

Miss Elizabeth Rowen, straight "A" student

March 2, 1965

Miss Elizabeth Ann Rowen, of 671 Scranton Avenue, East Rockaway, was one of seven freshmen on the San Diego campus of the University of California who finished the first semester with straight "A" grades.

Miss Rowen, a biology major, is a member of the first undergraduate class ever to study at UCSD. A total of 161 freshmen began their studies at the Torrey Pines Mesa campus, 13 miles north of San Diego, last fall.

Among the straight "A" students are four girls and three men. Besides Miss Rowen they are Barbara Elizabeth Beasley of La Mesa, California, Victoria May Hudson of San Diego, California, Caroline Isaacs of Rancho Santa Fe, California, Douglas W. Pepin of San Diego, California, Allan F. Divis of Tucson, Arizona, and Frank J. Seiter of San Diego, California.

According to Dr. Edward D. Goldberg Provost of Revelle College at UCSD, the 64 girls registered the first semester had a grade point average of 2.965. The 117 men came in a close second scholastically with an average grade point of 2.877.
