MINISTRY OF EDUCATION DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION And TEACHING SERVICE COMMISSION

Date: May 10, 2006

The Papua New Guinea Teachers' Union (PNGTA) and teachers have been advised to refrain from taking strike action because their claims for the non-payment of 4% salary increase, and underpayment are not new log of claims. These claims relate to the implementation of existing agreements.

The Department of Education, the Teaching Service Commission and the PNGTA have agreed to set up the Strategic Working Committee to discuss these issues and work to correct any anomalies in teachers' salaries. The Committee's work is ongoing.

In relation to the claims for housing allowance, the TSC has agreed to discuss with the Association to come up with a possible solution.

The Minister for Education Honourable Michael Laimo CBE MP, the Secretary for Education Dr Joseph Pagelio and the Chairman of the Teaching Service Commission Mr Alan Jogioba have called on all teachers in the National Capital District and other provinces not to be misled by the Association.

They said that the Industrial Registrar Mrs Helen Saleu has advised the President of the PNGTA Mr Tommy Hecko that the Office of the Industrial Registrar has refused to accept the PNGTA National Management Committee's resolution for the Association to conduct a secret ballot to take industrial action over the non-implementation of their registered agreement.

The letter read: "Your letter is noted with concern and in particular your National Management Committee's resolution for a conduct of a secret ballot to take industrial action as verbally stated in the aborted meeting on 4th May 2006 over the Teaching Service Commission failure to implement Recital (D) and Section (3) of your registered Determination No.02 of 2004. Please advise your NMC that this office refuses to accept its resolution for your Association to take industrial action over non-implementation of your registered agreement."

The Industrial Registrar said the reason for her decision is that both the Teaching Services Conciliation & Arbitration Act and the Public Services Conciliation & Arbitration Act have provisions under which the concerned parties may resolve this matter.

The Minister and Secretary for Education and the Chairman of the Teaching Service Commission are concerned that the Association is misinforming the teachers.

Below are details of the three claims which the Association is getting support from its members to pursue:

4% SALARY INCREASE

The 4% salary increase for 2006 as agreed in November 2004 was paid on 3rd of February 2006 back dated to the 1st of January 2006. This should show up on the salary pay slip as an increase in the Award, Class and Base Salary in the top right hand corner of the pay slip.

However, the total net pay on the 3rd of February may be less than normal because the pay is only for eight (8) days [23rd Jan to 1st Feb] and not a full week. Teachers will be able to notice the change more clearly on payday 17th of February.

- 1 It was agreed to pay the 4% on the first pay (3rd February 2006) to help teachers when they resumed teaching and needed the extra pay.
- 2 All those teachers who have contacted the TSC claiming they have not received the 4% increase, have in fact received the 4% increase but were confused by looking at their net pay which was less than normal as stated above rather than the Base Salary.
- 3 In relation to the K650 lump sum in relation to 2003 back pay this was only paid to teachers who worked in 2003 and were still on the pay roll at pay 25/2004.
- 4 The one off 4% back pay for 2004 was paid to all teachers who worked for 2004 and were on the payroll at pay 25/2005
- 5 The 4% increase and back pay for 2005 was paid to all teachers who were on the payroll in 2005 and was paid at pay 11/2005.
- 6 Teachers can check this by looking at their pay slips for pay 25/2004
  - a) in the salary space which will show the K650 if they

JOINT PRESS RELEASE

TEACHERS' STRIKE

were entitled

- b) in the salary space it will show a one off back pay of 4%
  - c) in the Award, Class, Base salary - the Annual salary will have increased.
- For 2005 look at the pay slip for pay 11/2005 and the change will be seen in
- a) the Award, Class, Base Salary – the annual salary will have increased
  - b) the salary space will show a back pay adjustment.

UNDERPAYMENT

With a teaching force of 37,000 teachers, there can be hundreds of individual discrepancies in salaries. The Teaching Service Commission has been calling on teachers who are not being paid correctly to contact their staff section first to find out what the problem is. If the teacher is not satisfied, he or she must contact the TSC with a copy of the pay slip in question. According to the TSC, these are individual matters and must be dealt with on a one-on-one basis.

The correction of underpayment of salaries and allowances is an ongoing administrative matter.

HOUSING ALLOWANCE

Housing is not a condition of employment according to TSA section 138 (1). However governing bodies and agencies should try to provide adequate housing for teachers. Refer to the TS Act Section 138, (2). Where housing is supplied it has to be paid for by the teacher (Section 138 (3) & (4)).

Where housing is not available the position can be kept vacant until housing is provided (TSA section 139). TSA section 140 & 141 allows the TSC to classify housing and settle disputes about housing.

