC, Sir Michael said, "Until the NEC is satisfied that all processes and procedures have been followed, there will be no sale of 51% of Telikom."

High level education conference in Madang

Primary School inspectors observe self-reliance

The 2004 combined Conference of Senior Education Officers and Chairpersons of Provincial Education Committees was held in Madang from July 12-16.

The theme for the Conference 'Prosperity Through Self Reliance' and was hosted by the Madang Provincial Government in the Conference Room of the Madang Resort Hotel.

The Senior Education Officers' Conference (SEOC) began on Monday, July 12 and ended on Wednesday, July 14 and followed by the Conference of Education Chairmen's Council (CECC) from Thursday, July 14-16. The SEOC is a preparation for participants to provide technical advice to members of the Education Chairmen's Council.

The Conference of Education Chairmen's Council was chaired by the National Minister for Education and is often held annually.

Secretary Peter Baki said it is an important consultation that enables the National Minister to consult with his provincial counterparts and reach common agreements on education policy and developing the National Education System.

Secretary for Education, Mr Peter Baki

The last such consultation was held in Kimbe, West New Britain Province in 2002 with the theme 'Promoting National Identity through Education'

He said Some of the decisions of earlier Minister's conferences have led to our Education Reform, endorsed the National Education Plan 1995-2004 and committed the provinces to Provincial Education Plans in line with the National Plan.

The objectives of the 2004 Conference were to:

1. obtain conference views and endorsement on the draft National Education Plan (NEP) for 2005 to 2014

2. consider the four Regional Situation Reports on the status of education;

3. discuss emerging issues affecting education and make appropriate recommendations;

4. discuss strategies for implementing the 2004 theme 'Prosperity Through Self Reliance' in schools and work places;

5. to consider actions taken on the 2002 SEOC/CECC Resolutions.

More than 100 participants attended the combined Conferences which included all the Provincial Education Advisors, the 21 Chairpersons of Education Councils, senior education officers from the Department of Education, representatives from government departments, government ministers and representatives from NGO's and donor agencies.

A senior education official from each of the Melanesian Spearhead Group countries Vanuatu, Fiji and the Solomon Islands also attended the combined Conference.

Key speakers and invited guests included the Minister for Education, Honorable Michael Laimo CBE MP, the Governor for Madang, Honorable James Yali MP, Secretary for Education Mr Peter Baki CBE, Acting Administrator for Madang, Mr Augustine Dunstan, and the Acting Secretary for National Planning and Rural Development Ms Marianna Ellingson.

Mr Baki said the Department of Education thanked AusAID for its important support again in financing the conference, and its continued support in the Education Sector in Papua New Guinea.

The Senior Primary School Inspectors Conference held in Vanimo, West Sepik province in May this year coincided with a three-day tour of schools practicing self-reliance projects in Jayapura, Indonesia.

Vanimo was chosen as venue especially to implement this year's education theme "Prosperity Through Self-Reliance" which is also in line with the National Government's policy on Recovery and Development.

The conference is an annual event that brings together senior primary school inspectors to:

- develop and sharpen skills and practices in their work, schools and with their teachers;
- maintain and improve the quality of education in advising schools, teachers, communities and Board of Managements;
- create an opportunity to exchange professional ideas among senior primary school inspectors.

Superintendent Primary Inspections Mr Diari Gabina who led the team of senior primary school inspectors said apart from three days of conference in Vanimo, another three days including weekend was spent in Jayapura where they observed self-reliance projects and administration of schools thus, implementing Point 11 of the 13 Point Agreement signed between the two countries in July 2003.

The National Department of Education is implementing Point 11 of the agreement under education and training and culture and tourism. This agreement provides on the job comparative study for senior supervisors, in this case, the senior primary school inspectors who attended the conference.

The tour offered the inspectors ideas on how these schools were managed and the types of self-reliance and skills development projects being practice. They should now be able to pass on the information and examples of what the Indonesian schools are doing for self-reliance and skills development, he said.

One of the main thing the tour observed in schools practicing self-reliance projects in Jayapura was the very good support from their communities.

Schools need the support from parents, Board of Managements (BOMs) and the community. Schools must operate without disturbance. BOMs must work together with schools and support their school's programs.

Many schools in PNG are already practicing self-reliance projects. In Madang alone, 38 primary schools are practicing different self-reliance activities.

The East Sepik and Sandaun provinces are mainly growing vanilla. Most of the primary schools in Port Moresby have canteens, sell food and conduct fund raising activities apart from agriculture due to shortage of land. A good example is Ward Strip Primary School which has just opened a new cafeteria at a cost of K42,000 from school fees and Board of Management support.

The Secretary for Education Mr Peter Baki CBE encourages schools that have not started any self-reliance projects to start one. Schools must become self-reliant and implement projects that will reduce costs of running the school and not just wait for Government handouts, he said.

