THE NEW ZEALAND KIWIS

Matthew Ridge
MANLY Warringah

Position: Fullback
Age: 26
Height: 1.81m
Weight: 83kg
Returns to the New Zealand team after missing the 1993 trans-Tasman Tests and tour to Britain and France because of injuries. Ridge was back to his best form for Manly this year, scoring 234 points in the Winfield Cup. The former All Black now has a career aggregate of 773 points for the Sea Eagles, averaging about 10 points per game. Joined Manly in 1990 and was an instant success, representing his country against Great Britain and in the second Test in Papua New Guinea that season. Ridge has scored one try and 23 goals in his seven previous Tests. Outstanding goalkicker and all-round fullback.

Jason Williams
CANTERBURY

Position: Winger
Age: 28
Height: 1.78m
Weight: 87kg
Even before his 15th birthday Williams had the ambitions to play Winfield Cup and international rugby league. He left his Christchurch home town for Sydney as a schoolboy, worked his way through to first grade with Wests, and also played for Easts and Souths before enjoying his finest moments with the Bulldogs. Made his Kiwi debut in the 24-8 defeat of Australia at Melbourne in 1991, and forced his way back into the Test line-up in Britain last year. William's now famous run down the left flank set up the Halligan field goal which put Canterbury into the 1994 grand final. Can also play fullback. Seven Tests.

Daryl Halligan
CANTERBURY

Position: Winger
Age: 28
Height: 1.88m
Weight: 90kg
Topped the Winfield Cup points-scoring for a record-equalling fourth consecutive season since setting a North Sydney club record in his debut for 1991 season. This year transferred to Canterbury-Bankstown and is now the Bulldogs record-holder, and took his Winfield Cup career aggregate beyond 800 points. The most vital of those points was the extra-time field goal against Canberra in the 1994 major semi-final. Halligan was lauded as a great goalkicker while at Norths, but the switch to Canterbury gave him a chance to prove his qualities as an outstanding finisher on the right wing. Eight Tests.

Sean Hoppe
NORTH SYDNEY

Position: Winger
Age: 24
Height: 1.85m
Weight: 95kg
Signed by the Canberra Raiders in 1992, but released when his 1995 Auckland Warriors allegiance became public, Hoppe was recruited by North Sydney for the 1994 season. Both parties benefited. Hoppe further enhanced a glowing reputation and contributed 15 tries to a Bears' campaign which reached the preliminary final. In 1993 he had been second most prolific try-scorer behind Canberra team-mate Noa Nudruku. The most memorable of his eight Tests was the 14-14 draw with Australia at Auckland in 1993, when Hoppe scored both Kiwi tries. Hoppe was in the 1989 Junior Kiwi team which toured PNG.

Jarrod McCracken
CANTERBURY-BANKSTOWN

Position: Centre
Age: 24
Height: 1.91m
Weight: 100kg
New Zealand fans are delighted to see this powerful centre back in a Kiwi jersey, after an all too brief eight-Test career since 1991. Suspension caused him to miss the 1992 internationals and injury cost him a 1993 tour to Britain and France. McCracken was attached to Norths as a 1989 Kiwi rookie, but Canterbury-Bankstown scouts found him playing at Port Macquarie in 1991. Later that season he scored a try the first time he touched the ball in a Test, against France at Carlaw Park, and went on to star in a big win over Australia at Melbourne. Previously toured Papua New Guinea with 1989 Junior Kiwis.

Whetu Taewa
COUNTIES-MANUKAU

Position: Centre
Age: 23
Height: 1.80m
Weight: 87kg
Toured Britain and France as a teenaged winger in 1989 and again last year, when he developed into a Test centre, his preferred position. Toured Papua New Guinea with the 1989 Junior Kiwis as he fashioned a brilliant junior career, first on the West Coast and then during five years in the champion Canterbury provincial team. Taewa transferred to Counties-Manukau for the 1994 inaugural Lion Red Cup competition, and also represented Auckland, as a prelude to starting a contract with the Auckland Warriors in the 1995 Winfield Cup. Played for Kiwi Colts against 1992 Kumuls. Four Tests.

