OFFICE OF HIGHER EDUCATION ANNOUNCEMENT ENROLMENT AT PAPUA NEW GUINEA'S 39 DECLARED INSTITUTIONS OF HIGHER EDUCATION IN 2009

22nd January 2009

This announcement is intended for the general public about opportunities for college experience in the 39 declared institutions of higher education and academic and training programs on offer that are recognized by the government through the PNG Commission for Higher Education (PNGCHE). Twenty one of the institutions are also recognized by the Education Board and the Medical Board.

Declared institutions of higher education include universities and two year colleges that are either fully or partially funded by the national government through the Annual Budget Appropriations. Funding is through direct transfers to the six universities and statutory institutions, through the Office of Higher Education or through Education Department and the Health Department in case of the 21 two year colleges under the Education Board and the Medical Board.

The PNG higher education is governed by the Higher Education Act (1983 as amended 1998, 2004). The University of Papua New Guinea Act, the PNG University of Technology Act, the University of Goroka, University of Vudal, the Divine Word Institute Act, the Pacific Adventist University Act, the Maritime Training Institute Act, Legal Training Institute and the Institute for Business Studies are the statutory basis for individual higher education institutions. The Education Act defines Technical and Primary Teachers' Colleges as part of the National School Education System. It gives the Secretary of School Education authority to award certificates and diplomas. Acts defining academic prerequisites for registering technicians and professionals in the health sector include the Medical Registration Act for nurses and paramedics.

The PNG Commission for Higher Education (PNGCHE) is committed to the diversity of providers of higher education and access to opportunity. It hold in the highest regard policies and principles that guarantee open and tolerant scholarship, an exchange that is vigorously protected and defended through the national quality assurance system and academic autonomy of the faculty.

Academic freedom informs the entire academic community: the free exchange of ideas applies to students choosing a course of study, to faculty pursuing scholarly research and teaching, and to institutions admitting students, appointing faculty, and setting standards. A condition of mutual respect enables the existence of these many-faceted scholarly discourses.

The PNG higher education system, as true to its academic ideals, treats each institution as unique individuals worthy of respect, to be judged solely by their actions, intellect, character and capacity to sustain its programs. An institution of higher education does not stereotype its members; it does not permit them to be put into categories based on suspicion, ignorance, deceit or prejudice; it does not deny to any of its members the full rights of academic freedom and engagement. The PNGCHE is vigilant and in 2008 strengthened the processes of institutional establishment, accreditation, and declarations of existing institutions as universities. In 2009 it will review all course offerings it supports through the TESAS and reclassify each into four development types. And therefore given the special dedication of the governors, administrators, staff, and students of the 39 Institutions of Higher Education, government has every confidence in the continued success of its declared tertiary institutions provided hereunder:

SECRETARY'S CIRCULAR No: 05/2009

SUBJECT: DO NOT SEND STUDENTS AWAY

This circular is issued in accordance with section 28 and 29 subsection (c) and (d) of the Education Act 1983 (Consolidated to No.13 of 1995). This circular should also be read in line with Secretary Circular No 26/2008 section 6.1.

"Every child has his or her basic right to have access to quality education" said the Minister for Education Honorable James Marape MP.

The Government will continue to prioritise subsidizing school fees for this year as it has done in the past. Our Honorable Minister and I have already started negotiation with my colleague Secretaries in both the Department of Treasury and Department of Finance to have K143m appropriated for 2009 school subsidy to be released to us. I sincerely hope that this will be soon because I want all schools to receive their share of subsidies as soon as possible.

Furthermore I want to stress at the same time reaffirm our Honorable Minister's statement and that I will not accept any Headteacher or Principal sending students away from classes without exhausting all available means of recovering monies owing to schools. I have stressed this in my past circulars and I will continue to maintain this direction.

Therefore as responsible Office Holders and partners, I humbly ask for your amiable understanding, cooperation, and support to ensure that every one of our eligible school age children receives basic education and is also given every opportunity to be educated to the highest level he or she can possibly go.

Thanking you all in anticipation.

TERTIARY EDUCATION SCHOLARSHIPS ASSISTANCE SCHEME (TESAS). The 2009 AWARDS

The TESAS policy is a financial assistance scheme to support Papua New Guinean citizens who satisfy the basic requirement of 1.6 to 4 on the National Grade Point Academic Average on the grade 12 national examinations and the internal universities and two year colleges end of year assessments. It is a merit - excellence based programme.

TESAS is the policy instrument of the User Pays Policy of the state. TESAS supports student learning by subsidising accommodation, meals, utility (water/power) prescribed course materials and return travel from home of upbringing to the institution. It is not additional budget to the higher education operational and salaries budget appropriated by government on annual basis. The fund is managed by the Office of Higher Education for the TESAS scholars.

- Awards
- The Government Component for University students is:
1. K4,670 per student for the Academic Excellence Scheme
  2. K 3,770 per student for the Higher Education Contribution Assistance Scheme
  3. K525 per student for Loan for students on the HECAs who need to additional support.

- Government Component for non university students is:
1. K 2.613 HECAS
  2. K925 for Loan
- Self Sponsoring Students can take loan of K2250 in any year.

The kina value of the TESAS Policy i.e., candidates who are satisfying the TESAS policy (1.6 - 4 GPA) is insufficient owing to rise in high GPA scores by continuing students increases and student from the fast expanding secondary school system.

To increase the benefits to as many students, the OHE did away with the AES for new intakes, non university institutions and some social sciences programmes. This allowed the increase in the number of high performing students.

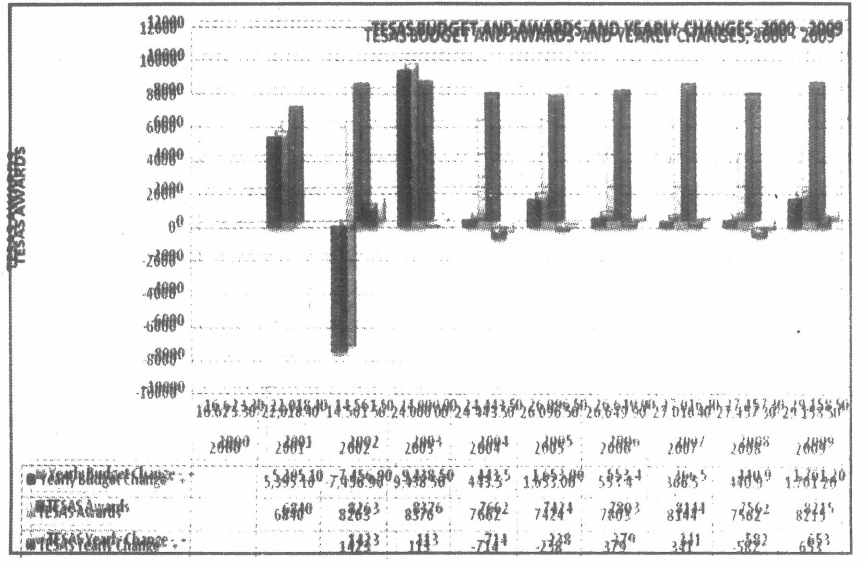

The change in awards as informed by trends over the last five years shows increases in high GPA scores above the 1.6 threshold. The following chart shows this trend.

The student population for the grade 12 school examination is centred around the mean of 2.2957 or the numerical average GPA. The spread or variation of the GPA values around the mean, or the standard deviation is 0.34426, a narrow variation.

