UQ Programs - Noon to 1:15pm

Being Out in the Workplace: Is it for you? - HUB 265

Chris Schlarb, Arizona State University

This presentation will feature small group discussion to help participants learn the facts about LGBTQ employment discrimination. Participants will learn how to identify company and geographically friendly environments in a variety of industries and receive suggestions for self-marketing and workplace vocabulary. How will you decide whether to be out about your sexual and gender identity in the workplace?

Beyond Surviving: Students Moving From Religious Oppression to Queer Activism - HUB 379

Joshua Moon Johnson, UC Santa Barbara

This presentation shares the stories of Christian students in same-sex relationships as they encountered isolation, hate crimes, distress, and then a passion for social justice. This presentation is filled with intense challenges; moreover, they are also filled with triumph, self-realizations, community building, and the development of powerful leaders. This presentation will enlighten campus leaders and equip them with resources to support students encountering hostile campuses.

Creating Trans-Inclusive College Campuses - HUB 367

Nancy Jean Tubbs, UC Riverside

What policies, procedures, programs and resources have we developed on college campuses to create a safe learning and working environment for Trans* people? Join this discussion and strategizing session and share our best practices related to housing, health insurance, preferred name and gender information systems, educational trainings, and cultural programming.

The Experiences of LGBTQ Student-Athletes in the NCAA - HUB 355

Sue Rankin, The Pennsylvania State University

The settings of college campuses have improved for LGBTQ students over the years. One group routinely missing from studies are student-athletes. This program will review the findings from the Student-Athlete Climate Study (SACS) focusing on the experiences of over 8,000 student-athletes representing all three NCAA divisions and sports. Specifically, the program will focus on the experiences of the 401 self-identified LGBTQ student-athletes and how the climate (campus, departmental, team) influences their identity, academic success, and athletic success.

Let's Talk About It: A Roundtable on LGBTQ Identities and Contemporary Queer Culture - HUB 269

Lysander Valenzuela, CSULA

What's going on in the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, and Straight Ally communities of color? Do you have strong opinions about pressing issues in the Queer culture of today's society? Have we come a long way or do we have a long way to go? Join this safe and welcoming environment as we ponder current LGBTQ hot topics such as intersecting identities, media representation, coming out, bullying, same-sex marriage, allies, etc.

Not Myth but Mithli: Queer Invisibility in the Greater Middle East - HUB 260

Megan Awwad, Adrian Cotta, Affaf Waseem, Jo Montoya, UC Riverside

Our workshop shall focus on breaking down the stereotype that variant sexuality does not exist inherently in North Africa, The Middle East, The Subcontinent, or neighboring countries. We argue that there are many ways that sexual cultures can exist that do not conform to a Western model of sexuality. We will explore different expressions of variant sexuality and gender nonconformity within the stated geoethnic boundaries and its role in the changing understanding of queer theory in modern discourse.

Undocumented Queer People

HUB 269

UQ Programs – 1:30pm to 2:45pm

Beyond Binaries: Supporting Bisexual, Pansexual, Fluid, and Queer (BPFQ) Identified Students – HUB 367

Nancy Tubbs, UC Riverside

This session will highlight recent research by Saby Labor exploring the untold stories central to bisexual, pansexual, fluid, and queer (BPFQ) sexual identities at a public four-year university. We will share emergent themes, implications for campus climate, and recommendations for programs and support services.

Creating Community and Best Practices for Queer Students of Color – HUB 269

Tam Welch, UC Santa Cruz

Join fellow LGBT professionals and student leaders for an honest and practical discussion to identify strategies to enhance community, resources and programs for queer students of color on college campuses. Come with your best practices, your challenges, your hopes and/or your creative spirit for networking and an opportunity to make recommendations to be reported out.

Downsizing Campus Queer Resource Centers – HUB 260

Deb Abbott, UC Santa Cruz

This workshop is designed to be a conversation about the trend of downsizing and subsuming GLBTIQ resource centers. Let's talk about how budget cuts and administrative 'reorganizations' are negatively impacting our respective resource centers. We'll strategize keeping queer campus resource centers strong, intact, fully staffed, and thriving.

