Cat® Vibratory Soil Compactors

CS-563E
CP-563E

Designed to provide...
Outstanding Performance, Reliability and Fuel Efficiency.

The 563E Series Compactors are high production units. Standard dual amplitude, changeable from the operator's station, expands the application range. Operate in high amplitude to get density on thick lifts in the fewest passes. Select low amplitude when operating next to structures, when approaching final density, or to avoid fracturing aggregates. Patented eccentric weight design assures positive amplitude selection and helps extend vibratory system service life.

Minor Cabinet Reshuffle

There are two new faces in Prime Minister, Sir Michael Somare's Cabinet line-up.

In a minor Cabinet reshuffle, the Parliamentary Public Accounts Committee Chairman, Hon. John Hickey has been given the Finance and Planning portfolio while the Member for Huon Gulf, Hon. Sasa Zibe is the Minister for Agriculture and Livestock.

Hon. Zibe takes over from Hon. Matthew Siune, who has been shifted to the Labour and Industrial Relations Ministry.

Hon. John Hickey and Hon. Sasa Zibe are National Alliance MPs from the Momase region while Hon. Matthew Siune is a Member of the PNG Party led by Rt. Hon. Sir Mekere Morauta.

They were sworn into office at Government House on Friday 23rd June 2006 by the Acting Governor-General, Hon. Jeffrey Nape.

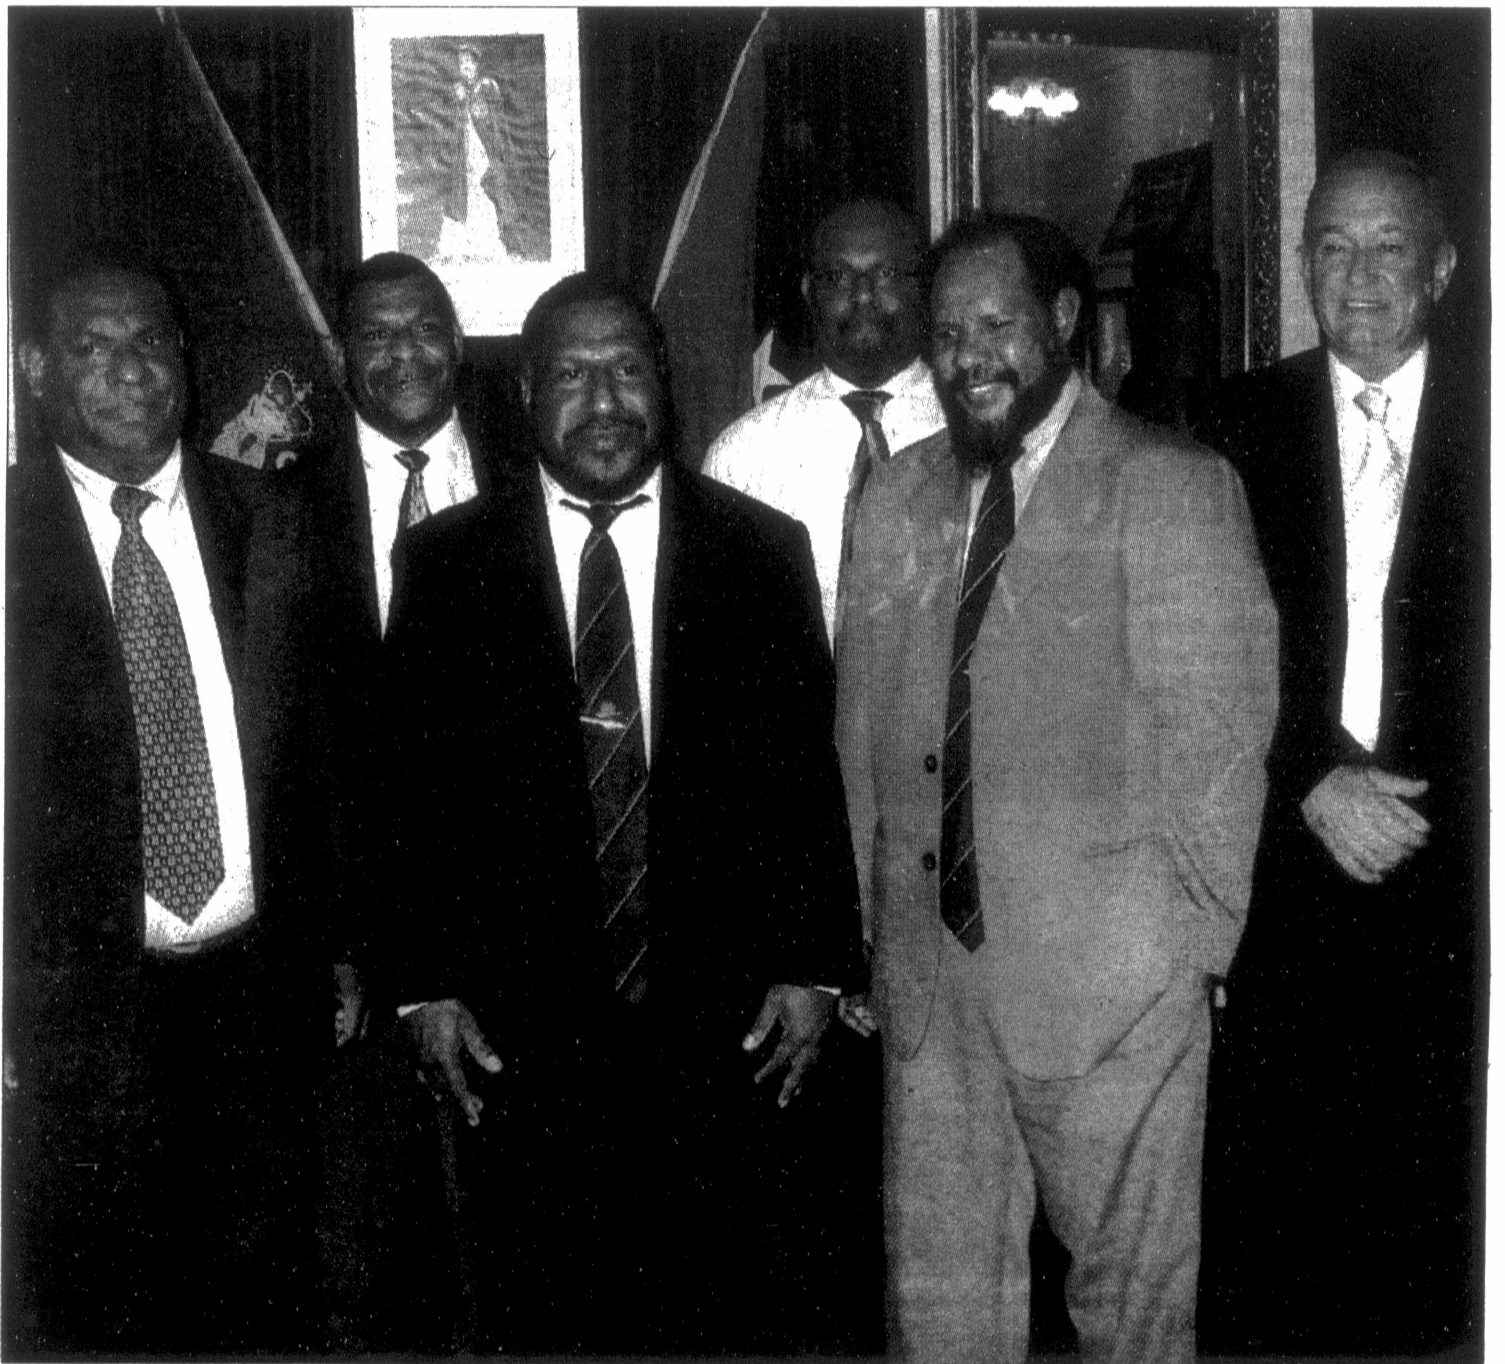

This is the third Cabinet reshuffle this year.

