Apply for the Traub-Dicker Rainbow Scholarship! Deadline to apply is June 27!

TDRS was established in 2004 to encourage and support women-identified lesbians in their quest for higher education to help meet the student's financial needs. The TDRS provides scholarships to women-identified lesbians from two categories: graduating high school students who plan on attending a recognized college or university in the United States, or already-matriculated college students in any year of study, including graduate school. The scholarship will be used for tuition to a nonprofit college or university, and is paid directly to the recipient's school. Multiple scholarships between $1,500 and $3,000 will be awarded in early summer 2018 and are non-renewable.

DEI
Requirement

Fulfill your Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion requirement with a Latin American Studies class!

LATI 10 Reading North by South: Latin American Studies and the US Liberation Movements

The purpose of this class is to study the multilayered relations between Latin American Studies and US Liberation movements, particularly Third World movements, the Chicano Movement, the Black Liberation Movement, the Indigenous Movement, Human Rights activism, and Trans-border activism.

In this class students will be exposed to a more nuanced and rich understanding of social movements, identity formation, and political culture on both sides of the hemisphere. Without disregarding relations of domination between the US government and Latin American states, the class will focus on the often ignored dialogue between social activists, academics, and other members of civil society that occur "from below" on both sides of the border.

Check out this course!

CGS 113: GENDER & SEXUALITY IN THE ARTS

Professor Patrick Anderson
Summer Session I, July 2 - August 4

STONEWALL RIOTS

QUEER BARS: A PLACE OF REFUGE

The 1960s and preceding decades were not welcoming times for lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender (LGBT) Americans. For instance, solicitation of homosexual relations was illegal in New York City, and there was a criminal statute that allowed police to arrest people wearing less than three gender-appropriate articles of clothing.

For such reasons, LGBT individuals flocked to gay bars and clubs, places of refuge where they could express themselves openly and socialize without worry. However, the New York State Liquor Authority penalized and shut down establishments that served alcohol to known or suspected LGBT individuals, arguing that the mere gathering of homosexuals was “disorderly.”

Thanks to activists’ efforts, these regulations were overturned in 1966, and LGBT patrons could now be served alcohol. But engaging in gay behavior in public (holding hands, kissing, or dancing with someone of the same sex) was still illegal, so police harassment of gay bars continued and many bars still operated without liquor licenses—in part because they were owned by the Mafia.

STONEWALL RIOTS

STONEWALL INN

Stonewall Inn was registered as a type of private “bottle bar,” which did not require a liquor license because patrons were supposed to bring their own liquor. Club attendees had to sign their names in a book upon entry to maintain the club’s false exclusivity. The Genovese family bribed New York’s Sixth Police Precinct to ignore the activities occurring within the club.

Without police interference, the crime family could cut costs how they saw fit: The club lacked a fire exit, running water behind the bar to wash glasses, clean toilets that didn’t routinely overflow, and palatable drinks that weren’t watered down beyond recognition. What’s more, the Mafia reportedly blackmailed the club’s wealthier patrons who wanted to keep their sexuality a secret.

Nonetheless, Stonewall Inn quickly became an important Greenwich Village institution. It was large and relatively cheap to enter. It welcomed drag queens, who received a bitter reception at other gay bars and clubs. It was a nightly home for many runaways and homeless gay youths, who panhandled or shoplifted to afford the entry fee. And it was one of the few—if not the only—gay bar left that allowed dancing.

STONEWALL RIOTS

STONEWALL RIOTS BEGIN

When police raided Stonewall Inn on the morning of June 28, it came as a surprise—the bar wasn't tipped off this time.

Fed up with constant police harassment and social discrimination, angry patrons and neighborhood residents hung around outside of the bar rather than disperse, becoming increasingly agitated as the events unfolded and people were aggressively handled. At one point, an officer hit a lesbian over the head as he forced her into the paddy wagon — she shouted to onlookers to act, inciting the crowd to begin throw pennies, bottles, cobble stones, and other objects at the police.

Within minutes, a full-blown riot involving hundreds of people began. The police, a few prisoners, and a Village Voice writer barricaded themselves in the bar, which the mob attempted to set on fire after breaching the barricade repeatedly. Though the Stonewall uprising didn't start the gay rights movement, it was a galvanizing force for LGBT political activism, leading to numerous gay rights organizations, including the Gay Liberation Front, Human Rights Campaign, GLAAD (formerly Gay and Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation), and PFLAG (formerly Parents, Families and Friends of Lesbians and Gays).

