NEW WRITING SERIES WINTER SCHEDULE

CALENDAR AND ARTS EDITORS:

The following is a list of New Writing Series events for the winter quarter at the University of California, San Diego. All of the readings/performances are free and open to the public. The series, in which poets and writers read from and discuss their own work, is sponsored by the Archive for New Poetry at UCSD.

All of the readings will be held in the Revelle Formal Lounge on Revelle campus at UCSD beginning at 4:30 p.m. The public is welcome and admission is free.

February 1: Jerome Rothenberg, UCSD anthologist and poet, and Bert Turetzky, UCSD contrabassist will give a reading performance.

February 8: Norma Cole, author of "Mace Hill Camp," will read from her work.

February 15: Tom Raworth, poet and publisher, will read from his work.

February 22: New York Poet Clark Coolidge will read from his work. March 1: New York Poet Alan Davies will read from his work.

March 8: Connecticut poet Maureen Owen will read from her work.

March 15: Robert Gluck of San Francisco, novelist, political activist, and author of "Jack the Modernist," will read from his work.