Government Departments discuss roles and appointments of Provincial Education advisors

An inter-department workshop was held recently to discuss the roles, responsibilities and appointments of Provincial Education Advisors (PEAs).

The workshop was organized and conducted by the Department of Education in Port Moresby and attended by senior officers from the Departments of Education, Treasury, Personnel Management, Health and National Planning and Rural Development.

The workshop came up with alternatives and strategies that will be used to draft a submission to the NEC to strengthen the linkages between the Secretary for Education and the Provincial Education Advisors (PEAs) to improve the delivery of services in the provinces.

In his official opening speech, the Deputy Secretary for Human Resource Development in the Department of Education, Dr Joseph

Secretary for Education, Mr Peter Baki

Pagelio told the senior officers that the issue to be discussed had been identified by the National Education Plan 2005-2014 Steering Committee and the Public Accounts Committee.

Dr Pagelio said that these two bodies have instructed the Department to pursue and address the issue and this workshop had been organized to do that. He encouraged the officers to explore all sides of the issue before coming up with a proper and balanced submission.

The Secretary for Education Mr Peter Baki CBE has also identified this issue as a barrier to implementing education policy, including in a presentation to the National Development Forum in October 2003 entitled Priorities in Education to Support the Export Driven Recovery and Development Strategy.

The appointments of PEAs were made by the Secretary for Education before the provincial government reform in 1995 and they were officers of the National Department of Education.

Under the Organic Law on Provincial Governments and Local Level Governments, PEAs are appointed by the Provincial Administrators.

They are responsible to the Provincial Administrator on administrative matters and are only responsible to the Secretary for Education on Policy matters. As a result this arrangement is affecting the delivery of services in the province.

PEAs appointments are sometimes politicized and not on merit. As a result unqualified persons who do not have the necessary experience and qualification are appointed.

The high turnover of PEAs is also another issue identified at the workshop. Frequent changes of PEAs have delayed the delivery of education services in the provinces. The current arrangement also makes it difficult for the Department to monitor the work of PEAs, or assist PEAs with long term professional development.

First Assistant Secretary for Policy, Planning, Research &

Communication Mr Pala Wari who chaired the workshop said that the Department of Education is striving to provide quality and efficient services in the provinces. It has done well in terms of access and one factor it still needs to address is the delivery of services in the province by provincial divisions of education.

The Department of Education is looking forward to meeting with other government departments that were not able to attend this workshop to continue discussions on this issue.

It thanks the departments who attended the workshop for their input and looks forward to the next meeting with them as well as other departments including Provincial Affairs, Finance, Agriculture and others. Discussions from this workshop will be incorporated in the draft NEC submission the Department of Education is preparing.

Australia - PNG seals ECP Treaty

The Governments of Papua New Guinea and Australia finally signed a joint agreement on Enhanced Cooperation, taking a step forward in implementing the Enhanced Cooperation Program (ECP), agreed by respective government officials in December last year.

Minister for Foreign Affairs and Immigration, Sir Rabbie Namaliu, says ECP requires a financial commitment by the Australian government of about K2 billion over a five-year period.

The money is in addition to Australia's development assistance program.

"The ECP involves Australian police, officials and judicial experts working along side their PNG colleagues in line positions within the Government system," Australian Minister for Foreign Affairs, Mr Alexander Downer said.

Sir Rabbie paid tribute to Australia for her generous contribution towards PNG's stability, security and economic growth since independence, through budget support, and more recently since 2000, project aid under the Development Cooperation Agreement.

Both Ministers agreed that law and order was the most pressing concern for the country, and this would be the focus of the ECP.

About 230 Australian police personnel, drawn from State Police Forces, will be seconded to the Royal PNG Constabulary.

They will serve in the Criminal Investigation Division (CID), prosecution, forensic works and police stations through out the National Capital District, Lae, Mt. Hagen, Wabag, Mendi and Bougainville.

Sir Rabbie said the judicial system would be strengthened, while backlog of cases in the local courts would be addressed by the secondment of four Australian judges to the National Court and other specialist lawyers to work in other legal areas.

A further 30 Australian officials will be deployed in key government agencies to support PNG's economic development, and improving services in budget procedures and government spending, and migration, customs and civil aviation.

Sir Rabbie added that the government and people of Papua New Guinea appreciated the wide-ranging capacity building assistance the Enhance Cooperation Program would provide to the Government in law and order, sound fiscal and macroeconomic management and good governance.

Sir Rabbie thanked the Australian government and people for their extensive personnel and other assistance provided under the

"The ECP reflected the strength and maturity of the bi-lateral relationship between close neighbours and good friends," Sir Rabbie said.