LGBT+ Community Events

Apply for the Traub-Dicker Rainbow Scholarship! Deadline to apply is June 27!

TDRS was established in 2004 to encourage and support women-identified lesbians in their quest for higher education to help meet the student's financial needs. The TDRS provides scholarships to women-identified lesbians from two categories: graduating high school students who plan on attending a recognized college or university in the United States, or already-matriculated college students in any year of study, including graduate school. The scholarship will be used for tuition to a nonprofit college or university, and is paid directly to the recipient's school. Multiple scholarships between $1,500 and $3,000 will be awarded in early summer 2018 and are non-renewable.

Requirement

Fulfill your Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion requirement with a Latin American Studies class!

LATI 10: Reading North by South: Latin American Studies and the US Liberation Movements

The purpose of this class is to study the multilayered relations between Latin American Studies and US Liberation movements, particularly Third World movements, the Chicano Movement, the Black Liberation Movement, the Indigenous Movement, Human Rights activism, and Trans-border activism.

In this class students will be exposed to a more nuanced and rich understanding of social movements, identity formation, and political culture on both sides of the hemisphere. Without disregarding relations of domination between the US government and Latin American states, the class will focus on the often ignored dialogue between social activists, academics, and other members of civil society that occur "from below" on both sides of the border.

Check out this course!

Thank you to our donors

Due to the generosity of so many, including Dr. Daniel Lee, Class of '95, who donated $2,500 to match all of the gifts received - we raised $5,550 for this year's event. A special thanks to Dr. Lee, and to all who gave, including those who gave $50 and above: Agustín Orozco, Anthony King, Arpi Minassian, Dr. Chris Mathews, Claire Adida, Conor McLaughlin, Dr. Davey Smith, Derrick Pena, Dr. Edwina Welch, eeman agrama minert, Hayley Weddle, Jaime Lopez-Miramontes, Jason Thibodeaux, Jim Cooke and Lisa McDonnell, John Duca, Julia Dunlap, Kafele Khalfani, Kate Trulock, Laramie Smith, Laurie Smith, Mary and Peper Anan, Matt Bielich & Wes Backous, Matthew Vanderbilt, Rafael Colonna, Ray Rodriguez, Sharon Van Bruggen, Susan McQuillen, Susanna Concha-Garcia, and Windi Sasaki.

Also, a huge thank you to Dave Gubser and Richard Lieboff for their ongoing support of leadership development in our undergraduate internship program. Their continued gifts make so much of our work possible.

From our LGBTQIA+ Scholarship Committee

From our LGBTQIA+ Scholarship Committee - which for 2018 included Arun Kumar, Faculty in Computer Science and Engineering; Fnann Keflezighi, Assistant Director of Marshall Residence Life; Jesus Sanchez, Alumni Engagement Manager; Ronise Xenon, IT Policy Coordinator; and Mary Tregoning, Director of Revelle Residence Life - a special thank you to all the students who took the time, effort and energy to submit applications. The scholarship essays were powerful and an honor to read and review. The decisions were difficult and the committee was humbled by the incredible LGBTQIA+ students at UC San Diego. You were all deserving!

Special Thanks to

The UC San Diego Alumni office, Critical Gender Studies, the Intertribal Resource Center, Women's Center, Cross-Cultural Center, Black Resource Center, Asian Pacific Islander Middle Eastern Desi American Programs and Services, Raza Resource Centro, the Office of the Vice Chancellor for Equity, Diversity and Inclusion, the Chancellor's Advisory Committee on Gender Identity and Sexual Orientation Issues, Kafele Khalfani - the chair of the LGBT Resource Center Advisory Board and all Board members, Jesus Sanchez, Erica Lo, the 2018-2019 LGBT Resource Center interns, Jodie Lim for the program design, Gavin Granitto for all logistics, all current interns and student leaders, staff leaders, and volunteers. And finally, thanks to all the fabulous, graduating students. Your contributions to the UC San Diego LGBTQIA+ community have made it what it is!

good luck! you make us proud