Then Acting Prime Minister, Hon. Patrick Pruaitch said that Prime Minister Sir Michael Somare had made the changes before leaving for France last week.

He said these changes would most likely result in a bigger reshuffle when Sir Michael returns to the country.

The former Minister for Labour and Industrial Relations and Middle Fly MP, Hon. Roy Biyama has been retained in Cabinet as Minister for State.

"A new Public Accounts Committee Chairman will be appointed when Parliament meets on 25th July 2006," Mr Pruaitch added. ■

LANDS / JUSTICE

Land Taskforce To Begin Work

NRI boss, Dr Thomas Webster handing over the NLDL book after the launch at the Parliament House. On the left is Deputy Prime Minister, Hon. Sir Moi Avei and Lands and Physical Planning Minister, Hon. Dr. Puka Temu.

The National Land Development Taskforce will soon fast track its work in reviewing current land laws and regulations governing land use in Papua New Guinea after its launching recently.

Chairperson of the (NLDL) and Director of the National Research Institute (NRI), Dr Thomas Webster thanked the Prime Minister, Grand

Chief Sir Michael Somare for launching the Taskforce and the government for supporting the land reform initiative.

The Taskforce with membership from the private, government and NGO sectors comprises three sub-committees that have been given the job of implementing the recommendations of the National Land Summit which was held at the University of Technology in Lae last August.

The main recommendation of the Summit was to establish a Taskforce to:

- ♦ Improve current land administration and practices in order to improve land utilization
- ♦ Reform the land dispute resolution system
- ♦ Establish a compensation tribunal and
- ♦ Improve customary land usage, in particular, providing a framework for the economic utilization of customary land.

Dr Webster said the sub-committee on Land Administration, to be chaired by Mr Smyly Bannerman, Head of the Department of Surveying and Land Studies, University of Technology, has the task of simplifying alienated land administration.

Their role includes researching and educating the public on the land administration system and reviewing and making necessary changes to laws in order to reduce the time required for the issuance of a title.

He added that the subcommittee will make recommendations on ways to improve the management of the land records system, review the operations of the Physical Planning Board and the National Land Board and recommend ways to improve their operations, and make recommendations concerning the decentralization of land administration functions to Provincial and District-level governments.

Dr Webster also said the subcommittee which will review customary land development will be chaired by Professor Lawrence Kalinoe, Dean of the Law Faculty, University of Papua New Guinea, and will investigate ways to make customary land available for development purposes.

This subcommittee has the difficult task of strengthening customary land ownership, yet making it available for positive development, as well as proposing ways whereby integrated land groups have their land registered and leased to a developer, and can collect annual rents.

Dr Webster said the members of the NLDL subcommittees were Papua New Guinean experts, who came from a wide cross-section of society. The ideas developed by these committees, once adopted by the Taskforce, will be thoroughly discussed and debated through a wider consultation process.

He added that it is important to consider the many different views that people have about land in Papua New Guinea

The Taskforce is schedule to complete its work by the end of July 2006 and prepare a Report for the Minister for Lands and Physical Planning, Hon. Puka Temu, to present to the National Executive Council.

Following the adoption of the Report, Cabinet will then direct the relevant agencies to implement the decisions.

Those recommendations which require legislative changes will be taken to Parliament for consideration, while those that only need administrative changes will be implemented as required. ■

Public Safety Improves At Barola

Commuters and motorists traveling on the Barola hills have not been victimized in a long time yet, says the Officer-In Charge of the Highway Patrol in Goroka.

Senior Sergeant Dick Thambua, a 33-year veteran highway patrol officer made this known to the Public Solicitor, Mr. Frazier Pitpit at the Barola hills recently.

"We have seen a drastic reduction in armed hold ups since we commenced regular patrols on the Barola hills.

"We have made some progress despite some challenges but I am sure with the commitment from the youths, we can improve further," said Mr Thambua.

Senior Sergeant Thambua also thanked the communities who assisted in the exercise.

He added that most villagers on the Barola hills were peace-loving and perpetrators were from outside areas such as Okapa, Kainantu and some as far as Lae and Kerema.

Mr Thambua added that several initiatives have also seen positive outcomes and he has appealed to other NGOs and donor to assist.

"We have trained youths to plant sweet potatoes as well as organize leadership training courses for these youths.

Public Solicitor Frazier Pitpit making a point during recent discussions.

"Our biggest challenge is to ensure that these youths are fitted back to their communities and keep them occupied," said Mr Thambua.

He said the Eastern Highlands Provincial administration has been supportive, assisting with a vehicle, which has enabled his men to pursue some of the initiatives.

Mr Thambua also said there are plans to make Barola a centre spot for a Community Centre, which will include a coffee shop and market.

Public Solicitor, Mr. Frazier Pitpit thanked Mr. Thambua for his efforts and added that the success of Barola was the result of relentless efforts by the law and justice agencies.

Mr Pitpit also thanked the communities for their proactive approach, adding that he was confident of more success. ■

ENVIRONMENT / AGRICULTURE

Protecting The PNG/Indon Wetlands

Dr Navu Kwapena, First Assistant Secretary of Parks and Wildlife with Department of Environment and Conservation, who attended the Madang meeting.

Papua New and Indonesia are working closely to conserve the ecosystem of the largest and richest savanna wetlands, covering more than 10 million hectares in the bordering provinces of the two countries.

And to protect the pristine wetlands, a conservation vision was launched in Madang in the middle of last month, which was attended by government and community leaders from Papua New Guinea and Indonesia together with scientists, conservation organizations and stakeholders.

They gathered in Madang from the 16-18 May to decide how best to conserve one of the important centers of biological diversity in the world, the Transfly.

The Transfly is home to over 50% of New Guinea's total number of bird species, including 80 that are endemic to the island and numerous birds of paradise.

There are also endemic marsupial cats, flying possums and the richest diversity of reptiles.

Environmentalist and Governments of both countries are gravely concerned that globally important Transfly is increasingly under threat from logging, agricultural expansion, mining, roads and settlements development.

World Wildlife Fund for nature, (WWF) said the Transfly Biodiversity Vision Workshop represented the culmination of three years of consultations, data collection, mapping and analysis to identify and prioritize the habitats and species.

WWF says this enable the documentation of the importance of the region for traditional cultures, local land-owner groups and their livelihoods.

It says the outcome of this research and the vision of the Madang Workshop will become the blueprint for conservation and development in the Transfly region for the next 50 years.

"It will also highlight and strengthen the need to conserve the unique cultural features of this landscape," the WWF statement said.

Those who spoke at the Madang Workshop included the First Assistant Secretary of Parks and Wildlife with PNG's Department Environment and Conservation, Dr Navu Kwapena, WWF Country Director in PNG, Mr Michael Avosa and Mr Abia Bai, a PNG community leader.

Those from the Indonesian side included Mr Banjar Laban, Director of Conservations, Forest Conservation and Natural Resources, Mr Ian Kosasih, WWF's Indonesia Director of Forest Programs and the WWF Papua Director, Mr Benja Mambai, and a community leader of the Papua Province of Indonesia, Mr Yulianus Gebze. ■

Market Access For PNG Produce In NZ

Papua New Guinea farmers can now export certain agricultural produce to New Zealand markets.

Then, Minister for Agriculture and Livestock, Hon. Mathew Siune urged farmers to take advantage of the availability of market access for PNG produce mainly betel nut, coconut, taro, pitpit, cassava, yam and fresh ginger.

Mr Siune encouraged the agriculture business community and farmers to utilize the opportunities in market accessibility that have been created by the Government through its agencies like the National Agriculture Quarantine and Inspection Authority.