Teachers living in government institutional housing are not entitled to housing allowance.

Currently only 218 persons are paying rent for institutional housing through the government payroll system. A further 53 are paying rent or buying NHC accommodation.

It is unknown how many teachers are paying rent for agency accommodation. It is also unknown how many teachers are paying rent to school boards. It is unknown who rent for donor housing is paid to.

The number of teachers living in commercially rented accommodation is believed to be minimal. There are teachers who are living in institutional housing but are not paying rent. Of these some are also collecting housing allowance.

Many teachers who are receiving housing allowance are not paying this to the owners of the accommodation.

For many years maintenance has not been carried out on institutional accommodation and this is used as an excuse not to pay rents. To over come the problem of maintenance many government institutions are collecting the rent directly to the school rather than into the government revenue. This is illegal, but a practical answer to the lack of maintenance.

The rents in government institutions have not changed in more than 36 years. Government institutional housing is provided on schools and the rental has been

- a. K5.30 low covenant
- b. K17.50 medium covenant
- c. K23.00 high covenant

This is subsidized rental when compared to non government housing.

In over 36 years the rent has not changed while salaries and the allowance have increased

- d. 1970 Salary $70 per f/n rent $5.30 = 7.5% of f/n salary
- e. 1980 Salary K140 per f/n subsidy K1.40 = 1% of salary
- f. 2006 Salary K400 per f/n rent K5.30 = 1.3% of salary
- g. 2006 Salary K400 per f/n subsidy K6.00 = 1.5% of salary

In 2005 TSC allowed elementary teachers to receive housing allowance of K4.50. TSC is of the opinion that rental subsidy is not achieving the purpose of ensuring the provision of accommodation of an affordable and acceptable standard. How can the TSC be assured the accommodation subsidy is paid to the accommodation supplier and used to cover capital costs, loans and maintenance and ensure the accommodation is maintained in an acceptable habitable state?

The major concern of teachers is not the allowance but the provision of well maintained and habitable accommodation.

Many teachers have to take greater responsibility for the care of their accommodation which should include payment for willful damage by the occupant or their guests.

In Provinces the Provincial Government (and in NCD the NCDC) should ensure that the schools have the appropriate institutional houses for all its teachers before requesting for additional teaching positions and increasing enrolments.

The PNGTA should bring the matter to the negotiating table with evidence to support their claim. To date no such claim has been made. The issue on housing allowance was discussed at the Teachers Congress sometime ago in Kimbe. It was then brought to the attention of the National Education Board but was referred to the Teaching Service Commission and PNGTA to negotiate. It is still outstanding because there is no log of claims brought forward to TSC. This issue is intended to be discussed in the July 2006 negotiations by both parties.

In relation to the 2006 4%, salary increase the TSC has received the following information from the concept people and Treasury Department:

- All teachers who were on the payroll in pay no. 4/2006 shows that their salaries were adjusted and therefore also on pay no. 3/2006 had their salaries adjusted to 2006 rates.
- 32,907 had a straight 4% pay increase.
- 1,039 were new teachers who just came onto the pay roll.
- 1,437 were teachers whose salaries had increased more than 4% because of actions taken to correct underpayments or promotions.
- 200 teachers received less than 4% or no increase or a decrease in salary because they were returned to their substantive salary after having ceased their H.D.A from 2005 or other salary adjustments which resulted in salary decrease.
- All teachers currently employed are being paid at 2006 salary rate.

The Teaching Service Commission and the Papua New Teachers' Association have signed a Memorandum of Understanding effective on and from the 9th of May 2006.

The MOU has been agreed in order to overcome dispute between the parties relating to the intended strike action by the members of the PNGTA over issues relating to:

- I. Non full compliance of Determination No. 2 of 2004
- II. Teacher allowances and including housing allowances

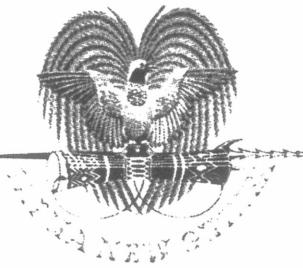

The following has been agreed:

1. That the executives of the PNGTA shall inform all its members by notice to resume duties.
2. The TSC guarantees that it will not apply Section 95 of the TSC Act, which will be applicable for Wednesday 10th May 2006 and the Commission reserves the right to consider case by case the application of Section 95 of the TSC Act in the case where a teacher disregards the notice to return to work on Thursday 11th May 2006 at 7:45 am.
3. The Teaching Service, as the employing agent and is responsible for the management and administration of Teaching Services, give its assurance to the association and the public to deal with the non full compliance of Determination No. 2 of 2004 under the auspices of the Chairman of Teaching Service Conciliation and Arbitration Tribunal.
4. In the event of not resolving clause 4 administratively within 2 months effective from the date of signing of this MOU, the parties shall take the matter to court for enforcement.

