

indicator.

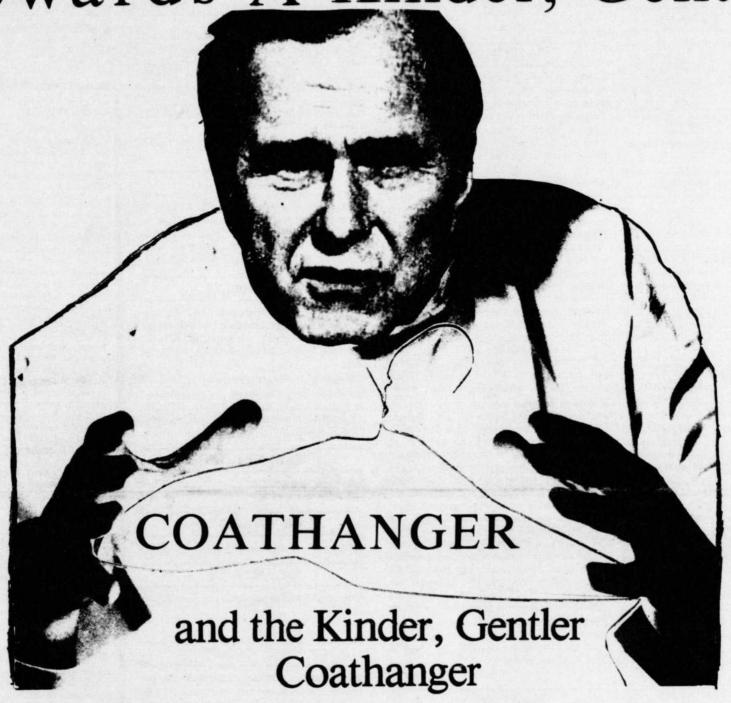

Volume 15, Number 4

San Diego's Progressive Bi-weekly

23rd Year of Publication

November 8-November 24, 1989

Towards A Kinder, Gentler

"Poor women should just say no to rape or incest."

Students for Pro- Choice

Starting this quarter, the Pro-Choice movement has a new supporter in the UCSD campus—the Students For Pro-Choice organization (SFPC).

Already this organization has built a strong membership, with almost 300 people on the sign-up list and 80 people attending the first two meetings. One very encouraging fact about this organization is that almost 30% of its members are men. This proves abortion is an issue affecting all of us.

The goal of SFPC is very simple keeping clinics open, ensuring safe medical treatment for any woman seeking service. To date, the group has been very successful in achieving this goal. On Saturday, October 22, members of SFPC, along with several other Pro-Choice organizations, successfully prevented an Operation Rescue from blockading two San Diego clinics, allowing all patients safely to receive the medical services they desired.

Although it is obvious the Pro-Choice movement is gaining momentum, everyone's help is needed. SFPC is participating in a November 12 Pro-Choice march in San Diego, which will coincide with the national march in Washington, D.C. For more information about this event or about SFPC, you can call Barbra Templer at 452-9014 or attend one of the meetings, held Tuesdays at 8:00 pm in Tioga 502.

New Indicator Student Coop Center UC San Diego, B-023 La Jolla, CA 92093

Non-Rrofit Org. U.S. Rostage PAID La Jolla, Calif. Permit No. 256

CUL Archives-1 UCSD C-075-S

4th THURSDAYS

RESULTS, San Diego, grassroots group on world hunger. Call for location & time. 581-

CONTINUING

Free, Anonymous HIV Antibody

Screenings J.B. Askew Building, 1700

Pacific Highway, Phone: 236-2264. North San Diego Health Center, 2440 Grand Avenue,

Phone: 274-1223. East San Diego Health

Center, 5202 University Avenue, Phone: 582-

6433. South Bay Health Center, 263 Fig

Alternative Acts Unlimited seeks submissions for a forthcoming book of social change tactics, actions and demos. AAU would like to document the wide range of resistance, large scale and small, planned and spontaneous, carried out by massive organizations, affinity groups and individuals.

Welcomed are accounts of resistance to a multiplicity of oppression ranging from anti-racist graffitti to anti-imperialist street theater to verbal responses to sexual harrassment to the underground railroad for incest survivors.

For submissions or more info: Alternative

Acts Unlimited, PO Box 21559, Washington,

DC 20009. Profits from publication will be donated to organizations promoting social change. Submission deadline is Dec 1, 1989.

Veterans Needed San Diego area veterans are needed as volunteers to help Project

YANO educate high school students about the real nature of the military and war. Project

YANO was formed by a coalition of loca groups in 1984 to counter the militarization of young people and educate them about other alternatives for job training and public service.

It places information in school career centers, does career fairs and seeks access to schools on an equal basis with the military. If you would the influence of recruiters in schools, contact the Project on Youth And Nonmilitary

Opportunities, P.O. Box 157, Encinitas, CA

92024, (619) 753-7518. Women, Latino and African-American vets are especially needed.

Free Thought Society Anyone interested in forming a Free Thought Society (Atheism, Rationalism) contact 483-9906, or 571-0608

Wed., Nov. 8

Film: Torch song trilogy 8:00 pm at the Earth Save and Vegetarian Society a combined meeting at the University City

Library, 4155 Govenor Dr. Hotline: 492-8803

Fri. to Sat., Nov. 10-12

workshop in nonviolence techniques for all

Fri. Nov. 10

(High) Price center theatre. Free.

after 5 during the week

0730.

like to use your military experience to counter

Avenue, Chula Vista, Phone: 691-4750.

Compiled by the New Indicator Collective and with special thanks to the Peace Resource Center's monthly calendar. If your group has weekly events that you want announced please call (534-2016) and let us know.

EVERY TUESDAY

Greens of San Diego public meetings. Orientation/business meeting on the second tuesday of each month at the Intersection House, 5717 Lindo Paseo, near SDSU. Call 225-1083 for info.

EVERY WEDNESDAY

Friends of Nicaraguan Culture 7:30 pm, Call 459-4650 for location

EVERY SATURDAY

Rhythm Collective FREE workshops on Latin Percussion at the Ché Café, UCSD from 12:00 to 2:00pm. Beginers Welcome!

EVERY SUNDAY

March for Global Nuclear Disarmament. Join veterans of the Great Peace March and walk a few miles for peace and global nuclear disarmament. Gather 12:30 pm, Mission Bay Visitors Center (off I-5 at Clairemont). Info: 291-3935.

1st MONDAYS

Alliance for Survival: 7 pm, 2202 Morley. Info: 277-0991.

Coordinating Council for Peace and Justice. 5:30 pm. All organizations are invited to send a representative to this networking & coordinating meeting. Info & location: 277-

1st WEDNESDAYS

Big Mountain Support Group. 7 pm, 2202 Morley. Info: 277-0991.

Peace Resource Center of San Diego Board, all welcome. 7 pm, 5717 Lindo Paseo.

2nd MONDAYS

San Diego Economic Conversion Council (now Incl. SANE/Freeze of San Diego). planning for local congressional hearings on economic conversion to be held in October. 7 pm, First United Methodist Church, 2111 Camino del Rio South, Lwr. Bldg. Rm. 5. Info: 278-3730.

2nd TUESDAYS

Sierra Club Nuclear Issues Committee, 7 pm, Sierra Club, 3820 Ray St. 299-1744.

3rd SATURDAYS

CISPES -North County (Committe in Solidarity with the People of El Salvador), Alternatives to Violence Project a 10 am, Palomar Unitarian/Universalist Fellowship, 1600 Buena Vist Dr., Vista. 728- walks of life. Call Peace Resource Center 265-8112 or 723-4286.

4th MONDAYS

RESULTS, North County, grassroots group Music at the Ché Café: Skajah & Third Eve. on world hunger. 7 pm, call for location. 455- call 534-2311 for info

TV LUIDE

Labor Link TV Cablecasting for, by and about the labor movement in San Diego County. VCR taping is encouraged. "They'll Never Keep Us Down" by the United Mine Workers and "Sketch: Jobs with Justice at the Union-Tribune". COX Cable, Channel 24: Saturdays 8:30pm; S.W. Cable, Channel 36: Friday Nov. 17th, 7:30pm; (38) Del Mar, Channel 38 (or Cardiff, Channel 30): Fridays, 4pm. LLTV suggests that you periodically check for their 30 sec. Public Service Announcements on your Public Access Channel for updates. To receive a monthly schedule, write to LLTV, P.O. Box 13223, La Jolla, CA 92037. Support progressive media! Frontiers of Reason Alternative TV series of the Peace Resource Center.

Sat., Nov. 11

Desert Field Hearings in Barstow This actions you can take to help pass the CA Desert Protection Act. Music, food, fun. Meet at 6:15am at Caltrans Park and Ride in Mira Mesa (off I-15 and Mira Mesa Blvd.) info 741-Women's Danceat the Ché Café 9:00 pm to 1:00 am. Free.

Sun., Nov. 12

Celebration of Reproductive Choice & Mobilization for Women's Lives I lam to 3pm, Balboa Park at Park Blvd. & Morley Field Dr. Music, Theater, Activities. Info: Coalition for Reproductive Choice, 565-9682.

Wed., Nov. 15

Cultural Impediments to Equal Employment Opportunities for Women in Japan Dan Whitney, Anthropology, SDSU. Women's Studies, SDSU. Room 221 HH, 3-

The Quest for Intercultural

Understanding Challenges & Opportunities in a Multicultural Society. 7:30pm, UCSD's (High) Price Center Ballroom, sponsored by

Sat., Nov. 18

Non-sexist dance at the Ché Café 9:00 pm to 1:00 am. Cost is $3.00.

Fri., Nov. 17

Xango at the Ché Café (534-2311).

Sat., Nov. 18

Greens of San Diego meeting at noon at the

Sun., Nov19

A Salute to Everday Herolsm Join in celebrating these two historic events: the first anniversary of the declaration of independence of the state of Palestine, and the second anniversary of the Intifadah. At UCSD's (High) Price Center, 'The Cove', 4:00pm. Dinner, music, poetry, and more. $10.00 donation. Sponsored by the Middle East Cultural and Information Center and The Committee in Solidarity with Palestine, info: 293-0167.

Wed., Nov. 22

Film: "Killing Us Softly: Advertising's Image of Women" Women's Studies, SDSU. Room 221 HH, 3-4pm.

MONDAYS

Movimiento Estudiantil Chicano de Aztián meets at 5pm at the MEChA office in the (High) Price Center, info: 534-4994.