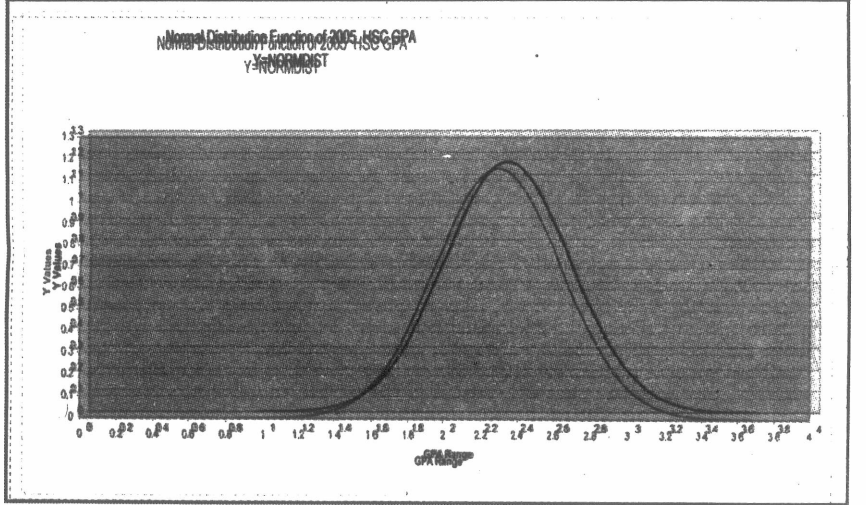

Comparatively, the standard normal distribution has a mean of zero and standard deviation of 1. This means that more data is tightly packed (or students with GPA 2.3) around the mean value of 2.3. However, with a skewness of 0.059, more GPA scores lie above the mean!

What this means is that 80% of students for one particular year scored above a GPA of 2.0, and 98% of students scored above 1.6. Therefore the TESAS award favours high performing students.

The TESAS Program has not changed for 2009. The admissions policy remains at 1.6 GPA. TESAS awards Institutions of higher education have adopted this as the minimum requirement for admission to universities and colleges. Some institutions and programs require higher GPAs. Institutions who have in the past considered GPA lower than 1.6 are reviewing their minimum entry requirements.

Some institutions have developed entry tests.

The OHE is working on a Standard Admissions Test (SAT) to bridge the gap between excellence and equity based on needs for populations from poor social economic and disadvantaged communities. SAT is expected to inform scholarship deficiencies and intellectual excellence in determining future scholarship considerations.

Dialogue Needed For Fiji: PM

Prime Minister, Grand Chief, Sir Michael Somare wants coup rule neighboring country, Fiji to return to democracy.

And he says an effective dialogue is needed for the restoration of democracy in Fiji.

"I want the Interim Prime Minister, Mr. Frank Bainimarama to assist us on an appropriate plot cause for Fiji to return to democracy," Sir Michael said.

The Prime Minister made this bold point in his welcome address to the Special Pacific Island Forum Leaders meeting held at the Port Moresby's Crowne Plaza hotel on Tuesday 27th January, 2009.

He said for any plans to succeed in restoring democracy in Fiji, we must first engage her in an effective dialogue.

I also had no reason to doubt his undertaking to attend a meeting of leaders on 10 February 2009.

That said, I am pleased and grateful that we are able to avail ourselves to meet here today.

As we all know now, they deliberately chose for the Forum to have an inclusive membership.

The magnanimous decision by the founders of the Forum on its membership left a lasting impression on me.

So much so that my approach to regional conflict resolution is founded on INCLUSIVENESS.

The determination by one of the Forum's founding fathers to ensure that small Pacific Island voices are heard and respected inspired me to lend my ears to anyone in the region that cares to speak to me.

While I may not always have the answers to their concerns, you can be assured, I will always try and help them find solutions to their challenges.

The Pacific Way is not about burning bridges.

The Pacific Way is going the extra distance.

PNG OCCCT Approaches British Govt

Executive Director of the Office of Climate Change and Carbon Trade, Dr. Theo Yasause and his management team at their Gordons office recently after completing their recruitment drive.

The Office of the Climate Change and Carbon Trade (OCCCT) had discussions with the British Government to help Papua New Guinea Government facilitate an assistance programme to address the climate change issues.

The assistance programmes will involve awareness and outreaches to engage with the stakeholders to deal with the issues to be negotiated under a framework to reduce emissions from deforestations and degradation (REDD).

These discussions held between the OCCCT Executive Director Dr Theo Yasause with the British High Commissioner to PNG Mr David Dunn and the Head of South East Asia Pacific Forum Mr Asis Ahmad of the British Foreign Office at Dr Yasause's office at Gordon, Port Moresby last Thursday.

These discussions also included the preparation for the upcoming United Nations Conference of Parties that will be held in December in Copenhagen, Denmark.

Dr Yasause said that these programs will be carried out throughout the country to support PNG's global efforts on reducing emission from deforestation and degradation.

The meeting was also to renew the OCCCT working relationship with the British High Commission and the OCCCT in London United Kingdom to develop a project proposal to seek funding from the British Government from the funds announced in Posnan, Poland last December during the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) meeting.

The British Government has set aside some funds to help developing nations like Papua New Guinea combat the impacts of climate change by supporting their (British Government) effort to reduce emission from deforestation and degradation.

But like all other foreign donors, the PNG Government through the OCCCT will have to submit viable project proposals to justify the drawdown of these funds. The funds if released will be utilized in the areas of climate adaptations and mitigation.

Both parties agreed on plans to conduct a sustained awareness campaign utilizing all media outlets to educate our people on pertinent issues of climate change and carbon trade environment sustainability as well as carbon trade.

Both the British Government and the OCCCT acknowledged the leadership role played by Sir Michael Somare and his British counterpart Prime Minister Hon. Gordon Brown.

They noted that the OCCCT environment sustainability was the initiative of the Prime Minister Sir Michael Somare.

Sir Michael is internationally recognised and credited as leading a group of leaders from rain forest nations pushing for the international community to give prominence to combating effects of climate change by addressing one of its main contributors which is forest through REDD initiative.

Work has begun on developing a comprehensive REDD strategy for PNG's position as we prepare for the December UNFCCC Conference of Parties which is supported by UNDP, UK, World Bank, AUSAID, Japan and other development partners.

Coral Triangle Initiative Meetings

The third consultation workshop on Coral Triangle Initiative CTI, on Reefs, Fisheries and Food Security was held in Port Moresby this month.

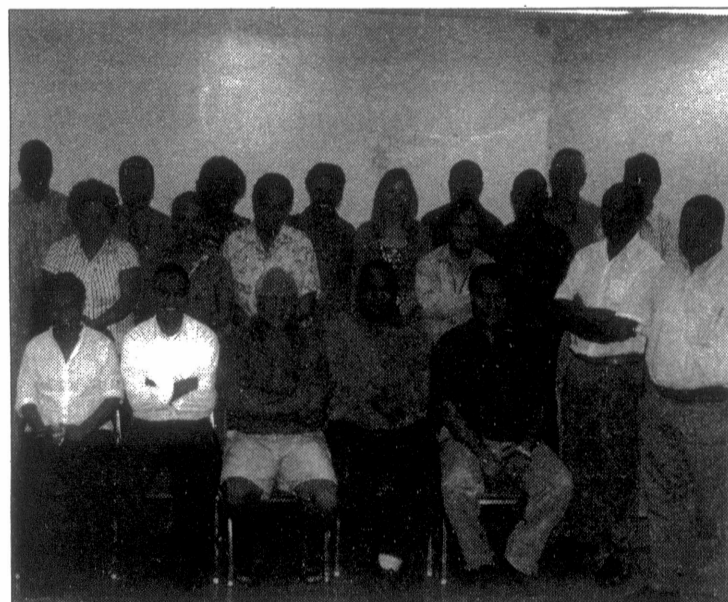

The workshop attended by participants from government departments and NGOs was to finalize Papua New Guineans Plan of Action

The meeting was jointly organized by the Department of Environment AND Conservation and National Fisheries Authority and was held at the Lamana Hotel.

The Coral Triangle Initiative is centered around high-level political commitments and proactive implementation by governments of the Coral Triangle region and supported by private sector, international agency and civil society (NGO) partners.

