

University Service Day

June 6, 1960

On Thursday afternoon, June 23, we shall celebrate University Service Day, honoring nonacademic employees who have earned service awards this year. Samuel Gould, Chancellor of the Santa Barbara campus, will give a talk, and we plan to hold open house from about 3:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. While this is primarily a family party, it will be open to the public.

Ruth Handley, Al Blackstock and I have been planning this event. Several members of the research staff have told us they would be willing to open their laboratories to visitors during those hours. If you would be willing to allow visitors to inspect your laboratory that afternoon, could you let me know by Friday, June 10, which is the deadline for copy for the program?