Students for Pro-Choice meets at 5pm. Tioga Hall #502.

1989 New Indicator Collective

The new indicator is a non-sectarian newspaper which publishes the work of groups and individuals holding different positions. Articles printed with a by-line do not necessarily represent the position of all members of the New Indicator Eligibility for membership in the New Indicator Collective is based upon volunteer participation.

To address the range of interests of the university community, new students, alumni, faculty, classified employees, and community friends are always needed. We share skills and can offer training. Students may receive academic credit for research, writing and artwork submitted to new indicator through cooperating professors. We especially encourage newspaper-related "independent studies" courses. Inquire for referals

Subscriptions are $8 per year. Advertising policy and rate schedule available upon request. Advertising discounts available to UCSD and New benefit exchange agreements with other

The new in dicator is a member of the Network of the Alternative Student Press (NASP) and subscribes to the National Student News Service (NSNS). Material published in the new in dicator is copyrighted by the New Indicator Collective and may not be reproduced for profit without prior, written permission. Permission is granted for nonprofit educational purposes.

Workers: Janet, James, Edward, Juan, Byron, Arnie, Android, Montgomery, John, Dave, Bill, Jazz ma Dazz, 'Deep Throat,' Anthony, Jelger, Beautiful Brian, Lucky Lucila, G.B., Bob, Noni, Cuckoo. Thanx a lot.

TUESDAYS

Every Other MONDAY

UCSD Lesbian and Gay Organization Socials at the Revell Formal Lounge 4pm; Call 534-4297(GAYS).

Every Other SATURDAY

from 7-8:30pm., Research Group analyzing US-Mexican border situation from a socialist perspective. Bring refreshments and ideas. Sponsored by Solidarity. Info: call Jelger 483-1322

La Jolla, California

Articles, announcements of events and letters are welcomed. Material, preferably, should be typed, double-spaced, on a 55 character line. Author is asked to indicate choice of editing options: (1) edit as needed, (2) edit with consultation and approval of author (provide phone number), or (3) do not edit (article may be rejected if editing is needed). Author is asked to provide suggested headline, subheads, kickers, and illustrations (photos or Write to: UCSD, B-023, La Jolla, CA 92093. Phone: (619) 534-2016, or come by the office in Student Center A, Room 209, preferably at our meeting time (Tuesday 6:30-9:30 p.m.).

Indicator affiliates (chiefly, progressive, non-profit and educational organizations). The New Indicator Collective participates in the UCSD inter-cooperative benefit system and welcomes

The new indicator is published by the New Indicator Collective, and is officially recognized as a campus newspaper at the University of California, San Diego. The new indicator is a forum for expression of the university community and the views expressed may not represent those of the university administration or the Regents.

Harald, Andrew, Matias, and Commander

Student Union

The wave of student employee bonded individually as "academic serfs," as organizer John Sullivan put it. The main disagreement between the student employees and the university is whether the students are workers or not. If they study grants whose work is carried out are workers, they are entitled to the same by graduate employees provide the the university. If they are students, the addition, the caliber of students and unviersity considers the money they get graudate researchers has given UCSD

UCSD EMPLOYEES

ROBBED I

IT PAYS LESS FOR THE SAME WORKLO.D AT OTHER CAMPUSES --

Letters Letters

of their research. To have time for research, their courseloads have

So how does one accommodate ever-increasing quantities of undergraduates and ever-increasing competition in the research world? Easy. Hire lecturers.

And UC has done this for decades. But lecturers are a problem. UC needs them to teach, but can't keep them and still be true to the "second-class citizen logic." A few years ago lecturers simply were automatically fired after eight years, prior to their reaching "moral tenure"- a practice the University seems bent on Every fired lecturer has to be replaced, though. This means search committees, who are already overburdened by research and teaching expectations. It doesn't make sense to spend so much time, effort and money on lecturer faculty and then simply get rid of them

just as they reach their teaching stride, thereby thwarting their desire to provide students with capable, enthusiastic, and It's time to admit that the legislative mandate to teach cannot be met with disposable faculty. It's time to admit that the Universtiy of California needs long-term lecturers. It's time to admit that the University has met the challenge of providing undergraduate education by sticking its head in the sand. It's time to dedicated instruction.

fix the system.

Sincerely,

Gary Adest, Ph. D.

Executive Director

University Council-

historically been lowered.

BUT A SINGLE SCREAMING VOICE IS NOT ENOUGH --

UNITE AND FIGHT FOR YOUR WORKER'S RIGHT

THIS MUST STOP!!

Dear new indicator.

The proverbial ostrich with its head in the sand presents a vivid picture. The message is widely understood. A large, regal and powerful creature hides

The University of California reminds me of the ostrich. The size and stature are analogous and, of course, UC is a premier research institution. But, when it comes to matters of educational excellence, especially at the undergraduate level, that's where the

The California Legislature mandates that UC do both research and teaching.

In fact, the proposed Master Plan for Higher Education elevates the role of teaching to an equivalent status with two masters. The University's response has been arrogant: "Academic Senate faculty (those eligible for tenure) are the finest researchers in the world and researchers make the best teachers," UC contends. This gives me pause. Certainly there are some wonderful researcher/teachers. But do researchers always make the best teachers? And can we reasonably expect the Academic Senate to do world-class research and still be able to cover the teaching demands of an

Besides, UC reasons, we don't wish to create a second-class citizenry of teachers without research responsibilities, i.e. lecturers who teach but don't conduct research (and aren't eligible for

But UC has a legislative mandate to find room for the top 12.5% of graduating high school students. As a California, UC also is burgeoning at a time when Senate Faculty are judged more than ever on the recognized quality result of the burgeoning population of immense institution?

nunity service. So.

historically UC has been forced to serve conducted by Academic Senate faculty University has its head in the sand.

ineffectually when a crisis occurs.

ARE BEING

IF YOU ARE EMPLOYED BY UC, YOU ARE PROBABLY

UCSD IS ONE OF THE WORST CAMPUSES FOR WORKERS

UNAWARE THAT YOU ARE BEING RIPPED-OFF.

Issues of medical coverage, daycare, regular contracts, wages, and several others have so far encouraged employees at 11 of the 34 departments employing students to show interest in the developing the appropriate infrastructure for an employee organization. As discussed at the first meeting of SAWC on Monday October 30, there corporation, receives money from the will also be an effort to reach out to more state, but at the same time charges fees to

Between the six different academic job classifications which graduate student employees fit into, there are upwards of 1000 employees with the largest which it is dependent. It considers the employing department being Biology. In education it offers a gift to the students addition, there are many more nonacademic jobs such as those at food services or the libraries. All the students to pay for training. Sullivan commented holding these jobs are non-union, while their colleagues working beside them who are not sutdents are unionized and receive normal benefits. Sullivan calims university employees. This should even that students are being discriminated apply to students who do not work. In agaisnt merely because of the fact that they are students and that this is unfair.

According to university publications, organizing has struck UCSD. A group of 30% of the system's employees are graduate students have formed the students. Among academic employees Student Academic Workers Committee this figure reaches almost 50%. During (SAWC) to collectively struggle to be the strike that occurred at Berkeley recognized as employees instead of being during their unionization struggle, the university was virtually shut down. The university could not function without the labor of its student employees.

Many of the research projects and benefits and rights as all other workers at steady income of the university. In for tutorring and teaching as financial credibility and has indirectly contributed to the awarding of prestigious big money grants, such as those for the Center of Magnetic Recording and the Center for Molecular Biology Research. These sources of revenue, which depend on the activity of student employees in addition organizing effort. The first goals of the to the continued lucrative investments in SAWC include gathering information corporations that do business with about the labor condition and South Africa among others, make the University one of the most wealthy institutions in California.

> The university, as a public students and invests its reserves like a capitalist enterprise. In spite of these resources, the university still does not want to recognize the labor force upon as opposed to training for a future employer who will benefit by not having that all other employees are paid and receive benefits while they are training and insists that this also apply to

> > continued on page 10

Collective Notes:

Sexual Assault

The UC administration and police at every other UC campus and have been not. This adds insult to injury.

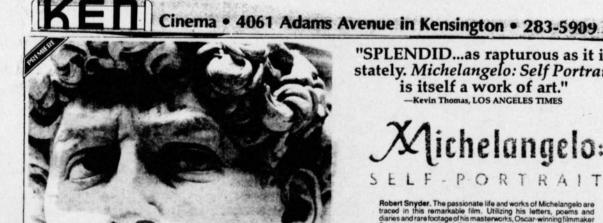

to some male intruder in her dorm presented an impressive set of speakers room," according to the campus police and a continuous haven for women in bulletin. The assailant told the victim to their center. Why didn't the Guardian be quiet because, this was "just a bother to call them for a comment fraternity prank."

spokesman Bob Jones as saying that statement? "this happens periodically here at These kind of incidents ocur too often and opportunity presents itself, and a normal, and the Guardian should laziness on the part of female students at November 2nd issue. UCSD, but is rather a social malaise that The Women's Resource Center can be must be addressed on a social level. contacted at 534-2023

The Women's Resource Center at UCSD has consistently organized and American Federation of Teachers lobbied for many different proposeals to attack this disease. They have repeatedly asked for a paid staff person as is present have too long treated sexual harassment ignored by administration and UCSD and assault as something normal that we Associated Students alike. They have just have to learn to live with. The assault tried to provide women's studies at that occured on Friday, October 27th is UCSD and have continuously met one in an unfortunately long list of resistance. Some members of the reminders that this issue must be Women's Resource Center have recently addressed head on with an awareness brought up the fact that the new nightcampaign and concrete safety time parking tariffs directly imply that procedures. Further, the article printed women will be in isolated places at by the UCSD Guardian merely echoes night(Commuter students who can not the police in saying that the answer is afford parking permits must now park that women should lock their doors, and off-campus and walk long distances that the assault is their fault if they do alone. Prior to this fall, night time parking at UCSD was free.). In spite of On October 27th a "woman awakened an uphill struggle, they have nevertheless instead of relying only on an insulting, The Guardian quotes police crass, and calous police officer's UCSD, where doors are left unlocked and must stop now. They are not guy does what this guy did..." This immediately print an apology in adition sickening statement blames the victim to a full interview with the Women's for the crime. The Guardian in no way Resource Center to give them the addresses the fact that the perpetrator of opportunity to repair some of the the crime is sick, and the problem is not damage done by the article printed in the

"SPLENDID...as rapturous as it is stately. Michelangelo: Self Portrait is itself a work of art."