CT is defined by areas containing 500 or more species of coral and has more than 600 coral species in some areas, 3000 fish species and the greatest extent of mangrove forests of any region in the world.

CTI focuses on five main objectives, Seascape, Ecosystem Approach to

Govt Aid Database Commissioned

A Government Database which aims to effectively coordinate and manage aid in the country, was commissioned earlier this month.

Minister for National Planning and Monitoring, Paul Tiensten, said the Development Assistance Database for Papua New Guinea (DAD-PNG), was a world class aid tracking system, which among others, will help mobilize and sustain aid flows and provide transparency and accountability, in the country, and ensure that donors are funding Government's key development priority areas and to assist Government in planning and monitoring aid.

Mr Tiensten says the establishment of DAD-PNG is an historical event, as it transforms the way the Government through the Department of National Planning and Monitoring coordinates and manages aid in Papua New Guinea.

DAD-PNG has been described as a world class technical information system that will provide updated information for 'what, how, where, and for whom', aid is being delivered in Papua New Guinea, to those in Government, the ordinary citizens, and around the world.

It is said that DAD-PNG is not an accounting system nor a project management tool but it can be a results monitoring tool.

He added that too much of development funds were unaccounted, or simply wasted in unfeasible undertakings, but with the establishment of DAD-PNG, it would allow his Department to become the 'orchestra conductor' of aid program in the country, and to perform an effective oversight function to assure efficiency and transparency in their implementation.

DAD-PNG is committed to the Paris Declaration on Aid Effectiveness, which ensures that aid is as effective as possible in contributing to the Millennium Development Goals and other agreed objectives in partner countries.

The Government and its Development Partners localized the Paris Declaration on Aid Effectiveness and jointly signed the PNG Commitment on Aid Effectiveness in July 2008, with its major principles of ownership, (tool for government and helps coordinate development efforts in the country); alignment (analyses report on alignment with national strategies and priorities); harmonization (informs on current activity and potential overlaps); managing for results (reports on development effort results); and mutual accountability (accounts for all parties involved in development aid).

National Planning Minister and Pomio MP, Hon. Paul Tiensten addressing the launching of the Government Aid Database at his vulupindi Haus office in Port Moresby

Mr Tiensten appealed to all stakeholders within the spirit of PNG

Commitment on Aid Effectiveness to ensure that the DAD PNG functions over time in delivering its expected mandates. ■

Govt Must Prepare For Major Economic Crisis: Pruaitch

Papua New Guinea is not immuned from any fallout of the world's economic and social crisis and the Government must now take immediate action in making sure that proper policies are in place to address such issues.

Minister for Finance and Treasury Patrick Pruaitch said this when addressing the UNICEF conference in Singapore on the "Economic Crisis and its Social Impact" over the weekend which was attended by more than 200 politicians and academics from the Asia Pacific Region.

Minister Pruaitch said in Papua New Guinea's case, the country has not been immune from the fallouts of 1997 and 2008 from the Global Financial Crisis, with commodity prices we receive from our exports and the fiscal outlook having deteriorated rapidly in the second half of 2008.

He said it is true that Governments may have to rapidly expand existing social protection programs or establish new ones to minimize the social distress arising from an economic crisis.

"In developing countries like Papua New Guinea, I would observe that this particular protection program is not in place or well established and I think it is very important that our government must look at immediately formulating a policy to address such crisis," said Mr. Pruaitch

"In Papua New Guinea's case during this 2008 World Economic Crisis fallout, the Government has used the 2009 Budget to promote sustained economic growth and to further empower and transform the rural economy, including through funding at the district and community level and investments in agriculture and infrastructure maintenance, improvement and development.

"In an uncertain international economic environment, the Government hopes that the measures adopted in the 2009 Budget will help minimize some of the social and economic impacts of the Global Financial Crisis as they affect Papua New Guinea as well.

"I certainly agree with my other colleagues that there is no one blueprint for responding to the economic crisis because much depends on prevailing political, economic and social circumstances and as a result appropriate social policy responses to economic crisis differ from country to country.

"In Papua New Guinea's case, I would take the lead in urging other relevant government bodies to work closely together so that the country can have a policy in place to address such crisis as it affects all sectors.

"So many times when such crisis arises, governments address such issues with limited resources without looking at the impact of the crisis on social issues like law and order, employment, education, health, food and nutrition.

"Government intervention on such crisis is very crucial and Papua New Guinea must immediately address this issue for long term which can really work. If Papua New Guinea can have such a policy in place, this can help every one in all sectors and will have a long-term effect.

"Government must develop programs to be ready for such crisis and its impact and not at the time when the crisis arises," he said.

Minister Pruaitch attended the three-day conference over the weekend along with Minister for Community Development Dame Carol Kidu and officials the Department of Community Development and UNICEF representative from PNG. ■

Papua New Guineans Deserve Better - Tiensten

Minister for National Planning and Monitoring, Paul Tiensten, has called on government officers, to fulfill the wills and aspirations of Papua New Guineans because they deserve better.

Minister Tiensten was speaking at the official launch of his Department's Website, as well as commissioning the Development Assistance Database for Papua New Guinea (DAD -PNG), this month

The main function of the Department's Website is to empower citizens through dissemination of information to make government officers more accountable, while DAD PNG is about empowering the Government to lead the development partners to invest their aid resources where they can render the best outcomes, and in alignment with the national development strategies.

"Our development plans are good declarations of intent, but do not yet have a substantive reflection in reality, more specifically in the quality of lives of Papua New Guineans living in rural areas," he said.

"I am in no way insensitive to the fact that information is power. We now have available technological resources which allow bettering the distribution of power through the dissemination of information.

"By informing the citizens of Papua New Guinea about our development plans, our operations and our publications, we are empowering them to start asking us questions and to challenge us to do our job more efficiently.

The Website is thus contribution to enhancing government officers' performance, and also to improving the governance of the country.

"As never before, we need to start thinking big and outside-the-box when it comes to national development issues. We should no longer accept the previous standards of the public service as the norm.

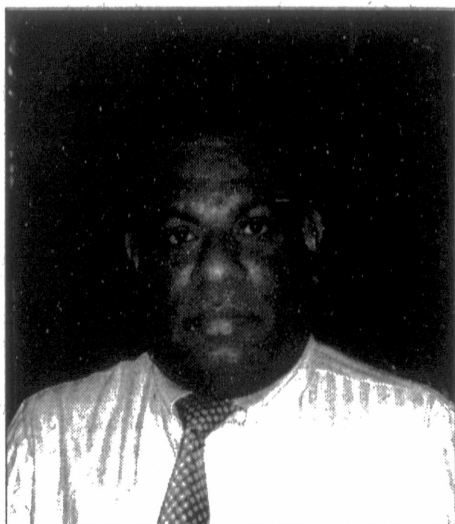

Mr Tiensten however said, officers were not empowered as a Central Government Agency, to perform respective duties with due diligence if there was lack of basic information to represent properly the public interest.

Mr Tiensten expressed concern over lack of better information instruments for government representatives, to guide them through negotiating new aid programs.

Meanwhile, Mr Tiensten described his Department's paramount role, as the lighthouse and guardian of Papua New Guinea's National Development and declared 2009 as the Year of Implementation.

He further commended the United Nations Development Program (UNDP), and other development partners, for their valuable technical and financial support, towards the development of these information instruments.

EDUCATION

Selection Process For Higher Institutions

The Office of Higher Education is not responsible for selecting new intakes to enroll and continue their tertiary education at institutions of Higher Education.

According to their magazine released recently to commemorate its 25 years in office, the Office of Higher Education only facilitates for the selection of Grade 12 school leavers entering tertiary institutions and award them government scholarships based on the Grade Point Averages (GPAs).