World Telecommunications Day 17 May 2006

Promoting Global Cybersecurity

Message from Charles S. Punaha

Director General

PNG Radiocommunications & Telecommunications Technical Authority

World Telecommunication Day (WTD) today marks the 141st anniversary of the International Telecommunication Union (ITU) since it was founded on 17 May 1865.

This year, WTD carries added significance as 17 May 2006 marks the first commemoration of World Information Society Day - declared by the United Nations General Assembly on 26 March 2006.

For WTD 2006, the ITU Council chose the theme Promoting Global Cybersecurity to highlight the serious challenges we face in ensuring the safety and security of networked information and communication systems.

The explosive growth in the use of ICT infrastructure and our increased reliance on electronic communications networks has heightened concerns around the world about cybersecurity. The term "cybersecurity" refers to the areas of security of networked information systems, encompassing the security of electronic interchanges and the underlying telecommunications infrastructure.

All nations are increasingly dependent on information technology for the provision of essential goods and services, for conduct of business, for financial transactions, and for government services. For many countries, information technology is being harnessed as an engine for economic development, growth, and social advancement. The long-term success of these strategies depends on the confidence of users and consumers in the security and integrity of these systems.

No nation is exempt from responsibility for cybersecurity. We are all connected and therefore we are all interdependent; every computer with an Internet connection is a portal to the global information grid. The actions of every user therefore can impact the security of all other users. Nor does responsibility for ensuring the security of information systems reside in governments alone. This responsibility lies also with businesses, organizations, and individual users, who develop, own, provide, manage, service and use information systems.

According to ITU Secretary-General Yoshio Utsumi: " In order to safeguard our systems and infrastructure and in order to instill confidence in online trade, commerce, banking, telemedicine, e-government and a host of other applications, we need to strengthen the security practices of each and every networked country, business, and citizen".

At the national level, while we need to harness and promote awareness of ICTs as a tool for economic and social development we need also to take appropriate actions and preventive measures as determined by law against abusive uses of ICTs and ensure respect for privacy and the protection of personal information and data.

To this end, the establishment by the government of the Task Force to develop a National ICT Policy and Strategy and the current efforts to implement its Integrated Government Information System (IGIS) is a positive and important step forward. One of the broad objectives of the ICT Policy and Strategy is to create an efficient and dynamic ICT environment to capture current technological advances, trends and practices.

This provides an ideal opportunity for all stakeholders including network operators, Internet Service Providers (ISPs), key government and law enforcement agencies to develop, deploy and promote policies, standards, technical guidelines and procedures, regulations and legislation to reduce vulnerabilities to threats of ICT systems and networks and to protect the information stored and communicated using these systems.

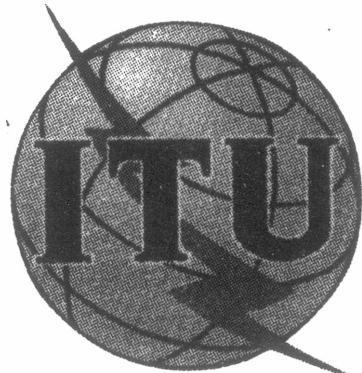

Securing cyberspace is a strategic challenge that requires coordinated efforts from the entire society. It requires the pooling of resources and expertise to, among others, develop and adopt appropriate codes of practice in conjunction with all stakeholders, formulate anti-spam laws, promote public awareness and education campaigns, review existing legislations and policies to bring them up to speed with current regional and international trends and practices.

As we join hands to celebrate this first World Information Society Day, let us all work together to ensure our networked information and communication systems are safe and secure.

Promoting Global Cybersecurity

World Telecommunication Day commemorates the inception of the oldest international organisation in history. This 17 May 2006, on its 141st anniversary, ITU finds itself on the threshold of a new era.

During the past seven years, ITU has guided the landmark World Summit on the Information Society to its historic conclusion. World leaders gathered in Geneva in 2003 and in Tunis in 2005 to provide political backing for a road map aimed at developing and utilising information and communication technologies in the service of humanity.

In the process, ITU's standing in the world as the lead agency in telecommunications and ICT has been clearly established. ITU has expanded its base, having pioneered the involvement of all stakeholders in the process. Governments, technological experts, social scientists, business and civil society leaders, international organisations and grassroots workers - have all been deeply engaged in laying the foundations of a more just, equitable and people-centred information society.