SELF-PORTRAIT

NOVEMBER 19 through NOVEMBER 25 • One Week

Surplus Repression in the 80's

-- It is 1944. As an American with good intentions, you are encouraged to make a contribution of some kind to the Russian War Relief, even as you're encouraged to contribute 'Bundles for Britain.' Three or four years later you find yourself subpoenaed before HUAC (House Unamerican Activities Committee) as a suspected Communist or Fellow Traveler.

-- When you protest that amity with Russia, our courageous wartime ally, was officially promoted, you are accused of being a 'premature anti-fascist.' This curious and detestable phrase, doubtless coined by some jingoist huckster, was very much in favor, especially in the early fifties.

--It is 1971, you occasionally smoke cannabis. Cannabis is an ally; the discriminating ingestion of cannabis and other psychtropic substances, as they were called then, is promoted by acclaimed writers and scholars such as Castaneda and Huxley and Norman O. Brown and Alan Watts and Theodore Roszak. The legalization of cannabis is a cause taken up even by eminently respected Americans.

-- But now it is ten or fifteen years later, and cannabis is under assault. You are subject to frequent, unannounced urinalyses. If cannabis or any other allied substance (excluding of course the commodified alcohol) is found in your system, you lose your job. In 1986, the coerced admission that he smoked cannabis a few times when he was a law student in the sixties is enough to bar Judge Ginsburg from his appointment to the Supreme Court.

--It is 1967 to 1972: sex is bountiful. Sexual how-to books and sexual counseling are bountiful. The admissable truth then (Foucault distinguishes between truth and admissable truth)—the admissable truth in that pastel time was that the more you sexed the better the citizen you were. Thus we were cued to admire John Kennedy and Warren Beatty and Hugh Hefner and Julie Christie and Jimi Hendrix and Brigitte Bardot and Strom Thurmond, Republican Senator from South Carolina, who at seventy-odd years old, married a beauty queen whom he promptly impregnated several times in succession

-- TRACK OUT, DISSOLVE. We are in the benighted eighties. Sex is our enemy. The very same sexual counseling industry that promoted polymorphous perversity and daily, or nightly, sexual congress now treats sexually active people as addicted deviants. Under the leadership of the inspired troika: Meese: millionaire evangelicals; and Fortune Five Hundred, sexuality has been transformed from grace to addiction.

-- Note: the figure is the same figure: political progressivism, sexual freedom, canabis smoking. Only the ground, or context, has been changed. It is like Marcel Duchamp removing a pissoir from the streets of Paris, calling it a 'fountain,' and having it displayed first in the Bourgeois Gallery in Paris and subsequently in prestigious museums and catalogues worldwide. In the Left Bank of Paris, men peed in it; in the Museum of Modern Art in New York, critics and art-savants oohed and ahhed

-- More than in any other 'First-World' country, Carnival and Lent succeed each other cyclically in the United States. Except the distribution of time is increasingly unequal: Lent is much longer; and Lent usually means a pious Crusade followed by an Inquisition. And it is precisely those people who celebrated Carnival who, come Lent, are likey to have their skin flayed, their minds bent, their thumbs screwed, their genitals attached with electrodes. I mean this in a manner of speaking.

-- The resigned CIA dissident Philip

Agee pointed out that by 1980 "antiterrorism was replacing anti-Communism as the justification for domestic political control."

-- Now, with the distressing (to the U.S. leadership) Glasnost and Capitalization of Eastern Europe and China, anti-Communism is pretty much moribund, whereas anti-terrorism is determined and widespread. Moreover, the signifier 'terrorist' has, for the dominant ideology, a much wider application than anytime before. (It is important in this context to recognize that in the U.S., political dissent has from the inception of the 'Republic' been ' confused with criminality.)

-- For the dominant ideology (which is an up-to-date way of saying The Bosses) in the U.S., the best news since the reign of that demon Stalin is AIDS. Regardless of how AIDS was generated (whether intentionally, or via the escaped microbes of CIA-sponsored chemical experimantation, or essentially by chance; that is, by the concatenation of particular circumstances), the fact of this sexual plague has permitted the dominant ideology to ratchet up their current repression.

governing bodies which are based on stereotypical images of the Black as contaminating Other (the rejection of the proposed name-change of Market Street to Martin Luther King Way; followed by the rejection of the name change of the Convention Center in San Diego, are two related examples close at

-- Do you follow sports? It's virtually un-American in 1989 not to perform or at the very least to follow sports. Sport in the United States no longer signifies play so much as it signifies game and competition and control. There is a crucial difference between the aimless pleasure of play, and the competitive, commodified leisure of sport. And in proportion to the increase in the numbers of homeless, and the increasing isolation of the non-Caucasian poor, and the increasing on-the-job stress, we are presented with the illusory circus of competitive, commodified sport.

--Sports, then, have become infected with ideology. The gesture, the ritual, the purity language of sport are so interfaced with power, that the strut of the politician or the corporate executive has become an unwitting caricature of the strut of the

--We must understand that, as a dissident scholar recently put it: "The AIDS epidemic is simultaneously an epidemic of a transmissable lethal disease and an epidemic of meanings and of course, largely controlled by the dominant ideology. Which means among other things, that through disinformation, and calculated mythmaking, the demonic black-plague-like associations of AIDS are foregrounded, whereas practical up-to-date information about how it's contracted and disseminated are wihtheld. We're given to understand, then, that AIDS is a species of retributive illness for our deviant ways, created by a righteous God in the storied tradition of Sodom and -- I am suggesting that the unnatural, manipulated fear of the Communist contamination has been replaced by the unnatural, manipulated fear of the contamination of the Other who is a potential AIDS carrier. And who is this lethally deviant Other? Gay men, Haitians, black Africans, intravenous drug users, crack smokers, prostitutes, the careless poor, sexually unrepressed heterosexuals, and the ungovernable

-- And one needn't look far afield to see how this new ideology/propaganda is implemented. Racism is back; we find it everywhere: in the resurgent popularity of hate-groups and in the inclinations of pages of our newspapers tend to mirror the dominant culture. These days, we read constantly of the dangers of cocaine (which is a shorthand way of saying black athlete). The white athlete who -- The meanings and significations are, drinks two or three sixpacks of Bud a day is rarely cited. And, increasingly, we read of university athletic programs that admit stupid young men who are athletic. These young men are nearly always black and their alleged stupidity is evidenced by their low SAT scores. The fact that so-called scholastic aptitude tests are themselves skewed to favor middle-class whites, and especially white males, while sustaining the marginalization of inner-city Blacks is never cited. In the sixties and early seventies there was serious, ongoing discussion about Black English as a viable synthesis of so-called standard Eglish and African linguistic influences. In 1989, Black English as a legitimate linguistic entity no longer exists, and if the black student athlete cannot easily make his way in so-called standard English he is labeled dumb, though no sustained attempt is made to interface Black English with the dominant culture's version of standard Engish.

professional athlete. Thus the sports

--I'm still discussing the malignant influence of the AIDS propaganda. The recent congressional cowardice and withdrawal of funds from the Corcoran Gallery for sponsoring the Mapplethorpe exhibit, I believe would not have happened were it not for the AIDS ideology. What is it about Mapplethorpe's photographs that so outraged the pious Helms? One: they are nude men. And two: they are black nude men and white nude men together. If the nudes were heterosexual and white, Helms would have been offended rather than outraged, and no restrictions would have been legislated.

-So too, the so-called pro-life forces have drawn from the AIDS propaganda since one of the crucial subtexts is that women who tend to get abortions, tend to be either sexually active, non-Caucasian, or poor; that is to say, dissident, against-the pious-Americannuclear-family; thus potentially infectious. This equation is not new; in the Fifties, for example, sexually independent women were associated with Communism; in opposition to the desexualized maternal mom of the nuclear family unit, which was of course white, Christian and middle-class, and which was associated with political

-- Besides the poisonous, pervasive, decentered, ideology, there are, in 1989, fundamental problems. Unlike the affluent fifties, the middle class is struggling to stay afloat. The MIT economist Lester Thurow has said that in terms of 'real value' of national currency, the United States now ranks ninth in the world, 'not including the Arab shiekdoms,' with the probability of olummeting even further. Radon. chlorofluorocarbons, the routine nstallations of unsafe nuclear power plants; chemical waste; the government's withdrawal of essential services; the realestating of the wilderness, along with the calculated isolation of the inner cities: these bleak realities and many others, people increasingly recognize as the business-as-usual of the dominant

-- What can we do? Well, organize, contest, strike back purposefully. But this would suggest that dissidents act in solidarity. And solidarity suggests both physical and imaginative, if I can put it that way, proximity. That is to say, dissidents, insurrectionists, revolutionaries, must touch each other; must, it can be argued, love each other in order to act in concert against oppression. Expect that AIDS ideology has repressed people, especially young people, from whom the information about AIDS transmission has been systematically withheld. AIDS propaganda has repressed young people of conscience from touching and loving each other in solidarity.

-- SURPLUS REPRESSION is what we're talking about, which like Surplus Value, strains every last once of blood to sustain the ideology of power and profit. And so the epidemic of AIDS significations has thus far at least aided in suppressing fruitful revolt.

--What you--WHAT WE--have to do is, one, train ourselves to see, to analyze, how the dominant culture is organized to hamstring, shackle, de-energized, de-sex us. And, two, disorganize the dominant culture by touching, and, yes, loving, daring to love, each other, in solidarity against oppression.

Harald Jaffe is the author and editor of nine books, including the forthcoming Eros in the Time of Aids; Madonna and Other Spectacles; Beasts; and The American Experience: A Radical Reader. Jaffe is also co-editor of Fictional International and a professor of Creative Writing and Literature at San Diego State University.

The Complexities Facing Nicaragua's Atlantic Coast

In recent weeks the editors of The Daily Aztec have sought to establish "anti-Sandinista" sentiment on the San Diego State University campus. Students have been subjected to multiple the ethnic peoples who reside there. The forms of ultra-rightist rhetoric on the Miskitu (the most numerous group of situation in Nicaragua.

The problem with these editorial coexisted with slave refugees from columns and rhetoric in general is that it Jamaica and the United States. The doesn't tell us much about the given phenotypical differences among the context, historical perspectives ignored, people have had with these mostly predispostions exploited and arguments are often based on what the reader does means homogeneous. The predominant not know rather than what she does.

