NATIONAL FISHERIES AUTHORITY

A milestone for small fisheries business in Papua New Guinea

An important milestone took place on Friday, April 1, 2005, when the Small Business Development Corporation (SBDC) and the National Fisheries Authority (NFA) sign a Memorandum of Understanding for the development and promotion of a training programme for small fisheries business men and women.

This programme is known as Start and Improve Your Fisheries Business (SIYFB).

It was launched last Friday by Fisheries Minister Hon. Ben Semri and witnessed by Trade and Industry Minister Hon. Paul Tiensten, National Planning Minister Hon. Arthur Somare, Managing Directors Mr Sylvester Pokajam of NFA and Mr Brian Komun of SBDC, as well as other distinguished guests.

The project would not have been possible without major donors AusAID, the Commonwealth Secretariat and the European Union.

The SBDC is the Government's lead agency in the promotion of the Government's Small and Medium Enterprises policy.

It is a known fact that the International Labour Organisation's Start and Improve Your Business (SIYB) programme - run by the SBDC - is the main capacity-building programme in Papua New Guinea to assist aspiring and existing entrepreneurs to establish themselves and grow to their full potential.

Since 1996 - when the SIYB programme was introduced in PNG - it has achieved remarkable results as was substantiated by the impact study that was conducted in 2002.

Today, the SIYB programme has more 150 delivery partner organisations and more than 270 well-trained trainers who can deliver quality training to the masses.

Of this, nine are SYB fisheries trainers who were formally certified last Friday.

The programme has also succeeded in addressing the diverse needs in the market by developing tailor-made programmes for specific target groups like fisheries, timber, agriculture and also those who cannot attend fulltime training with their SIYB correspondence courses.

This programme has the full support of the Government and it has a major role to play in implementation of the various Government initiatives.

The International Labour Organisation's PNG Programme Office has created a first in the world by having its SIYB material adapted especially for use in the fisheries sector in Papua New Guinea.

SIYB is an internationally-recognised entrepreneurial development training programme implemented in 86 countries around the world, and for the first time, it has been adapted for use specifically in the fisheries sector. Following this model, SBDC has also adapted the SIYB material for the timber and agricultural sectors.

The National Fisheries Authority, through the National Fisheries College in Kavieng, and SBDC, have worked long and hard on a project that both believe will have very tangible benefits for the fishermen and women of PNG.

Such milestones can be attained if we all work together to share resources and by linking and strategising with each other with our limited resources and minimising other constraints.

NFA and SBDC started the development of the SYFB training material in the second half of 2002 and completed the final draft in February 2003.

A small team comprising SBDC Master Trainers and SYFB course participants worked on the training material and had the draft field tested in three of the provincial training workshops.

The two SYFB training manuals - one on business awareness and the other on business planning - have been finalised and were launched last Friday.

To date, the SBDC and the NFA have conducted 14 workshops in maritime provinces of the country, which were attended by 195 fishermen and fisherwomen.

Last Friday also saw the certification of nine active SYFB trainers from eight network partner organizations in the fisheries sector.

A refresher Training of Trainers course held in Port Moresby last week saw them come together to upgrade their skills and knowledge on the delivery of the SYFB programmes, as well as to review existing training material.

This training is an attempt by the NFA and SBDC to address the human resource constraint identified in the SME Policy.

In providing them with this skill, they can deliver on behalf of NFA and the SBDC business and entrepreneurial skills to potential and existing entrepreneurs in the country.

Both organisations have been innovative and creative in utilising limited resources to deliver where they can into the rural areas and not remain in Port Moresby in their focus and outlook.

This country needs entrepreneurs who can add to the wealth of this nation and create employment opportunities for the large numbers of unemployed.

There is a huge challenge ahead for all of us but if we work together, we can achieve some degree of benefit, either now or in the years ahead.

Last Friday's launch of the Start and Improve Your Fisheries Business is indeed a momentous occasion - and a step in the right direction for Papua New Guinea.

Other invited guests, course participants, ladies and gentlemen.

Thank you for your kind invitation to me to address all of you this evening on the occasion of an important milestone between the Small Business Development Corporation and the National Fisheries Authority.

We are gathered here to witness the signing of a MOU that will safeguard and set the guidelines of a training programme for small fisheries businessmen and women.

This is a Fisheries Business Training Manual that has been specifically developed for small business minded people who want to take part in the Fisheries Industry of our country.

And it has been developed by the Start and Improve Your Business Division of the Small Business Development Corporation in close consultation with the National Fisheries Authority.

For those not aware, the SIYB programme is the main capacity-building programme in Papua New Guinea to assist aspiring and existing entrepreneurs to establish themselves and grow to their full potential.

Since 1996, when the SIYB programme was introduced in PNG, it has achieved remarkable results. And this was substantiated by an impact study that was conducted in 2002.

