

Dr. Robert Galambos will present the fifth PILS lecture

November 7, 1968

Dr. Robert Galambos, professor of neurosciences in the School of Medicine at the University of California, San Diego, will present the fifth lecture in the Professors' Inaugural Lecture Series at 4:15 p.m., Thursday, November 21, in the Humanities-Library Auditorium, Revelle College campus.

Dr. Galambos' topic will be "Studies on Hearing and Other Brain Functions."

He received his A.B. and M.A. degrees from Oberlin College, his A.M. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard University and his M.D. degree from the University of Rochester School of Medicine. He has been an instructor at Harvard Medical School, an intern at Emory University Hospital, an assistant professor of anatomy at Emory University Medical School, a research fellow at Harvard University, chief of the Department of Neurophysiology at Walter Reed Army Institute of Research and a Eugene Higgins Professor of Psychology and Physiology at Yale University.

The lecture will be free and open to the public.