

COMMUNICATION GAP

Everyone here and every where else is of value to me personally.

We are joined by a common environment.

Everything you do affects me personally.

Everything I do affects you personally.

There is an alienation and communication crisis everywhere now and especially here in our department.

If You write a memo to someone, it is ignored, forgotten, disregarded, undelivered, distorted, or generally abused.

If You give someone information verbally, the same things occur.

The results of this are usually insulting or just plain dumb.

Do you wish to address yourself to this problem?

Do you think that emergency solutions to everyone's wishes or desires, ~~WITHOUT~~ treating the basic problem which is lack of direct communication and concern for the environment which acts upon us and shapes our lives is a breakdown in an ineffective system?

How can we eliminate buck-passing, evasiveness and disregard of human rights?

The alternatives are: Accept the system, change the system, or drop out of the system; otherwise we will continue to hurt each other and generally make an irreversable mess.

You are effective.
