Child rights need attention

Br Michael McManus

Communities, families and Governments need to know more about the rights of children in PNG.

This was agreed by four Papua New Guineans who recently attended a special workshop on the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC) in Bangkok.

The four included Br Joachim ToRavit, Br Adrian Minnie, Sr Marilyn Akonoh and Mr David Wengip.

Br Joachim, student counsellor at Divine Word's St Benedict campus in Wewak, said that all student teachers need to be aware of children's rights.

"I would like to use the knowledge gained at this workshop to challenge our ways of caring for children," said Br Joachim.

"It would not be good to disregard the rights of communities, but I believe we need to pay more attention to the provisions of the CRC," he added.

Sr Marilyn, Christian Education Co-ordinator for the Diocese of Kiunga, enjoyed hearing the stories of the workshop participants who came from 10 different countries in the Asia-Pacific region.

"It was good for me to hear about the great work that many people are doing in ministry with children," said Sr Marilyn.

"I see that many children, especially in remote areas of PNG, do not have access to health and education, and yet they have a right to these things according to the CRC," she continued.

Mr David Wengip, Principal of Callan Studies Institute in Wewak, was especially interested in learning more about the rights of people with disabilities.

"I feel that I am now better educated on the rights of the child, so that we can use our special education resource centre to make people more aware of child protection issues," said Mr Wengip.

"An inclusive education policy for people with disabilities has existed in PNG since 1992, but many are not able to take advantage of this policy, and many parents of children with disabilities do not even know they have rights to education," he said.

Communities, families and Governments need to know more about the rights of children in PNG. This was agreed by four Papua New Guineans who recently attended a special workshop on the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC) in Bangkok.

CBC Has New General Secretary

The Catholic Bishops Conference has appointed a new General Secretary. He is Fr Rolly Santos. His appointment will be for three years with the option of renewal.

Fr Rolly is a member of the Congregation of the Mission (Vincentians) (CM) and has been in the country for eight and a half years. Until his appointment as General Secretary he was based at the Catholic Theological Institute working initially as Spiritual Director at the Holy Spirit Seminary and then moved into Administration and teaching as a professor of Homiletics.

As General Secretary Fr Rolly sees himself as a servant of the Bishops Conference working to facilitate and coordinate the many aspect that the work of General Secretary entails. Of special concern to him is the ongoing implementation of the Church's Partnership programme and the Church Strengthening programme.

Fr Rolly replaces Fr Nick de Groot SVD who completed his three year term and has returned to his home town, Brisbane, Australia, on Sabbatical.

Fr Rolly thanked Fr Nick for the huge effort he had put in as General Secretary.

World Youth Day happened during Fr Nick's watch and it was a very demanding time for him. But, as Fr Rolly said, Fr Nick left things in good order which made it easy for him to take over.

Tokarara Youths on Youth to Youth Encounter

Fr. Harry GAHARE

Catholic Theological Institute's sporting ground came alive when the youths from Tokarara parish met with some Holy Name parish youths outside Port Moresby for sports.

It was a day well spent for most of the town youths who needed time out to catch a breath of fresh air and relief from the noise of the city. The Chapel at the Holy Spirit Seminary was packed to capacity as Tokarara youths travelled very early on Sunday morning for a combined mass before their sports began.

The Rector of the Seminary, Fr. Peter Artiken was full of praise for the youths as they turned out in numbers to come to the seminary and to mingle with the seminarians. He encouraged them in his homily to reach out to each other on a peer group level so that they can build a vibrant community of God fearing citizens.

In the gusty heat of usual Port Moresby weather, the Bomana boys showed how brilliant they were in the boys touch rugby by holding the Tokarara boys to 1 nil in the first half. In the second half, it was the Tokarara boys who continuously punched holes seeking an equalizer which they achieved minutes remaining before the end whistle, when they dived in for the all important point.

In the girls basketball, the Bomana girls were too defensive in all departments and allowed no room for the Tokarara girls. It went one sided as Bomana kept pounding on the Tokarara's key hole area.

St. John's Catholic youth from Tokarara parish in NCD pose for a group picture after their social outing at CTI outside Port Moresby recently.

Effective Communication through Drama

The Commission for Social Communications in conjunction with the HIV/Aids office of the Diocese of Lae have jointly sponsored a one week workshop for thirty-two youth to learn professionally how to communicate creatively and effectively through drama.