Meanwhile, necessary legislations are being finalized before Parliament can pass them to allow the program to proceed.

Review of Defence White Paper a Pressing Need: Raphael

Acting Defence Secretary, Stephen Raphael wants the Defence White paper of 1999 revised quickly to ensure it captures the new image of the PNGDF and the evolving strategic environment, especially the current threats of terrorism and the obvious revival of PNGDF.

Mr Raphael said, the environment is constantly changing both within the country and in the region and it is appropriate that the Defence White Paper is reviewed to realign the PNG Defence Force to meet new challenges taking place in the environment.

"When the 1999 Defence White Paper was prepared, the threat of terrorism in the region and around the world was given the scant regard.

Mr Raphael wants to include counter-terrorism strategies and the PNG-Australia Defence Cooperation in the review of the Defence White Paper because the environmental condition demands that these issues are included.

The review of the 1999 Defence White Paper is also a pre-requisite to the Australian assistance to Papua New Guinea Defence Force under the PNG-Australia Defence Cooperation Program.

This is needed to ensure the arrangement remains focused on the strategic objectives of both parties.

The Defence White Paper is a policy mechanism that gives strategic guidelines and direction of how the PNGDF should be administered over a period of time.

"Usually in a turbulent environment like PNG and our region - even in the world today when many changes are taking place, five years should be the maximum time limit for a strategy to remain relevant," said Mr Raphael.

"In this instance, the PNGDF White Paper of 1999 ran out of its usefulness and must be reviewed."

Defence seminar aims to form AIDS policy

Papua New Guinea (PNG) military personnel is already at high risk with this deadly virus HIV/AIDS with a high number of our infantry men already exposed to it.

The Minister for Defence Hon Mathew Gubag said this at the opening of a HIV/AIDS seminar in Port Moresby recently.

"As the Minister responsible for defence matters in Cabinet, I am worried and concerned about the safety of our Defence Force soldier attending to community development programs in the field.

Mr Gubag said AIDS does not respect people - not even professions or careers and the PNGDF and its personnel are no exception.

"There are alarming figures and worrying trends within the PNG Defence Force military barracks, on HIV/AIDS and undoubtedly will be exposed during the seminar. We cannot hide them anymore", he said.

He said these figures and trends have many implications in terms of finance, and resources allocation; manpower development, training and many more - not to mention the associated problems.

"The time has come for the Papua New Guinea Defence Force and its management to admit that it is a problem. It's now time to act. Let us tackle the HIV/AIDS problem in PNGDF head-on or else the virus will decimate the force. We must do something about it before it is too late", Mr Gubag said.

Mr Gubag said it is an undeniable fact that several soldiers have died of this deadly virus over the years. Since then, the Department has spent substantial amount of money in funeral expenses and related costs.

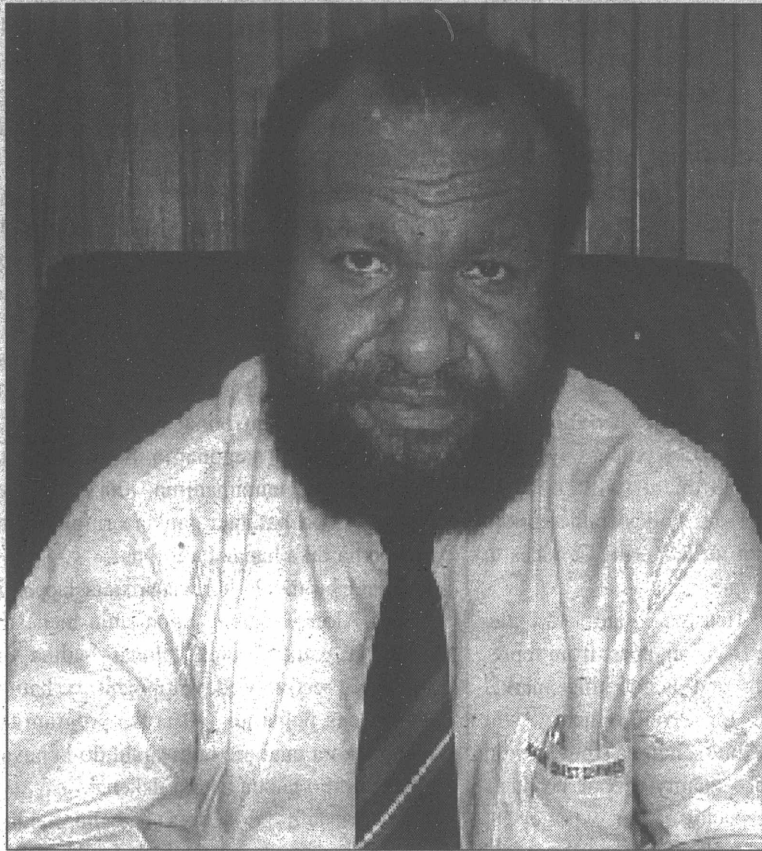

While the Department will continue to send bodies of soldiers dying because of the HIV/AIDS home, other problems remain: What comes of serving members who are still living with the HIV virus? Do we retain them? If so, in what capacity? What role will they play? Or if we dismiss them, what are the implications that must be considered?

