ze Kevelle Cimes

Volume 1, Number 2

Telephone 453-2000 Ext. 1083

Thursday 10 March 1966

CURRICULUM EXAMINED

There is a general dissatisfaction among students at Revelle College concerning the curriculum. Results of a poll indicate several makor conflicts. To a large extent, Humanities majors find the Math and Physics programs impossible to cope with. This was made manifest by the results of this quarter's Physics course in which there were 63 drops, and in which 100 students failed the mid-term. Mnay students also expressed dissappointment in the limited number of Humanities courses offered. At the same time, science and math majors generally find language requirements unbearable.

Due to the fact that each course taken by the undergraduates is geared to make the student capable of persuing a major in the field of that course, many feel that they necessarily end-up spending more time on their weakest subject, the subject farthest from their real field of interest, than any other. This leeps them from gaonong as adequate a preparation for grad-school in their major as they would like. It is felt that science-oriented people can not fairly compete in the humanities courses and vice-versa. This causes grade averages to suffer.

With the draft immenent and admittance to grad-school, this is a more relavant factor than ever.

In the sophomore poll taken earlier this year, 95% stated that their aim was to attend grad-school. Many sophomores feel that the administration is inconsistant in its policy and requirements. The problem of the American History examin, that all students in California must pass, and the number of proficiency examinations required for graduation were very unclear factors. It is believed to be inferred that if one follows the administration's proscribed course of study, one will succees in his program. In language and physics, this has not proved to be the case. Honor classes are being taken, requiring a great deal more work, time, and intelligence than the standard courses, but they are being graded and credited on the same basis as the standard. Students are given full credit for humanities and social science courses taken at junior colleges where these courses are not expected

Faculty Committee

Assumes Judicial Function

Last week the effects of the dormitory crisis reached the G.C. Judicial Council. The first group of students were tried who had broken the dorm regulations since the beginning of the contro-

Council was faced with The the problem of resolving the conflict between rules they felt to be just and rules that had to be enforced. In a compromise the Council found the defendants under administration light The rules, but imposed sentences. The group that had been in the closed room was given a suspended sentence of two weeks eleven o'clock curfew and probation until the end of the quarter. The other group was judged to have violated the rules with "just were planned and premeditated recent dorm dispute. in one instance but not in the Reporter: What do you think the other.

should be completely suspended Violations were permitted with rooms for an academic rather ents. than a social purpose, but this Reporter: objection was over-ruled on the R.A.'s play? as the administration, not the like them interpreted.

The administration found the rulings of the judicial council to situation. erly prosecuted parties. On off? Monday, the Faculty Committee Kurata: Well...I suppose so. It Judicial Council. In the past it the time. student could refer decisions of resignation. the Judicial Counci! Dr.Forbes'

Harris (Ecoromics), Haxo (Marine Biology), Theiss(Math), and a graduate student, Mr. James Jones, decided it was time to clarify their function. The Judicial Council is merely an advisory body. The Faculty Committee maintains responsibility and authority in all matters of student conduct. It was Dr. Forbes' opinion that the members' involvement in the dormitory conflict had biased them in such a (Continued on page four)

Kurata Clarifies Confusion

George Tuesday, March 8, cause" and was given no sent- Kurata, General Council Chair-The basis for judicial man, was interviewed by The council's decision lay in the ob- TIMES concerning some of the servation that the rule violations issues and developments of the origins of the dispute were? The argument was raised within Kurata: People were dissatisfied of the London School of the council that both sentences with the situation in the dorms.

What part did the responsibility was the enforce- could. You can't expect too much committee ment of the administration's rules of them when you consider the weight if the Provost were on construction of the dorms; the council or the students, would students were supposed to enforce the rules with an honor system. It was a ridiculous be inconsistent with previous rui- Reporter: Did the letter from ings and therefore unfair to form - Dr. Stewart set the whole thing on Student Conduct and Affairs was the final spark. The keg met to review the decision of the was growing bigger and bigger all had been assumed that this Reporter: We have been accused committee's role was to serve of "stabbing the Chancellor in the as a court of appeals to which back" by timing this with his Kurata: It is unfortunate he had Committee, consisting of Drs. resigned when this started.

Professor Carlos Blanco (center), a member of the Committee of Eight, and Andrew Feenberg (left), Editor of S.I.L.'s Alternatives, argue the rlation of General Council to COE following the Tuesday, March 4 demonstration.

Rise and Fall

MARCH 3

At 9:00 Monday night the General Council held a meeting to present to the dormitory residents the recommendations of the Committee of Eight. The meeting began with written statements from George Kurata and Stephens Harter. In these, the opposing views on COE's decision and proposed student action were presented. Kurata recommended that the minutes of the committee's meeting be accepted and that the two-week cooling-off period proposed by the administration be instituted. This action, he suggested, would convince the administration of the maturity of the students and put the students in a stronger bargaining position when the rules are reviewed in early April.

