SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS MAY AID EDUCATION

If you are a full-time, unmarried student between age 18 and 22 you may be eligible to receive social security benefits under a recent change in the law. This will help some 300,000 students continue their educations.

If you were getting benefits on either of your parents' social security accounts, and those benefits were stopped when you reached age 18, you may be able to start getting benefits again. You must have been a full-time, unmarried student under age 22. Payments may be made for months back to January, 1965.

If you were already 18 or over when one of your parents became entitled to old-age or disability insurance benefits or died, but you were not yet 22 in January, 1965, you may be eligible for payments now if you were in full-time school attendance and unmarried.

If you are receiving social security benefits, are approaching your 18th birthday, and are still a full-time student, you should get in touch with your social security district office to see about having your benefits continued.

If you qualify for benefits under the new law you should check with your social security office at once. An application for benefits must be filed by students over age 18, or their parent, before payment can be made. If you have never before filed for benefits, take with you your own and your parents' social security account numbers and your birth certificate.

Your social security office is located at 3211 - 5th Avenue, San Diego. The phone number is 293-5550.

NOTES ON ARTS AND LECTURES - by Noal

This column was started early last year to announce and comment on forth-coming "cultural" events (lectures, shows, drama, music, film, etc.), and to later "review" those events critically for the few (?) students who were unable to attend.

But being easily incited to euphoric enthusiasms and ravening rages, an occasional column got pretty far afield of Arts and Lectures. We hope the Editor will continue to allow us the same latitude--especially today. For we want to talk about the toughest job on campus.

There are some jobs in this world that simply do not elicit the customer's appreciation or applause. These usually involve "services" that are normally taken for granted, that only catch our attention when something has gone wrong, and then we are incensed. Success in such a job is measured in how few the gripes and how low their intensity. The Registrar in a University holds such a job, and it's never tougher than during registration week.

The ease with which we sailed through registration would not be apparent to those who have never registered for college elsewhere, but you might try this: Check with friends who go to other colleges and casually ask them how many cards they had to fill out; how many times they had to repeat writing in their name and address; how long it took them to fill out their cards; how long the whole process took, and how many classes were "closed out" so they couldn't take required subjects. Compare the answers with your own experience, and we guarantee you will be amazed. In some spot checks we made, the ratio was as high as ten to one.

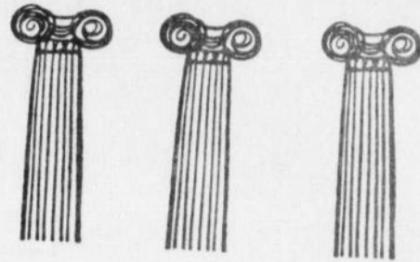

It's true we had some trouble arriving at a "finalized" schedule of classes, but we suspect that was a condition imposed on, rather than created by, the office of the Registrar. At UCSD, the Registrar works for the school - and not vice versa. Overheard recently on campus: "Educational policy at UCSD is NOT formulated on the basis of how easy or difficult it will be to administer, but on how good it is educationally." May it ever be thus!

But may we also always have an Office of the Registrar as hardworking, competent, and dedicated as this one. To Mr. John Brown and his excellent staff, many thanks.

PLACEMENT BULLETIN

Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company will have a recruiting officer on campus October 11, 1965, for the purpose of interviewing graduate students in the fields of Physics and Chemistry for employment in the "3M Company"

Brochures describing the career opportunities, summaries of selected technical papers written by members of the 3M Company, and other related material are available in the Career Placement Office. Please contact Maxine Baily at extension 1328 if you are interested in obtaining copies of this material or to make an appointment to talk to the 3M recruiter.

THE PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

Ever since your first decision to attend UCSD, you've been hearing about the many opportunities available to students. Now you can begin to take advantage of these opportunities.

Classes have begun and you will soon understand why UCSD is academically outstanding. The teachers here are top figures in the educational field. Also, the curriculum is designed in such a way as to take advantage of the small campus atmosphere. Personal attention is a basic part of the UCSD educational philosophy.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Complimenting the academic program there is a broad extra-curricular program which is just beginning to develop. The skeleton of the AS government is formed and functioning. We now need to fill it in with body giving the working strength necessary to carry out all student government functions.