The workshop, which went for one week, was facilitated by Fr Crespo of the Missionaries of Jesus who studied, at one point, professional acting.

Around six of the best of the participants will later head for Wewak where they will pass the skills they have learnt onto youth there at a similar workshop as was held in Lae.

Drama is an appropriate and traditional medium for communication of social concerns and Christian values and is very effective when performed well.

It is hoped that these workshops can be run in several dioceses.

Youths of Kiripia Celebrate

The parish priest, Fr Joseph Bisson SVD, and youth of Sts Peter and Paul, Kiripia in the Western Highlands recently held a five day event which had its roots in World Youth Day in Sydney.

Months before the big World Youth Day in Sydney in 2008 the parish decided to hold their own World Youth Day at Kiripia. The parish wanted the two youth who attended the event there to share their experiences with the young people who were not able to attend. Together with their testimonies, the use of DVDs from Sydney, plus some guest speakers and the other usual events that take place at this kind of meeting, the 500 youth who attended the three-day event were thrilled.

The parish decided to hold again this event in 2009. This time much more planning went into it. It was spread over five days. Several well-educated, successful local men challenged the youth to make the right decisions in their lives. Two of them flew in from Kimbe. The Officer in Charge of the Chamber of Mines and Petroleum flew in from Moresby to attend. The Family life and HIV/Aids Secretaries from the Archdiocese gave powerful presentations.

Each of the small groups of youth at Kiripia were happy and fulfilled with their own tray of lamb flaps.

On the spiritual side, each day saw a magnificently well-prepared Eucharist.

There was plenty of very moving music. Frs Victor Roche SVD gave a powerful input on the place of the Lord in the lives of young people today, in the sacraments and especially the Eucharist.