Whilst the protocols of the export procedures have all been agreed to by relevant agencies of both governments, the onus is now on the business community, individual farmers and exporters to take advantage of this opportunity to commercialize exports of the marketable agriculture commodities, he added.

"The Government as part of its export-driven strategies has been striving to reaffirm and enhance the various multilateral and bilateral trade arrangements as well as open up new trading opportunities.

"One of such existing and successful arrangements is with the New Zealand government," Mr Siune said.

Although New Zealand has strict import health standards outlining the requirements that must be met prior to export, NAQIA and other line agencies stand ready to assist in ensuring quality, standards and security of these commodities in keeping with the agreed quarantine and phytosanitary requirements.

Mr Siune has said all relevant agencies must assist in ensuring that stakeholders enjoy the maximum benefits from this market access, as well as other arrangements involving the agriculture sector.

As Minister, he directed his Department and NAQIA to arrange consultation meetings with all stakeholders involved in growing and supplying of agriculture produce to inform and discuss the protocols and establishment of export facilities for the commodities to New Zealand markets.

"Agriculture is the backbone of this country and it is here to stay.

"Let us all work together to maximize benefits from this and similar opportunities to take agriculture to the next level for the betterment of our people and Papua New Guinea." He said. ■

Education Officers Meet In Hagen

Secretary for Education Dr. Joseph Pagelio

Senior education Officers now have a better focus on how they can contribute to the development of strong moral principles in schools, workplaces and communities.

They gathered in Mount Hagen for the 2006 Senior Education Officers Conference from the 26 to 30 June 2006 to discuss; 'Strong Ethics-Strong People' at the Kimininga Hotel.

Secretary for Education Dr.

Joseph Pagelio said the conference theme is also overarches the theme of "Prosperity Through Self-Reliance" over the next ten years..

Dr. Pagelio said presentations and discussions at the conference will focus on how education can contribute positively to the development of strong moral principles.

Western Highlands Governor, Hon.Paias Wingti was to have given the opening address, whilst the Minister for Education, Hon. Michael Laimo was to have officially open the conference.

The keynote address was to have been delivered by the former Chief Justice, Sir Arnold Amet.

Special guest speakers were from the Ombudsman Commission, Transparency International, Accelerated Christian Education Agency, Volunteer Service Organisation, United Church and Department of Community Development.

Provincial Education Advisors also made presentations on the progress of the Provincial Education Plans and the challenges they expect during the implementation period as well as what the Provincial Education Division is doing to promote the theme "Strong Ethics-Strong People".

Pongani Bridge; Vital Link for Oro's Growth

More than 40,000 people living in the Ijivitari District of Oro Province are reported to be cut off to the rest of the province by the damaged Pongani bridge.

Reports from the District indicate that constant heavy rains in the area have badly damaged the bridge.

Provincial and Local Level Government Affairs Secretary, Mr Gei Ilagi who made a visit to the area recently says the people who live along the Managlas plateau under the Owen Stanley Range have been isolated from Popondetta for almost four years.

"High rainfall recording occur daily on this mountainous region, causing huge drainage on the jungle roads.

"It has continuously caused many rivers like Pongani to flood their banks on a regular basis, making accessibility to the provincial headquarters impossible for weeks and even months." Mr Ilagi said

He said the bridge at Pongani river was damaged by heavy flood in the area in 2001.

The bridge is about twenty kilometers inland on the coast along the Arek Highway linking Oro Bay Local Level Government station.

Acting Oro Provincial Administrator, Mr Sarea Meakoro said the bridge was salvaged by the Department of Works when it first collapsed in 2001 but due to continuous rainfall, the bridge collapsed again.

"It has never been maintained to this day," he said.

Mr Meakoro says the replacement bridge under the first phase of the Yumi Yet Bridge Program was diverted to another road project in the province and there were no funds to repair the bridge along a nationally declared road.

And according to public servants at Afore Station, there's been only one flight into the area to airlift coffee under the Green Revolution Program for the markets in Port Moresby.

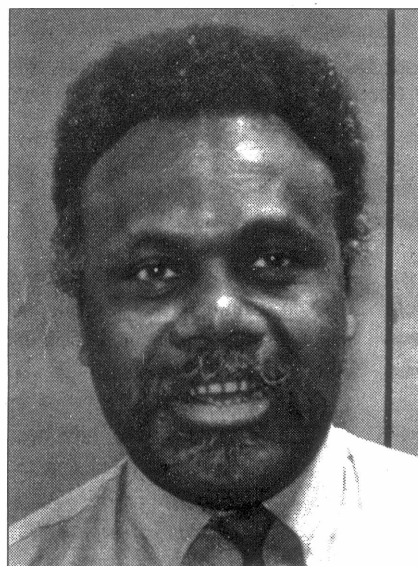

Meanwhile, Secretary Ilagi has told the Afore people to work hard to develop the huge tourism and agriculture potentials of the area.

He said by engaging in economic activities, people in these area will have more cash in their pockets.

Mr Ilagi and his team also stopped by at Boa village to see the drying and packing of coffee beans, ready for the outside markets.

The Secretary and his Officers were in the province to facilitate the formulation of a Corporate Plan for the Department of Oro. ■

National Library Upgrade In Progress

Director-General of the National Library and Archives Services, Mr. Daniel Paraide.

improve infrastructure, collections, services, skilling staff and improve expertise.

The Director-General of the Office of Libraries and Archives, Mr Daniel Paraide says at various phases of the project, it will be necessary for the National Library to be closed to the public for periods of time, ranging from a few days to a few weeks.

"Part of the initial preparatory work included carrying out a stock-take of the various collections. The stock-take was scheduled from Friday 9th to Saturday 17th June.

"The National Library was therefore closed to the public during this period.

"The National Library was reopened on Monday 19th June," said Mr Paraide.

