

Once there was a girl. She looked up her socks.
She decided to live in a tiger. When she wanted to go out she left through an orange stripe. The tiger had a red eye.
It winked. She blinced. They nestled nests & missed. He had studied tall.
She denied inside. She didn't need socks. She didn't like locks. She had friend who shipped. Friend who ~~didn't~~ know <sup>no</sup> time. Is this your first life? Is this your ~~first~~ wife?
Do you believe in marriage? No but I love you, said the tiger. What do you do with wooden shoes. ~~Wear~~ ~~them~~. Walk in the woods. Talk to blues. Blue friends are good friends. Blue is tops. See? Blue!
Sea blue, a color between green & blue. Some green is mean.
They looked up her dress. What a mess! No, not the dress, I was cracked like stained glass. She an overnight pass - shell's wife

Cecil Beaton Cook, sketch of Tiger, gun grass & shot.
Shot put the shot neatly together, gathered them carefully whenever they appear at the elbow joint,
for example, & make a leopard. Hell leopard, meet tiger, what color do you inside slip in through a shot. oh, lovely, furry inside! grey & tickly.

Did you know leopards are picky.

they looked up her coat. She got her goat.
 Her goat gave milk. Her coat was silk. ~~They~~ set lavender silk with yellow flowers.
 She wore it in a room with striped wallpaper. white ground. black stripes.
~~pink~~ red grass roses with green stems.
~~pink roses~~ Ahem. Do you like the ~~thing~~ <sup>ring?</sup>
 Wear it. See the sparkle she a silly.
 Willy, really. Lost the name! Her ring place beside the tiger. Wearing a lavender coat.