Today, I am advised that the SIYB programme has more than 150 delivery partner organizations and more than 270 well-trained trainers who can deliver quality training throughout the country.

The programme has also succeeded in addressing the diverse needs in the market by developing tailor-made programmes for specific target groups like fisheries, forestry, agriculture and also those who cannot attend fulltime training with their SIYB correspondence courses.

This programme has the full support of this Government and we believe it has a major role to play during implementation of the various Government initiatives.

I believe today's occasion again, demonstrates the efforts of one of the agencies under my Ministry - Trade and Industry - and its lead role in promoting and implementing the Somare Government's Export Driven Economic Recovery Strategy.

SBDC is the Government's lead agency in the promotion of the Government's SME policy.

This is bearing in mind the Ministry's Mission Statement of creating national wealth through the development of Small and Medium Enterprises, or SMEs as they are referred to, thereby increasing domestic production.

My Ministry recognizes that SMEs and the informal Sector have an enormous potential to generate employment opportunities for our people, particularly in the rural sector.

The SBDC must continue to play a pivotal role in bringing about a growing and vibrant SME sector through its range of programmes and activities either through itself, in conjunction with the Department of Trade and Industry or other agencies within the ministry or with network partners and delivery agents like the NFA.

SBDC has used the SIYB programme since 1996 and developed its human resource capacity to facilitate training and certification of trainers and training of Master Trainers programmes.

I commend the NFA, through the National Fisheries College, and SBDC, for working together on a project which I believe will have very tangible benefits for the fishermen and fisherwomen of PNG.

We can achieve such milestones if we all work together to share resources and by linking and strategizing with each other with our limited resources.

There are many challenges and constraints facing our country but one of the biggest to the growth and development of small indigenous businessmen and women has to be discipline and attitude.

It is widely recognized that there is an apparent lack of an entrepreneurial culture in the country.

This joint venture between NFA and SBDC is one such endeavour to address the human resource constraint identified in the SME Policy.

I hope trainers under this program can deliver on behalf of NFA and the SBDC, business and entrepreneurial skills to potential and existing entrepreneurs in the country.

I am challenging both organizations to be innovative and creative in utilizing limited resources to deliver where you can into the rural areas and not remain in Port Moresby in your focus and outlook.

Whilst the result from this effort will bear fruits some years down the line, it is a targeted attempt to realizing two of the three pillars of the Government's Economic Recovery and Development Policy Directive.

These are: Export driven economic recovery strategy as well, as empowerment of the rural people through income generating opportunities.

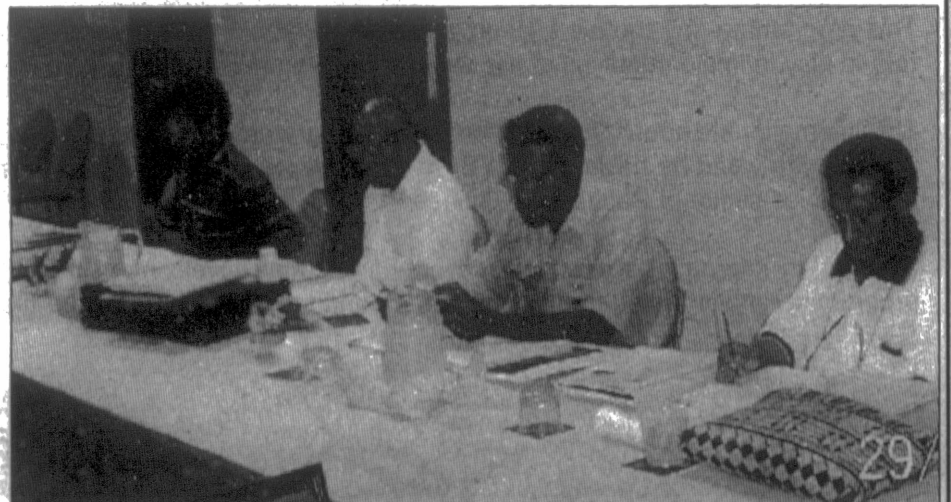

This country needs entrepreneurs who can add to the wealth of this nation and create employment opportunities for the large numbers of unemployed.

There is a huge challenge for all of us but if we work together we can achieve some degree of benefit, either now or in the years ahead.

To both SBDC and NFA, I say: Keep up the good work, there is still a lot to do.

To all of you, thank you for your attention.

Thank you and God Bless!

- Auxiliary hydraulics are actuated by a thumb-operated rocker switch on the joystick.
- Hand-throttle allows you to run at a constant speed, or an accelerator pedal can be used during load and carry, excavating or backdragging.

Operator Comfort

- Optional suspension seat adds operator comfort.
- Clear view of the work tool reduces operator fatigue and increases productivity.

Power and Versatility

- The Cat 3034 Engine is proven and reliable.