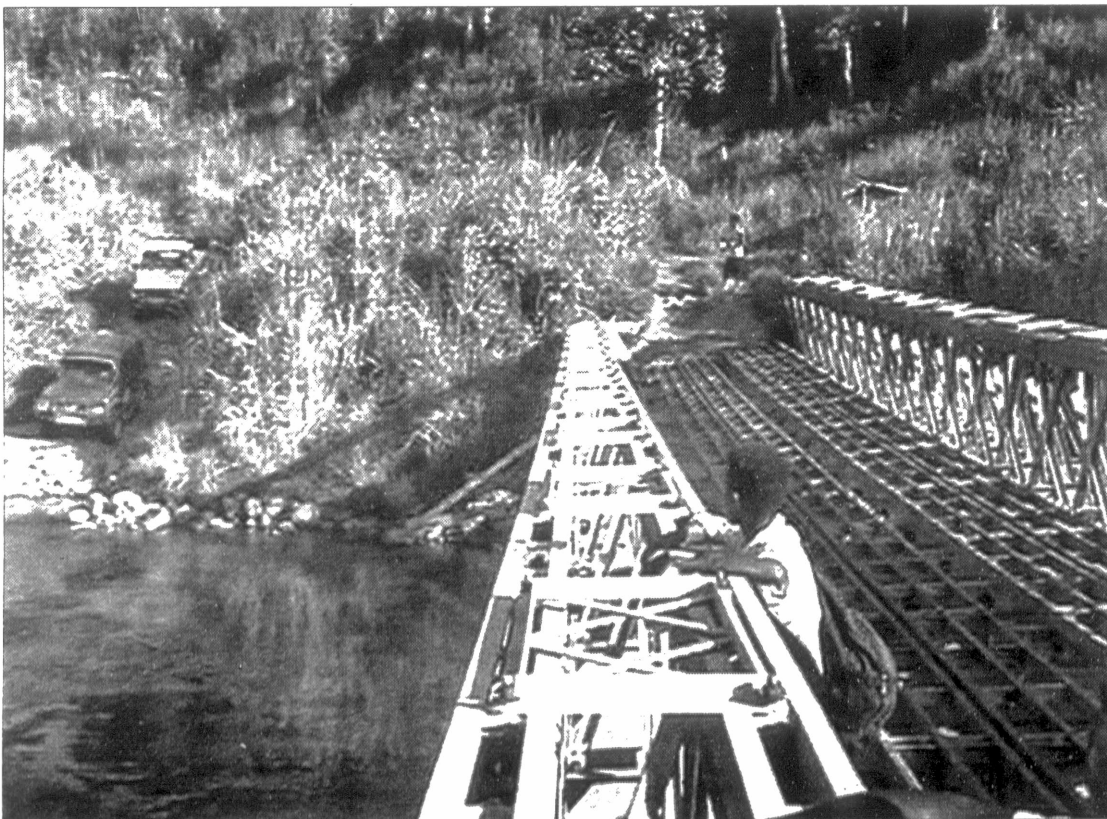

While the public areas of the National Library will be closed, other services it provides to schools, public and government library support services will continue. ■

Work has begun on the national library upgrading.

The project will include renovations to the building, replacement of air-conditioning system and rearrangement and improvement of the collections and services.

This project will go on from June 2006 to November 2007.

The main objective of the project is a new-look National Library to

The Pongani bridge in Oro that needs to be repaired as vehicles have been crossing the river since 2001.

GOOD GOVERNANCE

Pacific PS Commissioners Meet

Papua New Guinea has successfully hosted another important international event following the last ACP-EU Conference last month.

The Pacific Regional Public Service Commissioners Conference, which will be held in Port Moresby from the 19th - 21st June 2006.

The Conference is an annual event that brings heads of the public service commissions in the South Pacific region including Australia and New Zealand to discuss issues confronting the public service in the region.

The theme for the Conference 'An Affordable and Sustainable Public Service effective and efficient services' and its vision is to 'enhance the development of public administration in the Pacific region gearing towards improving service delivery, transparency, integrity and accountability through networking and co-operation'.

Papua New Guinea Public Service Minister, Hon. Sinai Brown says the Conference was an excellent opportunity for PNG to showcase its achievements in terms of the Public Sector Reform and to develop and strengthen its network within the Pacific region.

Topics of discussion included public sector employment, governance, ethics, leadership development and performance in the public service.

The Conference is the fourth with the first being held Suva, Fiji in 2003, second in Apia, Samoa in 2004, and third in Nadi Fiji in 2005.

The Conference was funded by AusAid, NZ Aid and the PNG government. ■

Sir Peter Moves To Restore Stadium

The Government has decided to maintain the new-look Sir John Guise Indoor Sports Complex by placing its care and up-keep to the National Events Council Secretariat

Cabinet has decided on this arrangement until all the other organizations involved in the administration of the Sir John Guise Stadium and the Indoor Complex are consulted and a decision made on the use and up-keep of the multi million kina property of Government.

It has cost just under K2.5 million to refurbish the Indoor Stadium, as the venue to befit the ACP-EU Council Ministers Meeting, which was attended by delegates from 79 ACP Members States and 25 European Union members countries from the 28th May to the 2nd June 2006.

The refurbishment, carried under a contract with Kumagai Gumi Company included repainting, carpeting, landscaping, tiling, lighting, air-conditioning, upgrading of banking, postal, airline and telecommunication facilities.

Chairman of the National Events Council, Sir Peter Barter told reporters at a news conference on the 6th June, that Cabinet has decided to maintain the facility as a multi-purpose complex to host future international conferences and sporting events.

He says a 'user-pay' system will be introduced to cover the costs of electricity, greening of the lawns and general up-keep of the stadium.

Sir Peter also says business houses and service providers who assisted in airlines, banking, postal, telecommunication and other services during the ACP-EU Council of Minister's Meeting should continue to provide their services from the indoor complex.

He said it was central location and convenient for public servants and members of parliament.

On the hosting of the ACP-EU Meeting, Sir Peter said this was the best ACP-EU Conference.

The hardworking Chairman of the Events Council described the Conference as 'very successful'.

"We have lifted the image of Papua New Guinea," Sir Peter said.

He said the National Events Council Secretariat operated within the K9 million budgeted for the event to successfully co-ordinate transport, accommodation, airline travel, conference facilities, telecommunications, banking, postal services, and associated activities. ■

Minister Brown Launches PSWDI

Public Service Minister, Hon. Sinai Brown launched the Papua New Guinea Public Sector Workforce Development Initiative (PSWDI) on 22nd June 2006 at the Sir John Guise Indoor Complex.

He told Departmental Heads and Provincial Administrators who were attending the two-day seminar that Public Sector Workplace Development Initiative (PSWDI) is the major workforce development initiative of the Government.

Minister Brown said the initiative would encompass an integrated approach to development and enhancement of skills, knowledge and abilities of public servants.

"The identification of workforce requirement to provide the most effective and appropriate workforce development options and their implementations is the core focus of this initiative," the Minister said.

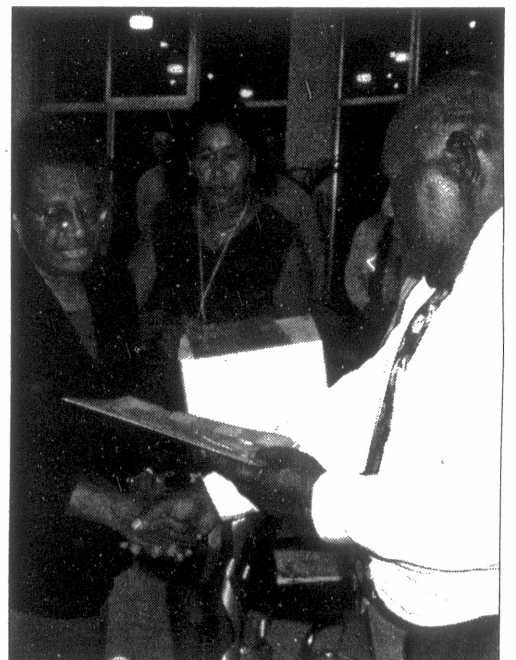

Mr. Brown said the government was concerned about the general decline in the competence of PNG public service workforce and he has ordered a stock take in April 2004 with the assistance from AusAid.

The Minister said he is pleased with the job done well by some senior public servants and expressed his sincere appreciation.

He said it is now the responsibility of all the government departments, DPM, CACC, PSWDI and Inter Departmental Committee to ensure the implementation process, this stimulating an effective and efficient public service machinery in PNG. ■

Developments In Morobe

Promote Competitive Cash Crops: Wenge

Morobe Governor, Hon. Luther Wenge launching NARI booklets at the open day at the Bubia National Agricultural Research Institute outside Lae last month.

Morobe Governor, Hon. Luther Wenge has challenged the National Agricultural Research Institute to promote alternative cash crops for which PNG has an edge in the world.

"NARI should now look into promoting cash crops that are light and easier to transport than traditional commercial crops such as coffee and cocoa which are so costly to transport from rural areas where there are no good roads," Mr Wenge said.

He was speaking during the research organisation's 9th anniversary recently in Lae.

He said NARI should be innovative and creative to look into other aspects of crops which may have some significant value.

"There are some traditional crops that most research is centred on like coffee, coconut and sweet potato which have many suppliers in Papua New Guinea.

"It's time NARI should do research into other commercial crops like vanilla, turmeric and other high value products," Mr Wenge said.

He says vanilla was one such a crop that does not need to be transported in truckloads like coffee.

Mr Wenge also called on agricultural researchers to look into ways of finding value in other parts of food crops like banana and cassava.