ITU has also grown in stature, having taken far-reaching steps in using its recognised expertise to reach out to the remotest regions of the globe, to the most vulnerable people, and help accelerate the pace of development. ITU has already forged partnerships with some of the great visionaries in government, business, civil society and international organisations aimed at connecting the unconnected through its Connect the World Initiative, launched in June 2005.

This year, ITU has advocated the development of ICT to assist the disabled and to prepare for emergencies and disasters. And to ensure that the growth of ICT remains sustainable, the theme for World

Telecommunication Day 2006 is Promoting Global Cybersecurity.

In an increasing networked society, safeguarding cyberspace as well as ICT systems and infrastructure has taken on real urgency. It is essential to instil confidence in online trade, commerce, banking, telemedicine, e-government and a host of other applications. It is also critical for the future social and economic development of the world.

Achieving cybersecurity depends on the security practices of each and every networked country, business, and citizen. To guard against the sophisticated skills of cybercriminals, we need to develop a global culture of cybersecurity. This will require not only good policing and legislation but also acute threat awareness and development of tough ICT-based counter measures.

From the days of the telegraph, ITU has mastered space age communications and continues to develop the expertise in cyberspace. It now takes on the additional mantle of leading the global movement to build the Information Society. World leaders meeting at the World Summit on the Information Society in Tunis in November 2005 recognised this evolution of ITU and proposed that 17 May - World Telecommunication Day - should henceforth be celebrated as World Information Society Day.

ITU accepts this honour - and the challenge - to open another chapter in its chequered history and embark on a new journey. As we commemorate this important landmark, let us all together celebrate this first World Information Society Day!

Bishops Accept National Pastoral Plan

The people of Mingendi with their Bishop, Henk Te Maarssen, liberally demonstrated, with gifts of food and hospitality, their joy and appreciation in having the CBC Annual General Meeting in their parish.

THE Bishops at their recent Annual General Meeting of the C.B.C. achieved a milestone in the life of the Catholic Church in Papua New Guinea when they accepted a National Pastoral Plan on behalf of the Church here.

The Catholic Church in Papua New Guinea is in a unique situation as most countries have only diocesan plans. Mr Brian Cussons, working in the Churches Partnership Programme, said that this achievement of the Church in P.N.G would be a model for other countries throughout the world.

The Plan which has come out of several years of national meetings, discussions and workshops sets out to enable the priorities established by the General Assembly in Vunapope be put into action fulfilling the vision of the Church to be a Church alive in Christ.

Bishop Doug Young SVD, the bishop entrusted with the task of seeing the plan through, said the National Pastoral Plan had been a dream of his for a long time. He went on to say that it was now time for such a plan to be in place.

'We have to bring the Gospel' he said, 'to where the people are in a time of rapid social change.' The plan, he said, 'will help bring order and effectiveness to the process of evangelization, which is a key issue in the Church. The Church is passing from a 'pioneering' Church to a period of consolidation and the National Pastoral plan will help us move more smoothly in the right direction to meet this challenge.'

'The priorities,' he continued, 'will enable the Church in P.N.G to become more focused so that it 'marches to the same drum.' It will help mobilize, reduce duplication and wastage.'

The priority areas for evangelization as set out in the plan are: families, children, youth, adult men and women, the poor and disadvantaged and the sick.

In addition to these recipients of evangelization there are privileged dimensions of evangelization that must be considered in all objectives and strategies: Catechesis, ecumenism and interreligious dialogue, social communication, inculturation, HIV/AIDS prevention and care, justice, peace and the integrity of creation, empowerment of laity, and empowerment of women.

Now that the bishops have accepted the pastoral plan on behalf of the Church the plan will now flow out to the various commissions of the Church and to the people.

condoms to halt the spread of the disease "inside marriage and the family, not outside of it."

The official said the document has been approved by the consultors of the Council for Health Pastoral Care, and is now awaiting review from the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith. He said it should appear shortly. The document caps a wide public discussion among senior church officials on condoms and AIDS.

Among those who have publicly spoken in favour of condoms where one partner in a marriage is HIV-positive include Italian Cardinal Carlo Maria Martini, the former archbishop of Milan; Swiss Cardinal George Cottier, theologian of the papal household under John Paul II; Cardinal Godfried Danneels of Belgium; Cardinal Cormac Murphy-O'Connor of Westminster, England; and Bishop Kevin Dowling of South Africa.

