During the period from 1926 to the beginning of 1956 there were 564 cities formed (not counting cities located prior to 1940 in the Western Ukraine, Western Belorussia, Moldavia, Latvia, Lithuania, and Estonia, as well as cities located in territories which incorporated into the USSR in 1944-1945). The number of urban-type settlements increased correspondingly during the period from 1926 to the beginning of 1956 by 1,069. After 1926 such new cities as Karaganda, Magnitogorsk, Chernikovsk, Kom-somol'sk-na-Amur, Stalinogorsk, Elektrostal', Angarsk, Noril'sk, Molotovsk, Magadan, Balkhash, Zhigulevsk, Krasnoural'sk, Sumgait, Mednogorsk, Kokhtla-Yarve, Igarka, Novaya Kakhovka, Bratsk, and others appeared.

(1) During the period from 1939 to 1956, urban-type settlements included: workers' settlements, resort settlements, and other urban-type settlements confirmed in this classification by Presidia of Supreme Soviets of union republics. In 1926 a census of urban-type settlements was made by the Central Statistical Administration. In view of the basically similar approach to the definition of urban settlement, the data are comparable.

NUMBER OF CITIES AND URBAN-TYPE SETTLEMENTS AND
USSR URBAN POPULATION
(at beginning of year)

	1955
Number of cities	1,543
Number of urban-type settlements ¹	2,441
Total urban population (in millions)	84.6

During the period from 1926 to the beginning of 1956 there were 564 cities formed (not counting cities located prior to 1940 in the Western Ukraine, Western Belorussia, Moldavia, Latvia, Lithuania, and Estonia, as well as cities located in territories which incorporated into the USSR in 1944-1945). The number of urban-type settlements increased correspondingly during the period from 1926 to the beginning of 1956 by 1,069. After 1926 such new cities as Karaganda, Magnitogorsk, Chernikovsk, Kom-somol'sk-na-Amur, Stalinogorsk, Electrostal', Angarsk, Noril'sk, Molotovsk, Magadan, Balkhash, Zhigulevsk, Krasnoural'sk, Sumgait, Mednogorsk, Kokhtla-Yarve, Igarka, Novaya Kakhova, Bratsk, and others appeared.

(1) During the period from 1939 to 1956, urban-type settlements included: workers' settlements, resort settlements, and other urban-type settlements confirmed in this classification by Presidiums of Supreme Soviets of union republics. In 1926 a census of urban-type settlements was made by the Central Statistical Administration. In view of the basically similar approach to the definition of urban settlement, the data are comparable.

(at beginning of year)

	1955
Number of cities	1,543
Number of urban-type settlements ¹	2,441
Total urban population (in millions)	84.6

During the period from 1926 to the beginning of 1956 there were 564 cities formed (not counting cities located prior to 1940 in the Western Ukraine, Western Belorussia, Moldavia, Latvia, Lithuania, and Estonia, as well as cities located in territories which incorporated into the USSR in 1944-1945). The number of urban-type settlements increased correspondingly during the period from 1926 to the beginning of 1956 by 1,069. After 1926 such new cities as Karaganda, Magnitogorsk, Chernikovsk, Komsomol'sk-na-Amur, Stalinogorsk, Electrostal', Angarsk, Noril'sk, Molotovsk, Magadan, Balkhash, Zhigulevsk, Krasnouralsk, Sumgait, Mednogorsk, Kokhtla-Yarve, Igarka, Novaya Kakhova, Bratsk, and others appeared.

(1) During the period from 1939 to 1956, urban-type settlements included: workers' settlements, resort settlements, and other urban-type settlements confirmed in this classification by Presidia of Supreme Soviets of union republics. In 1926 a census of urban-type settlements was made by the Central Statistical Administration. In view of the basically similar approach to the definition of urban settlement, the data are comparable.