He stressed that banana fingers are edible but the other parts of the plant, like the trunk and leaves may have some commercial value.

He also thanked the NARI Director General, Dr Raghunath Ghodake and Council Chairman, Dr John Kola for managing NARI as one of the best governed public institutions in the country in terms of accountability and development of the rural agriculture sector. ■

Home Grown Policies Needed: Wenge Urges

Papua New Guinea's progress must be driven by long term policies and plans developed by institutions within the country.

This was the highlight of Morobe Governor, Hon. Luther Wenge's address to the National Youth Conference in Lae recently.

"We must have home-grown policies that will help every citizen," he said.

He has commended the Department of Community Development and the National Youth Commission for taking immediate step to develop the National Youth Policy for Papua New Guinea.

Leaders in youth development gathered in Lae from the 4-7 June 2006 to formulate a five year National Youth Policy for 2007-2011 period.

the time but we must masters of what we are doing.

"We must make sure that policies are ours.

"We can get it from others but they can't work. But we must make it ours so that it goes well with our rate of progress in line with our long term vision." He said.

Governor Wenge told the participants that Papua New Guineans are very intelligent people who can develop plans to progress the country in the long term.

"We must not copy from others because have enough human resources to develop workable policies at all levels of the PNG communities," he said.

He said well formulated policies would provide a lot of opportunities for the youth to help themselves.

He said Morobe is ready to implement the National Youth Policy for the betterment of youth people. ■

No Room For Poverty In Morobe

The Morobe Provincial Government is taking serious steps to combat poverty in the Province.

And it has initiated several economic growth projects that will generate income for the province put money in people's pockets.

And Governor Luther Wenge says: "Agriculture is the most important sector for the province and the country as whole and will remain so for many years.

"It provides a livelihood for about 85% of the economically active population and employment for 25% of the workforce in the formal sector of the economy."

He says his government believes that people must 'go back to the soil' to sustain their livelihood.

Governor Wenge says a wide rice farming will be aggressively pursued with the assistance of the National Agriculture Research Institute and the Rice Farm at Bubia near Lae.

Morobe Provincial Government figures indicate that in the 1980's, agriculture accounted for about 31% of total exports from the province while in the same period, agriculture contributed about 40% of PNG's gross domestic product.

In an interview with Gavamani Sivarai, the Morobe Governor said his Government's aim is to avoid creating a large number of landless people.

"We do not want to create landless people but we want people to go back to the land and sustain the land," he said.

Mr Wenge said the rapidly increasing youth unemployment in the province and limited capacity of the private commercial sector to create enough jobs, means his Government will take a positive role in creating job opportunities in the agricultural sector.

"This definitely must be done in order to absorb the majority of the 50,000 plus school leavers joining the unemployed population each," the Morobe Governor said. ■

National Youth Policy Workshop A Success

The National Youth Policy Workshop in Lae International Hotel, from the 4th - 7th June 2006 was a success.

The four-day Workshop was intended as a consultative process to gauge the views of all stakeholders and development partners.

These included the central agencies in both the public and private sector on how young people can be systematically mobilized and contribute towards the national government's development plans.

The vision of the National Youth Policy is "to create empowering conditions to ensure a secure, prosperous and sustainable future for young people within the families and communities".

The Department of Home Affairs and Youth aiming at promoting integrated human development with an emphasis on the social needs of individuals; families and communities last revised the National Youth Policy in 1996.

A total of 120 participants attended the Workshop.

They were from the national and provincial level including the Central Government Agencies, Churches, Faith Based Organizations, NGOs and Development Partners, the CIS and the Police.

Some of the major changes that were made included competency-based training in the education sector, industry driven courses, youth rehabilitation and restructuring the NYP implementation structure.

Some very vital objectives that captured the minds of the Workshop participants were: skills development, issues of HIV/AIDS, common diseases, drug, alcoholism, sexual exploitation and early pregnancy.

The National Youth Commission and the Morobe Provincial Government hosted the four - day Workshop. ■

Promote Self-Reliance: Workshop

The National Youth Policy Workshop in Lae early this month highlighted the need for PNG to promote self-reliance.

The Workshop pointed out that this ideal was in line with the Eight Point Plan, which has guided the nation since independence.

The meeting said promoting self-reliance also reflects the Melanesian way of life.

It pointed out that poverty is a multi-faced issue that requires integrated and cross-sectoral response to address, in line with the social, cultural and economic values.

The meeting also noted that poverty reduction is being addressed by the Government under the education, health and related sectoral programmes of the Medium Term Development Strategy.

"Investing in people through primary health care and access to learning opportunities will empower all Papua New Guineans to be more productively engaged in income-earning opportunities," it said.

The National Youth Policy Workshop endorsed that the tapping of enterprising young men and women is the key to promoting self-reliance and combating youth unemployment and underemployment.

The National Youth Policy document encourages young people to actively participate in income generating initiatives to improve their quality of life in the rural and urban areas of Papua New Guinea. ■

Youth Rehabilitation

Youth Commissioner, Mr. Johnson Hebe has expressed concerns over the lack of youth infrastructure in the country.

The Commissioner says youths in the communities need to be identified as groups and associations to be educated and supported.

Speaking during the National Youth Policy Workshop in Lae, early this month, Mr Hebe said creating conducive environments for the youths is necessary to sustain their livelihood.

"We must create schools and communities that will equip young people with skills, needed to secure comfortable livelihoods," Mr Hebe said.

The Commissioner said certain strategic actions should be in place in partnership with key agencies such as the Education Department.

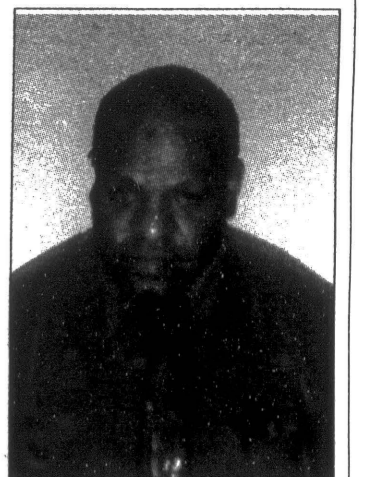

"And that the Education Department should be encouraged to establish and strengthen student support services in schools that directly contribute to skills development," he said.

Mr Hebe said this is because it can be seen that a number of schools with appropriate student support services contribute directly to skills development for young people.

Commissioner Hebe also said: "We should build pathways to encourage and promote the establishment of literacy and back to school programs that will increase literacy rate among young people".