LGBTQ Student Organization Roundtable – HUB 355

Caitlin Harrington, UC Riverside

What challenges and triumphs have our LGBTQIA student organizations experienced this year? This space for students allows us to share programs and projects, as well as obstacles and frustrations on campus. Let's share new ideas and strategies.

Queer Youth Mentoring/Outreach – HUB 379

Julie-Ann Le & Alex Iling, UC Riverside and Rainbow Pride Youth Alliance

"It gets better" is the phrase that is commonly used in videos to encourage queer youth to survive high school bullying and to avoid self-harm. But how can we help LGBTQ youth beyond a video campaign? This workshop will include information on Rainbow Pride Youth Alliance's Q-Camp and provide a space for college student leaders to share ideas on reaching out to GSA's and individual queer youth.

T-Camp: An InterCampus Retreat for Trans/Genderqueer and Gender Questioning Students – HUB 265

Abrahán Bernal Monzón, CSU Fullerton & Sy Simms, UC San Diego

In January 2013, 52 college students from 20 campuses experienced the 2nd annual T-Camp. Joined by 15 staff facilitators and community guests, T-Camp created courageous space regarding gender identity and expression and other diverse experiences over three days in the San Bernardino mountains. If you are interested in attending T-Camp 2014 or if you are a T-Camp alum, please join us for a discussion of the T-Camp experience.

UCR Alumni Organizing Meeting – HUB 268

Vincent Cervantes, UC Riverside '10

Former UCR students and any Highlander supporters are invited to attend this meeting to organize an active UC Riverside Pride Alumni group. We will share ideas on reaching out to other former students and ways to give back to current UCR students and campus resources.

Lobby Day 2013

Register at: <http://2013lobbyday.eventbrite.com/#>

Sunday, February 10th, 2013
& Monday, February 11th, 2013

Join over 500 health professional students on the California State Capitol doorsteps and learn how to effectively advocate for healthcare justice!

Healthcare is a Human Right!

Schedule of Events

February 10th Training Day: This is a day of education through presentations by, and discussions with, student leaders, healthcare providers, public officials, and health policy experts. Our goal will be working towards the provision of an effective and just healthcare delivery system.

February 11th Lobby Day: The day of ACTION! We kick off with a march through Sacramento, leading to an energetic rally on the Capitol doorsteps, and an afternoon of meetings with elected officials with your well-prepared legislative team!

What is Lobby Day?

This exciting and dynamic conference will educate you on Single Payer Healthcare and the California Universal Healthcare Act, CA Senate Bill 810 (SB 810). Hear and discuss what SB 810 will provide for future patients and future health care providers, and how exactly it will improve the health and finances of all Californians.

Attendees will also be educated about the recent passage of healthcare reform, the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (PPACA). Although PPACA does some good, it does not go far enough at solving the United States' healthcare crisis. Even after all is said and done under PPACA around 23 million Americans will continue to be uninsured, and millions more who will be underinsured. As future health care professionals, we must stand up for our patients' rights!

Black History Month: Student Panel

*(sic) on all the masculine pronouns used in the image. Replace with "their" and "them."

This Gender Buffet will consist of a panel of Black and Mixed Race-identified students speaking on their campus experiences, work, and anything else that comes up. Like cat memes.

This is a "no questions are stupid questions" panel but please respect that these students are volunteering their time and energy to do exhausting work of educating others so that we may all grow and learn.

Caffeine and junk food will be served.

I Am

Hair

Thursday, February 28
6:30 pm
Women's Center

Join us for a thought provoking discussion about hair politics. One way of embracing diversity is through understanding that people have differing values on the presence or absence of hair. This discussion aims to challenge dominant concepts of beauty and body image through a gendered lens. Come share your thoughts on the significance of hair in our lives and how it affects our identities. Dialogue with others over dinner! This event is part of our quarterly F-Word Dining and Dialogue Series.

Refreshments will be served. RSVP to women@ucsd.edu