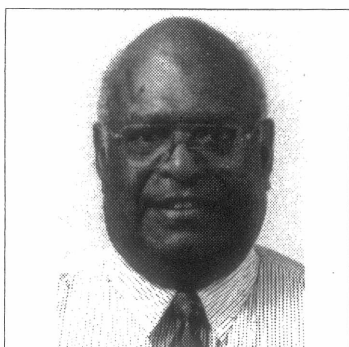

It also plays a major coordinating role in the selection process, and once this is completed, OHE awards appropriate scholarships to students, as well providing logistic and administrative support to ensure that all school leavers are given the opportunity to participate in higher education.

The magazine also highlighted the other process of selection which included a Central Selection Venue (CSV), approved by OHE which the selection is conducted and completed.

It added that the CSV is a highly restricted area in which institutional selectors with valid Access Passes issued by OHE are permitted to enter.

The list of school leavers with the High School Certificate Examinations results and preferences is provided for the institutional selectors.

Selections are done based on the preferences of the student as indicated on his/her School Leaver

Higher Education Minister, Hon. Michael Ogio

Form and are selected purely on academic merit.

The lists of selected students are then submitted to OHE and entered in the Oracle Database that automatically calculates the selected students' Grade Point Average.

Accordingly, GPA is calculated automatically by set formulas in the data base, pre-programmed to execute this task. After this, GPA is then determined from the grades.

From the grades, OHE then uses the GPAs to allocate or award scholarships to a certain number of selected students for each institution.

The report further explained the quotas allocated to each tertiary institution. It reports that OHE then sends full details and nature of the Tertiary Education Study Assistance Scheme (TESAS) sponsorship of a student to the respective institutions.

TESAS quota refers to the number of students that the Government will provide TESAS funding. It is usually less than the institutional quota for enrolment and it is allocated according to the budget.

The four categories approved by the National Executive Council under the TESAS scheme are:

□ Academic Excellence Scholarship (AES) - this is awarded to students (school leavers and continuing students) who attain top grades academically - scoring GPA ranging from 3.6 - 4 (ie. Students who's grades are all either As or combination of As and Bs).

□ Higher Education Contribution Assistance Scheme (HECAS). This scholarship is awarded to students who have attained a GPA between 1.5 to 3.5 - which means students would have scored combination of grades ranging from 'As' to Ds, and require to pay seven per cent of the total unit cost of university education for the academic year;

□ Self Sponsorship - students covered under this category are academically weak whose GPAs range from 0 - 1.5. However, they are eligible to apply for TESAS loan and pay a fee of 25 % of the total unit cost while the government meets the balance.

□ Private Sponsorship (Corporate /Foreign State). This covers students sponsored by industries, corporate bodies, foreign states or employers. OHE does not finance students in this category, but subsidizes the education of these students.

The report further said that Higher Education in the country is expensive and has been dependent on State funding, however, as a result of education reforms, there has been an increase in the average enrolment of students into the Higher Education system. ■

2009 School Year Maxim Fee Limits

The National Education Board has set the maximum fee limits for this year.

Chairman of the Education Board and Secretary of the Department, Dr Joseph Pagelio, said because of the rise in the prices of goods and services, the 2009 maximum fee limits for all institutions in the National Education System have been increased.

He said the increase was to guide provincial education authorities and department of Education Divisions to set realistic fees. The 2009 fee limits took into account the cost of inflation and also the need to keep the cost to parents as low as possible, but at the same time provide schools and colleges with sufficient funds for their operational costs.

The fees limits are as follows.

PNG Makes History At ITTO

PNG's Ambassador to Japan, Mr. Michael Maue greets Chair of the ITTC, Ms. Catherine soon after he was elected Vice-Chairman to the 44th ITTC session.

Papua New Guinea made history at the recent 44th International Tropical Timber Council (ITTC) session when she became the first country in the South Pacific to ever gain the chairmanship of the council.

On day one of the November

3-8th, 2008 44th session, PNG's Ambassador to Japan Michael Maue was elected vice chairman of the 44th session. On the final day of the session, he was elected chairman of the 45th ITTC session which will take place in Yokohama, Japan from November 9-14th, 2009.

Ambassador Maue who has been PNG's Ambassador to Japan since February 2002, has had a very illustrious career serving the government and people of PNG including holding various diplomatic posts in Brussels, France and Australia as well as the Forum Secretariat in Fiji. He also held various senior positions in country including Secretary for the Department of Trade and Industry.

At 56, he is from Simbu province and is married with four sons. He has a Bachelor of Economics Degree from the University of PNG. ■

Background Information On ITTO/ITTC

The ITTC is the governing body of International Tropical Organization (ITTO) which has its Headquarters in Yokohama, Japan. The ITTO is made up of 60 member countries of which 27 are producer members and 33 consumers. It meets twice annually to develop policies on forestry and approve and finance field projects to enhance sustainable forest management in producer countries.

The ITTO was established under the auspices of the United Nations following increasing worldwide concern on the fate of tropical forests and their survival. ITTO is an intergovernmental organization established with a primary objective to promote the conservation and sustainable management, use and trade of tropical forest resources.

PNG has been associated with the ITTO since its establishment 22 years ago. Its hosting of the 42nd ITTC Session in Port Moresby in May 2007 affirms its continued commitment to the ITTO and its endeavors to promote principles of sustainability, bio-diversity and ecological management and practices in the tropical forest environment.

ITTO has funded and continues to fund numerous projects in PNG in the areas of forest research and management that are currently at various stages of the project implementation process.

The appointment of Ambassador Maue as the Chairman of the 45th ITTC session reflects the confidence the international community has on PNG's ability to address international issues relating to forestry. ■

Rudd, Sikua and Tong Sign Partnership Deal

Australian Prime Minister Hon. Kevin Rudd has signed a Pacific Partnerships for Development with Prime Minister of Solomon Islands, Dr. Derek Sikua and President of Kiribati Mr. Tong in Port Moresby, Papua New Guinea.

This significant signing occurred at the Special Pacific Forum Leaders' Meeting on Fiji in Port Moresby 27th January 2009.

The Partnerships signed are designed to make a real and practical difference to the lives of ordinary people in the Pacific Region.

Pacific Partnerships for Development are the centre piece of Australia's new approach to the Pacific region which commits Australia and its Pacific partners to working together to meet common challenges.

The Partnership with Solomon Islands will have an initial focus on:

- better service delivery, particularly in rural areas;
- more sustainable economic growth and reform;
- improved economic livelihoods;
- and improved economic infrastructure.

The Partnership will complement work to support peace and prosperity being undertaken through the Regional Assistance Mission to the Solomon Island (RAMSI).

The Partnership with Kiribati will have an initial focus on:

- improved basic education;
- workforce skills development;
- and improved growth and economic management.

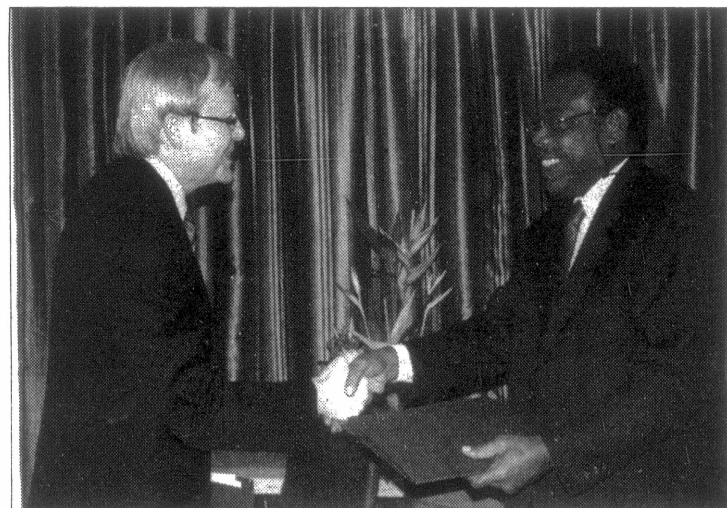

The goal of the Partnerships is to advance the prosperity of the region and raise the standard of living of people living in the Pacific.