Answers to these questions will form the basis of a policy paper through which PNGDF hopes to manage the spread of this epidemic among the force.

FOREST PRODUCT PROMOTION

Timber market information

BRIDGING INFORMATION GAP

PNGFA Acting Managing Director Mr Terry Warra

STAFF of the National Forest Service (NFS) and the Eco-Forestry Programme (EFP) who travelled to Madang and Milne Bay provinces recently to promote the Papua New Guinea Forest Authority's (PNGFA) Timber Marketing Information System (MkIS) have noticed an information gap among participants who attended the seminar. Marketing information is not readily available and that is why the PNGFA is developing its Timber MkIS, aimed at enriching the users.

Experts have recognized that in a society where knowledge is power, there is also a concern for a growing information gap between the rich and the poor. Richard Stallman (United States Computer Programmer and Founder of the Free Software Foundation and a leading advocate of open systems and freedom of information) believes that all generally useful information should be free for people to adapt to their own uses. He believes that the sharing of non-confidential information will help all people to be better off.

The visits to the provinces is a major step the PNGFA and the EFP are taking as a means of promoting MkIS to the small to medium scale buyers and sellers of sawn and processed timber products.

These (visits) are the early stages of the Timber MkIS, but the need to go public is a must and a step in the right direction. The small to medium scale producers and buyers of timber from Papua New Guinea need timber marketing information and they need to know that a government service provider with the help of the European Union has finally seen their woes and is addressing the situation. The users will access the information uncompromisingly because it is under the custodianship of the PNG Forest Authority, a government entity and a service provider.

The Timber MkIS is new and hence it is bound to have its pitfalls. Nevertheless, there is ongoing consultation and inputs from all stakeholder representatives. Finally, PNGFA will deliver its services to its clients in accordance with the National Eco-Forestry Policy which is currently being finalised. This is a milestone for the PNGFA, thanks to the European Union funded Eco-Forestry Programme.

"When information is generally useful, redistributing it makes humanity wealthier no matter who is distributing and no matter who is receiving." - Richard Stallman

Meanwhile, the PNGFA and the EFP will shortly be promoting the Timber MkIS to provincial clients in Lae, Kimbe and Port Moresby. A power-point presentation will be used to outline the Timber MkIS concept and the services currently being developed. They will also explain and discuss the role of the National Forest Service's provincial offices as information collection and distribution "agents" - linking up with local-level extension service providers.

PNGFA gives K60,000 wood poles to Wantok Radio Light

Some of the 30 American tourists who were on hand to witness the presentation of wood poles.

The Papua New Guinea Forest Authority (PNGFA) has donated K60,000 worth of wood poles to Port Moresby based Wantok Radio Light to assist it realize its mission to spread the Gospel of Christ to as many Papua New Guineans as possible through the short wave radio frequency-Broadcast

The radio station, which first went on air on January 14, 2002. It is currently broadcasting on the FM (frequency modulation) band and is picked up by residents of the National Capital District and Central province only.

A lot of requests have been received from people throughout the country asking for the radio station to be broadcast to their centers. Requests also came from as far as the Solomon Islands.