English Philosopher

Harter's position revolved about the belief that the administration's request for a moratorium on rules activity was a ruse used to snow the students. Further, he pointed out that the concessions made by the administration to the committee were trifling. From the philosophical viewpoint, acceding to the committee's decision constitutes abdication of the students' claim to some form of governmental autonomy. From the practical standpoint, the concessions granted by the Chancellor in response to the committee's recommendation are sufficiently far from those which had been requested by the students as to be of a purely palliative nature.

STUDENTS DEBATE Heated debate among the 250 students present followed the presentation of the statements. All points of view were represented in the remarks from the floor. Jan Keirsey argued in favor of stringent regulation of dorm life. She was backed up by Thomas Hunter who proposed that students were indeed not mature enough to regulate their own lives and that they should gratefully accept direction from the administration. Opposed to this were most of the students present. A number of graduate students took part in the discussion.

Larry Falk challenged the validity of graduate student participation in the dorm rules and student government conflict. The nature of this interest was clarified by James Bauerlein, who pointed out that the major principles involved, primarily those surrounding the questions of student autonomy and the right to make decisions regarding one's personal life, were of vital importance to all students on this campus regardless of their status.

By the termination of the meeting the nature of the issues had crystallized to the point that a vote was called for on the question: should the General Council press for autonomy and the right to determine rules now? "No" vote on this question signified a willingness to wait two weeks while the administration deliberated and surveyed. The overwhelming majority of the students present, 95% by some estimates, chose to present to the General Council ... mandate for immediate action.

A petition to this effect was circulated and approximately 200 signatures were obtained. Similar petitions are also being circulated among the graduate students.

COE Meets

MARCH 3

The "Committee of Eight" met in the Provost's Conference Room at 4:30 Monday afternoon to discuss the decision of the Chancellor regarding the recommended changes in dorm visiting regulations. Composing the committee are members of the administration, the faculty, and the General Coun-Dr. Nierenberg, who replaced Second College Provost John Stewart on Monday, and Mr. R. Topolovac of the Student Affairs Office represent the administration. From the faculty are Professor Paul A. Libby, Aero-Space Engineering, and Professor Carlos Blanco, Literature. Student body representatives are George Kurata, Stephens Harter, Sherry Forbes, and Roy Verdery, all members of the General Council.

On Friday the Committee presented to the Chancellor a proposal for visiting hours in the dormitories. Deviations from standing rules were visiting in the suites on Fridays and Saturdays: noon-5 and 8-midnight; and visiting in individual rooms: 2-5 Sunday through Friday afternoons and on Saturday from 8 to midnight.

The Chancellor replied Monday, accepting only the suite visiting hour changes, refusing visiting in the rooms. He outlined a program to study the possibility of permitting in-room visiting. Questionnaires will be sent to students and parents, and a survey of dorm regulations at other campuses around the country will be made. This study, which is to be completed in two weeks, will be conducted by Dean Forbes' office. After two hours deliberation, the Committee of Eight resolved to accept the Chancellor's decision.

SPEAK

In forthcoming issues of the TIMES, the assistant editor, Thomas Rado, will edit a column of opinion and discourse entitled PASSWORD, Essays and articles in this column may express any legitimate point of view on any issue the author feels is important. Contributions will be accepted on the basis of journalistic quality regardless of the views expressed. The TIMES feels that part of its mission on this campus is to act as a forum in which no issue to too controversial and no whitewash is used. In keeping with this role, the invitation to write for PASSWORD is open to all members of the Revelle academic community.

because both parties were in the nothing being done by the studissue's PASSWORD column(page issue's PASSWORD column(page) three).

> that the council's Kurata: They enforced what they Reporter: But don't you think the would have more > > Kurata: It would have a good deal of weight. The way the University is to set up eventually, the twelve colleges are to be autonomous. What Second College does, isn't the business of the First College. Stewart was on the Committee as Acting Provost of Revelle. He was at the first meeting only for exped> > iancy. Reporter: What is the future of student government.

> > Kurata: If you can get a change in student attitude, get them to accept responsibility for initially enforcing rules. The student (Continued on page four) ther or not the university should

Editorials

Dulce et Decorum est...