PNG celebrates 30th Anniversary - Events underway

Preparations for the three major events in Papua New Guinea are underway and progressing well.

The focal point of the preparations is the nation-wide celebration of the 30th Independence Anniversary, which is spearheaded by PNG Events Council Secretariat under the leadership of Mr Allan Oaisa as Director-General.

The other significant events are Papua New Guinea's hosting of the 16th Melanesian Spearhead Group (MSG) Meeting and the 36th Pacific Island Forum (PIF) Meeting which will be facilitated by several government agencies including the Departments of Prime Minister and NEC, Foreign Affairs and Immigration and Trade and Industry.

Eastern Highlands Province will play host to the Melanesian Spearhead Group Meeting between the 15th and 20 August 2005 while the Pacific Islands Forum Meeting will be held in Port Moresby.

Mr Oaisa says the six sub-committees of the PNG Events Council will undertake detailed programs for the 30th anniversary celebrations:

These are: Sponsorship, Security, Ceremonial / Protocol / Programming, Churches, Media and Transport.

ees are also being organized to prepare for the week long independence celebrations between September 11th and 18th September, 2005 through out the country.

Mr Oaisa's Secretariat is placing cultural and sporting activities to take center-stage of the celebrations in the National Capital and throughout the provinces.

The Secretariat will be launching a major drive on April 15, 2005 and it is hoped that business houses and citizens will be pledging their support to assist the Committee to fund and stage the major events.

Mr Oaisa says a national dress design competition will also be launched shortly to re-ignite and promote national identity.

PM congratulates new ESP Governor

PPrime Minister, Sir Michael Somare has congratulated the Member for Yangoru-Saussia, Peter Wararu Waranaka upon his election by the East Sepik provincial Assembly as the new Governor of the Province.

Mr Waraka was elected unopposed by the full Provincial Assembly of five national Members of Parliament and 26 council Presidents.

Sir Michael, who is the Regional Member of that Province, heard the election result from Auckland where he was attending the Pacific Island Forum Core Group Meeting.

"Mr Wararu's election as Governor is a win for the province because he is a young and energetic leader who should introduce some new and innovative ideas on how to move the province forward.

"My Government looks forward to working closely with his administration in ensuring that the economic impact projects we have initiated in the province bear fruit," Sir Michael said.

The Prime Minister said the fact that Mr Wararu was nominated by the Member for Ambunti/Drekkekir and PAP strongman, Tony Aimo, and seconded by the Member for Wewak, Kimson Kare, shows that the MPs from the province are united.

"We can have our own party differences at the national level, but when it comes to issues of importance to the province, I know we will always put the interest of East Sepik Province first," Sir Michael said.

EASTER MESSAGES: GOVERNOR-GENERAL AND PRIME MINISTER

Manage nation with God's wisdom

Leaders in Papua New Guinea have once again been urged to seek divine wisdom and confidence to manage the affairs of the nation.

In his Easter message carried by the daily newspapers, the Governor General, Sir Paulias Matane challenged leaders to reflect the true meaning of the occasion to critically look at the needs of the less privileged people in the society.

Sir Paulias urged all Christians to fast and confess their spiritual and physical weaknesses to draw Papua New Guineans closer to God for reconciliation.

He said this was the way for seeking hope and confidence.

"The hope of our people can only be reflected by the effectiveness, honesty and sincerity of the leadership of the nation.

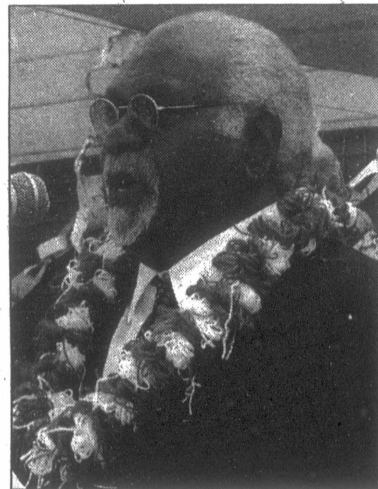

"As Jesus Christ went through calvary to die to shed his blood on the cross to save mankind from sin, we too must also accept the cross and follow that path.

"The almighty God, through his son Jesus Christ saved us from greed, self esteem and prejudice," the Governor-General said.

He said many communities in PNG desire to live and work harmoniously with one another but he was said to see bad elements who deliberately divert peace and harmony for evil gains.

Sir Paulias said: "We must pray for those who turn to senseless killings, theft, corruption; to cease their evil motives and turn to the Lord who can change and create a new life that is full of compassion".

He said the loss of many innocent people in PNG can be averted when individuals realise mistakes, establish Christian love and respect one another.

years, the nation is now experiencing a turn around.

"Though, we still face many challenges we have proven that we can determine our own direction and move our country forward", he said.

He says no government can keep providing services without the support of its people, and it is up to each one of us to make PNG a better place by committing ourselves to improving our communities.

