

Calendar announcement, U.S.-Latin American relations will be examined during a three-day conference sponsored by Center for Iberian/Latin American Studies at UCSD May 16-18

March 18, 1996

Media Contact: Pat JaCoby, 534-7404

CALENDAR ANNOUNCEMENT

The current status of U.S.-Latin American relations will be examined during a three-day conference to be sponsored by the Center for Iberian/Latin American Studies (CILAS) at the University of California, San Diego, May 16-18.

"The United States and Latin America: Reassessing the Relationship" conference will present a timely and independent analysis of both continuity and change in Inter-American affairs since the conclusion of the Cold War. Discussion will include Clinton administration relations and policies.

The event, free and open to the public, will begin at 4 p.m. May 16. Additional information may be obtained by calling Julie Grey, 534-7635.

(March 18, 1996)