SAVE OUR TURTLES

BACKGROUND:

The Mas Kagin Tapani group (henceforth Makata) is a new initiative, formed by Wenceslaus Magun, his community facilitators, advisory board and volunteers of the Sea Turtle Restoration Project in the Western Pacific region in 2009.

Mas Kagin Tapani means Sea Guardians in the local Bel or Takia languages in the Madang Province, Papua New Guinea (PNG). Makata is a new and exciting organization established to formally recognise efforts Wenceslaus Magun and his community facilitators and volunteers have been doing since June 2006 to protect and restore the declining population of the critically endangered leatherback turtles or (Dermochelys coriacea). It is also aimed at supporting their campaigns made to stop sea bed mining and sea tailings disposal in the Bismarck Solomon Seas.

The establishment of Makata emanates from the need to sustain the Sea Turtle Restoration Project (STRP) in the Western Pacific region from the Turtle Island Restoration Network based in California USA as a local NGO. Makata aims to continue its current programs in working with coastal communities in the Bismarck and Solomon Seas to restore and protect the critically endangered leatherback turtles and incorporate new goals and objectives as well based on community needs.

Under the previous arrangements, Mr Magun was contracted in June 2006 as the Western Pacific Campaigner for the Turtle Island Restoration Network (TIRN), a nonprofit organization incorporated in California. His contract with Turtle Island Restoration Network (TIRN) to help manage Makata will end in December 2009. It is therefore very crucial at this point for Wenceslaus to secure potential funding from alternative sources to sustain its programs in 2009 and beyond.

Under this contract, Mr Magun and his team have facilitated educational awareness programs, media campaigns, community development trainings, resource mapping, boundary surveys and assisted communities of Karkum, Mirap, Yadigam, Tokain, Magubem, and Kimadi in the north coast of Madang, to establish their locally managed marine areas (LMMAs). These campaign initiatives were aimed at establishing LMMAs using Conservation Deeds.

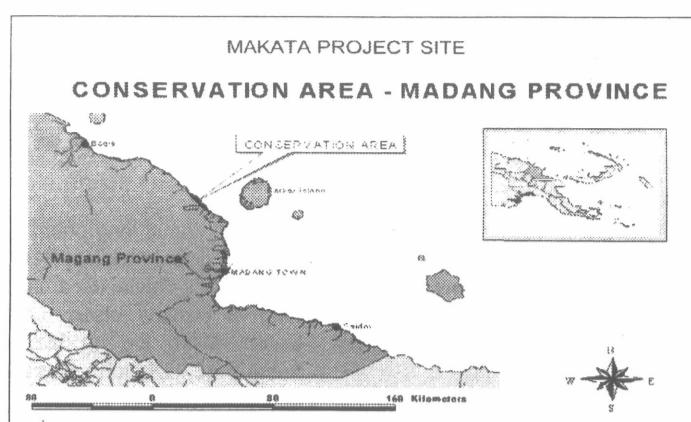

This initiative has seen Karkum village celebrated the launching of its Conservation Deed in 2008 after two years of campaign efforts by Mr Magun and his team of volunteers and community facilitators. (See Karkum Conservation Deed in www.seaturtles.org under campaigns).

Mr Magun believes that an informed and educated community will take active roles and be prudent guardians of their resources.

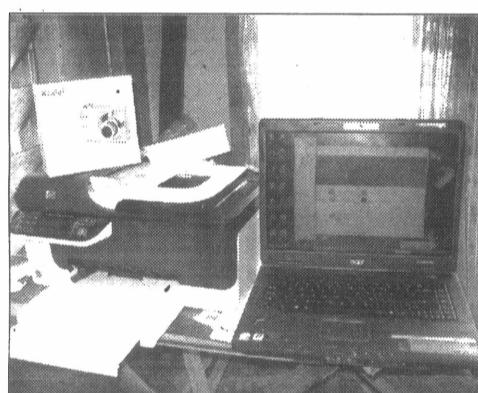

Mr Magun and his team are continuing their patrols to Mirap, Yadigam, Tokain, Magubem and Kimadi this year with the aim of enabling these communities to establish their LMMAs using conservation deeds. These villagers are now in the process of establishing conservation deeds through which they promise to protect sea turtles and their resources for 5 years.