"Melanesians are communal people so let's support the efforts of government by putting the interests of our communities first.

"We have a wonderful country and despite the challenges that we face, we are still moving forward. By putting our country and community first, we can achieve more than putting our own individual needs first," Sir Michael highlighted.

He further said during the thirtieth year of PNG's nationhood, many significant events will take place including the Pacific Islands Forum Meeting, the Melanesian Spearhead Group Meeting and the Anniversary celebration.

He said it is our opportunity to show the hospitality as we did during the 1991 South Pacific Games and the 1995 South Pacific Forum Meeting.

Sir Michael said: "the PNG Events Council has a great task ahead this year in organising a number of activities so that our people can celebrate our thirty years of nationhood.

"Show your support by making sure that these activities are trouble free and enjoyable to everyone".

The Prime Minister also took the opportunity at Easter to commend Papua New Guineans for the outpouring compassion, solidarity and assistance to the victims of the South East Asia tsunami disaster and the Manam volcanic eruption.

EDUCATION

Ten-year National Education Plan launched

Papua New Guinea now has a new national education blue-print for the next 10 years.

It was launched under the logo; "Achieving an Better Future" by the Governor-General, Sir Paulias Matane at the Sir John Guise Stadium in Port Moresby amid hundreds of children who added singing and colour to the occasion.

The 2005-2014 Education Plan aims to provide universal education for all children by 2012 by which time more than 350 languages will be taught in elementary schools in PNG.

Sir Paulias said Papua New Guinea has so much in education, starting from the time of the early missionaries.

"The Christian churches have made a great contribution to developing education in Papua New Guinea.

"We have exported pilots to United Arab Emirates, scientists to United States of America and we have also doctors and academics working in Australia. These are some of the achievements and we should all be proud of.

"It is important and timely that this Plan is designed to have a positive impact on the future of education in our country, and the Pacific region.

"In the world where standards are high, graduates must be capable of strong performance and productive contribution to the development of society," the Governor-General stressed.

He said those in the education sector should ensure further reforms are initiated for the twenty-first century, as education reform is a life process which must continue.

"Our vision is integral human development achieved through an affordable education system that appreciates Christian and traditional values. Our vision is for a system that prepares literate, skilled and healthy citizens by concentrating on the growth and development of each individual's personal viability and character formation", he said.

He said increasing access to education will only make a difference if it is accompanied by measures that continue to improve the relevance and quality of what the children learn.

"There must be peace if we want to achieve and have a better Papua New Guinea. Every student, parent and teacher in Papua New Guinea, needs to be made aware that they can work towards the creation of a more peaceful future," Sir Paulias said.

He thanked the Minister and Secretary for Education for providing the leadership and guidance and acknowledged the commitment of the National Education Board and the members of National Education Plan Steering Committee.

Focus on Children

Teaching and learning experiences in the PNG education system must have meaning and make sense.

This was the message from the Education Secretary, Mr Peter Baki during the launch of the ten-year National Education Plan (2005 - 2014)

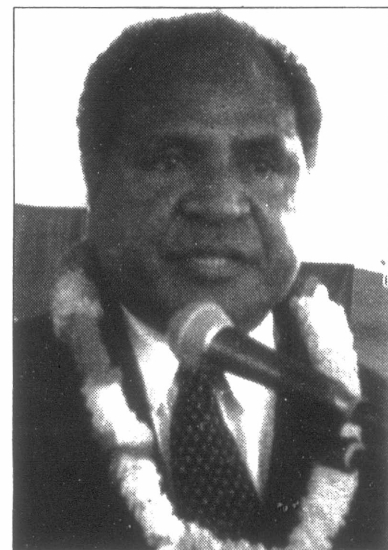

"We must continue to invest in research because we are going to find new knowledge, experiences and come up with ways that will help ourselves to become useful." Mr Baki said.

He said under the Plan there will be a slight shift towards skills acquisition and skill application while highlighting the priorities in education to grow the economy through basic elementary, vocational, technical, tertiary and distance education.

"I commend the national government for the K100 million surplus funding in the 2005 budget so we can visit schools in the rural areas through the school inspectors," Mr Baki said.

The Education Secretary called for everyone's assistance to achieve the implementation of the Education Plan.

"In the Plan we use very simple principals and the challenge we have is to address the rearranging and repackaging of the resources available to the nation through the Department of Education," he said

He said all our efforts must contribute to productive and useful lives.

And he emphasized that the teaching and learning experiences that is provided in the Education Plan through the school system will help a child make important choices.

He challenged every Papua New Guinean school aged child to show their true identity, culture, values and dignity.

Mr Baki also paid tribute to the late Miri Tamarua, Geno Roakeina and Sir Alkan Tololo for their contributions to their initial ideas that helped shape the Ten-Year Plan.

Security Industry Act to be gazetted

It is now mandatory for all security companies in PNG to licence their operations under the new Security (Protection) Industry Act of 2004.