The dorm-rules issue has settled into its grave. In return for almost trivial concessions, the administration succeeded in eliminating any real power and much of the prestige of the student government. Using a ploy similar to that used by the Berkeley administration last year, that of calling a two-week pause, which coincidentally terminates in the midst of exams, the administration demonstrated that, on the one hand, they will not willingly cede any power to the students, and on the other, that they are quite familiar with the inroads of bureaucratic

When the problem first appeared in the limelight, the community was quickly apprised of the fact that this was due to an irresponsible student ultimatum. When the press, generally antagonistic toward the student movement, arrived, this too was blamed on the students. Now that it is over and the word "student" ceases to be a pejorative term, it is time to examine ourselves and wonder what part of the blame lies justly with us.

STUDENTS LET CAUSE PERISH

We know the students did not fill a vacuum with their "ultimatum." The General Council's statement was clearly a response to a situation of long standing. We know too that they did not seek out the off-campus press and beseech them to give us publicity as bearded rebels. Yet our conscience cannot be quite clear. The students have permitted the question to die; they denied their spokesmen, however inexperienced they were, the support these leaders would have needed in order to be able to speak more resolutely. They grasped at an ideal, governmental autonomy, and let it slip from their hands, content to hold firmly a fistful of

The issue has passed, and now there is but one penance left for permitting it to die. The problem must not be forgotten, and when the questions come up again, as they inevitably will, the same mistakes must not be made again. The students must define the issues for themselves, and not lose sight of them even in the thick fog of false friends and silent allies. If the students want genuine government and rules which they can tolerate, the time will come when they will get them. But such rights are never easily given and we must never lose sight

Leadership Revisited

Being a politician, especially on a university campus, is really a great deal of fun. One is branded a leader; one acquires a certain notoriety (perhaps even mention in the national press); and best of all one has the feeling that everyone on campus knows him, respects him, and maybe even follows him. All of this is possible with only very little commitment and, in fact, very little personal risk. When the tide changes and runs against the cause of the student politician, he can always get out from under at the last moment and count on the ubiquitous apathy of the campus to save him from the fate he deserves. On rare occasions this is not the case. Sometimes the student leader is truly dedicated to his constituents (apathetic or not) and to their cause, and in these cases he is almost certain to have trouble. He is pressured and alone; he is the true servant of his cause and his fellows; and most important, neither loneliness nor pressure can make him desert.

This was support?

In My Opinion...

(Note: Miss Wunderlich is a

(Note: Miss Wunderlich is a student from Frankfurt, Germany, She was passing thru UCSD on a trip around the U.S. This is her unmodified comment)
Heidi Wunderlich
It was a piece of good luck which brought to this campus, It was planned that I live with a family in LaJolla, but when I looked one day into all these goings-on in these dormforles I wouldn't leave this place. They are wonderful grits and I have never member of grains and la conce.

Now here runs, so far my ppor Degulsh could get it, the question shall boys come into the suites of the girls or contrary, but look against the actual morality to allow the boy to visit their gril-friend's between 2 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon into the sleep-and study-rooms?

I understand when older people cannot fall--who risks to pitch the afternoon into the sleep-and study-rooms?

I understand when older people cannot fall--who risks to pitch the afternoon into the sleep-and study-rooms?

I understand when older people cannot fall--who risks to pitch the afternoon into the sleep-and study-rooms?

I understand when older people cannot fall--who risks to pitch the afternoon into the sleep-and study-rooms?

I understand when older people cannot fall--who risks to pitch the afternoon into the sleep-and study-rooms?

I understand when older people cannot fall--who risks to pitch the afternoon into the sleep-and study-rooms?

I understand when older people cannot fall--who risks to pitch the first stone? —to pursue and the proposal and say when they were young it was impossible.

The times are changing, when the young bender the suites or into the suites or into the sound and the decide them at the young people of today live in a neight the colon table them and the actual morality to allow the boy to visit their gril-riend's between 2 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon into the sleep-and study-rooms?

I understand when older people cannot fall--who risks to pitch the first stone?—to the fight the proposal and say when they were young it was in the word paper level to the propo

Letters to The Times

among the dormitory residents to demand the system of signthat the activities started last outs, lock-outs, monitors, and week to liberalize the rules are rent-a-cops that would actually unnecessary. Some students hold be required to enforce the adminthat, since the rules cannot be en- istration's silly regulations. Any student who is sensible and point do not understand the thereby avoiding the necessity to overcome. Physically speak- parents. ing we are free; morally speaking

Due to the arbitrary nature of the rules, and to the fact that they are irrational and unliveable, students are forced to ignore the honor code. They are forced to deny a system they promised to uphold. They are forced to become sneaks and cheats, to forced to view their government as a farce and to circumvent its laws. When human beings are locked in a situation in which they will behave dishonestly, they are under the worst sort of oppression. The dormitories have become a fine workshop in demo-

Jeannette Walsh

Editor: There are rumors that our fiery rebels on the General Council have been doused so much that they are drowning in self-pity. Several of them are seriously thinking of resigning. What happened to their high ideals? If our General Council crumbles now, it may never see light of day again as a respectable, selfgoverning power.

