

ZoBell selected to receive Distinguished Service Award

March 1, 1961

Claude E. ZoBell, Professor of Marine Microbiology, University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography, has been selected to receive a Distinguished Service Award from Utah State University, Logan, Utah. Dr. ZoBell received his B.S. degree from the University in 1927, his M.S. in 1929.

One of the world's leading marine microbiologists, Dr. ZoBell has been a member of the faculty of the Scripps Institution since 1932. He is one of seven persons to be honored at Utah State's Founders' Day Exercises on March 7. Dr. ZoBell will be unable to attend the ceremony.