There are many opportunities available to new students interested in student government. Under the present organization many committees necessary for smooth operation of AS functions have been formed. Many of these are not yet filled with members. Most are connected with the Executive body. This is the most active branch of student government. It concerns itself with social activities, sports, student publications, school service, school spirit and traditions, student finances, student housing and many other phases. The executive branch carries out actions approved by the ASUCSD Senate, the student legislative body. Other areas of interest include Judicial committees, freshman and junior Senate representatives, and freshman class officers.

Student government at UCSD has proven itself already as an asset to students, faculty and administration. Last year the voices of the students themselves, student leaders and representatives were influential in much of the planning and development of UCSD. Even before classes started last September, students were organizing and assisting the administration in its efforts. Example: Student-Faculty communications (Freshman bulletin); also, help with Welcome Day activities. Also, last year student suggestions led to helpful changes in curriculum. Those of you who are freshmen are now enjoying the benefits of last year's suggestions. We, as students, are proud of the UCSD and its record of accomplishments.

CLUBS AND ORGANIZATIONS

Most students are interested in some type of special interest club or service organization. Such clubs have been planned through the Associated Students and the Dean of Student Affairs Office. Clubs now in existence include a school service club, skin-diving club, surfing club, Spanish club, skiing club, Newman club, math-computer club, pre-med club and several off-campus social clubs. New clubs are both welcomed and encouraged.

DRAMA, ART, MUSIC

One of the most important parts of campus life involves campus participation in dramatics, music and creative arts. Previously, UCSD has had too small a student body to allow for sufficient involvement in such activity. Students both new and old, have mentioned the lack of student pep bands, orchestras, plays etc. Let us do something about this!

Now the channels are open for these groups. The Second College of Liberal Arts is sponsoring a drama workshop beginning this quarter which will expose students to theatre arts. Students can now enroll in a class in the creative arts which includes painting, sculpture, mosaics art design and various other art forms. Instruction is basic and designed for anyone interested in art. Talent is not required, only a desire to learn the basics and develop appreciation. Students interested in music, from small bands or quartets to orchestras and marching bands, also have the opportunity to get started with professional and expert advisors.

INVITATION TO ORGANIZE

On Friday, October 8 at 3:00 there will be a meeting for all students interested in getting active in any type of organization - AS government, special interest clubs, freshman class government, drama, artistic or musical groups. At this meeting we will hope to answer all your questions about student activities and explain to you the functioning of AS government. The meeting will be held in the Humanities/Library Auditorium. Everyone should be in attendance. If you can't make it on time due to a 3:00 class, try to make it by 4:00 to sign up for above mentioned groups.

RACE FOR MARSHALLS IS ON

From all over the Western States the brightest college students are sending in their applications for Marshall Scholarships, the highest awards any American can win to a British University.

This year, the smaller colleges, encouraged by recent successes, are providing more applicants than ever before.

The main attractions of the awards, apart from the obvious one of a two-year stay in Britain are:

- (1) They are open to both men and women, married or single;
- (2) All expenses are paid, including round-trip fares, tuition and living allowance;
- (3) Students may study any subject, at any university in Britain.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens, and graduates of a U.S. college, (seniors may apply).

The application deadline for the 1966-68 awards is October 22nd, - only three weeks away.

Application forms are available from the campus scholarship adviser, the nearest British Consulate, or:

MISCELLANEOUS RAMBLINGS

It seems like the busiest time of the school year for a newspaper editor is the first month. After several weeks everything hopefully falls into order. Right now, of course, everything is slightly this side of chaos. But bear with me for another week or so and I will promise you a much more interesting and exciting publication than last year's Sandscript.

For one thing, the printing of Sandscript will soon be carried off campus. In addition to increased economy, this will give the newspaper a new, more conventional physical format. The content will still be governed by the philosophy that Sandscript exists as an open forum for ideas, comments, and criticisms from and concerning all corners of the campus. The "Letters to the Editor" column has been re-established, but no one has any complaints yet (unfortunately). Let me compliment the faculty and administration on their perfect job of making every student warm, content, comfortable and happy. What is it they say about bliss?