Steven Collins

Editor:

an excellent study of bureaucratic cowardice of the residents.

istration of UCSD agree, first sick society?" that a set of rules should be imposed upon the residents that sufficiently strict (albeit indirect, arbitrary, and unrealistic) to satisfy the parents that the university is diligently watching over their children's virtue and secondly, that these rules should not be enforced (except for the token punishment residents should decide hours, manners, and morals for them-General Council as a particularly three-fold dedication will center convienent instrument for ach- on the research vessel Thomas ieving this two-faced purpose: Washington; the ocean-going bioit is a body democratically elect- logical laboratory, Alpha Helix: ed by the residents, automatic- and a six-acre, $ 1 million shipally empowered by the adminis- operating facility. tration to try violators --- and The unique Alpha -Helix, essadministration, General Council, There is an idea circulating faculty, Blanco Committee, etc.)

forced, we actually have no rules This dormitory "revolt" could and we are not being oppressed. not be a popular revolution in any sense. The residents are cautious can live, to a great too deeply interested in concealextent, exactly as he pleases. ing their freedom beneath a mask Those who adhere to this view- of orderly respectability, and in essence of the oppression that of long, painful, and risky arguthe General Council is attempting ments with their over-protective

In a pang of conscience, the Council was struck with the great insight that they had allowed themselves to become patsies of the administration. They appealed to the basic principle of organized theory, that responsibility must be accompanied by authority, and decided that they could not, in fact, be held become dishonest. They are accountable for enforcing the rules, since they had had nothing to do with formulating them, and abhorred the police -state measures necesary to implement them. In a remarkable display of maturity, the Council issued a set of their own rules and devised a new system of enforcement. This move created a lot of commotion on and off campus, and there seemed to be a favorable reaction from the students.

However, when the chips were down, it turned out that nobody was concerned about the bad conscience of the Council, except possibly for a few graduate students and Dr. Blanco. And so the Council's efforts to purge itself of its moral corruption and political dishonesty was bound collapse for want of popular support. Individual members may resign but the dorms will always be able to supply enough patsies to fill their shoes. This must be true because the moral cor-The recent controversy over ruption of the Council is a demodorm autonomy on our campus is cratic projection of the moral corruption in a nominally demo- All this raises a question of political theory, which can best In the wisdom of hindsight, it is be stated as "Can a healthy democlear that the students and admin- cratic government exist in a Yours very truly.

Triple Dedication

Two new oceanographic research vessels and a new Scripps Marine Facility will be dedicated of a few particularly indiscreet in a triple ceremony Friday. or unlucky violators), and the March II, by officials of Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

William A.Neirenberg, Director Both groups see the of Scripps Institution, said the orderly and neat. The boys totally ineffectual. The Council entially a laboratory equipped

A Reply

Editor, Daily Aztec: On last Friday I had the unfortunate opporunity to pick up a copy of your newspaper and I read with shame the irresponsible editorial concerning the action of the dormitory students of UCSD. Having spent four years at San Deigo State and receiving my BA from there I feel some kinship wit! that institution. When I hear the voice of that campus speak, I listen, sometimes with interest, sometimes with amusement, and sometimes with disgust.

I am now a graduate student at UCSD and have been able to watch first hand the struggles of this new university. Our dormitories, as institutions, are growing. They have not yet solidified and are still seeking their form. Your eidtorial makes it quite evident that you know nothing about what is happening on this campus and that if you did, your limited per- No'Greasing the Pathway' The emergence of political contact tached standpoint. Thus, on this sciousness in the undergraduate view, in addition to teaching and spective, as demonstrated by the shallowness of your criticism, would not allow you to grasp its meaning.

UCSD is as yet in its infancy. years do not allow them. Our versity, with its unlimited When asked about the Student potential, slip into the apathetic, esponsible who allows the morals that the medical procedure preor openly submits to this regulation is acting irrespons- ibly. It is because generations give to such requests, and he country have willingly placed of three topnotch, doctors in country have willingly placed the responsibility for their personal lives in the hands of others that the students on this carnets must fight now for that supported student self-government and initiative. As the year progressed it became evident that self-government meant government not by consent of the Ghancellor. The students did not ask to run the classes or the administration; all they wanted to do was govern their own lives. The Chancellor and the Provost continued to hand down rules and edicts for the dorms of the supported student self-government and initiative. As the individual and "greasing the individual and "greasing the individual and "greasing the individual and "greasing the pathway" for moral degradation. As a doctor of the Student Health School."