Another rhetorical tactic is flagwaving, which employs the use of reified terms, designed evoke emotion not thought.

EASILY EXPLOITABLE

For these reasons, the Miskitu people of Nicaragua's Atlantic coast, have become a topic easily manipulated by groups on the anti-communist right (such as the U.S. State Department, the CIA, the Young Americans for Freedom and the Editors of The Daily Aztec.

Without telling us who these Miskitu people are, they tell us what alledged atrocities have been committed against them by the Sandinistas. For example, former US Ambassador to the United Nations, Jeane Kirkpatrick declared in a television interview that 250,000 (four times the total Miskitu population) had been herded into concentration camps. This claim grossly misrepresents the events that took place in the nothern border region of Nicaragua in January

This region of the world is only now a political focal point due to the surreptitious war being waged against Nicaragua by the US government. CIA and State Department officials were quick to recognize how easily the tenuous relationship between the peoples of Nicaragua's Atlantic Coast and the new Sandinista government could be exploited to serve US political interests. This was, in fact, part of the Reagan Administration's strategy to undermine the Sandinista government.

The focus of this article is to describe the complexities that have made it difficult for the Sandinista government to draw the indigenous peoples of the Atlantic Coast into Nicaragua's revolutionary framework. In doing so, we hope to refute the seditious lies fostered by the anti-communist right.

HISTORICAL FACTORS

Few countries in the world today are composed of a homogeneous, ethnosimilar people. Most have a collection of dissimilar types with wideranging cultural and ethnic backgrounds. Throughout the course of history, governing bodies have tried to unify their peoples in order to build stronger nations. This has proven to be a difficult task. The stumbling blocks include religious diversity, historical schisms, racism, incongruent value systems and xenophobia. Nicaragua's Sandinista government has been grappling with these circumstances in their efforts to unite western Nicaragua with its own Atlantic Coast.

To understand the present relationship between the Costeños (people of the Atlantic coast) and the Sandinista government, one must place it into its complex historical context.

The division of Nicaragua's Atlantic coast from its western interior is due, in large part, to the region's geography, which is composed of swamps, thick tropical rainforests and pine savannahs in the north. Streams and rivers, rather than roads, provide the main transportation routes for skiffs, dories and other motorized vessles into and out of the Atlantic coast region.

The Atlantic coast is difficult to access from the West, and the rough terrain has served to perserve the distinct cultures of indigenous people) have for centuries coastal peoples today are a result of the Events are selectively taken out of relationships the indigenos coastal African refugees. The coast is by no ethnic group in the north-east are the Miskitus (estimated at 67,000 in 1981). In the central Atlantic, Creoles, of Afro-European descent make up the largest ethnic group (26,000).

The Mestizos (Indian-European) are less numerous but do make up a large percentage of the population in the region's two major cities.

The Costeños (all coastal people) take great pride in having resisted Spainish colonization in the Sixteenth Century. Unfortunately, their resistance to Spanish Colonialism soon led them into the hands of the British Empire and later, the United States. Furthermore, many of the Costeños now see the Sandinistas as yet another 'foreign' power attempting to intervene into their community affairs.

PENSIVE COASTAL POPULATION

Prior to 1979, the Atlantic Coast was void of revolutionary activity. The Costeño's viewed the popular insurrection as an external war, fought on the Pacific side, with the 'Spanish' Somocistas attempting to supress a 'Spanish' popular front. Being so far removed from events, that led to a Sandinista victory, made it difficult if not impossible for the Costeños to share the revolutionary spirit that had swept over the West. At this point in time, neither the legacy of Sandino's antiimperialist patriotic ideal nor the Sandinista revolutionary philosoghy held the same historical and emotional relevance for the Costeños.

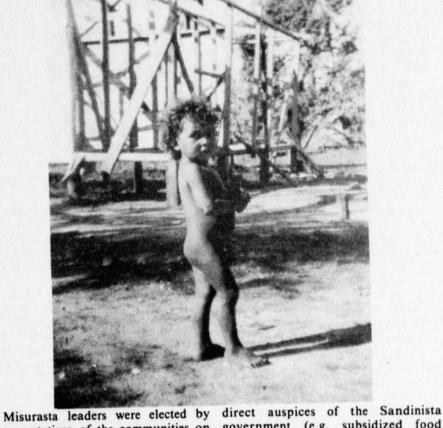

MISURASTA

The Sandiistas were badly in need of a mechanism to implement their social and political programs on the Atlantic Coast, but did not simply want to utilize the old order. During the Somoza era, there had been very little governmental structure outside of the regions two major cities. So, the Sandinistas opted to create a mass organization that would represent each indigenous people-Misurasta.

representatives of the communities on government (e.g. subsidized food the coast and were by no means pawns programs). However, when possible, the for the new Sandinista government. Sandinistas would distance themselves Many in the Misurasta leadership were from government projects, hoping to openly hostile toward the Sandinista's foster the participation of the often and viewed their involvement in the pensive coastal population. region with skepticism. There were no Despite their inability to quickly easy roads to be taken, as the Sandinista promulgate a regional policy, the contained a sizeable risk. caused by Hurricane Joan); an themselves.

initiated on the Atlantic Coast under the and received world-wide acclaim.

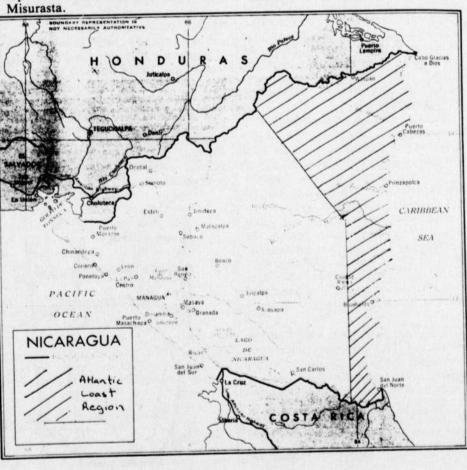

were aware, and each necessary move Sandinistas designed nationwide social policies which were intended to Many mistakes were made, initially, encompass the Atlantic Coast, where an as these two inexperienced political emphasis was placed on making the bodies (Sandinista and Misurasta) tried Costeños self-sufficient in food to work out their differences on what production. The fact is, the Costeños would be best for the Atlantic Coast in have only been able to produce half of particular and for Nicaragua as a nation. the foodstuffs they require to maintain a Their joint accomplishments include a decent level of nutrition. Since 1980, the major advance in health care, distri balance of the food needed has been bution of medicines and vaccines, the brought in by various government construction of the first cross-country agencies. The goal has been to provide television and telephone relays; an equitable distribution of eight basic construction of an all-weather road that necessities (rice, beans, corn, flour, linked the western interior with the sugar, salt, oil and soap), as well as Atlantic Coast (this road was completed supplying the materials needed for the in 1982, but is now out due to flooding Costeños to begin providing for abandoned pine resin plant was Another Sandinista priority on the reactivated, 77 percent of the urban Atlantic Coast was health care. housing on the coast was improved. Nicaraguan health care programs in the Many more social programs were west had quickly proved to be successful,

> However, in their plan to provide health care for the Costeños, the Sandinistas failed to examine the already existing system established by th Moravian and Catholic chuches. Because the Somoza government failed to provide social services, the chuche took it upon themselves to provide the people with health care. Albeit often time inadequate, the people appreciated these services. In many cases, the Sandinistas came in and dismantled an existing health care program only to establish another. These new health centers were, in fact, better equipped, had many more medical supplies and were greater in number, both in location and in human resources. Nonetheless it was a mistake for the government to break up the Costeños' traditional method of health care so completely. Many Costeños were confused by this, others angered.

Later, government health officials learned to work more closely with the church and the people of each community in order to break throught the ethnic and cultural barriers that often kept Costeños out of these health care facilities.

By Pablo Vargus

Massive unrest in the so-called socialist nations is supposed to prove the failure of communism. Especially the exodus of 40-50,000 East Germans to the West supposedly proves everything that our government has always told us about those evil communists. Now this is ridiculous as we will shortly see. But on the other hand, we don't want to support massacres like Tienamen or the political oppression of East German or Romanian hardliners. So where does that leave us? Capitalists? Communists? Or something else?

Why does the question have to always be posed as either Russia or America? Our goal can be different than both. In the U.S. and the west we must take one path towards the goal and in the socalled socialist countries we must take another. In short, in the west formal democatic rights such as speech and press are stronger. However, in the east the economic equality is much greater. Why can't we construct a democratic socialism out of both?

In East Germany the exodus has already long been overshadowed by the demonstrations of those who are committed to staying in their country and trying to change it. But to understand this we have to take a step back to analyze what the situation is in East Germany.

The economic structure in East Germany has many positive sides. The unemployment is extremely low. Even though there is a housing shortage, there is no homeless problem. Job security is very good. The difference between the richest and the poorest is less than in the west. These advantages come about because profit is not the primary incentive of the economy. The bureaucrats who run a factory or a restaurant do not have to turn a profit. They have to fulfil a preplanned quota.

The minister of housing is not supposed to benefit wealthy developers like what happens at H.U.D. Here, rather, he is supposed to provide people with housing. When there is homelessness, he gets into trouble.

When a factory fires people, it is an indication to higher bureaucrats that something is wrong at the factory; it does not mean that they are making production more efficient or any of the other innumerable reasons capitalists use to fire an employee. In fact, a smart manager kepps and adds to the workforce at his location because this increases his (and it is almost always a he) weight in the bureaucracy.

The system becomes inefficient because filing a productivity report to the liking of a higher bureaucrat is much more important than filing a truthful one. By muzzling up to your bosses you move up, not by telling the truth. Thus, in reality, the state planning commissions have no idea what the actual state of the economy is and their plans too are just doctored and patched together to look good to the politburo. In the daily paper, you read almost everyday that such and such a sector of the economy has fulfiled the expectations by 102.3%, after minor adjustments. In school this 'after minor adjustments' means 'with some cheating.' This has greatly stimulated the development of a huge black market.

In East Germany, until recently, it was a life altering decision to decide to tell the truth instead of what your supervisor wanted to hear. The workers especially have no political freedom in their job, in their community, or on a national level. The working people are treated in an extremely patronizing way by the Party which always knows better what is good for you than you yourself. The Socialist Unity Party of East Germany claims it is the vanguard of the proletaroat, but in fact it has put itself in the place of the working class who are supposed to run th nation under actual socialism. Everyday the paper 'New Germany' tells you how wonderful everything is in the German Democratic Republic and you see how untrue it is.