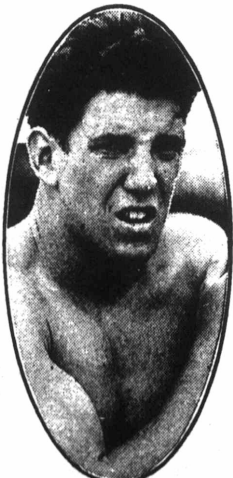

Kevin Iro
LEEDS

Position: Centre
Age: 26
Height: 1.88m
Weight: 95kg
The formidable Iro would have happy memories of Port Moresby. It was there in 1987, as a 19-year-old, that he established two world records by scoring 20 points in his Test debut, a match that was the springboard to a famous win over Australia at Lang Park. Since then Iro has fashioned an illustrious professional record, especially in winning four Challenge Cups with Wigan (scoring two tries in each of the first three finals at Wembley, twice the number of any other player). Spent two seasons at Manly before going back to Britain, this time with Leeds. Has scored 13 tries in his 24 Test matches.

Ruben Wiki
CANBERRA

Position: Centre
Age: 21
Height: 1.75m
Weight: 95kg
Last season Wiki started in only one first grade game for Canberra, and was never sighted by the Kiwi selectors. The 1994 transformation has been quite remarkable. Four tries against Newcastle established Wiki as Mal Meninga's regular centre partner. His success comes as no surprise to Frank Endacott, who coached Wiki in the 1992 Junior Kiwis side which beat the Australian. By the time Wiki played for Auckland against Manly in a 1993 pre-season game, Canberra was already in hot pursuit for the youngster. His future is in dispute between Canberra and the Auckland Warriors. New cap.

Gene Ngamu
SOUTH SYDNEY

Position: Five-eighth
Age: 20
Height: 1.79m
Weight: 85kg
Targeted by then Manly coach Graham Lowe at 16, Ngamu spent two seasons with the Sea Eagles, mostly serving his professional apprenticeship in reserve grade, only to be cut this year after undergoing a shoulder re-contraction. The shoulder problem had plagued Ngamu's Kiwi tour to Britain last year, but did not prevent him making his Test debut at Wembley. Signed for the Auckland Warriors for 1995, he was recruited by Souths for the latter part of this season. A product of the New Zealand rugby league's elite development scheme, Ngamu starred in the 1992 Junior Kiwi victory over Australian Schoolboys.

Aaron Whittaker
WAKEFIELD TRINITY

Position: Halfback
Age: 26
Height: 1.73m
Weight: 80kg
Caused a sensation by displacing Gary Freeman for the third Test in England last year before injury kept him out of the French Test. It was no surprise that Whittaker was chosen for the tour after an outstanding season for Canterbury Cardinals in the Lion Red Cup, New Zealand Residents in Australia, and in his debut season at Wakefield. Developed his goalkicking ton our last year, and can cover five-eighth as well as halfback. Previous overseas experience with Illawarra Steelers and lowly Chorley Borough in England. Made his representative debut Canterbury provincial side in 1990.

Gary Freeman
PENRITH

Position: Halfback
Age: 32
Height: 1.7m
Weight: 75kg
New Zealand's most capped player, with 37 Test appearances, the first 36 of them consecutive after his debut against Australia in 1986. Captained the Kiwis in 16 of those matches. After a brief experience at Castleford, Freeman left the Northcote Club in Auckland to start an outstanding Winfield Cup career with Balmain in 1988. Played in two grand finals with the Tigers before moving on to Easts in 1992, when he was chosen as Dally M Player of the Year. Signed a two year contract with Penrith before the 1994 season and continues to be one of the most influential players in the Winfield Cup.

Duane Mann
NORTH HARBOUR

Position: Hooker (capt)
Age: 29
Height: 1.78m
Weight: 87kg
Makes a triumphant return to the Kiwis as captain after losing his Test place in England last year. That ended a sequence of 26 consecutive Tests which began against Australia in 1989 and included two tours to Britain and France. Long and faithful service is nothing new to this efficient all-rounder, for he played more than 100 consecutive games for Warrington in the English First Division, including a Challenge Cup Final. Captained the successful North Harbour Sea Eagles in the Lion Red Cup and New Zealand Residents this season, and is to line up with the Auckland Warriors for the 1995 Winfield Cup.