Students should have some kind of special who is with the university administration; all though the Universities in Britation who is school."

"Students should have some kind of special who is with the university administration; all university committees including the Universities in Britation who of the business of running the school."

"Students should have some kind of special who is with the university administration; all though the Universities in Britation have been able to act in advance of public opinion on this issue, and to pronounce unpopular trators who for the most part are not academic, have no loyalty to the academic community and its ideals, and look upon the university and in the university administration; all they wanted to do was governed by medical ethics, but his personal opinion is moralistic. He said that the campus has enough problems without unwanted pregnancies that the campus has enough problems without unwanted pregnancies that the business of running the worker. The beautiful have to the during the individual and "greasing the pathway" for moral degradation.

"Students should have a vote on of university administrations, has a doctor of the Students, is governed by medical ethics, but his personal opinion of the school."

"I am surprised that there are sity as a means of livelihood, as a truck of vice, "so it is with the university administration, all though the University rules and edicts for the dorms on the unwed mother. In general, Herb Brosbe (Editor, 'The New is that the university is neither it is subject to financial pressure and the only thing they asked the he felt that free contraceptive wave'): and the only thing they asked the dorm government to do was to dorm government to do was to dorm government to do was to do wa ulation of these rules. Their that the birthcontrol pills or any voice, up until the point that it other contraceptive used had not became indignant, was ignored. lowered the birthrate, according History Department have the ability to view society to the suggestion of furth at large from a relatively detributors to this column. being irresponsible. An at UCLA. administration which assumes a dual posture, sometimes authoritarian, sometimes egalitarian, depending on what they want out paper has immeasureably announced the establishment of a of the students is, I submit, damaged, on your campus, the History Department in 1966-67 possibility that students could for UCSD. It will have at least

Your paper has always been ever achieve personal independ- five professors. quick to criticize. The editorial ence in their dormitories. crisis. Due to the influential ours, to obscurity. character of even the most insignificant publications, your

WHAT SORT OF MAN READS The Times?

$2.00 and we mail it for the school year anywhere in the U.S.

Dr. Robert Watson, head of the Student Health Service, is a man of conviction. He is concerned with students, their Whereas San Deigo State has health, and their problems, and has made serious efforts to already reached its maturity, see that students remain in good health.

Inadequate sleep is the major problem beseiging students, The faults which have been according to Dr. Watson. To battle this, Watson has appealed institutionalized at SDS have not to cut down the work load without much success.

yet gained a foothold and will Dr. Watson stressed the fact that a balance of "studying, not if the students in these first sleep, and fun" is necessary for the healthy student. Many students do not know how to study, and they spend advantage is that while the uni-versity as such is in its infancy, the students are not. There "How to Study" program is being instituted on Saturday mornings, are many signs that these under the supervision of John Geddes, the Student Health students will not let this uni- Service counselor and Mary Avery, Assistant to the Provost.

Health Service's policy on potential, slip into the apathetic, mediocre slumber for which SDS has such a reputation.

Health Service's policy on explaining contraceptive methods to men and women students, he A student or any individual is irresponsible who will not of the Student Health Service which is concerned with illness.

George Kurata (GC member): dents involved. But the situation their own actions. But the English Teacher-Training colleges which is concerned with illness.

George Kurata (GC member): dents involved. But the situation their own actions. But the English Teacher-Training colleges which is concerned with illness. assume the duties of regulating which is concerned with illness "It's exactly what I expected." Which is concerned with illness "It's exactly what I expected." There are a number of (which produce accredited grade—"If they don't sit and wait, they'll ideal. There are a number of (which produce accredited grade—"If they don't sit and wait, they'll ideal. esponsible who allows the morals of others to be imposed upon him without crying out against him without crying out against doesn't rate as a function of its doesn't rate as a life is regulated by impersonal as a service for the married going to make some broad, he grove of akedeme, in which sen- Why this disagreement? The campus must fight now for that control are between the individual ent agitation in Germany is that tension of the community at large as they wish. Thus, whilst there campus must fight now for that freedom.

At the beginning of the academic year our administration spoke in high praise of the students and his doctor. Speaking as a doctor of the Student Health high praise of the students and of how they were entering into the adult world and must learn the adult world and must learn the aboutdor, their own problems.