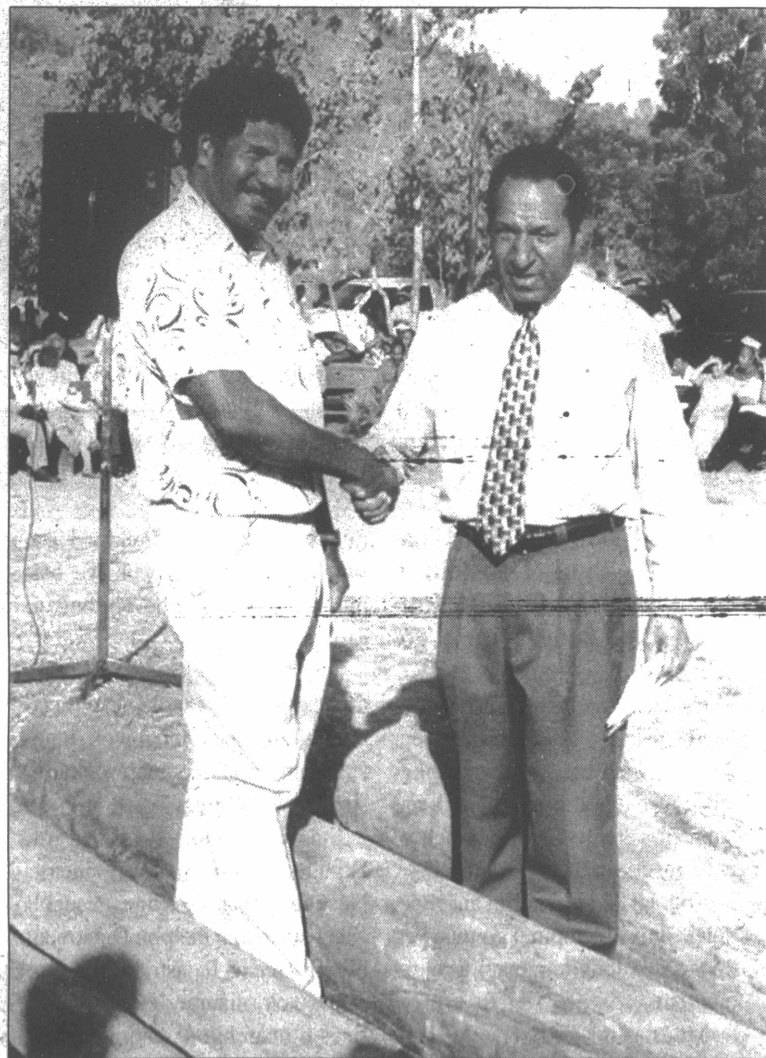

Hence the Board of Trustees of the Wantok Radio Light is seriously considering moving the short-wave frequency in order to reach more people compared to using the FM band.

According to the Acting Chairman of Wantok Radio Light Andrew Ogil, the entire short-wave project will cost over K360,000 involving logistics and infrastructure establishment.

He therefore thanked PNGFA for reducing this amount by K60,000 and appealed to others to assist this project.

"I appeal to other organizations to assist and support PNG Christian Broadcasting network's efforts to meet its financial obligation for the introduction of short-wave radio scheduled for September this year.

"I also urge every one of our supporters, financial partners and Christians to continue praying so that God will provide the balance of these funds in time so that the rest of PNG can also benefit with short wave radio," Mr Ogil said.

Over 100 people including 30 American tourists who included the Chairman of HCJB World Radio and his wife Barbara attended the presentation. HCJB is an important partner in the establishment of Wantok Radio Light. They will put up the antennas for the short wave frequency. The other distinguished guests present included PNGFA

Acting Managing Director Terry Warra; PNGFA's Director for Policy and Aid Coordination Secretariat Dike Kari; Managing Director of Wantok Radio Light, Pawa Warena; Regional Superintendent for Southern Region - Assembly of God Church, Pastor Joseph Walters; pastors and ministers from other church denominations, supporters of Wantok Radio Light and the congregation members of the host church for the presentation PNG Bible Church.

COMMERCE AND TRADE

Trade road map launched

The Minister for Trade and Industry, Mr Paul Tienstein, recently launched the PNG 2004 road map.

Mr Tienstein said the road map clearly charts the course for the Department of Trade and Industry to follow for the remainder of this year in bringing about commercial development in the country.

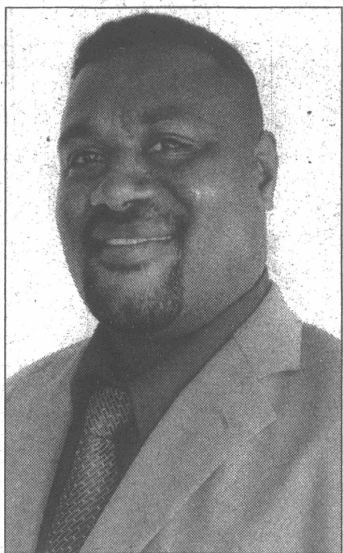

He said it would be reviewed and developed further in 2005 to cover the medium term.

The Minister said the Governments recovery and development policy directive needs to be translated into specific programs and activities to address the needs and aspirations of the majority of rural people.

He said adequate Government intervention (financial technical and advisory) through appropriate programs and schemes that target the realisation of economic empowerment of people resulting in rural development and poverty reduction.

The Minister commended the Acting Secretary Mr Alois Tabereng and his senior management team for translating the government recovery and development policy directives into programs and activities that will address the concerns of rural backwardness.

Mr Tienstein challenged the

management and staff of the department to seriously have the road map implemented with vigour and enthusiasm.

He also called on the Departments of Treasury, Finance, National Planning and Personnel Management to sufficiently facilitate the Department of Trade and Industry in terms of providing adequate manpower and financial resources to ensure that the road map is implemented without delay.