Most Pacific Island countries are not on track to achieve the Millennium Development Goals in areas such as health and education by 2015.

Up to a million children in the region do not attend school, and as many as 18,000 children die each year from preventable causes.

The Pacific Partnerships for Development aim to realize better development results by committing Australia to provide new and additional assistance.

They embrace important commitments from Solomon Islands and Kiribati to continue to improve governance, increase investment in economic infrastructure and to strive to achieve better outcomes in health and education and other areas. ■

Australian Prime Minister, Kevin Rudd and his Solomon Islands counterpart, Dr. Derek Sekua sealing the partnership agreement recently.

PIF Special Leaders Retreat

Port Moresby, Papua New Guinea
27th January 2009

Leader's Decision

1. Heads of State and Government of Australia, the Cook Islands, Kiribati, Nauru, New Zealand, Niue, Papua New Guinea, Samoa, Solomon Islands, Tonga, Tuvalu and Vanuatu; and representatives of Federated States of Micronesia, Fiji and Palau; met in Port Moresby, Papua New Guinea on 27 January 2009 to discuss the situation in Fiji. Leaders noted the apologies received from the Republic of the Marshall Islands for its inability to attend due to circumstances beyond its control.

2. Leaders expressed their thanks to the Government and people of Papua New Guinea for their warm hospitality and generous hosting of the meeting and the excellent arrangements made for the Retreat.

3. Leaders:

a). Reiterated the condemnation expressed by them in the Niue Communique of the failure of the Fiji Interim Government to demonstrate the necessary political will to fulfill the undertaking made to Forum

Leaders in 2007 that it would hold parliamentary elections by March 2009.

b). Noted and acknowledged the steps taken by the Fiji Interim Government towards re-engagement with the Forum since the Leaders' Meeting in Niue, including the reconvening of the Forum-Fiji Joint Working Group, and the second visit of the Ministerial Contact Group; but expressed serious concern at the continuing lack of practical preparations for holding elections:

c). Stated that more than two years of rule by an unelected military government, with no clear timetable for the return of constitutional government to the people, is not acceptable by international standards including those embraced by all Forum members and enshrined in the Biketawa Declaration, and emphasized the need to restore democracy without further delay:

d). Reaffirmed that there are long-term issues that need to be addressed to Fiji, including through independent and inclusive political dialogue; but that such dialogue must be primarily focused on the holding of elections. The dialogue process should not be the cause for further delay in holding elections.

e). Called on the Interim Government to take the following actions to demonstrate its commitment to the restoration of parliamentary democracy in Fiji:

(i). Provide to Forum Leaders a new timetable agreed with all key political stakeholders, specifying in detail the agreed steps to elections and a return to democracy, and the timing for completing them, reflecting a consensus reached through a genuine, open, inclusive dialogue without threats, preconditions, ultimatums or predetermined outcomes;

(ii). Make a clear commitment that any reforms agreed through political dialogue will be implemented in accordance with the Constitution and laws of Fiji;

(iii). Undertake and sustain serious and credible election preparations, including allocation of necessary resources to the Office of the Supervisor of Elections, and the prompt preparation of the electoral roll; and

(iv). Make a renewed commitment that the military will withdraw from civilian politics following such an election, return to barracks, and submit to the authority of the elected civilian government in accordance with the Constitution.

f). Agreed, subject to progressing the actions specified at subparagraph (e) above to positively consider providing prompt financial and technical assistance to the President's Political Dialogue Forum; in recognition of the value of independent and inclusive dialogue as a long-term process to assist in resolving broader issues in Fiji. The specifics of such assistance would be determined in close consultation with the Commonwealth Secretariat and the United Nations;

g). Reaffirmed the ongoing readiness of Forum members to continue to assist Fiji with preparations for an election, and called on the relevant authorities in Fiji to cooperate fully with Forum members and other donors to expedite such assistance.

h). Agreed, in furtherance of Forum members' collective commitment to the fundamental principles enshrined in the Biketawa Declaration, to the imposition of "targeted measures" under paragraph 2(iv) of the Biketawa Declaration in relation to Fiji to take effect unless:

i). The Fiji Interim Government nominates an election date by 1 May 2009; ii). That election is held by the end of December 2009; and iii). The actions in paragraph (e) above are taken and publicly declared by 1 May 2009.

i). Agreed that such targeted measures will comprise the following:

i). suspension of participation by the Leader, Ministers and officials of the Fiji

Interim Government in all Forum meetings and events; and ii). Ineligibility of the Fiji Interim Government to benefit from Forum regional cooperation initiatives, and new financial and technical assistance, other than assistance toward the restoration of democracy under the framework of the Biketawa Declaration;

j). Agreed that the targeted measures, if imposed, will remain in place until such time as a democratically elected, civilian parliamentary government is resorted in Fiji;

k). Tasked the Ministerial Contact Group with continued monitoring of the Fiji situation, within the framework of Leaders' decisions, including in relation to the assessment of the Fiji Interim Government's compliance with subparagraph (e) above, and directed it to report further to Leaders as required and in any case before their 2009 annual meeting in Australia. Such reporting could, if necessary, recommend the partial relaxation of existing measures, or, alternatively, the adoption of further measures, which might include full suspension of Fiji's membership in the Forum; and l). Called on the international community to support the measures outlined above by taking complementary actions to encourage the prompt restoration of elected constitutional government in Fiji.

4. Leaders considered that the timelines specified in these decisions are consistent with the position stated to Forum Leaders by the representative of the Fiji Interim Government on a timetable for the return to democracy. ■

The Pacific Way is being compassionate and able to forgive.

As we meet on this occasion to try and help a member of our Pacific Family of Nations, let us reaffirm our belief in the spirit with which our founders established this organization.

I am reminded we are meeting here because we are all committed to the welfare and destiny of the people of Fiji.

We are meeting because we value the inherent good that comes out of PARTICIPATORY DEMOCRACY.

And I believe that we are meeting because we are genuinely interested in finding a long term solution to the coup culture that has unfortunately taken strong roots in the politics of Fiji.

If there are any lessons to be learnt from the previous coups, hurriedly-prepared elections and token changes to rules do not usher in real democracy.

We owe it to the Fiji people and ourselves not to make those same mistakes.

The Biketawa Declaration reminds us that any Forum action must be taken on the basis of "all members of the Forum being part of the Pacific Islands extended family".

"Fiji is an important member of this family" Sir Michael said.

In calling us to address difficult and sensitive issues, the Biketawa Declaration instructs us to address "underlying causes of tensions and conflict".

Institutions that we have established to monitor the situation in Fiji and report to us, as leaders, having acknowledged that there are long term issues that need to be addressed.

Coups are symptoms of underlying causes. Let us therefore address them.

The Biketawa Declaration also requires that we not only discuss the actions "with the authorities in the country concerned" but that "there must be consensus on the resolutions by those who have to implement - such as local players and supporters".

We must therefore engage the Interim Government fully and help the political dialogue in Fiji to succeed.

I am of the strong view that adopting an isolationist approach would be unhelpful.

"I urge that we do not ignore the plea from the Fiji people as expressed by the Coalition of Political Parties, not to take punitive actions against Fiji."

Like many of you, I have endeavoured over the last two years to find an amicable solution to the political crisis in Fiji.

Like many of you, I have agonized over what the Forum actions should be and what the implications might be for the Fijian people.

Like many of you, I have had my share of frustrations at the seeming lack of progress towards parliamentary democracy in Fiji.

And, I know, that like many of you, I felt betrayed when Fiji was not able to be represented in Niue to brief us on how and when it could hold elections.

The challenge for us, I believe, is to assist the temptation of giving in to our frustrations over broken promises and the seeming lack of progress towards restoring democracy in Fiji.

