

Ceremonies to mark naming of Earl Warren College

January 12, 1978

Ceremonies to mark the naming of Earl Warren College at the University of California, San Diego will be held Saturday, January 28, with featured speakers to include Associate U.S. Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall, two-time Pulitzer Prize winning journalist Anthony Lewis of the New York Times, and former California Governor Edmund G. Brown.

Marshall and Brown will speak at dedication ceremonies to be held in Mandeville Auditorium beginning at 8 p.m. Remarks will also be made by University of California President David Saxon, and members of the Warren family will be in attendance.

Marshall will reflect upon Warren's years in Washington as Chief Justice of the United States, while Brown will recall Warren's earlier period in California where he served as attorney general, and later, governor.

Lewis, who has spent several years of his distinguished journalistic career covering the U.S. Supreme Court for the New York Times, will speak at 2 p.m. in Garren Auditorium located in the Basic Science Building of the School of Medicine. His topic will be "The Impact of the Warren Court Decisions."

An exhibition of Earl Warren memorabilia will be held at the Central University Library from January 24 through February 4 as part of the dedication program.

The public is invited to attend both Lewis' afternoon talk and the evening ceremonies at Mandeville Auditorium. Admission is free. However, the public is asked to secure tickets to the evening program. These tickets may be obtained at no charge from the Provost's Office, 302 Warren Campus; 452-4350.

The renaming of Fourth College to Warren College was approved by the University of California Board of Regents last July.

Provost M. Lea Rudee said Warren's name was selected because of his half-century of public service to both the state and the nation, and because of his lifelong association with the University of California.

Warren served three terms as governor of California beginning in 1942 and ending in 1953 with his appointment as Chief Justice of the United States by President Dwight Eisenhower.

For information contact: Paul Lowenberg, 452-3120

(January 12, 1978)