Control are between the individual and his doctor. Speaking as a doctor of the Student Health Service, Dr. Watson stated, which is a medical problem. We government of each university is some government control over memit is taken for granted. The government of each university is no more than an extension of the community at large, and hence must reflect the views and opinions of that community. In its most extreme form this view holds that the universities, there is absolutely no control over how it is spent, no more than a public utility; it thus ensuring the academic free-produces "trained minds" just dom of the Universities. The to shoulder their own problems. To choose his moral standards, If you flunk out of this university they said, it is nobody's fault sible position has a different former course work in order to shoulder their own problems. The national government officials are produces "trained minds" just as the gasworks produces gas; Training Colleges, however, are former course work in order to should be odd to the universities. The permitted to take a year off from and fust as it would be odd to the university thus ensuring the academic free-produces "trained minds" just as the gasworks produces gas; Training Colleges, however, are they said, it is nobody's fault since position has a different course work in order to but your own. The administration point of view. There is a broad devote themselves full-time to suggest that the gas company of public opinion. Therefore, supported student self-government and initiative. As the individual and "greasing the school."

prosecute the violators of these rules. The students asked at first shyly, then politely, then firmly, and now indignantly for the right to be a participant in the formulation of these rules. Their opinion which condemned the I urge you, with respect to any available in the areas of Ancient, students at this campus demon- other issues which may arise at Medieval, and Modern European strated complete ignorance of the UCSD, to act with intelligence lest history; United States history and meaning and history of the you condemn your campus, not Modern Russian history; and rity. possibly in British history.

James Bauerlein A major and non-contiguous Grad. Philosophy minor will be offered.

warrants discussion. This is the text the English experience is role of public opinion in the af- enlightening. The issue of whelose all visiting hours next quart- possible views concerning the school teachers) still hold to this much difference. If a guy is is an ivory tower, a cloistered under twenty-one. can do it anywhere...So long as sitive intellectuals can take re- answer I believe lies largely in regulation is acting irresponsibly. It is because generations of dormitory students in this of three toppotch doctors in the control of the

Opens

Tuesday, 7 March, Acting Chairman Gabriel Jackson today possibility that students could for UCSD. It will have at least

Upper division courses will be students, resulting in the demand conducting research, thereby enfor revision of the dormitory hancing the growth of pure learnvisiting-hour regulations, raises ing, the university should perfundamental questions concern- form the Socratic function of ing the nature of a university. being a "gadfly to the state." One of these questions, the S. H. Financial Independence issue of student self-government, Needed is at present being quite heatedly But to fulfill the ideals of this argued on this campus. But there third viewpoint the university is another matter, consequent needs to be free of undue exterupon this, but by no means sec- nal influences, specifically from ondary to it in importance, which financial pressure. In this con-fairs of a university. It is apparent that the UCSD act in loco parentis is fundamenadministration is very aware of tal to the present UCSD furore. public opinion, witness the dec- The British universities have ision to send out questionnaires abandoned the view that they concerning the dormitory situa- should so act, and their students tion to the parents of the stu- are deemed to be responsible for nature of auniversity, which bear principle, and indeed are the formen course work in order to and just as it would be odd to directly subject to the pressure

portunities for creative thinking, What might be done to remedy and by the nature of their task this situation I leave (hopefully) have the ability to view society to the suggestion of further con- D. G. Bouvier BUY-SELL

PACIFIC CAMERA STORE

930 PROSPECT STREET

PHONE 459-3444 Let the REVELLE TIMES be your salesman--call 453-2783

through REVELLE TIMES ads.

PHOTOGRAPHS NEEDED!

ANY ASPECT OF UCSD LIFE

Submit negatives to Don Roberts, 102 Discovery, 453-3931.

Pictures will be returned.

Once More With Feeling

Wednesday, March 3. The appearance today on campus of a petition urging the installation of "vending machines dispensing contraceptive drugs and devices . in the lavatories of each dormitory" led to the discovery by THE TIMES Editor of a plot to print a new campus paper. Mr. Bob Topolovac of Student Activities confirmed suspicions that the approving stamp on copies of the document was "Under no circum document with his "staff," whom themselves. he refused to identify. "We are should do so starting a new paper on campus, one which will not fail to ask all afraid to attack anybody. We feel THE TIMES is biased; it is started? supported by the General Council and therefore favors it.'

The paper, entitled "The Rag," is to appear on the stands this by the Executive Committee. week with an exclusive expose of Reporter: For the public this was to change its name to "The 2¢ Paper" as a charge of $.02 a copy will be made.

"Controversy, truth, knowledge cy," summed Marlowe.

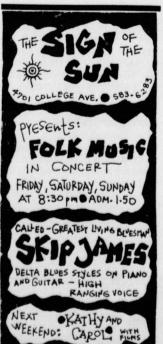

Rise (continued from page 1)

way that they could no longer be trusted to make acceptable decisions. The students seemed to feel that if the Administration was to legislate regulations, it would also have to enforce them. In the light of this, the Faculty Committee decided that it would relieve that council of its duties indefinitely or at least until the results of the dormitory conflict were evident.

