Pyramids and numbers (1)

Mathematicians of Ancient Greece were interested in geometry. Some of them spent long hours arranging dots (●) in shapes.

Tai is not a mathematician. He is a fruit seller. He took pride in arranging oranges in special shapes of pyramids.

Here I have arranged the oranges in the shape of a square based pyramid.

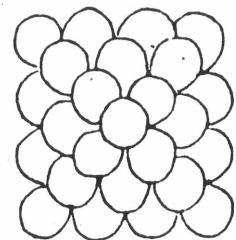

Group 1 has just 1

Group 2 has 5 : $1 + 4$ ($4 = 2^2$)

Group 3 has 14: $1 + 4 + 9$ ($9 = 3^2$)

I use the pattern to work out the number of oranges in any such arrangement.

The number of oranges in this pyramid shape arrangement is $1 + 4 + 9 + 16$
 $= 30$

Look at these four groups of oranges, in order. Find a pattern in the numbers of oranges. If Tai arranges the next group, the fifth in order, how many oranges will there be in the bottom square of the 5th group?

How many oranges will there be in all, in the 5th pyramid group?

Water 8 — Water in the soil Number 165

Last week we looked at how water can be lost in different ways.
This week we will look at soil water.

Soil Water

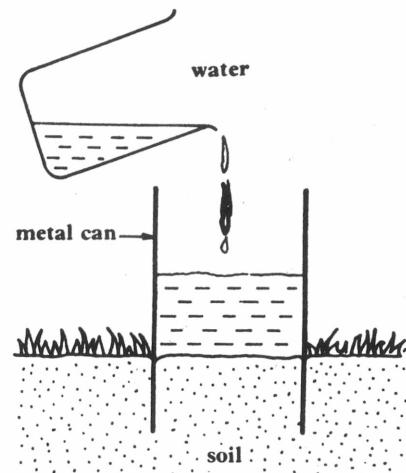

Some water is soaked up by soil. This soil water is the water for plants that grow in the soil. Water is taken up by the roots of grasses, shrubs and trees. It is then carried up through the plant to the leaves, where it is used as part of the plant's food. Most water is lost through the leaves. This is part of the water cycle.

How fast does soil soak up water?

Activity

This activity is to be done outside.

What to do:

- Get a tin can that has both the top and bottom cut out of it.
- Push the can partly into the soil as shown in the diagram above. Make sure it breaks through the grass into the soil.
- Pour into the can half cup of water and record the time it takes for the water to soak in completely.
- Do it again for different soils e.g. under a tree, your garden, near a river etc.
- Record in your results in a table like the one below.

SOIL TYPE

TIME FOR WATER TO SOAK IN

Under a tree

Your garden

Near a river

Plants in sandy soils

Dry soil plants with shallow roots soon wither. rainwater passes through large spaces in the soil.

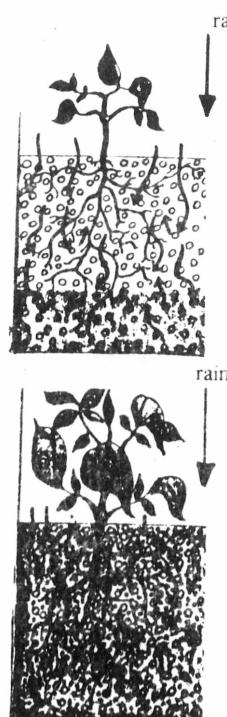

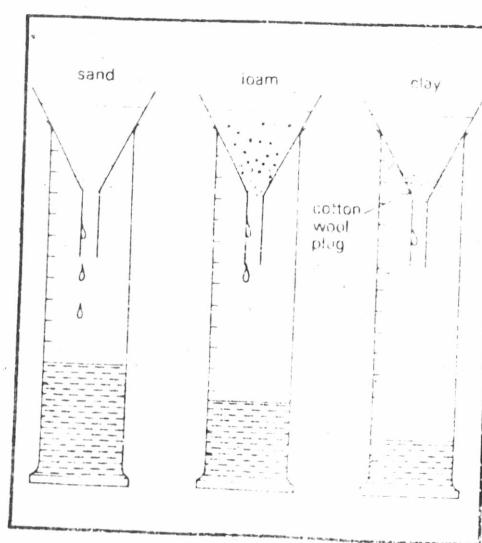

Wet soil

soil spaces too big

Plants in loam soils

moist soil

rain soaks more slowly through the soil, because spaces are smaller; more water available to plants.

Mazda ousts Adcol in A Reserve

MAZDA CARPS A Reserve women's softball team cruised away to a convincing 18-8 win last Saturday at the Bisini grounds in a determined display of softball.

Both teams battled well and fielded well in the early innings and saw a low rate of runs. By the fifth inning both the teams tied 5 all. Adcol broke the tie minutes later and led by three points 8-5.

Mazda, however, managed to pass the Adcol score and by the start of the sixth inning had notched 11 points.

Mazda were able to score another 7 homes which was the result of Adcol players throwing wild passes. The Mazda girls capitalised on this to make the home runs, while holding their opponents to a paltry 8 homes.

An Adcol player in full swing.

Game ends in chaotic uproar

THE A reserve men's basketball grand finals between Kaugere Skebis and Sogeri ended in a chaotic uproar as tempers flared.

Both teams were tied at 31 all right on fulltime so an extra five minutes had to be played.

Sogeri's cool ball control and fast passing around the key hole enabled them to lead by three quick baskets three minutes into the extra.

A jumpball call by referee Jackson Sarea however sparked off some rough play. A Skebis player knocked down his Sogeri opponent and rushed the referee after he blew the whistle. Skebis, however, claimed that the referee had been one sided all evening and after the incident attack to eventually take out the game 37-32 before a crowd of about 300 spectators.

they walked off the court.

In the first half Bucks were disorganised and most of their easy baskets, which could have given them an easy lead, just did not register.

Tarangau, however, were able to throw off the Bucks' defence with accurate long shots from Judith Batum. By half time Tarangau led by one point 14-13.

The second half saw a revitalised Bucks mount unending attacks into the Tarama-gua key hole. Top class defending by Leone Sarotsi helped to thwart the Bucks attack.