Makata will continue trainings on other development and environmental issues affecting communities in order to motivate them to protect and use their resources to improve their lives.

These communities have so far been able to protect turtles that have come to nest on their beaches since Mr Magun initiated the sea turtle restoration project. Up till 2009 more than 200 turtles of which 10 have been leatherback turtles have been saved along the 40 kilometers stretch of the beach from Karkum to Kimadi (Sabente).

Karkum villagers help protect and release more than 80 leatherback hatchlings back to sea in June 2009 after embarking on the conservation project since 2006.

Makata aims to run a turtle tagging and monitoring program if given financial assistance. This training aims to give resource owners basic skills to tag and monitor the turtles and keep a record of the turtles that come to nest on their beaches.

Makata will continue to be responsible for the successful transformation of the mindset and attitude of villagers towards preserving the leatherback turtle species and all other species that face the threat of extinction in the Bismarck Solomon Seas.

Makata plans to extend to Rai Coast, Bogia, Karkar, Bagabag and Long Islands in Madang depending on funding support from donor agencies and through its own fund raising drives. Makata also recognises huge leatherback nesting sites in South New Britain and in Bougainville and have expressed interest to extend its programs there if invited by resource owners.

In addition to the turtle conservation efforts, Mr Magun and his team have assisted coastal communities in Madang to address the issue of sea bed mining proposed by Nautilus. They have helped sponsored a full page advertisement for the Bagabag Islanders in opposing sea bed mining.

Furthermore under Mr Magun's leadership a new civil society movement was formed called the Bismarck Solomon Seas Indigenous Peoples Council (BSSIPC).

The BSSIPC have released the Karkum, and Kuluk Statements and a Warden Hearing Statement at the Madang Provincial Government to stop Nautilus's plans to do sea bed mining.

He has published reports in the media to support the fight of these indigenous tribal communities to amplify their concerns and has gone on air to radio stations to speak out on these issues as well as that of the plight of the leatherback sea turtles.

With these experiences gained Mr Magun has established Makata with the aim to give opportunity to the indigenous peoples along the coastline and islands of Bismarck Solomon Seas to protect and restore the declining turtle populations especially that of the critically endangered leatherback turtles, and to address all other issues affecting their lives and their marine resources.

Makata intends to provide a direct voice to a growing population of the indigenous people across the region who have shared concerns relevant to their customary connections to the Bismarck Solomon Seas.

Makata is served by a seven-member Board of Directors. Makata has one full-time (Wenceslaus) and six part-time staff (Community Facilitators), and three pro-bono volunteers (lawyer, accountant, and GIS specialist).

Makata has recently received funding from WWF-Melanesia to help establish itself and conduct a social mapping exercise for Rai Coast in the Madang Province to determine the potential of extending its activities in that area. Makata is also supported by partner international, regional and local NGOs and government institutions including the South Pacific Regional Environment Program (SPREP).

Makata's campaigns highlight the root causes of environmental destruction, which often begin with lack of community control over resources and the inequitable distribution of power. We see the plight of these species not only as single-species environmental tragedies that need immediate attention, but as a vehicle for shifting the paradigm of how the human species views its relationships with the natural world.

While a key part of our work is to protect sea turtles, we grapple with root causes of threats to their existence, which often leads us to address global and community issues beyond the turtles themselves. For example, we have and will continue to partner with the Bismarck Solomon Seas Indigenous Peoples

Council to stop seabed mining and sea tailings disposal in the Bismarck Solomon Seas.

History:

Makata's efforts in PNG began when Turtle Island Restoration Network through its Sea Turtle Restoration Project hired consultant Wenceslaus in June 2006. As a result of our meetings with communities in the North Coast area of Madang Province the village of Karkum have signed their Conservation Deed in which the community will not kill or eat leatherbacks for 5 years and expressed interest in capacity building training. This Conservation Deed was done on 17th of November 2008. Read more on Karkum Villagers Sign Conservation Deed in www.seaturtles.org under campaigns, as Makata has still to establish its own website address.