Let us help Fiji fine-tune a roadmap with realistic timelines to return her to a durable democracy.

Let us identify specific areas in the roadmap where we can provide financial and logistical support to Fiji.

Let us not take any decision that might have the potential to undermine the efforts of the United

Australia to Host 2009 Pacific Islands Forum

Australian Prime Minister, Kevin Rudd, has announced that the Pacific Islands Forum will be held in Cairns, Australia in August this year.

Mr Rudd announced Australia's nomination to host the Forum, reflecting Australia's reengagement in the Pacific region.

A statement released from his Canberra Office, said "as the Port Moresby Declaration affirms, Australia is committed to working with Pacific Island nations towards a new era of cooperation and positive outcomes for the people of the Pacific." ■

PM Sir Michael having discussions with his Niue and the Chair of the PIF, Mr. Toke Talagi at the dinner.

Fiji is a delicate issue

The meeting today will represent a watershed in the Forum's approach to conflict resolution.

It will also test the solidarity of the Forum.

The choices before us are difficult.

Varying degrees of sanctions against Fiji have been imposed.

The impact of these and the damages caused by heavy rains and flooding on the lives of ordinary Fijians are devastating.

Fiji needs us not more than ever before.

Yes, Forum must show leadership on the Fiji issue.

And we have. But let no one mistake compassion and patience as a sign of weakness.

I would like to think that the Forum leadership is not about imposing our will, but about listening and extending a helping hand in ways that bring about long term solutions.

I would like to think that leadership is not about abandoning our brothers and sisters in their hour of need.

Like the proverbial lost sheep, the Forum should go out of its way to find Fiji in the wilderness and bring her back to the democratic fold.

Like the values that the Prodigal's Son story extols, the Forum should find it in its heart to forgive Fiji and help it see the ways of participatory democracy. ■

Minister Aimo Against Pilot's Murder

Correctional Services Minister and Member for Ambunti/Drekikir Hon. Tony Aimo has strongly condemned the recent killing of a young pilot in Port Moresby during new year's day.

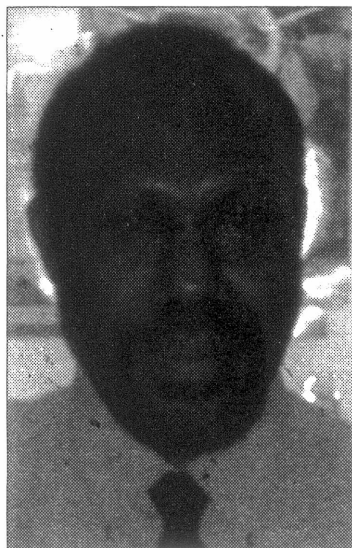

And he has commended the police force for several arrests been made so far in relation to the death of Captain Timothy Houji.

The Minister has further urged for instigations to round up the rest of the suspects of the brutal murder recently.

Minister Aimo said the late Timothy Houji was a skilled manpower of this country and his sudden death has left a gap in the aviation industry and such brutal killing must be prevented at all costs.

As a Minister responsible for the law and justice sector, "I am calling on the general public with information on the suspects to report them to police. There is a law that will protect your identity and make 2009 a crime-free year." Mr. Aimo said.

"As responsible citizens we are all duty-bound to protect our country from such brutal killings", he said.

Minister Aimo also said the death of young Houji not only represented a lost investment by his family but by his employer Air Niugini and the country as a whole.

He said his family has also lost a son, husband, father, nephew, and grandson due to the animalistic act by certain individuals.

He has expressed his gratitude to the National Executive Council (NEC) for approving a K2 million funding for the upgrading of the Bomana Maximum Security Institution (MSI).

The MSI is meant for containing hardcore criminals separate from minor offenders.

In response to several calls for the introduction of death penalty, Mr. Aimo said there is a law warranting punishment by death, in which a few detainees are currently under death row, the law however, did not specify methods of execution.

He said the Justice Minister would be in a better position to deliberate on the amendment of that section of the law.

Mr. Aimo is calling on responsible law and justice agencies to complete their tasks and have the convicts sent to Bomana Jail for punishment.

"My department is incorporating a zero tolerance strategy on prison break-outs and escapes," the Correctional Services Minister said. ■

Public Solicitor Submits Annual Reports

The office Public Solicitor has submitted its annual reports for 2005, 2006, and 2007 to the Governor General, Grand chief Sir Paulias Matane at the Government House on Tuesday, January 20th 2009.

Public Solicitor Mr. Frazer Pitpit while presenting the reports said it is required by the constitution that the annual reports must be submitted to Sir Paulias, which will be presented to Parliament through the Head of State.

He said the annual reports from his office were last submitted in 1995 and 1996 respectively until the year 2008.

Mr Pitpit said this was lack of capacity to be able to formulate and make presentations timely.

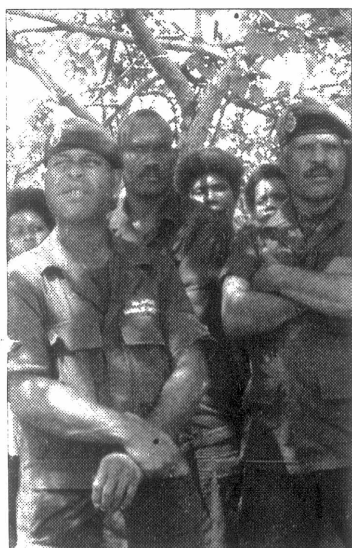

He said in 2002, his office has developed capacity building, and acquired necessary funding from donors.

He said the 2008 annual report is in print and will be out next month for submission. ■

CS To Install Easy Pay Meters

The Department of Correctional Services has begun consultations with PNG Power Limited to have all its institutional houses install with easy pay meters a move comes in light of the high utility costs relating to electricity and water usage.

In a management meeting last week, CS Commissioner Richard Sikani advised Minister Tony Aimo that the move was imminent due to hefty overhead costs that have to be met by the department. Another meeting will also be held with Eda Ranu to have their meters installed as well.

According to records from the CS utilities commitment control, well over K9 million was spent last year 2008 alone for electricity and water bills.

The move will mean all members will have to cater for water and electricity in their personal budget. The installation of meters will start in Port Moresby specifically Kerepia barracks, CS Training College, and the main prison compound.

The project will move to other centers once Port Moresby is completed.

Mr. Sikani said Kerepia barracks has seen an influx of people bunking up with members and thus putting a strain on electricity and water.

"People are using water like nobody's business. Leaving the hoses running in their backyard gardens and other uses by members and people residing with them," Mr. Sikani said.

He said when members start footing the bills themselves then they would be able to control the usage.

He added with the recent increase in the CS salary package, members should be able to pay for the bills themselves.

However, few members refuted that the pay increase is only K60 for a lower rank officer and hence paying for electricity and water themselves would have adverse effects on their budget. ■

Office Of Climate Change Backs CS Jatropa Project

THE Office of Climate Change have shown their interest and keen in assisting Correctional Services Minister Tony Aimo in getting the Jatropa Curcass plant project off the ground.

The clean energy project is part of Mr. Aimo's plan for Correctional Services for this year.

The Office of Climate Change has held discussions with CS Minister Hon. Tony Aimo on Monday 26th January 2009 after learning of Mr. Aimo's aspirations on establishing a Jatropa Curcas plant project from the news media.

Mr. Aimo explained that in this age where concerns about rising fuel prices and dwindling energy resources are making headlines around the world, the value of using renewable and eco-friendly fuels has gained wide prominence.

The Peoples' Action Party strongman stressed that bio-diesel is a term used to describe environmentally safe and low-polluting fuels for standard combustion and turbine engines.

A senior programs officer with the Office of Climate Change Danny Nekitel advised the minister that they will work alongside him and the CS department to get the project registered for funding through their wide network of financiers.