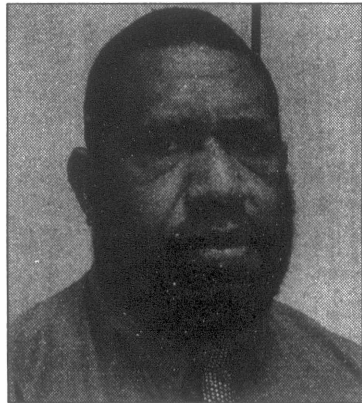

The Act was passed with bi-partisan parliamentary support in November last year to regulate security companies and raise the standard of security services in the country.

Under this law the companies will be required to obtain permits for their security officers/guards.

A provision of the Act provides for the establishment of a body to control and monitor the activities of the licensees.

During a stakeholders meeting in February this year, some members of the industry raised concerns on certain flaws in the Act in its current form and called for amendments before it is gazetted.

The Police Minister's direction was sought and he recommended to allow the gazettal process to go ahead.

Internal Security Minister, Mr Bire Kimisopa

In the meantime, the Police Minister will call a meeting in Goroka to look at the implementation of the Act.

This will involve the formation of the Security Industries Council, which will look at appointing a Registrar and get the Authority up and running.

The new law was the brainchild of the Law and Order Committee of the Consultative Implementation and Monitoring Council (CIMC) under the leadership of Professor John Nonggor.

Competition Law creates financial stability

The development of an effective competition regime in Papua New Guinea is a key element in achieving good governance in the private and public sectors and creates greater financial stability.

This message was conveyed by the Minister for Treasury and Finance, Hon. Bart Philemon, when he addressed a one-day seminar in Port Moresby, recently on, 'Putting Papua New Guinea's Competition Law into Practice - a Practical Guide for Legal Practitioners'.

Government lawyers, judges and private practitioners were treated to several presentations by visiting Australian judges and lawyers.

The seminar is among several awareness programs, the Independent Consumer and Competition Commission (ICCC) is embarking to raise awareness on the competition law, the ICCC Act, which came into effect since May 2003.

Minister Philemon said the general aim of an effective domestic competition law regime, was to promote free and fair competition, where this is in the public interest, and as a consequence, increase efficiency and productivity in the economy, and promote enhanced consumer welfare.

Commissioner of ICCC, Thomas Abe says the awareness programs are aimed at judges and lawyers in the country to prepare themselves for future lawsuits when the Act is tested in a court of law, and to share the experience of the international competition law expert practitioners.

Mr Philemon emphasized that the competition law was a recent addition to the PNG laws and the people have yet to be aware of the law and its significance.

He said furthermore, the competition regime is to ensure that markets work and accurate information is in hands of producers, suppliers and consumers.

Mr Philemon said benefits of increased competition extend to the following participants in the economy:

- to consumers, through lower prices, more product choice and better services;

- to businesses - among other things through cheaper inputs, better service from input suppliers, greater choice of suppliers and access to improved technology, which lead to greater competitiveness both in the domestic market and internationally;

- to governments - through enhanced economic activity, increased revenue base from an expanding economy, and more efficient prices and costs which in turn contribute to the potential for improvements in government services; and

- to the economy - among other things, through lower inflation, increased growth, improved international competitiveness and improved standards of living.

He appealed to judges and lawyers to ensure the competition law for the good country.

So far, the new competition law, the ICCC Act, is yet to be tested in the court of law to establish its effectiveness and soundness as a legal instrument for promoting competitive markets and fair-trading.

Therefore, Mr Philemon said lawyers and judges have not yet had the opportunity to learn through experience on how to develop, manage and adjudicate competition law cases, unlike lawyers in some other jurisdictions where competition law has been in place for many years.

"This is very much dependent on how efficiently and effectively the law is administered, enforced and adjudicated by the independent regulator, ICCC, and through the courts," the Minister said.

He urged lawyers and judges to appreciate and understand the intention of the National Parliament in passing this piece of legislation, and to know the law in terms of its application, interpretation and adjudication, so that the law does in fact serve the purposes for which it was passed.

A member of the Federal Court of Australia and non-resident member of the Supreme Court of Fiji, Justice Robert French, also presented a paper titled 'The Role of Court in Competition Law'.

PNG BILATERAL RELATIONS WITH SOLOMON ISLANDS

PNG - Solomon Islands sign Development Cooperation Agreement

Papua New Guinea and Solomon Islands have signed the Development Cooperation Agreement which paves the way for enhanced development cooperation between the two Melanesian States.

This Treaty enables the Governments of both countries to utilise the existing close relationship to be more practical in promoting and enhancing their development aspirations.

PNG Prime Minister, Sir Michael Somare and his Solomon Islands counterpart, Sir Allan Kemakeza, signed the Agreement at the Morauta House in Port Moresby, witnessed by senior officials of both countries.