The process formally commenced in March 2007 when about fifty indigenous clan leaders and villagers who had been elected by their communities to be STRP representatives met to support and participate in community development workshops. Wenceslaus facilitated these meetings which were supported by their community-based organization, Gildipasi. The process has engaged community members to work with their neighbors, and involves members of each local community, the Gildipasi Planning Committee, STRP, Duergo Community Development Association of Karkum and facilitators. Workshops in the different villages were conducted throughout the year.

From our site visits, we have heard from leaders and local people who are highly concerned about, and want to do something about the decline, not only in the number of sea turtles frequenting their beaches, but also in the entire fisheries resources. Through STRP's initial educational programs, they began to realize that they themselves had been and still are one of the causes of the decline. They are also aware of outside causes such as commercial fishing. Our goal was to guide them through a process to understand this issue and to develop action plans to move forward.

Our efforts in PNG are laying the groundwork for the longer-term aim of empowering local communities to manage their own resources and be a strong voice for conservation in the region.

Vision-Mission Statement:

Our vision:

Makata's vision of ensuring that the Bismarck Solomon Seas marine resources and its indigenous people remain healthy, safe and prosperous now and into the future drives the organization's work, and characterizes the projects that it cultivates.

Our Mission

- Strive to restore and protect the health and safety of the marine resources and its indigenous people as the voices of the voiceless indigenous coastal and island communities in the Bismarck Solomon Seas.

- Work with local communities to protect and restore the declining population of the critically endangered leatherback turtles and other endangered species by establishing locally managed marine areas using Conservation Deeds

- Follow the goals and directives of our constitution in ensuring equal opportunity of all citizens to participate in and benefit from the development of our country at all levels.

- Strive to be an informed indigenous peoples group committed to bring light of knowledge to inform, educate, empower and advise people to add to life on earth, not just take from it.

Goal:

- To ensure the sustainable management and use of our collective marine resources for current and future generations by:

- Adapting a successful community-based forest conservation area training process to marine conservation in Papua New Guinea;
- Facilitating communities in the establishment of locally-managed marine conservation areas;
- Adopting a model Marine Conservation Deed Trust and community plan of action to protect sea turtles and other marine resources.
- Defend, challenge and support the oceans and coastal people's rights in the face of large-scale industrial development, such as mining, industrial fishing, port building, and other mega-projects
- To ensure respect for and maintenance of indigenous people's cultural and traditional connections to the Bismarck Solomon Seas.
- To address risks posed to the resources of the Bismarck Solomon Seas by large-scale industrial activities including mining and fishing.
- To be an effective mechanism of civil society engagement in this region.

Major Accomplishments include:

- Organized local pressure in partnership with the Bismarck Solomon Seas Indigenous Peoples Council (civil society movement based in Madang), Turtle Island Restoration Network, Bismarck Ramu Group, Mineral Policy Institute of Australia, Professor Richard from the University of Alaska and the indigenous civil societies that resulted in Nautilus delaying its seabed mining operations.
- Successfully assisted Karkum villagers to establish their locally managed marine protected area by signing their conservation deed on 17th November 2008, to manage protect and sustainably use their marine resources for 5 years. We have achieved this milestone of achievement after working with this community for more than two years. We are continuing our work with Kimadi, Magubem, Tokain, Mirap and Yadigam to establish their CD hopefully by end of this year.
- Promoted Conservation Deed approach of establishing marine protected areas to save turtles at the 29th International Sea Turtle Symposium in Brisbane - Australia from the 17 to 19 of February 2009.
- Presented a paper: "Can direct conservation payments promote environmental conservation and livelihood enhancement in selected sites/circumstances?" at a meeting organized by CSIRO (Australia) at the Moreton Bay Research Station, Queensland-Australia from the 17th to 19th of June 2009 with the aim of finding a way forward to achieving the eight Millennium Development Goals through direct conservation payments to communities who promote environmental conservation.
- And other means which we will soon incorporate onto our website.
