

Books donated to Friends of UCSD Library by San Diegans

April 3, 1963

The beginning of a collection of books written by San Diegans was announced today by Roy L. Kidman, Acting University Librarian, University of California, San Diego.

The books were a gift to the Library by the recently-organized Friends of the UCSD Library.

Mrs. John Cole gave seven books by La Jollan Max Miller. They are "I Cover the Waterfront," "The Beginning of a Mortal," "For the Sake of Shadows" (first edition), "The Man on the Barge," "A Stranger Came to Port," "The Far Shore," and "No Matter What Happens."

Mrs. Russell Raitt, Chairman of the Friends of the UCSD Library, donated Booth Vandercook's "The Long Lane," Bernard Francis Ederer's "Birch Coulie," Carol Brink's "Chateau Saint Barnabe." Lee Shippey's "The Luckiest Man Alive," and copies of both the American and Japanese editions of her own "Exploring the Deep Pacific."

Richard Pourade has agreed to serve as Chairman of the San Diego Authors Committee of the organization.

Mrs. Raitt says that during the first month of its existence, the Friends group has arranged for the donation of more than 400 books to the UCSD Library. The books cover a wide range of topics, including fiction and the arts.