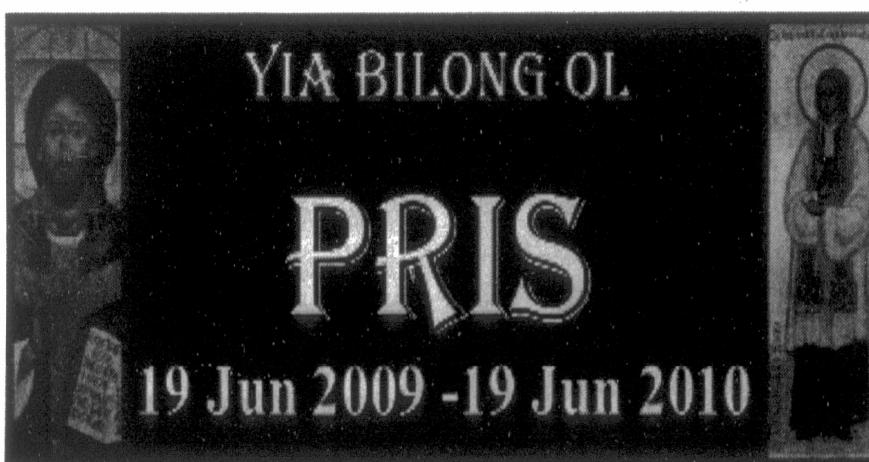

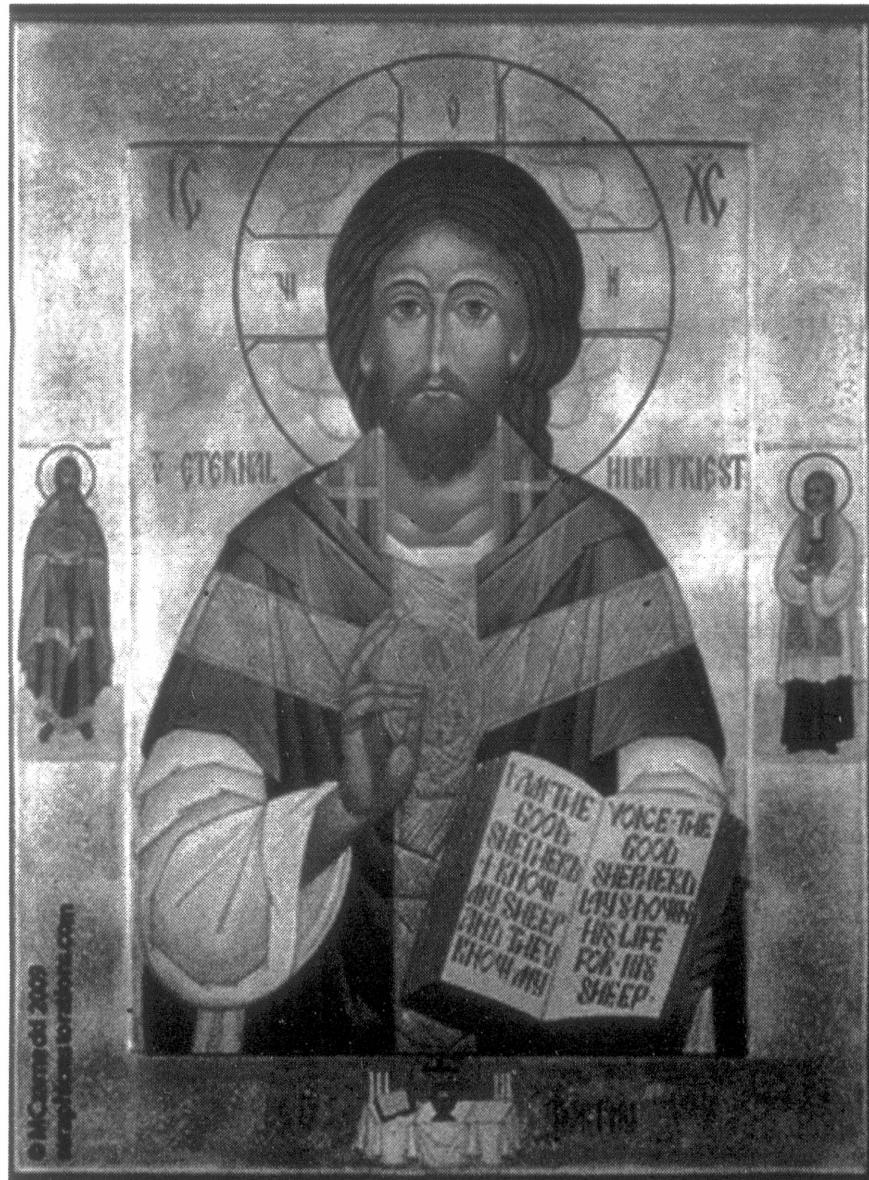

Fr Zdzislaw Karczewski SVD gave input on the Church and answered questions that other churches throw up at our young Catholics. Fr Sam Kokut SVD came from the neighbouring parish to help out with confessions. Archbishop Douglas Young came for the closing Eucharist.

A total of 1000 youth took part in the event.

CATECHISMN

The Universal Call to Prayer

All human being have a desire to know and understand the deeper meaning of their existence. The Bible explains that such desire has been implanted by God when he created human beings in his own image. To fully understand what it means to be the image of God it demands that human beings search for the One who created them with great dignity.

God calls each person to know and encounter him. We may forget and run away from God but he is continuously calling us to be united with him. When we pray, God is already present, waiting to encounter us. Our prayer then is our response to the invitation of God. In prayer we rediscover our dignity as children of God which enables us to share in God's love for the salvation of many people.

PRAYER IN THE OLD TESTAMENT

The books of the Old Testament give us many example of prayer. The pattern is always the same; God is always calling people to himself and people respond to his call. The best unique response is seen in Jesus Christ who has come "to do Your will" (Heb 10:5-7).

Creation – source of prayer

The people of the Old Testament who reflected on creation understood that creation was very good indeed. God is pleased with the recognition that people express to him like Abel sacrificing the best of his flock, like Enoch invoking his name and "walking with God" (Gen 4:4,26 / 5:24). God was pleased with Noah's offering and blessed him and the whole of creation. Offering, invoking, walking with God are forms of prayer expressed and lived by many righteous people in all religions.

God's promise and the prayer of Faith

God called Abraham to leave his "father's home and go to a land that I am going to show you" (Ex 12:1). Abraham believes and obeys God's will. Be ready to follow God's will is essential to prayer. God promised him that he will have a son and he believed him. Abraham is even ready to sacrifice his own son trusting in God who will provide (Gen 22:8). Abraham grows in confidence with God even asking him to change his mind when he intercedes for the people of Sodom (Gen 18:16-33). Because Abraham believed in God he "is the spiritual father of all who believe in God and are accepted as righteous by him" (Rom 4:11).