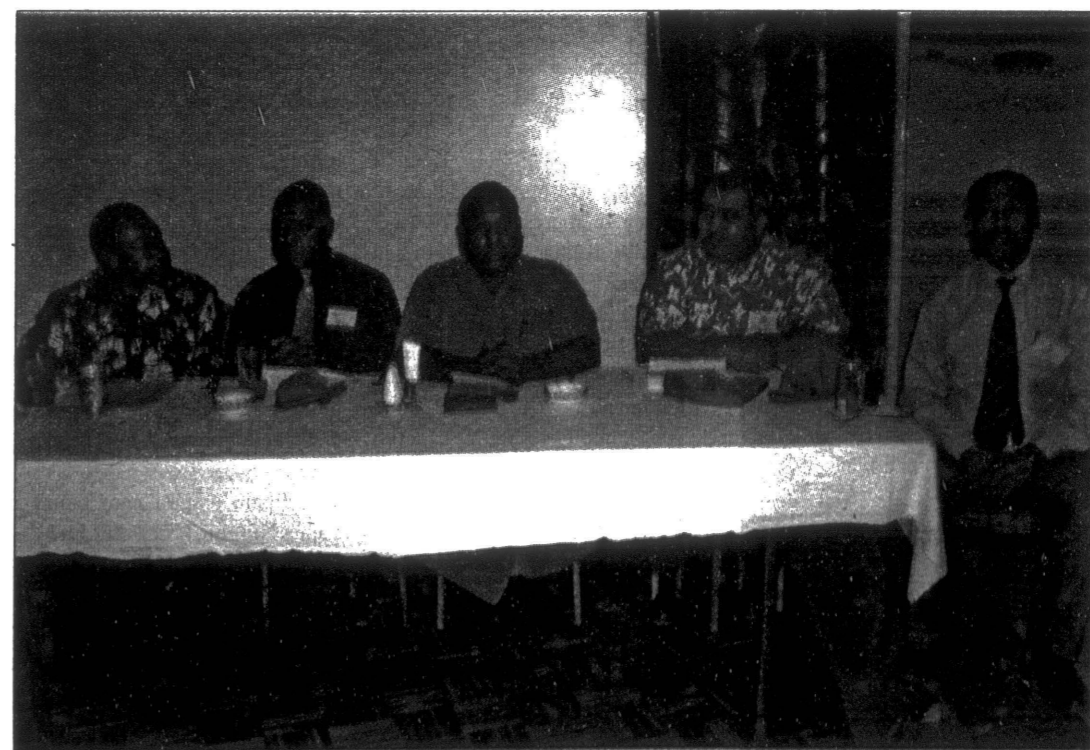

He said tapping the enterprising nature of young men and women is a key approach to promoting self-reliance and combating youth unemployment and underemployment. ■

DEFENCE

Soldiers Fighting Mock Battles

A group of one hundred soldiers from the 2nd Royal Pacific Islands Regiment based in Wewak flew out of Port Moresby at the end of last month to Townsville for a joint military exercises with their Australian comrades.

The soldiers from the Alpha Company under the command of Major Stanley Benny will be involved in a phase two military exercise code named "Wantok Warrior" with the Bravo Company of the Royal Australian Regiment based at Lavarek Barracks in Townsville for almost a month.

Defence Force Land Operations Staff Officer, Major Joe Terikian said the exercise is reciprocal to Delta Company 1 Royal Australian Regiment exchange trip to the 2nd Royal Pacific Islands Regiment in Wewak from 19 October to 19

November last year.

"The exercise enhances bilateral rifle company exchange exercise between the PNG Defence Force infantry battalions and the Australian Defence Force especially the 3rd brigade based in Townsville.

"On behalf of the Commander PNG Defence Force, I would like to thank the Australian Defence Force for making this trip possible and I know the PNGDF Command Headquarters very much appreciate their continuous support" Major Terikian said.

He added that the aim of the exercise is to further develop interoperability between the PNGDF and the Australian Army where our soldiers are exposed to different command and control arrangements.

The soldiers have now returned from the exercise. ■

Defence Women Jump From Sky

Two female Defence Force Officers parachuted to Murray Barracks grounds last month from a French military aircraft during a bilateral exercise between French Armed Forces in New Caledonia and the Defence Force Air Transport Wing in Port Moresby.

Military officers, Lieutenant Nancy Wii and 2nd Lieutenant Irene Tsiamalili parachuted with their male counterpart, Lance Corporal Brian Josiah.

They all members of the Air Transport Wing and were engaged in a two-day annual exercise, code named Brown Shark with their French counterparts.

PNG Defence Force Acting Training Commander, Lieutenant Colonel John Rakatani when officially opening the bilateral exercise said both militaries will have the opportunity to exchange ideas and learn many things from each other to enhance quality output that will benefit our Defence Force Air Wing.

"On behalf of the Commander PNGDF, I welcome you to Papua New Guinea, exercise Brown Shark in its 5th year and PNG Defence Force welcomes this gesture by the French Forces based in New Caledonia.

"The aerial delivery and compact dropping off parachutes last year achieved a milestone when the French CASA aircraft could not fly last year, our CASA dropped compact parachutes for the first time by our Air Wing.", Lt Col Rakatani said.

The 23 French military personnel including 3 female paratroopers arrived in Port Moresby on Monday May 22, 2006 in their own CASA aircraft.

Their contingent comprises 10 infantry paratroopers, 9 air crew from Etom airbase in New Caledonia and four headquarter staff.

HEALTH

Deliver Effective Rural Health: Sir Peter

Health Minister, Hon. Sir Peter Barter displaying the no smoking and no buai posters during the recent Health Conference held in Port Moresby.

Provinces have the formal responsibility of funding district health services to deliver effective health services to people of Papua New Guinea.

Health Minister, Sir Peter Barter emphasizes this point when he opened the 2006 National Health Conference which centered around the theme; "Working Together, Focusing on Effective Programs and Better Management".

And, Sir Peter told the Conference participants that District Administrators have been given formal control of the District health workforce.

"In principle, this might allow for local needs and the development of a public health system which look at the wider aspects of sanitation, clean water, mosquito control, health markets and more.

"You need to look at your own provinces to ask whether this is working.

"The questions relate to effective management; Are the Aid Posts open? Are Children being immunized? Are mothers being helped through child birth? Or are we having mothers and children die unnecessarily because elementary health care is not available?" Sir Peter asked.

These questions were put to an attentive conference audience which included Provincial Administrators, church representatives, NGOs, hospital administrators, district health workers, medical doctors and primary health workers.

"Are we working together now as a team. Is the National Department of Health working together with the Provincial Health Boards, and the District Health Services?

"Is it a team, is it effective?" the Minister further asked.

"My impressions are that we do need to build team work." He said.

He said provincial health advisors often complain that they are without supervision of the provincial health workforce, and the control and support of the workers is not there.

"I would like to see the beginning of aid posts re-opening, substantial maintenance of government health centers, proper supervision and support for rural health workers" Sir Peter said. ■

Health Improvement Initiatives Outlined

Health Secretary, Dr Nicholas Mann has announced a set of medium term initiatives to address the critical issues affecting the delivery of health services in PNG.

Speaking at the 16th National Health Conference in Port Moresby on the 6th June 2006, Dr Mann said the initiatives include the medium term redevelopment of public hospitals in two phases over five (5) years, costing about K80 million.

Other initiatives include long term manpower plan, aligning of resources to priority programs, reforming health structures at the District level, review of the 6% provincial contribution under Health Services Improvement Program and clamping down on non-performing hospital boards.

"My Department has commenced work on some of these initiatives already," Dr Mann told the Conference.

He said these steps are necessary to face the major challenges now facing the health sector.

He says these include deteriorating assets of public hospitals, district hospitals, health centers, sub-health centers, aid-posts and the shortage and wastage of medical supplies.

"All of us will agree that for PNG to have an improved health outcome, greater efforts and resources must be put into developing and strengthening disease control programmes and the health system we have.

"There is plenty of experience, enough goodwill and tons of determination in all of us. In the true spirit of partnership, let us work together to make a difference for Papua New Guinea," Dr Mann concluded. ■

Practical Health Solutions Needed

Health workers and political leaders have been told to assist provincial and district administrations to identify practical solutions to tackle the declining health service delivery throughout Papua New Guinea.

This was the focus of former Health worker and now Central Governor, Hon. Alphonse Moroi, when delivering the key note address at 2006 National Health Conference in Port Moresby, held at the Hideaway Hotel from the 6th to 9th June.

"Under the MTDS, there is a renewed emphasis on the need to identify practical solutions to address the current constraints to health service delivery.

"A number of options for practical solutions have been identified. The onus is now on the provincial and district administrations that have signed the agreement on streaming of health services to make the required changes," Governor Moroi highlighted.

He said there a number of donor-driven health programs are driven and supported by development partners and donors agencies, but these programs could not be sustained and absorbed into the health system when the donors left.