So in the place of an exploiting capitalist class the workers of the G.D.R. face a self-perpetuating bureaucracy. Many of the major problems such as housing and employment are not as acute, but they have been replaced by others such as a greater infringement on freedom of spech, press, and association.

So how does this explain what is going on in East Germany now?

The people of the G.D.R. always see West German television and see all the wonderful cars and homes on commercials, in Dallas, etc. and think the grass looks greener on the other side. It is difficult to explain the problems of the west to East Germans when they cannot come and look for themselves. They do not believe the TV and newspaper reports about the problems in their country. In fact, many who come to the west become very disillusioned and want to return.

The vast majority of East Germans would actually prefer to stay in their country. That is why only 40-50,000 left and hundreds of thousands and even millions are protesting for change. The most influential groups pushing for change, the New Forum and activists organized through the church, are not pushing for a reintroduction of capitalism. They want to keep the greater economic democracy of their society, but they want to increase the freedom of spech, press, and association.

So how does this explain what is going on in East Germany now?

The people of the G.D.R. always see West German television and see all the wonderful cars and homes on commercials, in Dallas, etc. and think the grass looks greener on the other side. It is difficult to explain the problems of the west to East Germans when they cannot come and look for themselves. They do not believe the TV and newspaper reports about the problems in their country. In fact, many who come to the west become very disillusioned and

The vast majority of East Germans would actually prefer to stay in their country. That is why only 40-50,000 left and hundreds of thousands and even millions are protesting for change. The most influential groups pushing for change, the New Forum and activists organized through the church, are not pushing for a reintroduction of capitalism. They want to keep the and Hernan Buchi. Patricio Aylwin is a greater economic democracy of their society, but they want to increase the political democracy.

We are not witnessing the failure of communism, but its gradual development. Capitalism was built over centuries and had many setbacks such as the defeat of Napoleanic France and the reinstatement of the King, but this did not stop the course of history. Even now there are still nations which only since World War II have fully entered the world economy as capitalist nations (e.g. Mexico, Korea)--this is 500 years after the fall of Constantinople and the height of the renaissance. The first successful socialist revoulution was only 80 years

True, Marx did not talk about the bureaucratically deformed states but then again, did early Flemish merchants predict the non-capitalistic slavery which built up a determined fight against the capitalistic bourgeoisie of the North in the U.S. as late as the middle of the 18th century? We can make predictions

continued on page 10

Ambasador to Chile

On Friday, October 27, the United States Ambassador to Chile, Charles Gillespie, came to speak at the Institute of the Americas here on the UCSD campus. Gillespie's topic centered around the up-coming elections in Chile and the economic and political change that would follow thereafter.

Gillespie brought with him a long personal history of diplomatic nvolvement in Latin America. He has held such posts as the first U.S. Ambassador to Grenada and the U.S. Ambassador to Colombia from 1985 to 1988. The U.S.'s intervention in Grenada "rescue operation." Documents will show, though, that the United States has overthrow. a far from spotless record in allowing victorious opposition in last year's

The role for whoever should win the elections is a burdensome one. His main task is to set the framework for a once again democratic Chile. Other chores will include the handling of the national debt and the need for major social service improvements. The main stream of optimism comes from a recent upswing in the Chilean economy that has improved from its deteriorated conditions of the early 1980's. One issue that will not be forgotten though, is the was, in Gillespie's own words, purely a question of the thousands of "disappeared" following the 1973

This question leads back to the atin American nations the sovereignty hey deserve.

Going back to the topic of Chile, there have been events of great importance developing in this South American country that is attempting to return to its democratic ways of the past. Chile has not witnessed a democratic presidential election since the 1970 choice of Socialist leader Salvador Allende. The September 1, 1973 overthrow of the democracy by General Agusto Pinochet secured a stronghold that has lasted 16 long and painfull years. The October 1988 plebiscite that defeated the dictator, though, was a monumental turn-around that has set the stage for democratic presidential elections for the end of this year.

The December 14, 1989 elections represent for Chile a crucial step in the reconstruction of the democracy shattered by dictator Agusto Pinochet. There are three candidates running, and out of these, the contention is essentially between two of them: Patricio Aylwin Christian-Democrat that represents an opposition-coalition ranging from the Communists in the left to the Christian-Democrats closer to the center. Aylwin's chief adversary is Hernan Buchi, an ex-Minister of Finance under the rule of Pinochet. Hernan Buchi represents the

All polls within Chile seem to be giving the clear advantage to Patricio Aylwin, the opposition candidate. Aylwin is an experienced politician who gloomiest of all characters, Agusto Pinochet. A recent statement by Pinochet proclaimed, "If you touch one of my men, it means the end of a State ruled by law". A constitution created by Pinochet in 1980 will allow him to rule the army as Commander in Chief after the new president takes office in 1990. This means that Chile's relationship with the infamous dictator will not join the archives soon. Instead, it will continue into the next decade

One may wonder what Ambassador Gillespie and the U.S.'s policy will be to such a crucial period in the development of a country. Charles Gillespie insists that it will be of "strict neutrality." The Ambassador himself, though, is quick to admit to the U.S.'s "spotty" record in Chile., but he assures that the U.S. will not be involved this time around.

As spectators, we cannot always be so sure as the U.S. is presently involved in influencing the outcome of numerous power struggles and elections throughout Latin America. We can only hold our breath and see if Chile will this time be spared the intervention that has paralyzed its wings in the past and if a democracy can be re-established that will allow Chile to develop into the future.

Ethnicity and Gender

The Student Affirmative Action Committee (SAAC) organization is growing more dissatisfied with the administration's lack of interest in placing a greater emphasis on ethnic and gender studies at UCSD. At the annual SAAC dinner with the Vice-Chancellor of Undergraduate Affairs, Joe Watson, students confronted Watson with his intransigence. Molly McKay, of the Women's Resource Center, summarized that SAAC "had been more than patient in going through the system" and "came out of the meeting very frustrated."

Last June the SAAC organizations had a demonstration called the Cultural Unity Day of Awareness where they presented the inequitable situation of ethnic and gender studies at UCSD. They demanded the development of a mandatory class for all students that would teach the history and culture of ethnic groups other than the Northern European male culture that dominates such courses as the Revelle Humanities sequence. Also, they stressed the importance of hiring ethnic and women faculty that would retain students with ethnic and gender studies interests; a priority the university has consistently dodged.

UCSD's attention to these issues has actually waned. Afro-American enrollment is dropping from already extremely low figures. The Chicano enrollment, while improving, still remains a lost figure proportionately in the general population. The severe attack on financial aid during the Reagan years, and continuing on with the Bush Administration, has more severly marginalized these populations. Youths from non-anglo communities have less and less opportunities to find a way out. Women, often having to take the responsibility of raising a child and working, also have a more difficult time achieving a higher education.

Cecilia Ubilla-Arenas, a staff member of OASIS, quoted Watson as commenting that increased recruitment of black students is undesirable because it would make all the black students on campus look like they got here because of affirmative action instead of on merit. At the meeting with SAAC, Watson answered only that everything must "go through official channels." He further threatened the SAAC groups not to "jeapordize what they already have." Some SAAC participants interpret Watson's statements to mean that he is "defending the status quo," that is increased elitism and white-washing of the university.

On a broader scale, the SAAC organizations, have continuously criticized the predominantly anglo, male culture that dominates this campus. According to them, not only should ethnic and gender studies be offered, but they should be a mandatory part of an education. For instance, everyone learns about who George III was, but few learn about Hidalgo, Malcom X, or the collapse of the Chinese dynasty in the late 19th century. Also, the Women's Resource Center (WRC) has pointed to mine to private foreign investors. This

The University of California has given to the city of Berkeley for $1 per year.

Bandera Socialista

up a last stand and won.

the lack of safety on campus which has encouraged regularly occurring sexual

Many of these issues were most seriously addressed by Lumumba-Zapata College (now called Third College) at UCSD between 1969 and 1972. At that time the Black Student Union (BSU) and the Mexican-American Youth Association (MAYA) largely structured the college to have a 1/3 Chicano and 1/3 Afro-American student body. In addition, they developed an ambitious curriculum stressing the culutre of the working classes and oppressed nationalities. This college was destroyed by the collective effort of its past Provost Joe Watson and Chancellor McElroy. (See the Articles of Lumumba-Zapata College also printed

At this point, the SAAC organization have not decided what action they will take next. Some members are preparing concrete proposals that they can focus on to implement their demands for more ethnic and gender studies. The possibility of more demonstrations has also not been ruled out. In fact, demonstrations were all that moved universities such as University of Wisconsin, Madison and University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Society in the Making

Greenpeace's Latest Cause: Junk in Antarctica

Members of the environmental group Greenpeace blocking a Soviet hibious craft from leaving Bellinghaus Base on King George Island in Antarctica on Sunday. The protest was intended to force the Soviet Union and other nations to recycle their wastes at Antarctic bases. Rubbish was collected and presented to the Soviet base commander.

United States

From several different political directions, progressives in the U.S. are concluding the futility of working with either of the major bourgeois parties (Republican and Democratic). At a recent convention, NOW (The National Organization of Women) seriously discussed forming a third political party. The recent gathering of the Greens in Oregon also seriously discussed building an electoral presence similar to that which has been growing in Western Europe over the past decade. Also, Ralph Nader has become increasingly frustrated in the citizens rights campaign from the lack of support the bourgeois parties will give to any effort that is critical of big corporations. Finally, over the past ten years the President of the Oil, Chemical, and Atomic Workers Union, Tony Mazzochi has been arguing for building a labor movement independent of the Democrats. The main question mark in this movement remains Jackson and the Rainbow Coalition. The Progressive Cananea, Mexico The striking workers of the Cananea Copper mine in Sonora have largely obtained their demands. This was the second major labor struggle in Mexico since Carlos Salinas de Gortari took office. The Cananea mine produces 60% of Mexico's copper, and copper is a major export product that Mexico uses to finance its debt.

