

UCSD celebrates publication of Poet Jerome Rothenberg's new anthology

February 1, 1996

CALENDAR EVENT

UCSD CELEBRATES PUBLICATION OF NEW ANTHOLOGY

Poet Jerome Rothenberg, co-editor of the new anthology of modern poetry "A Celebration of Poems for the Millennium," will be one of several artists who will take part in a poetry reading and musical performance at 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 25, in the Seuss Room of the Geisel Library, at the University of California, San Diego, to celebrate the book's publication.

The event will feature poetry readings from the anthology by Rothenberg, who is a UCSD professor of literature and visual arts; along with the book's co-editor, poet Pierre Joris, and the British experimental poet Tom Raworth. The musical program will be presented by UCSD contemporary composer and performer George Lewis and colleagues. Admission is free.

For more information, call the UCSD Libraries' Special Collections at 534-1276.

(February 1, 1996)