Say My Name

In a hip hop and R&B world dominated by men and noted for misogyny, the unstoppable female lyricists of "Say My Name" speak candidly about class, race, and gender in pursuing their passions as female MCs. This worldwide documentary takes viewers on a vibrant tour of urban culture and musical movement, from hip hop's birthplace in the Bronx, to grime on London's Eastside, to Philly, Detroit, Chicago, Atlanta, and L.A., and points in between.

Black Indians: An American Story

"Black Indians: An American Story" brings to light a forgotten part of Americans past the cultural and racial fusion of Native and African Americans. Narrated by James Earl Jones, "Black Indians: An American Story" explores what brought the two groups together, what drove them apart and the challenges they face today.

American Promise

American Promise provides a rare look into the lives of two middle class black families as they navigate the ups and down of parenting and educating their sons. The goal of the film and project is to empower boys, their parents, and educators to help close the Black male achievement gap

RESOURCE CENTER

OPEN HOUSE

Weds | February 5th | 11:30-1:30 pm

Maybe you've always meant to stop by, or maybe you haven't been in years or maybe you are one of our regulars... All are welcome to stop by our Open House.

Meet the staff, check out our offerings and reconnect with UC San Diego's LGBT Resource Center.

The LGBT Resource Center is located in between Mandeville Center and the Original Student Center, and we are on the top floor.

The LGBT Resource Center is committed to making our space accessible for anyone that enters our communities' program, events, and space. If you require specific accommodations, please contact us at (858) 822-3493.

Practicing Feminist, Queer, Crip

Talk by Alison Kafer

Department of Feminist Studies
Southwestern University

Wednesday, February 5, 2014
LGBT Resource Center Conference Room
UC San Diego
4:00-5:30pm

Alison Kafer is Associate Professor and Chair of the Department of Feminist Studies at Southwestern University and the author of Feminist Queer Crip (Indiana University Press), a path breaking book that links the three elements of her title in an interrogation of alternate futurities and the intersection of genders, sexualities, and abilities. A former Ed Roberts Fellow at UC Berkeley, she has written extensively about disability and gender issues, and her work has been published in important collections such as Sex and Disability (Duke University Press), Feminist Disability Studies (Indiana University Press), That's Revolting: Queer Strategies for Resisting Assimilation (Soft Skull Press), and Gendering Disability (Rutgers University Press), among others.

Anyone needing special accommodations, directions to the LGBT Resource Center, or information about this talk should contact Michael Davidson (mdavidson@ucsd.edu).

Co-sponsored by the Department of Literature,
The Department of Communication, the Critical Gender Studies Program,
the LGBT Resource Center, and the International Life Fund