"If an infected husband wants to have sex with his wife who isn't infected, then she must defend herself by whatever means necessary," Barragan said in October 2004. This position, he said, is consistent with the tenets of traditional Catholic moral theology, which teaches that acts of self-defence can extend to killing in order to not be killed.

"If a wife can defend herself from having sex by whatever means necessary, why not with a condom?" he said.

On the other hand, Cardinal Alfonso Lopez Trujillo, president of the Pontifical Council for the Family, has spoken vigorously in favour of a more rigid stance. In a 2004 interview with the BBC, Lopez Trujillo, a Colombian, claimed the HIV virus is small enough to "easily pass through" latex. Lopez also asserted that condoms encourage promiscuity, which he deemed among the root causes of the pandemic.

The new document "goes a little bit against Lopez Trujillo," the official from the Council for Health Pastoral Care said.

"Even if they're not foolproof, most studies show condoms can make a difference in stopping the spread of the disease," he said.

Moral theologians caution that until the precise reasoning in the document is known, how sweeping a statement it represents cannot be assessed.

Meanwhile Papua New Guinea's The National newspaper reported that the Melbourne-based Australian AIDS Fund has made an appeal to PNG's bishops to "take heed" of the call by Cardinal Carlo Martini's for married people with HIV-infected partners to use condoms to protect themselves against AIDS.

"Given the frightful HIV plight of PNG, we urge you bishops to follow Cardinal Martini's example," the letter said.

The Catechism of the Catholic Church

Bishop Francesco of Goroka writes:

Let's continue the exploration of our faith taken from the Catechism of the Catholic

The celebration of Marriage.

Before the celebration a time of instruction in preparation to the marriage is of great importance.

The celebration of marriage generally takes place during the Holy Mass. This is to signify that as Christ offered himself totally to God so the spouses express their consent (they say yes to each other) to each other in total fidelity.

It is appropriate for the future spouses to prepare themselves for the sacrament of marriage by receiving the sacrament of penance.

The spouses are the celebrants of the sacrament by giving to each other the grace of the sacrament when they express their consent before the witnesses and the Church representative (priest or deacon). The prayers, accompanying the celebration, ask for God's blessing and for the Holy Spirit to bind the commitment and strengthen the fidelity of the spouses to each other.

The priest (or deacon) who receives the consent of the spouses is representing and giving the blessing of the Church. His presence together with that of the witnesses indicates the ecclesial reality of marriage.

Matrimonial consent.

The marriage consent to be valid has to be expressed freely, without fear and pressure from other people. Also there should not be other reasons like natural or ecclesiastical law to invalidate the marriage. If there is no freedom of the will the marriage is invalid.

It is the consent expressed by the spouses to each other that makes the marriage valid and binding. Such consent is a "human act by which the partners mutually give themselves to each other": "I take you to be my wife" - "I take you to be my husband" (CIC can.1057,2).

Mixed marriages and disparity of cult.

Marriages may be celebrated between a catholic and a baptized - non-catholic. This is called mixed marriage.

A marriage between a catholic and a non-baptized person is called a marriage with disparity of cult.

In mixed marriage attention should be made so that the difference of religion should not cause a stress to the unity of marriage. For a mixed marriage to be performed a permission from the ecclesial authority is required. Also a dispensation is required from the ecclesial authority for a disparity of cult.

In both cases the catholic partner has to be faithful to his/her faith and to ensure to baptize and educate the children in the catholic faith.

The effects of the sacrament of matrimony.

When a valid matrimony is performed the spouses establish a bond among themselves, which is perpetual and exclusive. They also receive a special grace to help them in their marriage life and duties connected with it.

Marriage bond.

When the spouses freely exchange their marriage promise a bond is established and sealed by God himself. Jesus Christ calls such bond a covenant, which is a sign and symbol of the covenant that God established with the people of Israel in the past and now with the new people redeemed. A valid marriage between Christians is considered unbreakable because God does not break his covenant with us human beings.

The grace of the sacrament.

The sacrament helps the couple to grow in a deeper love and to remain faithful to each other. This grace will help them to grow in holiness and to be ready to welcome new lives in their children and to educate them. Christ in their midst will help them to carry the difficulties which arise in their lives, to forgive one another, to bear one another's burden and to live in such a way so to experience already now the joy of the future life in God.

Love among the spouses demands the total commitment to each other in spirit soul and body; this is why the two "are no longer two but one flesh" (Mt 19:6). This particular mutual and exclusive love excludes all other relationships like polygamy.

Love in marriage demands fidelity 'till death us part'.

This may look difficult at times but with the grace of God, relying on prayer and mutual support and that of the believing community, they will be able to bear witness through their lives to God's faithful love.