Many students feel that they have just witnessed another step toward the elimination of student self-government. Although the tone of the actions of the administration is rather discouraging, the present situation may be an improvement over prior conditions. The students know where they stand. They will not be allowed to make their own rules. The administration is, however, willing to take their opinions into consideration. Dr. Forbes suggested that an undergraduate might become a member of the Faculty Committee. He also felt that it was through the Committee of Eight that the students' government would be changed and adapted so that it could function in the capacity intended for it by the Chancellor.

Laundress and Valet

LaJolla Shores Special Faculty-Student Rates Dry Cleaning and Laundry 2153 Avenida de la Playa 454-6695

Kurata (continued from page 1) government can go pretty far. It can't go anywhere right now; nobody knows what they want to do. We want to make our rules because we want to enforce them. Reporter: Was there purposeful intent by G.C. to strike when they did?

Kurata: No, none at all. Reporter: Some people have said it would have shown greater responsibility on the students' part to wait until after the resignation.

Kurata: Right now I think we should have, but we didn't. Reporter: Why?

Kurata: We were very, very tired stances would our office OK and disgusted with the situation something like that," he stated, in the dorms. Violations were In an interview, Michael Mar- occurring everywhere and stud-lowe, '69, admitted to writing the ents weren't doing to much We thought we should do something to change student attitude about the rules. Reporter: Is is true that some questions, one which will not be discussion had been carried on with the Chancellor before this > Kurata: I don't know. I had very little to do with the GC until last Friday. It was handled student government. After the mainly a morality issue, never first issue the paper is scheduled a question of autonomous govern-

Kurata: We had a philosophical principle and wanted to demonstrate it. The issue we happtempered with justice and mer- ened to pick wasn't accepted by the public.

Reporter: What is your comment on the statement which came out of Berkeley "The administrator's job is to keep the sidewalks clean."

Kurata: The administration is responsible to the people who support the University. They essentially have to respect them; they don't have to do what public opinion says.

Reporter: Was the Chancellor's decision not to give us visiting hours at the time due more to public pressure than the fact that he just "didn't want to"

Kurata: That was one of the ressons. It is difficult to expect someone to give you something when you shove them up against Reporter: Would he have granted them under normal contitions if he weren't in the position?

Kurata: I suppose so ... I really couldn't say. It would be a lot easier to work with someone without all this pressure.

Reporter: Do you think COE is a good solution?

Kurata: It seems reasonable. I don't want to make any statement about what is going to happen. suppose it will work right not, I don't know what it'll do later Reporter: What effect does the resignation of Dr. Stewart from the committee have?

Kurata: That was mainly procedural. It is a Revelle College committee to advise the Provost of this college.

STUDENTS WELCOME Schnitzelhank

Restaurant

1037 Prospect La Jolla STUDENT DINNER SPECIALS

> F1.35 5PM -7:30PM

Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday Closed Wednesday

Their objectives are modest but "We just want to take some of the blindness out of blind dates," explains the founder of Operation Match. After all, boy-meets-girl is a universal game, not to say necessity. But which boy and which girl? Operation Match , devised by Harvard undergraduates, offers the impartial advice of a computer.

Computers have been used infrequently in the past to pair up dates for specific dances. But Match's punch-card cupid has far larger horizons, deals March 15 in wide areas and adapts to any Founders Vaughn occasion. Morrill and Jeff Tarr launched their enterprise last February on a shoestring budget of $1250 Tarr won $500 of it on PAS-WORD, the TV quiz program). They worked out a questionnaire that would both describe the writer and his "ideal mate" then programmed an IBM 1401 March 14 computer to pair them off.

SHORT CIRCUITS. Apparently many young people were groping for just such a helping Within three hand. months, 7,800 students from 100 New England colleges had paid the $3 fee, had their qualifications punched onto cards and scanned by Operation Match's computer. Encouraged and figuring that what was good for New England was good for the world, the fledgling company set up shop in eight other college-heavy cities (San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, Bloomington, Ann Arbor, Lansing, Detroit, and New York). By the time all the full questionnaires are turned in for this fall's roundup, Operation Match expens to have more than 100,000 names on its list. (Paid Advertisement)

Short But Hot

Campus officials have finally stopped being hypocritical about the smell. We note the sprinkler system also keeps the sidewalks

Tricyclists:

If you would like to glory over the (Irvine's) Anteater's Tongue and put the Aztecs (San Diego State) in their place, see Rick Casault in room 352 Meteor, or leave you name and phone number in his mailbox.

From the Business Manager: "In order to provide notice of their presence, custodians have Upon entering the suite they will environment' and all students sound a short blast to alert are requested to wear shoes. residents to their presence." After "0700" March 14, no one Further developments are a- without shoes will be served.