A submission is being put together by the office of the minister for Commerce and Industry to go before the National Executive Council (NEC).

"Once the submission gets the nod from NEC, I will then pass it on to the Office of Climate Change to secure funding. "We have identified land at some of our prison sites where this project can be established on using my free detainee work force," Minister Aimo said.

The Climate Change Office has a program called 'Clean Development Mechanism (CDM)' for the country, and will be working in liaison with the CS minister in getting it registered under it for funding.

Director of Climate Change Joe Pokana said under the UN Kyoto Protocol, all industrialized countries are required to cut down on the green house gas emission.

But if they cannot, then they will have to fund developing countries like PNG through their carbon credits. Credits are earned from major forestry projects. Mr. Pokana said PNG do not have one clean energy project which is the Lihir Thermal Electricity.

Mr. Aimo is positive about the Jatropa Curcas project and in support of Prime Minister's key role in carbon trade policy will work closely with Climate Change Office to see the project to fruition. ■

PNGSDP Funds New Female Dormitory For Kudjip Hospital

The late Sir Obia Oleware (third from left) and PNGSDP CEO, Mr. David Sode (fifth from right) and staff and students of the Kudjip Hospital in Mt. Hagen, Western Highlands Province, posing after the opening of the new female dormitory funded by PNGSDP recently. (This was the last official engagement for the late Sir Obia Oleware with PNGSDP as a board director).

The Papua New Guinea Sustainable Development Program Limited (PNGSDP) says investment in primary health care and especially in the training needs of young female nurses is seen as a good investment for the health sector in the country.

This was revealed by officials from PNG Sustainable Development Program Limited (PNGSDP) and representatives from the Nazarene Hospital recently during the opening and dedication of a new female dormitory at the Nazarene school of Nursing in Kudjip, Western Highlands Province, on the 9th January 2009.

PNGSDP funded the new dormitory at a cost of K230,000.00 under its community and social investment program (CSIP). The project partner was the Church of Nazarene, Kudjip College of Nursing.

The nursing training college was built in 1975 and enrolls students from all over PNG, including students from Western Province. The nurses often provide additional support to the Nazarene Hospital near by which was built in the 1960s.

Previously, 46 female nurses were accommodated in two buildings, where one needed to be replaced and they shared two toilets. However, the new female dormitory funded by PNGSDP will accommodate 20 nursing students.

It has spacious and adequate ablution facilities and students will have improved opportunities to study in their own rooms.

The project goal is to improve the impartation of health knowledge to the future health professionals of PNG and especially to give more educational opportunities to females. Qualified community health workers with rural based practical experience will contribute to improved rural health services and will make a significant contribution to the welfare of the general population.

According to Liah Kambowa, the deputy principal of the Nazarene College of Nursing, "the dormitory will accommodate 20 students at a time and these students will continue to serve the health needs of PNG now and future. This is a timely investment as it will contribute to a health and productive nation, he said.

The Nazarene Training College is one of the nursing colleges that produces some of the best nurses in PNG and they are usually absorbed in the health sector workforce.

For example, from the 2008 graduates, 100 percent were employed. Therefore the support of this dormitory by PNGSDP will have a significant impact on the health care sector of this country, he said.

Community leader, Sailas Wutsik pledged his community's support to respect the facilities of the nursing college and the hospital.

PNGSDP CEO, Mr David Sode, acknowledged the communities support to the nursing college and the hospital facilities at Kudjip. We must look at new models in how we develop our country.

If we don't look after small things, you'll never look after big things. Today we are entering a new phase. The idea now is to help our self. No one is able to help you if you don't help yourself. We are happy to support this building here, he said. ■

Clarification on Queen's New Year's Honours and Awards List

The Office of the Governor General wish to correct an article in the Post Courier dated Friday, January 16th 2009, titled, 'Awards list not finalized' by Mohammed Bashir.

The article stated that the New Year's Queen's Birthday award has not been finalized for this year.

Firstly, the Queen's New Year's Honours and Awards is different from the Queen's Birthday, Honours and Awards in the Imperial awards system.

The New Year's Honours and Awards investiture ceremony usually takes place early in the year, while the Queen's Birthday Honours and Awards investiture ceremony is held at the end of the year.

In the past, recipients of the Queen's New Year's Honours and Awards are announced towards new year's day.

Since the inception of the Orders of Papua New Guinea (Logohu) in 2004, however the Queen's New Year's Honours and Awards has been replaced with the Orders of Papua New Guinea New Year's Honours and Awards. This means that on New Year's Day, only the Honours and Awards list for the Order of Papua New Guinea will be announced.

Government House now conducts two investiture ceremonies annually for the Order of Papua New Guinea (New Years Honours and awards and Independence Honours and awards) and only one investiture ceremony for the Queen's Birthday Honour and Awards.

The medals for the Orders of Papua New Guinea are available in the country while the imperial medals come from London, England.

The office of the Governor General is responsible for setting dates for the Investiture ceremonies, taking into account the costs of travel for recipients living outside of Port Moresby, hence a date is usually set within the first six months of the year to allow ample time for the recipients to make suitable arrangements for their travel to Port Moresby.

The Orders of Papua New Guinea New Year 2009 Honours and Awards investiture ceremony is scheduled to take place in April this year, a specific date will be made known to the public in the near future.

The Office of the Governor General had not deviated from normal procedure as regards the nominations of recipients as claimed in the article.

In the Order of Papua New Guinea Honours and Awards, the Awards Committee deliberates on submissions from recipients of the awards and presents these to the office of the Prime Minister for final recommendation before it is being sent to the Governor General for medal presentation during investiture ceremonies.

In the case of the Queen's Honours and Awards, recommendations made by the Awards Committee are sent to the Office of the Prime Minister who then presents these to the Governor General for final recommendation before it is sent to London to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II for approval. Following this, the investiture ceremony takes place for the awarding of the medals.

Official Secretary to the Governor General Mr. Tipo Vuatha said the recipients of the Order of Papua New Guinea 2009 New Year's Honours and Awards will receive their medals at the investiture ceremony in April.

There is no delay whatsoever in getting the medals. The Logohu New Year's honours and Awards list has already been made public on the 1st of January 2009.

That is the only list that will come out in the New Year. We no longer have the Queen's New Year's Honours and Awards investiture ceremony this has been replaced by the Order of Papua New Guinea New Year's list.

This arrangement was decided upon by the Government of Papua New Guinea and approved by Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, Mr Vuatha said. ■

DOMESTIC AFFAIRS

Garnaut Pays Tribute To Sir Ebia

The late Sir Ebia Oleware at his Pacific Place office.

Chairman PNSDP Professor Ross Garnaut says with the death of Sir Ebia Oleware in Daru last week, Papua New Guinea lost a wise elder statesman and loyal son, who contributed immensely to the success of constitutional government and to development.

He said Western Province lost a man who loved the Province in his birth, knew it intimately and worked tirelessly to diminish the suffering of its people.

Papua New Guinea Sustainable Development Limited lost a leader who guided it towards programs that would help ordinary people in the villages and towns with the things that we were essential for a good life.

My wife Jayne and I lost a dear friend of 37 years from whom we learned much about the rich texture of Sir Ebia, and this beloved country.

He said Sir Ebia was a Papua New Guinea nationalist. "He knew that high ambitions for his country would be realized not through noise and bluster, but through achievement in successful democratic government and development".

He began his professional life as a teacher in Daru and Kilakila, was the first Education Minister and a committed Chancellor of Goroka University, and always saw development first of all as a challenge of education for young Papua New Guineans to realize the opportunities that lay before them," he said.

It was the good fortune of PNGSDP, and the people of Western Province and Papua New Guinea that it was created to serve, that the Papua New Guinea Treasurer appointed Sir Ebia to the board six years ago.