Openness to new life.

It is integral to the reality of marriage that the spouses will be open to new life in their children and to try to educate them to love God and to follow his will.

Spouses who, by various reason, do not have children can also be a witness to God's love by their fidelity and mutual concern and, if possible, by adopting a child.

Family as domestic church.

The family is the place where young people prepare themselves for life. They prepare themselves to face the situation and challenges of the society in which they live. A good Christian family is the base for such education like that of Jesus Mary and Joseph. They were not only just a normal family but they were living in a profound union with God.

Parents committed to transmit their faith to their children form together a domestic church because they follow the example of the church educating in faith and love of God all her children: this is why the family is called 'a domestic church' (the family church). The members of a Christian family participate in the priesthood of the baptized by receiving the sacraments, in prayer, in witnessing to the faith, in becoming holy and in exercising the virtue of charity.

Youth workshop on the abuse of alcohol, drugs and firearms

The Diocesan Youth Services of the Daru-Kiunga Diocese has recently concluded a two weeks workshop on the abuse of alcohol, drugs and firearms. Forty five youth from twelve different parishes throughout the Western Province attended the workshop at the Peter To Rot Formation Center in Kiunga.

The Diocese of Daru-Kiunga promotes the spirituality of communion through its Diocesan pastoral plan. In 2003 the Diocesan Youth Services (DYS) convened a Youth assembly to reflect about the journey of faith for the second phase (2004-2006) and at the same time to address the issues affecting youths of the diocese and to come up with a plan for them for the second phase of the journey.

During the second phase of the journey of faith, the diocese reflected on the values of Respect, Dignity and Equality. In the first phase they reflected on the theme "we are created in the image and likeness of God." During the diocesan Youth assembly, after having done the evaluation of the first phase, began to choose a sub-value for the youth of the diocese. At the time the burning issue in the whole province was the abuse of drugs, alcohol and firearms, which is also a national issue. Since this issue affects the lives of our young people, especially in the towns and remote villages, it was decided to focus attention for the second phase on reflecting on Dignity, Respect

YOUTH AND ALCOHOL: In March of this year DYS organized the third and final two week workshop on abuse of Alcohol, Drugs and Firearms. Forty-two young people from all parishes took part in the workshop. During the workshop they were given the skills to train other youth as well as to carry out the same awareness program in the parishes through a "train the trainer program."

and Equality, in a way which would enable the youth to see the importance of "saying no" to drugs, alcohol and firearms. This became the Diocesan Youth Project for the second phase of their journey of faith.

In 2004 DYS conducted the first awareness workshop, in which the youth were given the basic knowledge of the topic. During the first workshop the heads of different services and sectors were invited to talk to the youth. Since this issue of drugs and alcohol affects people from all walks of life.

In the first workshop the youth were prepared to carry out the awareness programs in their parishes, towns and villages, and come with the feedback to the second workshop. The first workshop was so effective that many people who were ignorant about the issue began to realize the danger and were asking for more awareness on this issue. The community service of the police department requested DYS to use the trained youths to give awareness as well, (they also assisted with the posters, leaflets and booklets on the topic) which proved to be more effective than police doing it themselves.

As the need for more awareness became evident DYS called the youth for the second workshop in 2005. During the workshop an extensive evaluation was done and an awareness booklet was prepared. After the second workshop the youths were expected to go back to the parishes again and give more awareness.

In March of this year DYS organized the third and final two week workshop on abuse of Alcohol, Drugs and Firearms. Forty-two young people from all parishes took part in the workshop. During the workshop they were given the skills to train other youth as well as to carry out the same awareness program in the parishes through a "train the trainer programme."

As a practical exercise all the youths were given the opportunity to go to different schools in the town as well as to the settlements around the town to give awareness to the people. With the help of street plays, music and dance the Youths gave the message to hundreds who turned out for the awareness programs.

Many youth who have become slaves to drugs are showing interest in changing their way of life, asking questions like; 'if I give up smoking drugs now will I be okay?' Many who were ignorant are becoming aware of the danger of smoking marijuana and getting addicted to drinking.