On our part, this now paves the way for Papua New Guinea to send magistrates to the Solomon Islands under the Memorandum of Understanding on Judicial Assistance signed by Minister for Justice, Hon. Mark Maipakai and the Minister for Foreign Affairs of Solomon Islands, Hon. Laurie Chan in Honiara recently.

Under this MOU, at least one Senior Grade Five Magistrate would serve in the Solomon Islands whilst others will visit Solomon Islands whenever required to assist in the back-log of cases in the District Courts.

PNG magistrates would also provide on-the-job training and in-house training for Solomon Islands counterparts.

At the signing ceremony, Prime Minister Somare said the assistance to be provided by Papua New Guinea is in line with a long term objective of assisting the Solomon Islands in its development efforts.

And, under the umbrella of this Agreement, both PNG and Solomon Islands will cooperate in the following other activities:

- Development of infrastructure projects of the two countries.

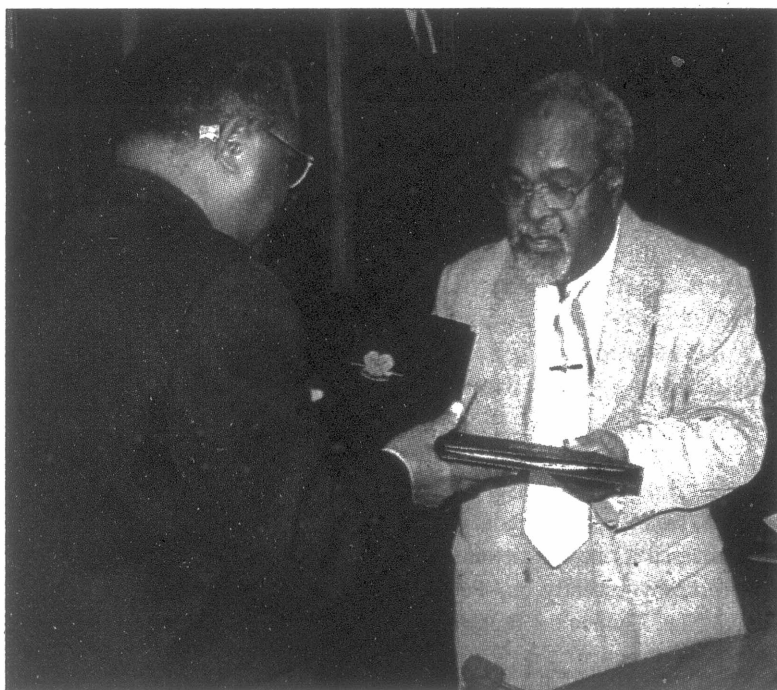

- Exchange of advisors, consultants, technicians and trainees.

- Provision for training opportunities for academics and researchers for the development needs of the contracting parties and;

- The sharing of information and joint activities on certain development issues including political, economic, social, cultural and environmental, security and natural disasters.

Sir Michael said; "Since the establishment of diplomatic relations between our two countries in 1978, our relationship has always been guided by the strong underlying feeling of genuine brotherhood which even withstood the test of some turbulent moments in the past"

He said the bilateral relationship between Papua New Guinea and Solomon Islands has never been in better shape than it is today.

Over the past seven years the two countries have made great strides in consolidating relations in many areas, including through increased exchange in dialogue and consultations, regular visits to each others countries and the signing of various treaties and agreements.

In March 2004, the two Foreign Ministers signed the Agreement Concerning the Administration of Special Areas between Papua New Guinea and Solomon Islands.

This was later followed by the signing of the Framework Treaty Guiding Relations between the two countries in July 2004 by the two Prime Ministers and the Foreign Ministers also signed the Basic Agreement on Border Relations.

Sir Michael said the assistance to be provided by PNG is inline with long term objective of our country to assist the Solomon Islands in its development efforts.