The Village Cupboard

1005 Prospect La Jolla

Good Food in Old English Tradition

Owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Russo, who also run the Lower Campus' food concession. The Russos' inaugurated food service in the pre-Prophet days on the Upper Campus in the Bldg. C cafeteria, serving satisfied customers for six years. If you miss good food, try THE VILLAGE CUPBOARD around the corner from the La Jolla Library.

9AM - 7:30PM Break fast

Lunch - Dinner

EVENTS

Concert March 13

March 16

March 17

March 18

Lectures March 9

March 17

Daniel Lewis conducts the Sherwood Hall orchestra in a program of Bach, de Folla, and Karka with harpischordists Marjorie Sherwood Hall. Romanian Folk Ballet performs colorful program of national folk dances. 8:30 p.m. Civic Theatre.

Rohfleisch as featured soloist. 8:00 p.m.

Fred Waring and his famous choral group, the Pennsylvanians, perform at Civic Theatre

Popular singer, Ella Fitzgerald sings in concert at Civic Theatre. 8:30 p.m.

Sidney Tillim, well known lecturer and art critic will deliver lectures on March 9,10, 16. 17 from 2 to 4 p.m. in room 1329 of Bonner

Professor's Inaugural Lecture Series- Professor of Spanish and Comparative Literature, Claudio Guillen, speaks "On the Concept Metaphor of Perspective." 4:15 p.m. H-L Aud. Professor's Inaugural Lecture Series--Theodore T. Frankel, Professor of Mathematics, lectures on Maximum and Minimum." 4:15 H-L Aud.

Paintings by leading realists are featured in the Twentieth Century Realist V show at the Fine arts Gallery through March 20.

The first extensive San Diego showing of paintings by Marsden Hartley and John Maris, two of the most prominent and individual poineers of the modern movement in the U.S., runs through March 14 at the LaJolla Museum last issue this Quarter .

WELL, MICE WILL BE MICE

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) - Dominick, a male white mouse, has brought cancer research at Incarnate Word College here to a Chemistry students at the college began the research last January when their order for 100 female white mice arrived.

Things went well until last Friday when one of the mice became the mother of

The researchers took a close look at the 100 mice. They found 99 females. And Dominick.

Dominick was separated from his harem, but much too late.

Two more mice had lit-ters and 22 others were found to be pregnant. The remaining 74 are being closely watched.

The cafeteria has been defined been equipped with a whistle in a recent memo as a "dangerous

Oceotel

invites UCSD students to

Peterson Gym March 18, 8-12PM

"Don't Rock? - Don't Knock" featuring the Mustangs

SIP & SURF

5520 La Jolla Blvd.

Entertainment Folk Music

Ballads

Wed. thru Sat.

OPEN 6PM - 2AM Mon. thru Fri.

2PM - 2AM

Sat & Sun. NO MINORS

THE TIMES

Classified Section

Telophone 453-2000 Ext. 1083

Use Revelle Times classifieds for best results!

Jewish Community of La Jolla will hold its third community Seder on April 5 at the Torrey Pines Inn. The price will be $5.00 per person for members, $6.00 per person for non-members. Students and children will be charged half-price. Reservations for the Seder should be made before March 29 by calling: 454-6802 Mrs. S.B.Spizman 278-6933 Mrs. R. Rosenblatt 755-9228 Mrs. L. Brody

LOST: K&E Loglog Duplex Decitrig Sliderule. Green case, name inside. REWARD. John Chalmers 3122 Bonner Hall ex. 1716 WILL SHARE APT. $55 month Near Cove; Dave Crane; Physics Dept., ext. 1806

FIAT 1959 Fiat 600 Transportation car; runs but will need attention. or best offer; D.G. $125.00 Bouvier Rm. 1543 or 232-5658.

WANTED: Quality used F.M. Table Radio; Norm; 453-1993

PORSCHE, '56 Porsche; rebuilt transmission, differential; $1200 755-4157; Mark Hinderaker WANTED: HOUSE IN LA JOLLA UCSD Professor, 2 children, wishes to rent small house or 3-bedroom apt. in or near La Jolla center. Moderate price range; 1-2 year lease from July 1, 1966; call Donald Wesling 453-3154; if no answer, keep trying.

HONDA and GUITAR 50c.c. Honda; 2,500 miles; $150 Douglas Hopkins: 453-1993 Guitar and Case; Douglas Hopkins $20; 453-1993

SURFBOARD

9ft. Gordon and Smith surfboard; Blue panelled balsa strip; good condition; 453-2783; $80 ; Jim

Burns DRUGS

Prescriptions

Cosmetics - Gifts Free Parking in Rear

7824 GIRARD