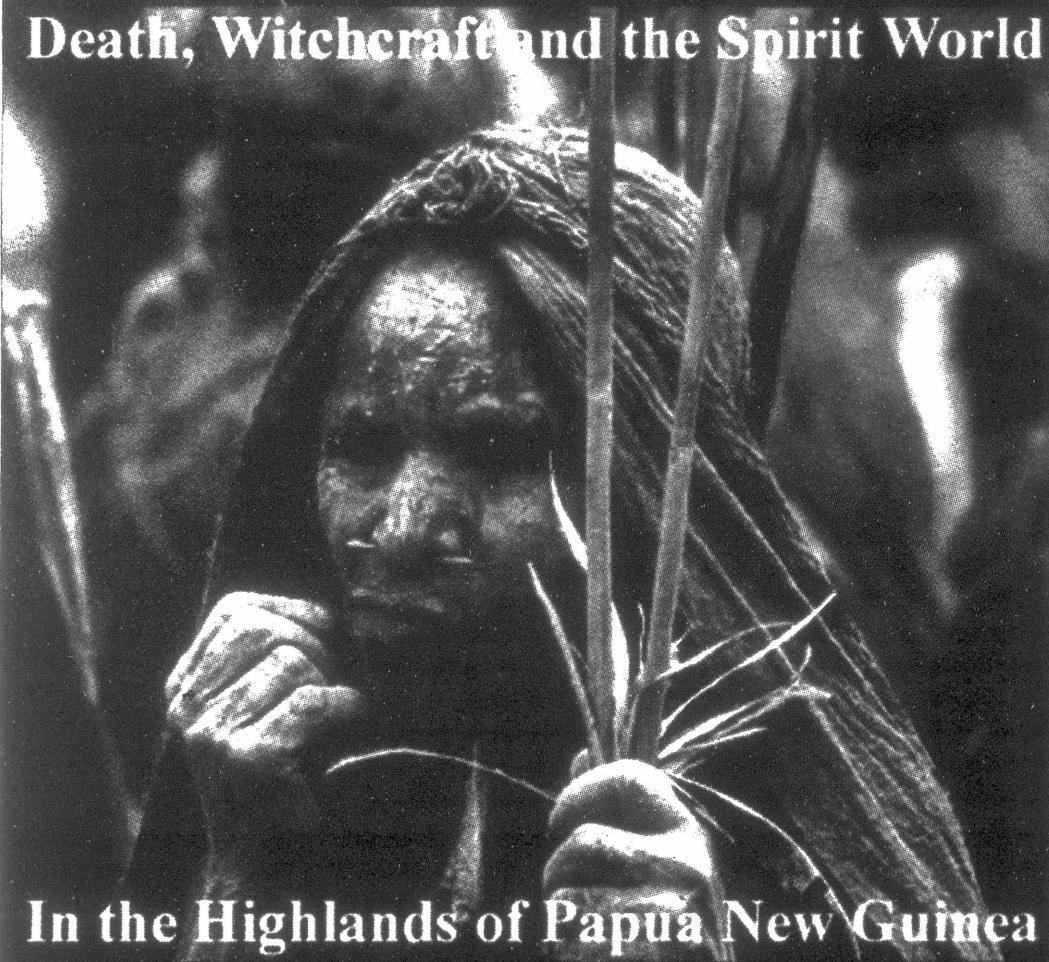

'After being involved in the youth ministry for 6 years in PNG I feel, said Fr Rosario Menezer smm, that it is the duty of each one of us to tell our fellow youth that life is a fine balance... it's about living responsibly. Each responsibility helps us to grow and to learn how to handle future ones. If we do not carry out one part of our life responsibly, it will affect the rest. If we need a fulfilling life, than we need to be responsible for all our actions.'

Father went on to say, 'Life is all about making decisions. We decide whether to make life better for us and for others or spend time feeling high.'

For a Youth there are two decisions that he can make, first of all; to give place to God in his life, fear God and be responsible, treat life as a gift from God. Secondly; be committed, be it in the family or in the church and in the society. That is the only way to a better future for the youth of our country.'

Death, Witchcraft and the Spirit World

In the Highlands of Papua New Guinea

Neville Bartle

A new book which looks at Sanguma in the Highlands of PNG has just been released by the Melanesian Institute in Goroka.

Point 29: Death, Witchcraft and the Spirit World in the Highlands of Papua New Guinea looks at sanguma and the spirit world and how Christianity has responded to this issue.

It tries to give ideas as to how Christianity can address this issue in terms of a Melanesian worldview.

This book dares to tell the Churches to wake up and acknowledge that sorcery and witchcraft in PNG is real and if they don't change the way they address this issue, then more people will continue to keep the two issues of sorcery and Christianity separate in terms of sorcery being a Melanesian issue and Christianity being a western idea.

The Melanesian Institute is an independent Christian organisation dedicated to researching and publishing issues affecting our people of Melanesia.