Previously, the University had revealed a The strike was promulgated by the proposal to replace the park, which is the government declaring the mine home to hundreds of homeless people, bankrupt at a time when it was doing with student housing. A demonstration better than it had for several years. The government's objective was to sell the celebrate the anniversary of the struggle would have meant the firing of many to establish the park 20 years ago, in workers and an overall decrease in the which the police killed a protestor. working conditions, so the workers put

The University has also offered the city $1 million a year to improve city services. In return, the University is expected to try to build the student dorms anyway at some time in the in to pressure and leased People's Park was held to protest this proposal and to

New York Times

Computer Science

Computer Co-op sells computer supplies, textbooks, class material and reference materials for using campus computers. Volunteer labor equals low 534-6071

NEW LOCATION IN STUDENT/CO-OP CENTER. OPEN MONDAY-FRIDAY 11 A.M.-2 P.M.

This past Wednesday the renaming of Third College was discussed at a Third College town meeting. Names

Lumumba-Zapata

(presented in 1969 by Black Students Council and Mexican-American Youth Association)

Contradictions which sustained America in the past are now threatening to annihilate the entire societal edifice. Black slave labor laid the basis of the American economy. Mexican-Americans in the Southwest and Black people in the industrial cities and the agraian South continue to perform the dirty but necessary tasks of building a society of abundance, while sysetmatically being denied the benefits of that society. Therefore, we must reject the entire oppressive structure of America. Racism runs rampant in the educational system, while America, in a pseudohumanitarian stance, proudly proclaims that it is the key to equal opportunity for all. This is the hypocrisy our generation must now Having been admitted to the University, some of us thought we had crashed through the barriers of racism and economic oppression. Instead, we found that we were accidently the chosen ones, the privileged few who, according to the powers that be, are the exceptions that challenge the rule - the existence of White racism.

This, however, is not the crux of the problem. The selfindictment of the American educational system lies not so much in the quantitative exclusion of people of color as in the quality of what is taught - to the White as well as to the Brown and Black student. If the high schools and colleges are not de-vising more efficient techniques of mystifying the students with irrelevant inanities, then they are consciously subjecting them to a cold-blooded and calculated indoctrination into a dehumanized an unfree society. This is the perversion called mind-raping. In the case of minority students, it is a miseducation which has caused us to unconsciously sever ourselves from our communal and cultural roots, if not to be seduced into the system which exploits our own community. Black capitalism, especially as formulated by the Nixon administration, divided the minority people into exploiters and exploited, the exploiting calss being the college-trained bourgeoisie. Each new Chicano or Black nessman has already been enlisted into the war army of exploiters.

Together with our American brothers in struggle - on the campuses and in the streets-and with our comrades throughout the Third World who are involved in wars of liberation, we refect a system which thrives on military technoloty and imperialist profit. At the University of California, San Diego, we will no longer insure the undisturbed existence of a false institution which consistently fails to respond to the needs of our people.

Despite the Chicano rebellions in the Southwest and the Black revolts in the cities, the University of California, San Diego, which is part of the oppressive system, has not changed its institutional role. The puny reforms made so fare are aimed at pacifying the revolts and sapping our strength. We therefore not only emphatically demand that radical changes be made. We propose to execute these changes ourselves!

We demand that the Third College be devoted to relevant education for minority youth and to the study of the contemporary social problems of all people. To do this authentically, this college must radically depart from the usual role as the ideological backbone of the social system, and must instead subject every part of the system to ruthless criticism. To reflect these aims of the college, it will be called Lumumba-Zapata College. To enhance the beauty of the name, we demand that the architecture be of Mexican and African style; and that its landscape be of the same nature.

Since there has been and continues to be an overriding tradition of exclusion of minority personnel from the work force involved in planning and building of institutions, except on the most menial level, it is our demand that the architects, general contractors, subcontractors, and all supervisory personnel must be from the minority community.

The bonds for financing the construction of Lumumba-Zapata College must be held by minority financial institutions, and must be offered in such denominations that members of the minority community may participate in the funding fo the college.

suggested were Lumumba-Zapata, Rosa Parks, Martin Luther King jr. Diversity College, and Third College.

Demands

In order to guarantee adequate funding of Lumumba -Zapata College: L. The provost and/or his representative shall have review power over the budget of all the college and institutes.

2. The yearly budget for Lumumba—Zapata College will be finalized before that of all other colleges.
The governing body of Lumumba—Zapata College shall be the Board of Directors and shall consist of two students, one faculty member and the Board of Directors

 The Board of Directors shall make the final ruling on all general college policy. It shall dispense and fill all FTE's and approve all administrative appointments. It shall have the authority to initiate any action or delegate that responsibility to any group it deems appropriate.

Each member of the Board of Directors shall have one vote.

Student Representation

 The students who serve on the Board of Directors shall be chosen in a general election tof the student body of Lumumba-Zapata College, to serve for a twelve month term.

The student representative can be recalled at any time by a majority vote of the student body of the college.
 The student representatives hsall be compensated at the rate of 125% of the average yearly income requirement of a college student at UCSD. 4. The student representative shall be given credit for one normal course per quarter for each quarter of service, which shall be applied towards graduation

Faculty Representation

 The faculty representative shall be elected by the faculty of Lumumba-Zapata College. He may be recalled at any time by a majority vote of the faculty of the college.

2. The faculty representative's service on the Board of Directors shall be equivalent toandtake the place of his normal teaching and committee responsibilities.

Provost

The provost will be the administrative head of Lumumba-Zapata College.
 The two students and one faculty representative shall make the final decision concerning the selection of the provost and shall have the power of recall ofer him.

In order to compensate for past and present injustices and to serve those most affected by white racism and economic exploitation, Lumumba-Zapata College must have an enrollment of 35% Blacks and 35% Mexican-Americans. Students must be selected on the basis of their potential by an admissions committee controlled by minority students. The University of California admission requirements must not be used as an instrument for excluding minority students from or limiting their numbers in Lumumba-Zapata College.

All minority students attending Lumumba-Zapata College must be fully supported with funds supplied by the University to the extent that they will not have to work or take out loans.

The following is a general outline of tareas to be studied at Lumumba-Zapata College. So far, what education the few minority students have received has been from a colonial perspective. We now seek to learn about ourselves from a minority perspective.

1.Revolutions

In the United States, minorities have been excluded from government decision-making and must now develop an original system of self-government and the means of actualizing them. Black and Brown people have become the vanguard of social change because they constitute the most oppressed sector of American society. It is within this framework that Black and Brown people must thoroughly comprehend the theory and practice of the successful as well as unsuccessful revolutions around the world. Reading material in this area will include such authors as Lenin, Nkrumah, Marx, Malcolm, Fanon, Padmore, Che Guevara, and Mariano Azuela.

If you wish to take part in the renaming send a two page paper explaining your suggestion to the Third provost's office or clip and mail the demands below.

2. Analysis of Economic Systems
The understanding of the economic exploitation of minority peoples in the United States will entail in depth analysis of the historical and contemporary development of captialism in the Western world, including the crucial roles played by colonialism, imperialism, slavery, and genocide. Only in this contextwill it be possible to arrive at the reasons why minority people serve as a special labor reserve or "fill", distinct from the white working class. Statistical research is needed to determine the economic condition of the minority community and also research application to guarantee sound community economy.

3. Science and Technology
In this field, emphasis will be placed on the basic sciences as preparation for research in areas related to the satisfaction of human needs. This obviously excludes the theoretical inanities taught at Revelle College as well as the military research conducted at Scripps Institute.

4. Health Sciences and Public Health Minority people in the United States have a far shorter life-span than whites and suffer diseases peculiar to eppressed people. In tropical countries where people of color live, research into the diseases peculiar to the geopgraphical areas have been extremely in adequate. Courses should emphasize this long overdue research, as well as the social application of this research.

5. Urban and Rural Development Minority people have suffered much more than whites in the American transition from a producing agrarian to a consuming industrial society. The migration enmasse of minority people from country to city provides the most important key to understanding the acute contradictions today between urban and rural life.

In the near future some fifty American cities will have a Black population of over 51% of their total and in the Southwest some five million. Chicanos will reside. These people live in the so-called inner city, the area of greatest exploitation and therefore greatest explosive potential. The problems of the inner city are so deep that only revolutionary change will create a just solution.

Among the topics to be coverred are housing, transportation, environmental control, nutrient procurement and elimination of wastes, and fair government.

6. Communication Arts
Black Arts have flourished in spite of protractedoppression, Deprived of native languages, Black people have developed new ways of communication with words, gestures, new music, employing the most diverse art forms.
This area should encompass all the performing as well as the fine arts including such modern arts as film-making and being aware of the beautiful creativeness of our Brown forefathers, we demand that Indo-Hispanic

7. Foreign Languages
Of the European languages, we regard Spanish and French as the most important since they are the second language of most people of African descent. The Chicano people have suffered a great cultural deprivation by the down-grading of the Spanish language by the Anglo teachers and administrators. We would, of course urge strong emphasis on African, Indian and Asian art be included within the Communication.

Arts program.

8. Cultural Heritage
This area will emphasize the rich cultural heritage of all people of color. Exploration will be made into the traditional roots of culture to uncover that which was buried under European assimilation. Black culture will be studied and appraised in its own frame of reference.

White Studies.
 Courses in this field will emphasize the negative as well as the positive elements of the history of Western civilization.

War on Drugs Is War on the Poor

This is the second installment of a contribution from the El Grito Collective. The N.I.C. does not necessarily agree with all the views presented.

submitted by: El Grito

Let us look at George Bush and the CIA's experience in this trade, which so obviously qualifies them to be in charge of its regulation. Cocaine is a reasonably recent plague in the US. From the fifties to early seventies, the illegal poison being pumped into our neighborhoods was heroin. Where did it come from? The scourge of heroin in our country began with the supply flights of the CIA to Chiang Kai Chek's army remnants and death squads on the Burmese-China border -the original contras-through which the US hoped to harrass, and if possible overthrow, the new People's Republic of China. The supply planes ran arms in secret, then brought back the only merchandise valuable enough to make it pay -- opium and heroin.

With the defeat of the French in Indochina and the full scale takeover of their role by U.S. special services ('advisors'), the stream of smack into the U.S. become a flood. Of course that 'aid program' was also said to be necessary to stop the 'Red Chinese Drug Pushers.' This is another example of the criminal blaming their victim. Opium was first introduced into China by the British. French, and U.S. capitalists. Britain fought two wars with U.S. and French support in the 1840's to force the Chinese government to allow the import of this most 'profitable' of 'goods' from 'British' India and 'French' Indo-China.