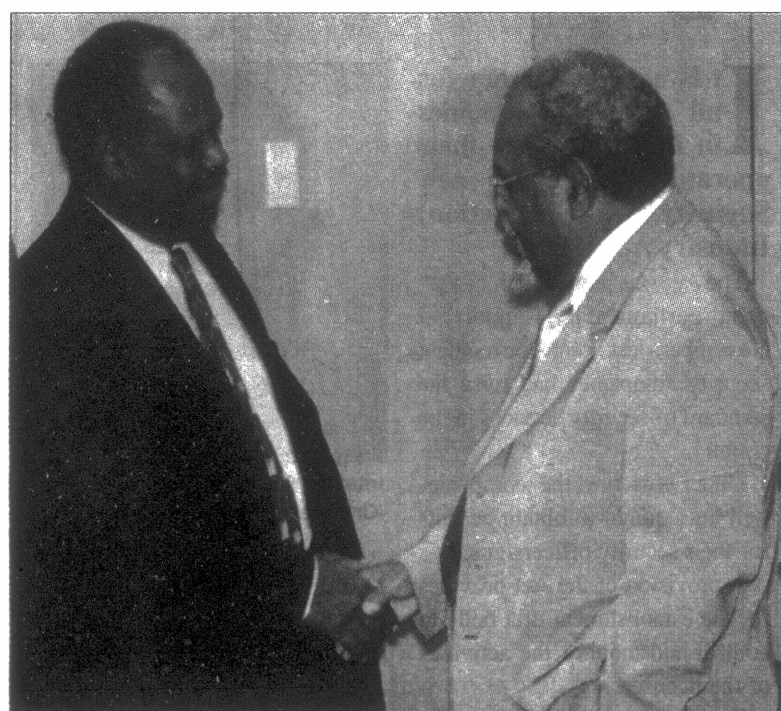

He said the Agreement also strengthens the Melanesian principles that we share in committing ourselves to the promotion of arrangements which facilitate regular, high-level and wide-ranging consultations, exchanges and cooperation amongst ourselves.

Sir Michael said the signing of the development cooperation pact further strengthens our bilateral relations, which continues to grow and flourish in true Melanesian brotherhood.

At the same time, Solomon Island Prime Minister Sir Allan Kemakeza said the signing signifies another milestone in the history of two countries' relations which has a long history based on the traditional bonds of friendship and the various treaties, co-operations and memoranda of understanding that the countries have entered into and enjoy.

"This Development Cooperation Agreement enables our two Governments to recognise and utilise the existing close relationship between our two countries to become more practical in promoting and enhancing the development aspirations of the two people", Sir Allan said.

He said he was pleased that under this Agreement, further cooperation in various areas including infrastructure development would be undertaken to enable the people to engage in productive and meaningful and sustainable activities.

Sir Allan also said Papua New Guinea has also contributed significantly to the improvement of the Solomons education sector and he was encouraged to see that such assistance will continue in the area of training opportunities for academics and researchers in capacity building.

He said the assignment of one of Papua New Guinea's senior magistrate in Honiara, ready to assume duties is a true example of the application of the Development Cooperation Agreement.

PNG BILATERAL RELATIONS WITH JAPAN

PNG prepares for Aichi Expo in Japan

Prime Minister, Sir Michael Somare is confident of the Aichi World Exposition in Japan will present an excellent opportunity for PNG to market many export commodities and showcase its rich cultural attributes.

Speaking from the Exposition site after making a firsthand inspection of the PNG pavilion and the surrounding areas with Minister for Trade and Industry, Hon. Paul Tiensten, Sir Michael said the first contingent of PNG goods and officials would arrive in Japan before the opening on 25 March 2005.

There will be more than 120 countries and international organizations participating at the Expo and a massive 15 million people are expected to pass through the gates during the Exposition.

The Department of Trade and Industry is coordinating PNG's participation in conjunction with the private sector.

Sir Michael said this is a world event that the Government is coordinating to ensure PNG takes full advantage of the opportunities to further establish trade links with other countries.

"The World Expo is the only place you can come into contact with the peoples, cultures, and commodities of many countries in one location," Sir Michael said after traveling from Tokyo to Nagoya by the Shinkansen or bullet train.

He said both he and Minister Tiensten were also impressed with the theme of the Expo, "Nature's Wisdom", and the three sub-themes, Nature's Matrix, Art of Life, and Development for Eco-Communities.

He emphasized, that the theme was appropriate for the Pacific Island countries because of their heavy reliance on the environment for the livelihood of its people, but it is when the Kyoto Protocol has come into force.

The Aichi Expo is the first for the 21st Century, and preparations were smooth. It was set on 158 hectares without disturbing the existing environment.

"PNG supports the major global role that Japan is playing to address environment degradation issues, which the Exposition will be highlighting," Sir Michael said.

The Prime Minister said that the Exposition emphasis on environment was also consistent with negotiations that took place between the PNG Government and leading Japanese energy companies.

"For example, we have reached understanding with Itochu Cooperation on how to develop and market our rich gas reserves, but not discounting the ongoing need to explore alternate energy sources," he said.

Japan supermarts to sell PNG products

Minister for Trade and Industry, Hon. Paul Tiensten and the Mayor of Fujioka City, Hon. Etsuji Tanaka, signed a Memorandum of Understanding recently, giving formal recognition to Fujioka as Papua New Guinea's partner city for the 2005 Aichi Exposition.

Mr Tiensten said under the arrangement, Fujioka will play host to PNG from 25 March to 25 September 2005, the period of the Exposition.

