

Jack Douglass is appointed as assistant to the Chancellor in the area of minority affairs

March 5, 1969

The appointment of Jack Douglass as Assistant to the Chancellor in the area of minority affairs has been announced by University of California, San Diego Chancellor William McGill.

Mr. Douglass, 35, has been a staff member of the Department of Pediatrics in the UCSD School of Medicine and an assistant in the University Employment Office. Prior to coming to the UCSD campus in March, 1964, he served as a Senior Laboratory Technician at Gulf General Atomic.

In his new position, Douglass will work in the areas of minority employment, training, promotion, and employee relations. This will include increasing employment opportunities for minority and low income persons and intensifying in-service and external training programs which prepare minority persons for employment and promotions.

He will also counsel employees and supervisors in minority employment problems.

Douglass was born in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. He graduated from Pittsburgh Technical Institute and attended the University of Pittsburgh where he majored in education. He received a liberal arts degree from San Diego State College in 1964 and has done graduate work at San Diego State in the area of physiology of exercise.

He and his wife, Jaen, have three children: Steven, 6, Helen, 4, and Pamela, 3.