Imperialism has always brought the drug trade with it. Just as it has developed to the max the 'legal' drug trade in alcohol and nicotine (a fine business of addictive death with permanent 'customer loyalty' -at least unto death), it has also helped develop the 'illegal' drug trade. It is ridiculous to claim that the colonized countries have 'forced' this money-making trade on the imperialists. And as an example, even though there was almost no trade between China or Vietnam with the US, even though the only planes and ships coming back from the region were CIA and US military supply runs, still the drug flood got worse with every year of the war in South East Asia. The new national governments in Vietnam, Laos, and Cambodia wiped out the drug trade in weeks, as the People's Government had done before in New China.

The CIA withdrew, and changed the center of their activity to the new main hotspots of insurrection against Yanki colonial slavery -the Andes and Central America. Here the 'most profitable' crop available was coca leaf, turned into cocaine. And what do you know, suddenly the ghettos and barrios of the U.S. are full of cocaine, brought back on every plane returning from supply runs to the Contras in Nicaragua, and to the death squads in El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Colombia and Peru. The CIA has become the Cocaine Importing Agency, a U.S. government enforced monopoly on death, enslavement and terror, "guns to kill your peasants, narcotics to drug and control our poor"a most lucrative business which not only protected the 'national interests' of the US billionaires, but even better, threw all the cost of the search and destroy actions on the poorest neighborhoods, the ghettos and barrios in the U.S. There, many of our children were ruined for life, and the rest of us have to pay a terrible secret tax through the incessant robberies we face from desperate addicts. This most profitable business has the 'happy' effect -for the rich- of drugging unconscious or helpless the youth of the colonized peoples held in bondage in the U.S. The Peurtorrican, Afro-American, Mexican, and Native peoples, all who have been driven from the lands tilled by their ancestors, all who suffer from the drug plague in their barrios, ghettos and reservations -the internal concentration camps and 'strategic villages' of US imperialism.

Here at the local level, the CIA's oversight of the drug trade is turned over to the vice squads & SWAT teams under the direction of the DEA. Those of us who have lived in the US slums these last three decades have experienced the protection of the drug & death peddlers by the police. Whenever the slaves have united & taken up arms to rid their communities of the death dealers, the police have savagely attacked the people to disarm them, & have assassinated in cold blood their leaders, like Fred Hampton & the other Black Panthers, or the leaders of the Puertoriqueño nationalists in the 50's. What kind of 'drug lords' the police are really after is clearly shown by the 'accidental coincidence' of the new push in the 'war on drugs' & the assassination of Huey P. Newton in Oakland, followed immediately by a tremendous nationally coordinated campaign to portray this well known national leader as a 'drug user & pusher' who 'only got what was coming to him'.

As to what we can expect the US government's secret police to do with their new powers & forces in Columbia & Peru, well, just look at the 'Justice' Department & FBI's use of the new RICO anti-'mafia' criminal conspiracy laws. The ink was hardly dry on these laws when the US, as part of its preparations for a 'free & fair' election in Puerto Rico on 'independence' or statehood, rounded up and kidnapped to the US all the leadership of the different Puertorriqueño nationalist & liberation groups. Without the slightest pretense of legality or any consideration of Puerto Rico's 'Constitution' (written in the US), all of the opponents of US colonialism in Puerto Rico were shipped out of that country in the middle of the night without any hearing before the officials of the supposedly 'independent' local government. They were brought in shackles to Hartford & held under maximum security lockdown for years while being denied bail or even the pretense of a trial. Why? -because according to the colonialist 'Justice' Department & US Federal Bureau of Intimidation, the Puertorrican independence movement was a criminal conspiracy!

Before this 'democratic' farce, totally outside all conceivable norms of any legality, the rich & their government put on a few 'show trials' of one or two actual gangsters (i.e. businessmen whose crimes have not yet been 'legalized'). This was to try to prove that the new laws were really meant to 'get tough on crime' and were both practical & necessary. Naturally these mass poisoners of youth, flesh peddlers & assassins received comparatively short & always shortenable sentences -often lessened to 'public service'- (What service? - providing police parties with prostitutes?). And they are serving these 'stiff' sentences in 'country club' prisons, while the supporters of Puertorrican decolonization rot in the worst hell holes of the Federal Prison system without even the most basic human rights or medical attention.

This should prepare us for the US government's unbelievable new demand, that it has the right to order foreign countries to hand over anyone that the it considers a 'criminal' for trial in the US even for actions carried out in foreign countries, wholly outside the scope of US law. A few low-level 'Cocaine businessmen' from Colombia will be given huge media-event show trials -and then quietly shipped off to the Atlanta Federal Facility (known world wide as the Medellin Country Club) for a luxurious vacation with drugs & prostitutes supplied by the US government and paid for with our taxes. Then the real use of this openly colonialist law will begin: i.e. every fighter for Colombian independence, democracy,& 'progress' who can be found will be rounded up and shipped to the U.S. to face permanent imprisonment (and 'interrogation' -i.e. torture) without bail. Their crime? being part of a 'criminal conspiracy', i.e. defending their country's independence, stopping the terrorist death squads, and attempting to end starvation.

All those who believe in peace, all those in favor of democracy & peaceful prosperity, everyone in the US who opposes the criminal drug trade, in reality and not just in words, should speak out against the military occupation of Honduras by US troops, against the constant growth of the US colonial occupation army in Panama, and especially against the US military invasion of Colombia, Bolivia, & Peru. The sending of US 'advisors' is always a euphemism for US military officers (and CIA agents) assuming direct command of the local mercenary troops. It means that all the government's hogwash about not preparing to send in US troops is a hypocritical lie, it means napalm for the little children of the peasants rising up against being forced to grow coca for export to the US instead of food for their starving families, (which is deemed 'not profitable').

Some so-called 'left' organizations claim that all that is going on in Colombia, Bolivia, & Peru is a struggle between the 'legal' and the 'illegal' bourgeosie. They tell us that the US & Latin American Left shouldn't concern themselves about it, that the battles may be a good thing if the narcoterrorists are wiped out, etc., etc. The U.S. has invaded the Andes with rockets, napalm, & Agent Orange -but, "Hey it's no big deal dude!"

Such are the 'ideas' that these addicts to US propaganda want to use to lower our vigilance and disorganize our struggle. According to these professionally naive liberals, we should trust the US government when it says it's sending troops to the the guerrilla strongholds to 'fight drugs' -or at least we should give them the 'benefit of the doubt'. These 'leftists' are being duped and refusing to see the hard lines of the Imperialist world.

In this real world, the Medellin & Cali cartels have always been integral parts of the CIA's network of terror & profit in Latin America. It was the CIA & those under contract to them who organized, trained, and armed the death squads of these criminal cartels. A huge to-do is being made that this work was really done by 'private' (?) Israeli contractors who just happened to be ex-special services agents. Such tales are fit only for those who still believe in the Easter Bunny. The ENTIRE budget of Israel's military forces & secret services is supplied by the U.S.A., either overtly by congress or covertly by the CIA.

As for the theory that in Colombia the 'illegal' bourgeosie is being fought by the 'decent responsible bourgeosie' ,we would like to ask -What 'decent responsible' bourgeosie?!? The 'Emerald Lords' who enslave ten year old kids & force them to push carts of ore up the rails of their mines by hand all day long? The brutal overseers of the banana plantations armed with machine guns and whips who routinely murder the local union leaders? Or maybe those who make huge fortunes by having children work their coffee plantations? These are the 'decent responsible bourgeosie' who along with the emerald barons put Colombia at the top of UNESCO's list as the worst exploiters and abusers of children in the world. The 'illegal' bourgeosie have so much capital invested in all the 'legal' profitable businesses in Colombia that it is impossible to separate them.

The Colombian bourgeosie & feudal landbarons, under the direction of the US government, are a pack of savage inhuman parasites & slavers. All this talk of responsible capitalists, of decent wage-slavers, of responsible sweatshop whippers & legal starvers remind us of the socially conscious investment liberals and their call for socially conscious profit gouging & gentler, kinder scientific sweating. They have no doubt that these towering ideas will recieve the response due them from all lovers of democracy, peace, & self determination (a Bronx cheer). Everyone must get serious & oppose the new filthy crime of the US reactionaries.

The sending of U.S. 'advisors' to Colombia & Peru is the first step in a prepared plan for a new and profitable 'Vietnam' war in the Andes. It is the preparation for sending thousands of lower-class Americans, whose only economic opportunity is joining the military, into a dirty war against the very population of the country we're supposedly trying to 'help'. A war in support of slavers and child abusers who'll do anything for a profit. The socalled 'War on Drugs' is nothing but a cover story for this. The actual solution to the drug trade lies in the full victory of the Colombian, Peruvian & other peoples liberation stuggles, in the coming to power of the peasants over the latifundista plantation owners and their demand for a profitable cash crop.

por Alianza por la Liberación Latinoamericana

Nicaragua

In holding to their promise to stimulate the region's 'historical government. The campaign proved to be existed there previously. a huge success. Ironically these advances Ironically several government members of the Misurata leadership turned the language program into a for Miskitu separatism.

as to the general course of history without having to account for every detail on the way there, or even major events such as the degeneration of the Soviet socialist revolution of 1917.

Thus, in the case of East Germany we can fully support the struggle of the people for a democratic socialism euch!

SOLUTIONS

Over the past ten years, the Sandinista traditions' and 'cultural values', the government has fostered policies and Sandinistas consented to a Misurasta social programs that have empirically billingual education proposal, designed improved the lives of the indigenous to coincide with the nation-wide literacy peoples of Nicaragua's Atlantic Coast. campaign. Misurasta was given the However, Nicaragua's new government responsibility of organizing and has also proved itself ignorant, in many activating this billingual program with cases, of the religious cultures, traditions the materials and funds supplied by the and socio-economic structures that worked against the Sandinista programs served to alienate many governmet when certain high ranking coastal groups who felt these governmental intiatives were being political platform, puporting the need Sandinistas continue to make forced on them. Knowing this, the amendments to their policies, willfully, In the second part of this series we will with respect to the Costeños' wishes for examine what role US covert policy change. It is in the area of reexamination played in undermining the development and self crtiticism that this new of a Misurasta/ Sandinista partnership. government has made its most significant advances.