He made specific reference to some of the priority programs under the commercial development function such as

- the small and medium enterprises (SME)
- Development Policy

Review and implementation,

- the establishment of the manmeri business association to foster the interest of indigenous businesses in a competing and complex environment,
- the reactivation of business promotional centre in the provinces that will provide basic business assistance to people and
- the training of provincial commerce officers and the establishment of free trade zones in least developed areas to attract new investment and encourage economic growth.

The Minister expressed concern that the PNG economy is heavily dependent on agriculture and natural resources for exports in their raw form whilst importing manufactured products that could viability be manufactured on-shore.

The Minister has directed the department of trade and industry to address prospects of manufacturing industry saying he was pleased to note a number of impact projects included in the road map, that would drive the down-stream processing of raw or crude products into semi-processed products to add value to our exports and complement imports.

Mr Tienstein acknowledged initiatives taken by Papua New Guinea companies to process raw materials on-shore such companies are RD Tuba cannery, Annorts biscuits, interoil (anticipates processing crude oil shortly), Rimbunan Hijau, Kongo coffee, Goroka Coffee, Lae builders and many others.

He said the pillars of the Governments export driven economic recovery and growth strategy will be the trade policy industrialisation policy, SME/SMI policy cross cutting into other policies and incentives program to strengthen the economy.

The road map also entails the implementation process by which the Department will develop appropriate policy framework to guide it in delivering services to the people.

Mr Tienstein said that the Trade Division, apart from representing and negotiating market access for PNG products, will focus on schemes that would enhance quality of our products and capacity of our exporters to compete effectively on the world market.

He was also pleased to note that this direction is being addressed positively through preparatory work undertaken to negotiate an effective economic partnership agreement (EPA) with the European union (EU).

GOOD GOVERNANCE

Medium Term Development Strategy to guide PNG

Papua New Guinea's new MTDS has been described as an overarching development strategy to guide the country's economic and social development over the period 2003 to 2007 by the Secretary for National Planning & Rural Development, Ms Marianna Ellingson.

In her keynote address to the senior education officer's conference held in Madang, Ms Ellingson said the MTDS is an integral component of the government's overall economic and public sector reform programme.

"It is deeply grounded on the governments Programme for Recovery and Development and its objectives of good governance, export driven economic growth, rural development, poverty reduction and empowerment through human resource development can be achieved if there is a coherent and consistent development strategy," she said.

She said the government has set foundational base necessary to realise our vision for a peaceful, just and prosperous nation.

Ms Ellingson said, the MTDS aims to map out an appropriate development strategy and provide a matching policy framework that will guide the government's budgetary allocation and wider policy initiatives.

She said it will also strengthen public expenditure management by promoting fiscal discipline and the cost effective implementation of expenditure programmes.

Ms Ellingson said the focus of MTDS to the education sector, will be to support the continued implementation of reforms aimed at achieving Universal Primary Education (UPE).

Under the UPE goal Papua New Guinea's objective is to provide the opportunity for all children to complete nine years of basic education..

Ms Ellingson said the attainment of basic skills and knowledge leads to an able workforce, facilitates self-development and positively create improvements in key health indicators such as reducing infant mortality and improve standard of living.

"At the national level priority resources will be directed towards implementing curriculum reforms, teacher training, improving infrastructure and rural education facilities, while also ensuring adequate funds are available to pay for the planned and managed increase in teacher salaries."

She said it will be necessary for the Department of Education to monitor and contain the unit costs of basic education, to help ensure that the expansion of the system proceeds in an affordable manner.

She said education is important and should be supported from the limited resources we have. "Greater community involvement cost sharing and cost recovery schemes are mechanisms to improve the delivery and level of education service while maintaining government expenditure at a sustainable level".

"These initiatives have been developed to support the education reform over the medium term and longer term."

She said the way forward is to set strategic priorities in our programmes, projects and essential operational it that will offer the greatest contribution towards the government goals or your own organisational goals

She called on all Government Departments and Provincial Administration and other government agencies to set strategies in programmes, projects and essentials items that will offer the greatest contribution towards the government development goals.

PSRMU strengthen LLG - Highlands

PSRMU Director General, Bill Kua with participants at the second Regional Training Workshop for Local Government leaders in Mt Hagen.

The Public Sector Reform Management Unit has recently conducted the second Regional Training Workshop for Local Government leaders in the Highlands Region in Mt Hagen from 21st - 25th June, 2004.

The objective of the workshop is to empower community and Local Level Government Leaders with information, knowledge and skills in proper management and administration of local governments and also strengthen leadership at the sub-national level.

About 15 Presidents of Local Government and their LLG Managers, District Administrators and Provincial Administration Staff from Western Highlands, Eastern Highlands, Chimbu, Enga and Southern Highlands Provinces attended the workshop.

PSRMU, Director General Mr Bill Kua, has re-emphasised the importance of applying good governance and accountability when ensuring goods and services are delivered to the people.