Governor Moroi said: "It is now a necessity for the Department of Health to further develop and improve on its sector-wide program, the HSIP, as the principle vehicle for funding health service delivery in PNG.

He said he was pleased that the program is a shining example of sustained programming, funding and implementation in the PNG public sector.

"I challenge the national and provincial governments to put money into the HSIP national and provincial trust accounts for funding of the priority programs of the health sector," Mr Moroi told the National Health Conference.

He said to make the health delivery system more effective, staffing levels in the provinces and districts must be reviewed and health workers must be made to put in an honest days work to serve the sick and dying.

"I am confident that the streamlining of the rural health services now being piloted in Western Highlands, Eastern Highlands and Manus provinces will go a long way towards improving health delivery in Papua New Guinea," Mr Moroi said. ■

Governor Moroi focused on addressing current constraints to health service delivery.

Sir Paulias Officiates At First AGB Anniversary

The Governor General Grand Chief, Sir Paulias Matane who was on holiday in his own province East New Britain, was invited to officiate at the first anniversary of the Autonomous Bougainville Government (ABG).

The invitation was given by the president of the ABG Hon. Joseph Kabui before Sir Paulias Matane resumed his annual leave this month.

Indonesia To Fund Cultural Training

The Indonesia Government through its Embassy will fund a training program on 'cultural management' for five days from 4th to 8th September 2006.

The assistance will come through the Indonesia-Papua New Guinea Senior Officials Meeting (SOM) Agreement on Cooperation in Education, Culture and Tourism, 2003.

The Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Mr Wilson Thompson said the training is organized under the auspices of the National Cultural Centres Trust (NCCT) and the National Cultural Commission (NCC).

To effect the arrangement, Minister for Culture and Tourism Hon. David Basua and Charge de Affaires, Mr Pratito Soeharyo endorsed the program last week.

The Minister also thanked the Embassy for providing 2 computer sets for NCC and another set for NCCT.

Mr Thompson said: "The training is targeted at Provincial Culture Officers and Curators of Cultural Centres as it will enhance their undertaking and appreciation of legal framework and responsibilities under various legislations and to learn of experiences at the national level and also from Indonesia.

However, it is envisaged that officers with national departments and agencies within the cultural sector such as National Library and Archives, Department of Environment and Conservation, Education, officers of National Cultural Commission, National Museum and Art Gallery, and Tourism Promotion Authority will attend."

It is anticipated that provinces will send a minimum of two officers as this training provides opportunity for those responsible for cultures in the provinces to meet with officers at the national level and to strengthen links and network.

The invitations have been circulated to the provinces and agencies.

"The training will be facilitated by experts and officers from the Ministry of Culture and Tourism, related cultural organizations and by Indonesian experts." Mr Thompson added. ■

PM Receives Honorary Doctorate Degree

Sir Michael receiving his award at the Tokyo International University.

The Prime Minister, Grand Chief, Sir Michael Somare was awarded an Honorary Doctorate Degree in Commerce by the Tokyo International University in Japan on 24th May 2006.

When he was advised of the award, he could only assume that it was in recognition of his role in fostering a progressive and fruitful economic and political partnership between Papua New Guinea and Japan.

"A partnership that I am proud to say, has withstood the test of time despite changing economic fortunes and the vagaries of democratic political processes," said Sir Michael.

As the first Prime Minister of Papua New Guinea at Independence in 1975, Sir Michael said he took a deliberate decision to engage Papua New Guinea in a formal bilateral relationship with Japan. Japan was one of the first countries with which Papua New Guinea entered formal diplomatic relations. It was also one of the first overseas places where Papua New Guinea established a resident diplomatic mission.

He said: "Because of his own experience, he has sought over the years to encourage people-to-people relations to underpin formal Government-to-Government relations.

"For those wondering, my first formal education was offered to me by the Japanese. My personal friendship with Japanese people like the late Ryoichi Sasakawa and Captain Shibata has helped me understand the Japanese psyche better. I am pleased with the establishment of the Japan/PNG Parliamentary League and the Japan/PNG Friendship Association."

The Prime Minister stated that the TIU-PNG Program is an important vehicle for promoting and strengthening understanding and friendship between our two countries.

He thanked the TIU President Mr. Takayoshi Arai for his support in promoting international cooperation and solidarity; Professor Karasawa, colleagues and staff for their commitment to the TIU-PNG Program; and the students who have participated in the past programs since 2004 and those who will travel to PNG in September/October this year and in the years ahead.

Sir Michael urged them to continue their pro-active role in promoting and advancing relations between Japan and Papua New Guinea.

Japan is the seventh country to award Sir Michael an honorary degree from its institution and he has also received awards from Australian National University and University of Wollongong (Australia), University of South Pacific (Fiji), University of PNG and University of Technology (PNG), and University of New Caledonia (New Caledonia).

Sir Michael was in Japan recently for the two day Pacific Leaders' Meeting (PALM) where he has been promoting investment opportunities in PNG to Japanese investors. ■

INFRASTRUCTURE

Japanese Investment Increasing

Bilateral relations between Japan and Papua New Guinea continue to remain cordial and friendly since the establishment of diplomatic ties in 1975 and these relations have expanded to cover political, diplomatic, trade and investment, development assistance, and cultural exchanges.

These were the Prime Minister Grand Chief Sir Michael Somare's remarks during his address to the Parliamentary Committee on Japan's Official Development Assistance (ODA) on 24th May 2006 at the Japanese Diet (Parliament) Building in Tokyo, Japan.

"Japan's ODA to Papua New Guinea is significant and represents approximately 28% of all Japanese Official Development Assistance to Pacific Island countries. In fact, Japan is the second largest single donor country to Papua New Guinea - second only to Australia. We are grateful for this generous assistance," said Sir Michael.

He said between 1971 and 2004, Japan's ODA, which consists of Grant Assistance, Technical Assistance and Preferential Loan Assistance to Papua New Guinea totaled around 113.12 billion Japanese Yen.

Sir Michael added that Japan also provides assistance to Papua New Guinea through its extensive funding of various multilateral programs under the ambit of international, regional and sub-regional organizations.

"It is only proper that the Japanese people, through their elected representatives, are advised of important issues affecting the focus, scope, delivery and implementation of that development assistance," he said.

Sir Michael described briefly how Papua New Guinea has decided to approach its development agenda and hoping that this would explain how, why and where Japanese Development Assistance is channeled.

"But more importantly for your Government, it enables you to better judge if the Development Assistance provided to my country is consistent with the policy objectives and parameters set out in your revised ODA Charter and your Medium Term Policy on Official Development Assistance," he said.

He also revealed that Papua New Guinea's development aspirations are captured in the Medium Term Development Strategy - a five-year rolling Strategy that has three main objectives: 1. To provide the guiding framework for the Government's expenditure programme, as expressed in the budget; 2. To identify, in broad terms, the wider policy framework that will help put in place the enabling conditions for the Programme for Recovery and Development; 3. To improve fiscal governance by strengthening Papua New Guinea's Expenditure Management (PEM) system."

Apart from this, the emphasis on the Core Development Strategy for 2003-2007 is export-driven growth, rural development and poverty reduction, by promoting agriculture, forestry, and fisheries on an ecologically sustainable basis through good governance.

Sir Michael said: "The expenditure priorities for 2003-2007 is based on this core development strategy, and focuses on empowering Papua New Guineans to drive the development process.

"This focus is mutually complemented by sector expenditure priorities in Transport, Infrastructure Rehabilitation and Maintenance, Basic Education and Primary Health Care, Law and Justice and Special Intervention to directly promote Income-Earning Opportunities, especially in rural areas.