Hitro Okesene
COUNTIES-MANUKAU

Position: Utility forward
Age: 23
Height: 1.80m
Weight: 95kg
Selection for the tour climaxes a memorable season for Okesene, who will be Duane Mann's understudy at hooker but is also capable of challenging for a Test position in the second-row. A Junior Kiwi against Australian Schoolboys in 1988 and on tour to Papua New Guinea in 1989, he emerged as the Auckland provincial team's regular hooker last year. The introduction of the Lion Red Cup gave Okesene another chance to impress the people that count. He did just that earning a contract with the Auckland Warriors and clinching Kiwi selection as Counties-Manukau stormed into the Lion Red Cup grand final.

John Lomax
CANBERRA

Position: Front-row
Age: 28
Height: 1.78m
Weight: 106kg
Lomax had the most bitter-sweet day of his career on September 18. Only 90 minutes after being named in the Kiwi touring team he was sent off during the Winfield Cup preliminary final against Norths, and subsequently suspended from the grand final. It might be scant compensation that this former Wainuiomata (Wellington) prop has proved himself as one of the most effective front-rowers in the Australian competition and is poised to become a cornerstone of New Zealand's Test pack. Played in all seven Tests against Australia and tour to Britain and France last year, five as a replacement.

INTRODUCING

KMF LINE
LIKLIK SOMIL

Fully portable, wokabout unit

From
K12,000.00

This is JOE WOWOK, General Manager of KUIBANG METAL FABRICATION who since 1985 has been extensively involved with the design and introduction of the WOKABAUT SOMIL concept in Papua New Guinea

Joe Wowok's, intensive and consistent commitment in bringing to the market a commendable product paid off in 1985, together with his colleagues in Village Equipment Supplies, later renamed Natquip, produced a bluecopy line-up of the WOKABAUT SOMIL.

The concept basically involves a set module together with an inbuilt engine and blades which can be easily assembled on site to mill ready cut timbers for any building purposes.

The introduction of the WOKABAUT SOMIL concept into the market was a success story in itself as in line with the forestation programme. The advantage of the WOKABAUT SOMIL was that the unit can be dismantled and transported or carried to the log site where the unit is assembled and sawmilling is undertaken. A very limited space is required for the unit thus saving the surrounding areas. After the sawmilling is done the unit is dismantled and relocated thus saving an entire land to be cleared.

The success of the WOKABAUT SOMIL is evident of the 700 unit being sold to small business groups throughout Papua New Guinea. One such example is the unit now at Gabensis which is being used to cut ready sized timber sold to customers for building purposes.

KUIBANG METAL FABRICATORS, a wholly national owned company has put together a comprehensive package along with two of their fully trained personels who when a unit is sold are sent to the area to train the purchaser on the operation of the unit.

All assembling frames and sections are all made here in Papua New Guinea while only the engine and blades are required from overseas.

Joe Wowok finally concludes, "Land in Papua New Guinea has always being a valued asset. Even from the time of our forefathers land was sacred. It is only now that land is exchanged for a considerable low sum of money. Before you just couldn't or even dare to transpass to cut logs for your house. With the coming of the cash economy greed has succumb the traditional land values. We believe that with the introduction of our WOKABAUT SOMIL, land owners are able to control the cutting of their forest. Also they won't have to destroy their entire land to get timber. Also they can rent their unit to neighbouring villages to get their timbers either to sell or for building someone's house in the village."

"Our hope is that people, especially land owners should realise that we now have here a idea unit which can still benefit them while at the same time save a great deal of their forest of younger trees and shrubs. Given time for the smaller and unmatured trees to be ready for future uses."

The Walkabout Somil is a fully portable, wokabout unit with this features-

- 1 it comes with a 8m track demountable in 4 H 2m bolt - together sections.
- 2 It has an end - stand system which supports the track, and basic guaging and track adjustment clamps for sizing timbers.
- 3 It has a carriage unit which rolls along the tract, pulled by a wire-rope winch. This unit carries the 18hp petrol engine which powers the 2 insert-teeth circular saw blades which, in operation, produce dimensioned timber on each pass along the log.
- 4 The unit also comes with a booklet / spec, a jockey tooth grinder powered by 12v battery from the engine, and a range of spare teeth, insert shanks.
- 5 Training is also available for each unit purchased, as well as a range of optional chain saws, and other tools which may be required on site.