The theme of the workshop "Strongpela Lokol Gavman I rot blong kamapim tru gutpela sevis insait long wanwan komuniti blong yumi"

Facilitators of the workshop were senior officers from the Department of PM & NEC, Provincial Affairs Personnel Management, Finance, National Planning and Rural Development, education, Health, Village Court, National Economic and Fiscal Commission and Public Sector Reform Management Unit Officers.

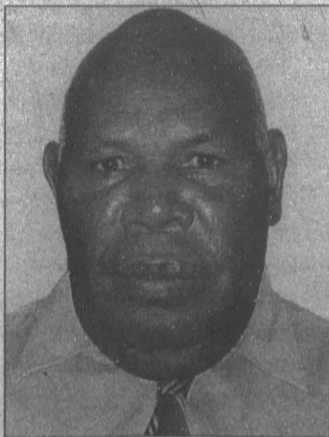

The Organic Law made substantive changes to the government's power structure, the divisional functions, roles and responsibilities, financial and staffing arrangements and the establishment of a new management system at the provincial and local government levels.

It was revealed at the workshop that during the first five years (1997 to 2002 or even up to now, many Local Level Government Leaders are experiencing difficulties understanding the organic Law, the structure embedded in it.

Major issues raised at the workshop was the lack of funds for LLG's, poor management of JDP&BPC, political instability, poor understanding of roles and responsibilities, poor relationship between local government leaders and national members of Parliament and no developments happening at the LLG Ward level.

Deputy Governor of Western Highlands, Mr Wai Rapa, echoed these sentiments in his opening remarks at the workshop that the reform has failed to deliver services to the community and the biggest stumbling block is inadequate financing of projects for wards in local government areas.

Are we being over regulated?

Minister for Public Service, Hon. Sinai Brown

Minister for Public Service, Hon. Sinai Brown said Papua New Guinea politics is now setting a dangerous trend in which politicians are relying too much on the courts to sort out issues.

"There are unwritten principles that we, as elected representatives of our people, should try to emulate, which create good governance," he said.

Minister Brown said rather than falling back on the old gentlemanly approach where commonsense rules once prevailed, many politicians during this Parliament are running to the courts whenever they feel something is not in order.

He said, sometimes they dishonour unwritten commitments by challenging a decision on technical grounds in the courts in order to achieve a favorable ruling on matters to suit their own interests.

"We have to question whether we are being over governed and over regulated," he said.

PM attended 90th anniversary of Evangelical Church in Manus

The Prime Minister, Sir Michael Somare, has challenged the people of Manus to serve the Church during the next 10 years in more ways than in the past.

Sir Michael said by setting the goal for the 100th Anniversary and work day by day, week by week, month by month and year by year for the next 10 years to impact upon the life of the Church, its members and the community.

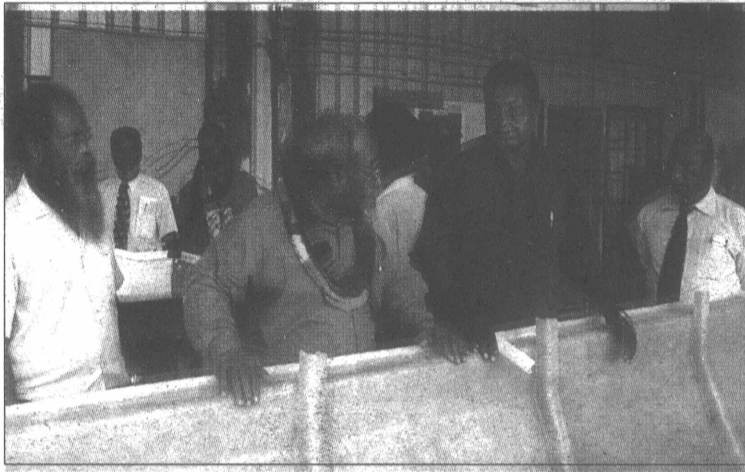

The Prime Minister made these remarks at the 90th anniversary of the Evangelical Church in Manus on July 12.

He said the partnership between the Government and the Church in serving the country and its people should continue to progress to a new level.

Sir Michael acknowledged the contribution that the Mission and the Church have made to the development of Manus and the country.

"It is an occasion like this that the old and the young get together. The presence of the former missionaries and many grandfathers and grand mothers together with the school children and new members of the Church must not pass by without having a positive impact on the life of the Church and lives of individuals.

"As you celebrate the growth of the Sir Michael Somare at the Fibreglass boat building site in Manus.

Church you must also reflect over the successes and shortcomings of the Church."

"Where there is need to repair broken relationships, do not let the opportunity pass by without doing so. The Church needs unity."