Mother of Eight Sells France to the World

While the beleaguered French Premier toughs it out with youths and unions over labour market reform, the country's ambassador for foreign investment is selling France abroad as a high-tech industrial leader. The head of Invest in France is a woman, which is not too surprising as France has long been committed to gender equality in the workplace. What is rather unexpected is that Clara Gaymard has eight children, in a country where the average number of children per woman is 1.9.

"Being a mother of eight really helps me to be a good manager," she said during a visit to Australia. "When you are a mother you have to be well organised and you understand what it's like to have everything you've just done - like all the housework - destroyed overnight. In business it's the same, you have to be organised and you have to react in a positive way to dramas." One of her tips for home and work is to delegate.

"The invisible ceiling," she says, is still an issue but "French women do not have to choose". France is having more babies than any other country in Europe because child care - including nannies at home - is tax deductible, all parents get a child allowance, and income tax rates reflect the number of dependants at home. That cuts Ms Gaymard's personal tax rate 40 to 10 per cent. She says fertility rates are falling elsewhere in Europe and Japan because women have to choose between a career and a family, or because they wait too long to try to have children.

But there is always a work-family compromise. Her children share rooms in an inner-city apartment to cut down on time spent commuting. She has two hours paid help a day and juggles the rest. With two degrees, three books and a high-profile government career behind her, she took on her international role at the age of 44. "She says her children - aged 8 to 19 - are old enough. "And they do have a father at home too, you know," she says, referring to her husband, Hervé, who is France's Minister for the Economy.

Dutch Christian builds modern Ark

Dan Bergin

A Dutchman is building a working replica of Noah's Ark, in order to teach children about the Bible.

Johan Huibers, 47, will be stocking the vessel with horses, lambs, chickens and rabbits - mostly baby animals to save space.

Huibers plans to set sail from his home in Schagen, 45km (30 miles) north of Amsterdam, in September, stopping off at towns throughout the Netherlands canal system.

Visitors will be invited on board for a small charge. the entrance ticket will include a tour of the boat and a religious pamphlet.

Huibers needs 100,000 people to come aboard in order to cover the nearly one million Euros he has spent on the project - raising the money from savings and loans.

He told reporters said his wife was not very enthusiastic about the Ark. He said: "She told me - why don't you dig wells in Ethiopia? - But she understands this is my dream."

A Centre of Hope in Goroka Opens

Women who had lost their husbands through HIV AIDS and who had themselves become infected with the deadly virus because of their husbands unfaithfulness were among the many who turned out in force in North Goroka recently for the blessing of the new St Joseph's Centre of Hope.

The building, in North Goroka and which originally belonged to the L.C.I. had been lovingly cleaned up, repaired and refurbished to accommodate the St Joseph's Centre for Hope. It is one of many centres being established throughout the Catholic Church to give support, counseling and comfort to those who have the HIV virus or who fear infection or who have a family member or a friend with the deadly disease.

The centre is to be managed by Sr Catherine, a trained nurse, of the Sacred Heart Sisters. In her speech Sister said, "We want this Centre to be a place of hope."

Mr Ken Wai, Deputy Health Adviser for the Provincial Health Department in his speech, told the large crowd present, that throughout the Province there were 1560 cases of HIV AIDS. He also added that the World Health Organization believes that for every case diagnosed there are ten undiagnosed.

"These are frightening statistics" he said and the provincial Government is concerned that it does not have the resources to even meet the present needs of these people let alone the future needs. He said it is therefore important that the Government, Churches and others must put their resources into prevention. He thanked the Diocese of Goroka for taking the initiative in establishing the Centre.

The Bishop of Goroka, Bishop Francesco Sarego SVD, thanked the many people who had contributed so much in time, effort and finances to the establishment of the Centre. He especially mentioned Sr Tarsisia of the HIV AIDS Office in Port Moresby and thanked her for her dream, her ideas, her strength in making the day become a reality.

In her speech Sr Tarsisia made mention of the support of the Parish Priest of North Goroka, Caritas Australia, the AIDS Council and all who gave so much and helped bring the dream of such a care centre to fruition.

During the opening ceremony youth groups from the University of Goroka and St Mary's entertained the people gathered with colourful and lively singing. There was even an especially composed 'Stopim AIDS' song.

The ceremony concluded with Bishop Francesco and Sr Tarsisia together cutting a ribbon to open the house and the bishop blessing it. Those who wished could then tour the house which was followed by light refreshments which the Sisters of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart had spent half of the night before preparing.

HOUSE OF HOPE: The Deputy Health Adviser for the Provincial Health Department said it is important that the Government, Churches and others must put their resources into prevention. He thanked the Diocese of Goroka for taking the initiative in establishing the Centre.