Moses and the prayer of the mediator

God being mindful of the needs of his people, Israel, calls Moses, from the midst of the burning bush, to lead his people into freedom. God takes the initiative and Moses responds. Moses is the privileged person who throughout his life is continuously in dialogue with God. Sometimes he argues with God, he complains, he asks question, he intercede for the people. Moses has even the courage to ask for his name. And God, willing to reveal who he is, reveals his own name. "The Lord used to speak with Moses face to face, as a friend speaks to a friend" (Ex 33:11). Moses becomes the mediator between God and the people, asking for his help in time of battles or for healing for Miriam, his own sister.

But most importantly Moses stands between God and the people interceding for them even to the point of being estranged from the friendship of God if that was the price to be paid so to save them (Ex 33:3).

The life of Moses is an example in order to understand how Christ is the intercessors, asking the Lord to pardon the sins of many having the confidence that God is love and cannot forget the people he made as his own. Following the example of Christ many Christian people are also intercessors with God asking for the salvation of many.

David and the prayer of the king

David is presented as the shepherd of his people who prays for them and in their name. By submitting to God's will, by praising God, by asking for forgiveness, David is the model of a person in prayer, showing his total trust in God. In composing and praying some of the Psalms, David is a teacher of prayer for the many generation to come. Jesus Christ used to pray the psalms following the inspiration from David and up to today his prayers are also used now.

Elijah, the prophets and conversion of heart

There is sometimes the danger that prayer may become a mechanical way of praying without interest. It may become also a merely following of some ritual without putting the soul in it. This did happen also in the past. The people of Israel, in spite of all the instructions that they received from God and from the prophets, became more interested in external rituals and not in a form of prayer which springs from the heart. Elijah is one example of such prophets who calls people to conversion of heart. He speaks with God in the desert, he intercedes for the widows of Zarephath, he appears with Moses at the time of the Transfiguration of Jesus "talking with him", indicating their close relationship (Lk 9:30).

The prophets always called the people to conversion of heart. They stand always ready to listen to God and to relate to the people that God is faithful, kind, merciful and just preparing the way for the coming of Jesus, the man of prayer.

The Psalms, the prayer of the assembly

The Psalms are a collection of prayers which were used very much by the people of Israel in the Old Testament and have been preserved up till our time so to encourage us also to pray them. The psalms reflect on the greatness of God in creating the world; they glorify his name; they recall the promises of God in time of difficulties; they ask pardon from God for the sins committed; they give thanks for all his favours.

Mens Matters in Kiunga

Bishop Cote writes:

Over the past three years Bishop Gilles Côté assisted by Fr Philip Gibbs and other facilitators have conducted a week-long meeting with men representing all the parishes of the Daru-Kiunga Diocese in the Western Province. Previous seminars focused on the following topics:

"Men as fathers, providers, protectors and leaders" (Seminar 1)

"Sexuality, gender, violence and the true man" (Seminar 2)

"Masculine energy and men's inner life." (Seminar 3)

The fourth and most recent seminar took the theme - "Men building hope for the future".

The seminar started with reference to the Emmaus story (Luke 24: 13-35). The two disciples were hoping that Jesus would free them but they were in despair and confused. Their hope was destroyed with the death of Jesus. But Jesus came to them and they recognized him. Jesus filled them with new energy and they returned to Jerusalem. In many ways we are confused like the two Emmaus disciples. But with the hope that Jesus gives us we can be men who get truly involved in building a better future for everybody. We do not run away from our families and communities but as the Emmaus disciples did, we go back to them and give them life.

The men entered into the topic through personal reflection, group work and group reporting. What do we mean by "hope"? How would one express it in the local language? In the local Yomgom language the expression for hope literally means, "It will happen, it is true". What has been our best experience and our worst experience as a man? One man spoke about the time a good relationship was ruined by false stories, and another told how he spoke calmly to his son to get him to stop taking drugs and abusing alcohol. What forms of wisdom can men pass on to their sons and daughters? How can this be done for a better future? One group shared how they encourage people working in towns to encourage all students to "go home" to their place of origin during their school holidays. They older people can talk to them and help them have strength to face the difficulties of life.