"Where there is need to renew commitment as members of the Church, do so the Church needs you."

He urged the members of the Evangelical Church to stand behind the Church to empower it to carry out its work not only in Manus but beyond.

The Missionaries from Germany and United States of America that came to Manus have completed their work. They had shown you the way. The challenge is yours to follow the way.

The Prime Minister paid tributes to the Evangelical Church of Manus for sending Missionary Teachers to remote parts of Sepik in the 1960s. And today you continue to have a small presence at Maposi.

The Missionaries were part of the team that create Papua New Guinea. Today the responsibility of looking after and developing our country is ours.

As part of the decade of impact the Government shall work closely with the Church to identify a project to fund to increase the capacity of the Church to better serve our people.

I congratulated and thank the Mission and the Church for serving the people for 90 years.

B'ville highlights

The Third (and Final) Draft of the constitution for the autonomous Bougainville Government will be finalised soon, Minister for Inter-Government relations, Sir Peter Barter, announced recently.

Sir Peter also said the first group of 50 Bougainville Police recruits graduated from the Bomana Training College at Bomana this month.

The Provincial Administrator, Mr Peter Tsiamalili, took his first official visit to Port Moresby, leading a team of officials from Bougainville who will participate in the first review of the Governance and Implementation Fund (GIF), through which foreign and donors help support progress towards autonomy and normalcy in Bougainville.

Sir Peter said the Bougainville team will meet with officials from key National agencies to prepare the agenda for the next meeting of the Interim Joint Supervisory Body.

Funding and other arrangements leading to the adoption and implementation of the Bougainville Constitution and preparations for holding elections for the autonomous Bougainville Government will be high on the agendas for both sets of meetings.

The Minister said, as soon as the Bougainville Constitutional Commission's final draft and report are available, the way will be clear for the Bougainville Constituent Assembly to meet, debate and adopt the proposed Bougainville constitution.

"As in the past, the National Government will be consulted.

The National Executive Council will then review the Bougainville constitution in order to ensure it is consistent with the Papua New Guinea Constitution (as amended by the new Part XIV which gives legal effect to the Bougainville Peace Agreement.

Sir Peter said the Police presence and activities in Bougainville are being stepped up, with Bougainville leaders and the Police Commander in Bougainville exercising the responsibilities which are now theirs following the delegation of Police functions and powers made late last year.

Plans for improving access to courts and correctional service are in hand.

The Minister has directed the Bougainville Peace and Restoration Office to work closely with other constitutional offices and key National Government agencies and recommend practical strategies for strengthening their presence and activities in Bougainville.

They will then be expected to cooperate closely and with appropriate urgency to implementation.

The Minister and "as this will be his first official visit as Provincial Administrator, I am pleased to welcome Peter Tsiamalili back to Port Moresby.

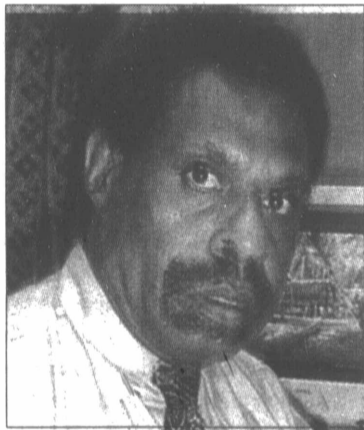

Election boss praises officials

Electoral Commissioner, Andrew Trawen, has said Papua New Guinea is turning the corner from the gunpoint to democracy in the Highlands.

Mr Trawen was speaking at the Electoral Commission headquarters in Port Moresby as he thanked the candidates, the people and the community leaders of Chimbu Province and Anglimp-South Wahgi Open electorate in the Western Highlands for their peaceful National Parliament LPV by-elections.

Mr Trawen said the two elections have been the quietest and most peaceful in the Highlands since election violence first happened there in 1982.

The Anglimp-South Wahgi by-election was completed on June 18 - on schedule.

Electoral Commissioner, Mr Andrew Trawen

The Chimbu one finished officially on Friday (June 25) - also on time - when Mr Trawen gave the election order called the writ back to the acting Governor-General Mr Jeffrey Nape in Port Moresby.

The winner was declared officially at 1.54pm on Thursday (June 24) and Chimbu Returning Officer Mr Openakali Tiane was on the plane to Port Moresby within hours to hand-deliver the Chimbu writ to Mr Trawen the same day.

Mr Trawen says LPV, Limited Preferential Voting, is forcing candidates and their supporters to stop fighting and be friendly to one another to get preference votes from opponents.

This is what LPV is designed to do, says Mr Trawen.

The new voting system for National Parliament Elections only is being introduced to Papua New Guinea through by-elections.

It makes sure winning candidates are elected by more than 50 per cent of the lawful voters in electorates - to be truly representative of their electorates.