Don't be so quiet, students. There are so many things I want to talk about editorially. My job as editor is very frustrating because it forces me to choose one or two things to "comment upon" out of ten or twelve things on my mind.

For instance, there is the very recent (so recent nobody knows about it) problem of the Associated Students of UCSD versus the Associated Students of Revelle College. There is, however, no sense in talking about this if no one is aware of the situation at hand. If you care about who is handling your affairs, come to the meeting at 7:00 p. m., Monday, October 11 in the Humanities/Library Auditorium.

There is also the problem of the Dormitory Government, its scope and use as an "identifying structure" Briefly, and in preview of a later editorial, I feel that Dorm organization must strictly be confined to the internal administration of the on campus living groups. Another editorial will concern itself with "Fraternities and Sororities - are there or aren't there?" Then of course there are always "trivials" like parking and dorm regulations. For example, in the dorms there might as well be "visiting hours" for male students in female suites - of course they are having more fun this way. . .

Also, by way of casual comment, let me say that the UCSD student body hasn't shown enough sharp edges yet.

Yours for a better UCSD,
Mark Hinderaker, Editor

SUBMARINE RACES MOVED TO THE LA JOLLA AREA IN HONOR OF UCSD'S FRESHMEN GIRLS

Watching the late-evening (8 p. m. to midnite) submarine races off Point Loma has long been a favorite spectator sport among San Diego's college set.

For the next four weeks, officials have agreed to move the site of the races from Point Loma to the waters right off UCSD's lower campus in honor of UCSD's Freshman girls.

The official US Navy communique responding to SANDSCRIPT's inquiry said: "We would be most happy to conduct any submarine races we are likely to have during the next four weeks off the La Jolla-Del Mar coast; and we would certainly be happy to honor UCSD's young ladies."

The best seating available for viewing these events is in cars parked in the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries* parking lots (by UCSD permit only). (Please leave President Baker's reserved spon vacant.)

All Freshman girls are urged to acknowledge this honor by attending at least one of the races. Those unfamiliar with the technicalities and procedures of the races are advised to attend in the company of a male Sophomore, each of whom is well experienced in this sport.

Specific race entries, starting time of each heat, and other particulars will be posted at a later date; or they can be obtained from any Sophomore at the scene.

THE TROJAN WOMEN
Presented Tonight

The New York production of Euripides' powerful anti-war play, The Trojan Women, will be presented in a single performance at 8:30 p. m. Thursday, October 7, in Sherwood Hall, La Jolla. The tragedy, winner of the New York Drama Critics Circle Award, is the first public event of the fall season sponsored by the Committee for Arts and Lectures of the University of California, San Diego

Reserved seating for the single performance is $4.00 for general admission and $2.00 for UCSD students.

First produced on the Athenian stage in 416 B. C. The Trojan Women was written as a protest against the cruelties of war, and has come down through the centuries as one of the great tragedies in the literature of world drama. The current production is a majestic new translation by Edith Hamilton which is true to the original spirit, while remaining pliable to the demands of the modern stage.

Included in the west-coast tour are members of the original award-winning New York cast of the Circle in the Square Theatre.

Martin Bernheimer, in The Christian Science Monitor, wrote, "Rarely has tragedy been presented with such unity of style, such economy of means, and such cumulative impact. A stunning theatrical experience." Howard Taubman, writing in The New York Times, called the production, "A towering, anguished masterpiece."

The production will be brought to La Jolla as part of the University of California Intercampus Cultural Exchange Program after two performances in Wheeler Auditorium on the Berkeley

SANDSCRIPT MEETING TUESDAY

Sandscript is expanding its staff!! There will be a meeting at 4:00 p.m., Tuesday, October 12 in the lounge of Meteor Hall. Please attend if you are interested.

DEARLY DEPORTED

Sandscript joins all of UCSD in deepest mourning for Big Sigrainwater and Still Bobwell, Revelle College sophomores, who were both shot in the backs when running from campus police on a nearby campus. Sigrainwater and Bobwell, (sob, sob) were nearly trying to borrow a large doorbell from the small private college.

Big and Still have many friends on the San Diego State campus. Rest in peace, boys.

Moral: Take campus police cerealously.