The group looked at three major issues that affect everyone in the Western Province: the closure of the OK Tedi Mine, Sanguma, and the HIV epidemic. With the mine there are social issues arising because money is not well used. There are drugs, alcohol, marriage breakdown, land destruction, early pregnancies, loss of sago swamps and land. What message of hope can we give to our children? With men, money and movement, HIV

After four years of meeting at the diocesan headquarters the men have now decided to go the parish level and to train two teams so that they can conduct ten-day seminars in the parishes.

and AIDS continues to spread rapidly. The disease spreads rapidly when people are not happy in their marriage and have sex with many partners. How can we help people to have happier and more stable marriages? Some men spoke about how they themselves had been accused of being "sanguma" men. We need a strong spirituality to conquer fear of sanguma and to help others to do the same. Fight evil with good.

We spoke about happy and hopeful families and shared in groups how family discussion, listening to one another, planning together, family prayer and sharing responsibilities in the family all contribute to happier families. We talked about how for each man there is an "anima" or a female side to our soul. How do we experience this? How do we as men experience emotions? It doesn't mean that men have to become like women. However, we have to find a balance between our masculine and feminine energies and in that way too we find God. When we use male energy on its own we end up fighting. Feminine energy allows us to relate with compassion and to find a balance. We saw the example of David in the Old Testament. He could fight but he could also compose beautiful songs like the psalms. Too often the Church is a patriarchal church. The Daru-Kiunga diocese is trying to promote community and team work benefiting from men and women using their energies to participate together.

After four years of meeting at the diocesan headquarters the men have now decided to go the parish level and to train two teams so that they can conduct ten-day seminars in the parishes. In the meantime the parish representatives have committed themselves to form parish core groups and to organise other activities to help men get involved in Church activities. As one man put it in the seminar evaluation, "I hope to catch many fish!"

After the seminar the men launched the Movement of Men during the Golden Jubilee celebration of the diocese.

The need of a public forum

Bishop Cesare Bonivento PIME, writes,

An article recently published by the Post Courier "Scary HIV rate" on the front page has shocked the whole country. Even though the rate of 12% of HIV positive tested peoples in the WHP cannot be applied as a percentage to the whole country, it certainly indicates that in a few years time we have passed from a rate of less than 1% to a rate close to 10% in some regions.

The HIV is increasing at a much faster rate than anybody could have predicted in the past. It seems that the situation is simply out of hand.

How and why did it reach such a stage? Why is it that the strategy put in place some years ago did not work properly? Those in charge must give a satisfactory answer to the people.

Clearly something must be done as soon as possible. In my opinion the best thing to do is to reconsider the strategy that has been put in place so far.

Twenty years of fighting against HIV/AIDS is a time-span enough to evaluate the results we achieved and to focus on the necessary corrections.

In a democratic country like PNG, the Constitution allows 5 years to the Government to prove itself. After 5 years it gives the chance to the people to change the political leadership, if they think that it has been unfit to lead the country. Considering that the current strategy against HIV/AIDS has proved to be inefficient and even dangerous over the past 20 years, we must be ready to change whatever mistakes have been made.

This time we need great honesty and an open mind to do that. If anyone wants to defend at any cost the current strategy which gave special privilege to condoms in the fight against HIV over the past years, then there is no hope to reverse the situation, and the disaster will be irreparable.

I regret very much to refer to the editorial of The National July 3. It is an example of an attitude that we must avoid in order to evaluate with great honesty the current situation.

In that editorial The National expressed first of all the idea that condoms have been and are still the best way to fight HIV.

The National is free to believe that. But at the same time it has a moral obligation to inform the people about the many and recent scientific results which deny that. It is sufficient to recall the statement of Edward C. Green published by the Post Courier in March this year. Why is it that The National does not give any credit to those opposing condoms in the fight against HIV/AIDS, even though they produce all the necessary evidence to their statements?

Worse than this, The National, in order to convince readers that the use of condoms is the right way to fight HIV infection, says the Catholic Church itself is going to change its official teaching on the use of condoms.

As evidence, the writer says that the Pope ordered a new study of HIV. However to say that the Catholic Church is going to change its teaching on condoms, is a grave disinformation. Just three months ago Pope Benedict XVI made a public statement in Africa about the danger and the immorality of using condoms.

This statement angered so many peoples and institutions around the world that everybody very soon came to know that Benedict XVI has no intention at all to change the official teaching of the Catholic Church on condoms. Why is it that The National so insinuates the contrary?

In my opinion for the sake of PNG it is urgent to have a public and scientific debate about the right strategy to fight HIV infection. We need a forum free from ideology and honest in verifying the scientific results regarding the last two decades. The people have the right to know the truth.