Both the Latino Sandistas and indigenous Costeños have proven themselves educatable and flexible. These abilities will provide everyone involved with a dynamic solution to the historic complexities facing Nicaragua's Atlantic Coast.

without feeding into the simplistic and mindlessly patriotic propoganda that tells us we are witnessing the failure of

Proletarier aller Lander, vereinigt

High Price Center Music Review

By A. Anarchiavitch

Let's forget its not a free speech area, stop hoping that one day this mauseluem culture will simply disappear. Let's just because the pigs built it with Jerusalem

the Pixies have performed at the High

Phranc, self termed as "just your that it was constructed with student average jewish, lesbian folksinger" money without student consent, and let's played a noontime gig Friday, October 13 in the plaza of the High Price Center. of the western/consumerist/death Phranc, clad in jeans, t-shirt and army boots topped off with trademark crew accept that this eyesore does exist cut, played guitar and sang to a crowd which more or less filled the plaza area. quartz and it would take at least three The majority of the audience greeted her truck loads of dynamite to blow it up warmly and participated in sing-a-longs (however, if you do have three truck to "I don't like female mud wrestling" loads of dynamite and are looking for a and "life lover." While the acoustics of good way to use it, stop by our office and the plaza were adequate, the general I'm sure we could work something out busy/stressed out attitude of the price Note: the N.I.C. does not endorse the club took away from the performance. destruction of the High Price Center and People walking behind Phranc, loudly suggests that you do not, that you never, greeting their friends, others eating do anything like putting laundry lunch at the tables around the plaza detergent in the fountain, or throw tacks carring on conversations, still more on the floor in front of administrators' getting tickets at the Box office (located offices, or slingshot the windows, or steal directly behind the stage), and the from the bookstore, or take joyrides on occasional frat-type loudly pondering their cart, or hold an impromtu the gender of the performer all distracted rollerderby in the plaza...). Back to the from the performance. In the future, point, in the past few weeks such artists Revelle Plaza may be a better venue, or as Phranc, Eca Mouse, Bob Mould, and simply closing the businesses behind the attempt went through the preliminary interim agreement until legislative and stages of forming an organization and legal battles have been concluded. had a large membership. It held a general lecture hall and a rally that filled Revelle Plaza. However, on the verge of its affiliation with the national AFSCME (American Federation of State, Civil, and Municipal Employees), the union broke apart due to internal tensions. At that time the University was hostile to the organizing effort and many of the principal organizers of the union accused the university of being complacent in the union loss of support. The University never consented to bargaining with the union in spite of massive campus support and local Participants of the struggle in 1975 will be advising SAWC. Cecilia Ubilla-Arenas, now working at OASIS, has spoken with the committee about the pitfalls and university attacks that the 1975 GSU encountered. She agreed strongly with Sullivan in the need for student employees. At this time, the university has not yet directly interfered with the current organizing effort.

More recently, Berkeley student employees successfully fought for collective bargaining with the unviersity. The Association of Graduate Student Employees (AGSE) formed in 1982 and has gotten progressively bigger since then. They were also very involved in the struggle against divestment. After this, they focused their efforts on becoming recognizerd by the university as the representative of student employees.

AGSE has also decided to affiliate itself with UAW local 65. This is a nationally based local that has a special partially autonomous relation in the at 552-8637. UAW. Through this connection the AGSE will have the financial, legal, and organizing resources that will force the university to recognize it totally. At this

Union

continued from page 3

Western Europe, university students point AGSE has achieved an agreement in which the university has conceded to are actually paid a stipend to bargain with AGSE as a representative In 1975, a Graduate Student Union of the student employees and AGSE has was largely formed at UCSD. This agreed not to strike. The agreement is an

This UCB struggle will set precedent meeting which packed the USB 2722 for the possible success of the unionization effort here at UCSD. The UCSD administration will be apt to follow the agreements at Berkeley where the ice was broken, thinks Sullivan. Sullivan has also been in contact with AGSE organizers for consultation.

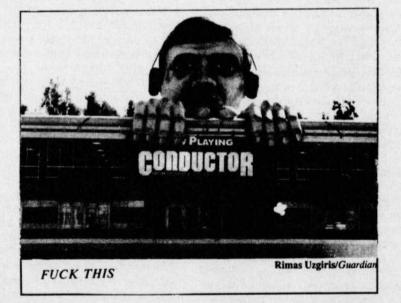

Sullivan beleives one of the major motivations for starting a student union here is that it is occurring in several other places across the country in addition to Berkeley. Prominent among these are Madison (Univ. of Wisconsin), Ann Arbor (Univ. of Mich.), Gainesville (Univ. of Florida), Eugene (Univ. of Oregon), and several SUNY campuses.

With the background of these successes, Sullivan believes that there is a good chance of forming a student employee union in the next couple years. This union would have an independent but symbiotic relationship with the Graduate Student Association and also possibly with the Associated Students, according to Sullivan.

First, the organizers at UCSD have decided to remain an independent organization. Only when an office and permanent staff become necessary because of the size do they think it apporpriate to approach national unions for affiliation. Currently, the UAW and AFSCME are being reviewed for suitability for SAWC.

At this point, the committee is calling out for interested student employees to Last year they called a university strike get in touch with them to help construct and essentially shut down the university. a core group to build a labor stage on the lower level would greatly improve performances. Immediately following Phranc a small guerilla theater group occupied the area for a short art presentation which focused on student rights, free speech, and consumerism.

For more information call John Sullivan

The following Saturday, the High Price Center was host to the annual AS reggae festival. The bands, Shiloh, Foundation and Eca Mouse, performed in front of a reasonably large crowd. The music itself was great, but the atmosphere generated by the festival left much to be desired. The High Price Center lacks the ability to take you from your everday Babylon and into your utopian ideal of Africa. It is always there, above and below entraping you in its stucco/concrete prison. Marijuana only makes this more obvious. There is simply no way out. The conflicting energies of the High Price Center and reggae music turn the festival into a massive vortex of neon/concrete/ rasta/hell. Yes, we're all goin' down. If the planners had let the music last past sunset, maybe the Babylonic evilness of the High Price Center would have been subdued by the cloak of darkness, and we all could have danced together in peace. This was not so. Unlike past years, the festival only lasted until about four o'clock. Move it back to mile high. Better yet, blow the place up and construct a concrete free amphitheater.

On Wednesday night, October 25th, something incredible happened in the Ocar tenant: Congratulations! Your benevilent Lund land has secured millions of dullars in tederal earthquake relief funds and has decided to spind the money on Londo funtion! This means you can now own your own apartment! Please visit our sales office soon. Or it tonget your $20,000 down payment and $3,000 closing costs. Have a nice day

- The Management

Tired of greasy, fatty foods?

Eat at the CHE

Tempeh Burgers

Stir Fry Vegles

MONDAY TO FRIDAY 11-3:30 All You Can Eat Every Wednesday 5-7 PM

continued from page 10

High Price Center's ballroom. The Pixies performed with Bob Mould, formerly of Hüsker dü. Large enough to comfortably hold the crowd of coming from the amps. The overall speech. The struggle will continue.

affect giving a high far superior to most

The High Price Center is here and here to stay. There are even some positive aspects about it (besides bringing the approximately 700 and acoustically well Pixies to campus, it got the designed, the ballroom proves itself to be administration away from our office). a decent concert venue. Though the Possibly the introduction of good music overall affect given by the room is that of to the center will attract people who can being inside a Macintosh computer, the see how the rest of the structure light people did an excellent job of demonstrates the consumerist society creating a slightly creepy, slightly surrounding all of us. The High Price mysterious, and very intense atmosphere Center and its facistic oppression of free to go along with the Pixies. The music, of speech serves as an indicator of just what Bob Mould and the Pixies, was simply our culture has become. We must fight indescribable. The only thing that can be against this. We are at this school to said is that there was some kind magic learn, not to buy. We must have free Leftist politics lead to nihlism.

Ignorance is happiness.

The less you know the less you care.

The less you care the less you are troubled.

Anarchy is impossible.

Strenth is power.

Power annihilates trouble.

A social conscious only brings sadness.

Reapropriation to the prolitariate is essentialy an act of greed.

> Anarchy is impossible.

> > Love is hate. Give me your hate

> > > -daze

Long Stories In Short

High-tech Scum

According to an article in Whole Earth Review, an outfit called the Industrial Foundation of America keeps a computerized list of more than one million workers who have filed workers' comp claims. The magazine says the list amounts to a "blacklist that keeps workers who have filed claims from finding future employment." Most names on the list are in the South.

Labor Notes

Really?

This may not come as news to everyone, but two economists at Michigan State University say they've discovered that working class mothers get less sleep than working fathers.

Labor Notes

Anonymous supporters of Eastern Airlines have devised a Continental Reservation Guide for use by anyone who thinks that Continental Airlines owner Frank Lorenzo is bad for workers and travelers. The Guide encourages people to make frequent calls to the Continental reservations desk (800/525-0280) until the strike is settled. The authors hope to tie up Continental's reservation system so that the airline will fly empty seats and lose money. The Guide suggests booking reservations in the name of a favorite supervisor and making reservations with the highest rate possible and with the least restrictions. This delays the date on which the ticket has to be purchased. It ends with the advice: "If your reservation calls get too time consuming, make your calls anyway and just tell the reservation agent what you think of Frank Lorenzo and then hang up. The call will still cost Frank Lorenzo 50 cents."

"I like at times, to hear The Ancients' word, And have a care, to be most civil: It's really kind of such a noble Lord So humanly to gossip with the Devil!"

—Mephistopheles (Goethes' faust)

UCSD Food Coop

■Natural Foods ■Wholesome Snacks
■Pasta Salads ■ Healthy Desserts

Monday—Saturday

9-6

GAY • LABOR • LATINAMERICA • ECOLOGY MARXIST-HUMANISM • POLITICAL ECONOMY WOMEN • MEN • BLACK • NON-VIOLENCE MID EAST Groundwork MARCUSE HEALTH Books CHINA ENERGY UCSD Student Center IRELAND 1-5 to Gilman, left at wooden ART footbridge, right into parking lot MEDIA 452-9625 RECORDS ALBANIA Mon-Sat 11 am-8 pm SCIENCE FOR THE PEOPLE • ASIAN AMERICAN NUCLEAR POWER • MARXIST/LENINISM • IRAN LEGAL HASSLES • YOUNG PEOPLE • CHICANO MARXISM • NATIVE AMERICAN • ORGANIZING LIBROS EN ESPANOL FOOD • US LEFT

