

Phleger named an Honorary Research Fellow of the National University of Mexico

March 17, 1961

Fred B. Phleger, Professor of Oceanography at the University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography, has been named an Honorary Research Fellow of the Institute of Geology of the National University of Mexico.

Dr. Phleger has worked with scientists from the Institute of Geology for several years, consulting with them particularly in their plans for establishing a new Mexican marine station.