"A careful analysis of the philosophy underpinning the MTDS would reveal a positive synergy with the principles espoused in the Japanese ODA Charter and the Medium Term Policy on Official Development Assistance." ■

Leaders Abuse Power: PSC Conference Told

Secretary for Public Service Commission, Mr. Andol Sione, Chairman of Public Service Commission, Mr. Jerry Tetaga and Executive Manager, Ms. Raquel Kennedy Painap during a press conference at the Morauta House.

The Public Service Commission of Papua New Guinea says leaders in the public service especially at the administrative level abuse powers.

The Commission says many Departmental Heads, Provincial Administrators, Heads of Statutory Bodies, and those who are given powers to exercise are failing badly to follow the procedures as laid down in the Public Service General Orders.

"The abuse relates to power of administration and is committed by the administration and it relates to violation of the laid down procedures, especially, in the case of disciplinary action and selections," it says.

The Commission revealed this during the 4th Pacific Regional Public Service Commissioners Conference held at the Crown Plaza Hotel, Port Moresby from 19th -22nd June 2006.

The Conference focused on maintaining and enhancing the public service in the region to strengthen the development of public administration to improve service delivery mechanisms through networking and co-operation.

The three-day Conference was successful as most decisions by the public service commissioners in the region including Australia, New Zealand and East Timor were agreed upon

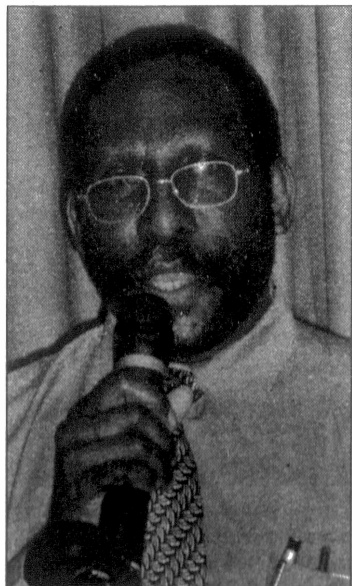

Chief Secretary to Government, Mr Joshua Kalinoe while officially closing the Conference expressed that the conference has provided a coherent understanding between the participating countries' Public Service.

He said with more workable structures identified, "we need to have people" to work in any environment we have to efficiently deliver public service to the rural and urban areas. ■

ects, Central Governor, Hon. Alphonse Moroi said that AUSAID will assist in undertaking the projects under the Provincial Performance Improvement Initiative (PPII).

Under this program the PPII has commenced rehabilitation of the housing infrastructure in all districts of the Central province.

"And with support of the national government's much advocated District Support Improvement Program (DSIP), I am convinced that before the year is out, my people will witness evidences of real development in the districts," Governor Moroi said.

He added that the rehabilitation of the two main trunk routes of Magi and Hiritano highways has always been on the development agenda of the Government.

Mr. Moroi said: "Likewise the Sogeri road and Porebada roads are considered essential routes because of their economic value as well as providing accessibility to Government and other services in Port Moresby."

Governor Moroi expressed appreciation to the donor partners, especially the World Bank, the Asian Development Bank and AusAID for facilitating the road rehabilitation and maintenance project in the province.

He also acknowledged the K9.4 million counterpart funding from the PNG Sustainable Development Limited for Phase One of the rehabilitation projects on both highways.

He said phase two of the road rehabilitation and maintenance would involve another 50 kilometres of upgrading and sealing.

Governor Moroi also revealed that his provincial administration has been tasked to immediately work on the phase two proposal and submit funding proposals to the PNG Sustainable Development Company, the World Bank and the other development partners. ■

UNDP Project Aids Parliament

The United Nations Development Program (UNDP) has boosted information technology support to the National Parliament.

It delivered a number of computers to the Parliamentary Service through the Office of the Speaker, Hon. Jeffrey Nape on 15th May, 2006.

The Acting Clerk of Parliament, Mr. Don Pandan says the assistance will strengthen and modernise Parliament's information system.

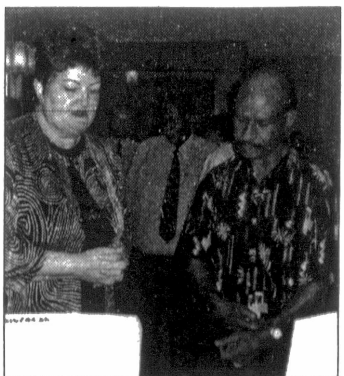

He said the UNDP support will increase the effectiveness, transparency and accountability of the parliament service to better serve the elected representatives.

Speaker of the National Parliament, Hon. Jeffrey Nape in a statement, thanked the UNDP Support Project to Parliament and said this was the most significant contribution in terms of assistance by any donor organizations during his term as Speaker.

"I understand that this is the largest assistance to Parliament since independence in the area of computers and information technology," Mr. Nape said.

National Remembrance Day Approved

Governor General Sir Paulias and Australian High Commissioner Mr. Michael Potts at the Memorial Park in Port Moresby.

The National Executive Council has amended the date set for the commemoration of the National Remembrance Day from April 25 to July 23 due to its historical significance.

"The National Executive Council made a decision to observe July 23 as a public holiday to give prominence to Papua New Guinea's veterans," said Prime Minister, Sir Michael Somare.

He said: "ANZAC Day has more significance to the Australian and New Zealand people to remember their soldiers who fought and died at Gallipoli in Turkey. April 25 is when the Australian and New Zealand Army Corps (ANZAC) landed on the shores of Gallipoli in 1915.

"For us in Papua New Guinea, the right date to remember and pay tribute to our fallen heroes and heroines in WWII is July 23. Therefore, NEC decided on the date change to give prominence to our Remembrance Day itself," he said.

Sir Michael said: "It was also not practical to commemorate both days at the same time due to previously experienced logistical problems. Because July 23 falls on a Sunday, Cabinet has approved both July 23 and 24 as public holidays and was gazetted on the 20th April 2006.

"The National Executive Council today revoked the previous date, which was set at April 25, to amalgamate the ANZAC Day with Remembrance Day. Cabinet endorsed July 23 as a public holiday after Parliament made a ruling during its January session. This date will come into effect immediately as soon as the Governor General signs the instruments today."

The date change is as per an amendment to the Public Holidays (Amendment) Act.

He added that all business houses, government departments and statutory bodies, educational institutions and the public is advised to take note of the date change. ■

PNG Will Prosper Despite Criticism: Sir Rabbie

Foreign Affairs and Immigration Minister, Rt. Hon. Sir Rabbie Namaliu, is confident that PNG will prosper with a vision of promoting its developmental agendas.

The Minister says criticisms by certain academics, noble and statesmen alike view PNG as the country that is on the verge of collapsing.

Despite these criticisms, the Minister says PNG will continue to grow stronger stating that these criticisms are a mixture of fiction and exaggerations with little facts and are baseless.

Sir Rabbie was responding to comments by an Australian academic and former head of the political science strand at the University of Papua New Guinea, Professor Allan Patience.

Prof. Patience commented in an Australian newspaper, the Sydney Morning Herald that PNG is a country that is in a state of failure.

Sir Rabbie said: "The attack is not new, nor unexpected. It reflects the jaundiced and prejudiced view of an academic who has done very well out of Papua New Guinea and who has a wholly pessimistic view of our problems and our future."

Sir Rabbie said since independence 30 years ago successive governments have made mistakes- especially in areas such as the delivery of basic community services, in maximizing the benefits of resource development and, I readily concede, controlling and reducing corruption.

"But to suggest that Papua New Guinea is worsening by the day across the board, and is on the very brink of social and economic collapse is not reasonable," the Minister said.

Sir Rabbie said by the standards of many, our democratic system may seem chaotic. But it is vibrant, treasured by our people, and has a participation rate that many developed countries envy. And it remains at the heart of how we are governed."

He said Papua New Guinea should have expected better from an academic who has done very well out of his time in Papua New Guinea. ■