When officers of PNGSDP would brief the Board about a village project anywhere in Western Province, Sir Ebia would tell us where the village was, how it had changed over the years since he had first walked to the village, and what other villages in the Province would benefit from a similar project.

He would periodically be enraged by the slow progress of development in a Province that had so many advantages from the OK Tedi mine's contribution to Provincial revenues for so long.

He would be sharply critical of any tardiness of our company's efforts in the Province. He was delighted that the development of a port and major industrial area in Daru would provide a chance for continued development of provincial infrastructure after the closure of the OK Tedi mine.

He was deeply committed to finding a sustainable future for the towns and infrastructure that had been built in the North Fly around the mine while wholeheartedly supporting the OK Tedi mine for the many benefits it brought the people of Western Province and the country.

He never closed his eyes to the environmental costs, and was always closely interested in ways in which the environmental costs could be reduced.

Sir Ebia wanted to see how PNGSDP's projects were working on the ground. His critical reports when something was not going well were a spur to better efforts. He used every available opportunity to visit projects in Western Province and all over the country.

He enjoyed celebrating the success of many good projects. He took particular interest in projects to combat the HIV/AIDS pandemic and to expand opportunities for women.

Sir Ebia wanted to see how PNGSDP's projects were working on the ground. His critical reports when something was not going well were a spur to better efforts.

He used every available opportunity to visit projects in Western Province and all over the country. He enjoyed celebrating the success of many good projects.

He took particular interest in projects to combat the HIV/AIDS pandemic and to expand opportunity for women.

Sir Ebia encouraged PNGSDP's work in Bougainville, he noted the huge contribution that the Bougainville mine had made to national development in the first years of Independence, and felt deeply the pain of Bougainvilleans as things fell apart for a decade after 1989.

He thought it appropriate that some of the PNGSDP revenues from Western Province's great mine should support development in Bougainville in reciprocation of that Province's contribution to earlier national development.

Three days before his death, Sir Ebia was delighted to open a dormitory for nursing students at the Nazarene nursing school in Kadjip in the Western Highlands.

He was pleased that the school had granted places to students from Western Province. He then traveled to the Southern Highlands and witnessed the results of community achievements in building a primary school in the Lai Valley.

On return he then stopped by to encourage a large tribe in lalibu to address and set their own destiny under their tribal village mode.

Sir Ebia's life and work is an example to us all. The example greatly enriched the work of the Directors and staff of PNGSDP. ■

Milne Bay's Record Provincial Budget

Milne Bay Province has hit a historical note with an overwhelming budget of over K 133 million for the New Year 2009.

Milne Bay Governor, Hon. John Luke Grittin proudly announced last November during the provincial assembly meeting that this was an increase of over 50 percent from last 2007 budget of only K38 million.

For the first time ever, public investment hitting a record K74, 250, 000 million topped a recurrent budget of about K47 million for public servant's and teacher's wages.

Mr Grittin said that the budget included the Misima Mines Rehabilitation Project valued at K20 million; K9 million for the Sanderson Bay foreshore development project; the reconstruction of the burnt down government headquarters at K 5 million; and K14 million for the construction of the North Coast Road.

Governor Grittin said that the increase in the budget was made possible by the cooperation and hard work of all 5 Milne Bay members of parliament.

"If every member works together, it is easy to get things done. My job is to get Milne Bay its fair share of the budget for what it deserves," he said.

He explained: "When I go to see a minister for a project, he doesn't just look at me but at 5 of us and that makes a tremendous difference and a huge impact in Port Moresby."

In addition, Mr Critin revealed plans to purchase a provincial plane at the cost of K2 million from the 2008 provincial budget. He said this would be managed through a partnership with a private enterprise.

This would ensure the smooth running of the plane and help the province with medical emergencies, as well as the distribution of pay to teachers and public servants in rural areas. ■

Tokua Airport Re-opens To Flights

All scheduled flights in and out of Tokua Airport in East New Britain, resumed normal operations as of January 22.

The Airport was closed to all flights early this month after being suspended for almost two weeks due to Mt Tavorvur volcanic activities.

Air Niugini management have cleaned up the ash-covered runway, taxiway and the aircraft parking bay, and advised that it was safe for aircraft to land and take-off.

The Management further advised that due to the unpredictable nature of the wind directions and the volcanic activities, any decision to further suspend flights on short notice is expected.

The Management also reminded passengers and the general public that safety was a paramount concern for Air Niugini, and would be in close contact with the Rabaul Volcano Observatory and Air Traffic Control of Civil Aviation to monitor the situation on a daily basis. ■

Temu Urges MPs To Focus On Impact Projects

Deputy Prime Minister and Abau MP, Hon. Dr. Puka Temu has appealed to colleague ministers and members of parliament to focus on impact projects in their electorates to deliver basic services to the people of Papua New Guinea.

He further urged them to develop strategies visions on key areas and allocate funds under the District Services Improvement Program (DSIP) for the benefit of the rural people.

He made the call when he launched the EMTV signals for his Abau electorate recently in Kupiano station, Central Province.

He said the television service been brought to the area was through funds made available through the joint district planning committee.

Minister Temu said, "I am firm that the Somare-Temu government is committed to rural development and want to create population that is well informed about the government's development agendas through such services".

He said MPs must look into services such as road infrastructure, water and sanitation, health and education, power solar panels to light up homes in the rural villages.

He said Abau will be the first in Papua New Guinea to introduce rural solar power stoves for cooking.

He said an Indian couple will soon be engaged into the area by the joint district planning introduce the rural solar power systems to generate power and piloted houses will be powered by solar power.

He said this will also stop people in the area from cutting down trees for forests and mangroves for wood, as PNG is the highest carbon emitter. ■

The people Abau District, Central Province can now have access to television services in the area after some decades waiting.

This follows the launching of EMTV signals at Kupiano station by the local MP and Deputy Prime Minister Hon. Dr Puka Temu on Tuesday 13th January 2009.

The installation of the television signals in the Abau open electorate is the initiative of Dr Temu through the district's Joint District Planning Project (JDP).

During the launching of the television transmitters, Dr Temu told the people of his electorate that rural communication services is very important for the rural masses.

He the undertaking is the sign of good news for the people of his electorate through the District Services Improvement Program (DSIP) who will become partners in service delivery to the electorate.

He said communication is a very vital tool for growth and development where people are able to make informed decisions in conducting community based initiatives and services provided by the government.

He said the Somare-Temu government is committed in providing rural communication services under the Public-Private-Partnership approved by the National Executive Council recently.

"Communication services has been lacking in PNG due to circumstances. This initiative. ■

Govt Committed To Providing Communication Services: Temu

Deputy Prime Minister and Minister for Mining, Lands and Physical Planning, Hon. Dr Puka Temu says the government is more committed in providing basic communication services to the rural Papua New Guineans.

He said communication is powerful tool and it's about bringing people and the government together to make informed decisions.

Dr. Temu made this known at Kupiano station in his Abau electorate when he launched the EMTV signals early this month.

He said communication is all about bringing people together that unifies the country and the service been brought to the doorsteps of the rural populous.

"Communication empowers people and they are able to partake, involve, and be able to where we are heading towards the near future", he said.

He told the people of his electorate that Abau becomes part of the global village where means of communication is been brought therein.

He said his government is an advocate for Papua New Guinea's advancement in communication infrastructure.

Minister Temu said under the public-private-partnership, the government is looking at bringing vital services for development to the people.

He said to begin with, the Prime Minister, Grand Chief, Sir Michael Somare has recently launched the National Television Service (NTS), and the communication industry is the vehicle that will drive people to achieve maximum results.

He further stated that one of the visions for the government is to bring communication infrastructure services to all parts of the country.

But he said with corporate responsibility taking pace, the government has committed itself to providing this service to the rural populous.

Minister Temu said the communication service will transform the culture of selling and having access to the outside world from here. ■