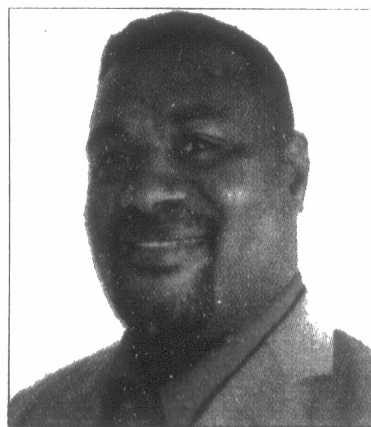

Under the MOU:

- An office space would be made available in the Fujioka Town Office, free of charge, for the PNG Exhibition Centre;

- Fujioka City would publish a guide map of the PNG Exhibition Centre in English and Japanese.

This map would include information on the Centre, retailers of PNG products, and other useful information, also placed at the Pacific Pavilion in Aichi.

- PNG would nominate a local Fujioka supermarket to display and sell PNG products on its shelves

Trade and Industry Minister, Hon Paul Tiensten

during the Exposition;

- Two permanent staff at the Pavilion will be provided accommodation and transportation for the duration of the Exposition. Fujioka City would also secure accommodation for additional personnel who would join the Exposition at later dates.

- Accommodation and transportation will be extended to cultural groups who will also perform at Fujioka.

Minister Tiensten, who traveled from Tokyo to Nagoya recently with Prime Minister Sir Michael Somare visited the Exposition site and Toyota City, which will merge with Fujioka as of 1st April 2005 to consolidate the relationship between Fujioka and PNG.

"I am indeed grateful to the Mayor and people of Fujioka for welcoming the PNG contingent with open arms.

"It is this kind of people-to-people arrangements that gives real meaning to the strong bilateral relations between Japan and PNG that has endured for the last 30 years," Mr Tiensten said.

The Minister said he is confident that by the end of the Exposition, the people of Fujioka will have acquired a greater appreciation of the culture and ways of the people of PNG.

Mr Tiensten also presented a wooden carving of a Bird of Paradise as a token of appreciation to the Mayor of Fujioka in the presence of the Prime Minister, Sir Michael Somare, Mayor of Toyota City, Hon. Kohei Suzuki, Chief Secretary to Government, Mr Joshua Kalinoc, PNG Ambassador to Japan, H.E. Michael Maue, and Japanese Ambassador to PNG, H.E. Katsuo Yamashita.

AGRICULTURE AND LIVESTOCK

Oil Palm growers in Oro get Government assurance

Minister for Agriculture and Livestock, Mr Mathew Siune has assured oil palm growers in Oro Province that the Government will take positive action in addressing their problems.

Mr Siune recently told a public rally in Popondetta that he was aware of the problems affecting the livelihood of the smallholder farmers and would ensure that necessary steps are taken to find appropriate solutions.

The Minister also appealed to all stakeholders involved in the oil palm industry in Oro Province to work together to solve the problems faced by smallholder growers and stressed the need for improved dialogue and a better working relationship among the stakeholders.

These include the Oro Provincial Government, Higaturu Oil Palms Limited, the Popondetta Oil Palm Grower's Association, Oil Palm Industry Corporation, Department of Agriculture and Livestock and other government agencies.

The Minister's visit to Oro Province was prompted by a series of questions raised in the last Parliament session by the Member for Sohe, Mr Peter Oresi, after a rampage by disgruntled growers over their grievances. Mr Oresi highlighted the plight of the farmers relating to bad road conditions, lack of milling capacity and ineffective transportation of fresh fruit bunch (FFB) to the mill.

Mr Siune, accompanied by Managing Director of IPBC, Mr Masket Iangalio and Managing Director of Pacific Rim Plantations, Mr Mike Scott, met with representatives of the oil palm growers, the Oro Provincial Government, the management of Higaturu Oil Palms, Oil Palm Industry Corporation, and other government agencies to discuss the concerns raised by the growers.

He also traveled to one of the worst affected oil palm divisions to see the bad road conditions and inspected a new mill facility currently under construction and later addressed a public rally in Popondetta town.

Leaders of the growers told the Minister that deteriorating road conditions coupled with the continuous mill breakdown and lack of transportation for fresh fruit bunch has severely affected smallholders over a three-year period, and many growers have been put out of production for up to nine months.

They warned that the development of smallholders which took many years of hard work and investment of millions of kina to develop may be destroyed if immediate action was not taken to address these problems.

Mr Siune told the growers, the company has given an assurance that a second mill was being upgraded and the capacity expanded to process 75 tonnes fresh fruit bunch per hour from the current 30 tonnes capacity.

He said the upgrading was expected to be completed by April 2005.

Mr Siune said in relation to the road conditions, he said the Government through Oil Palm Industries Corporation and DAL is working closely with the PNG Incentive Fund to construct 73.4 kilometers of new harvest road and upgrade further 20 kilometers within the oil palm area at a cost of K6.7 million.

In relation to the transportation problem, the Minister said he would look at other options and will also ask the Rural Development Bank to assist the growers in the purchase of big trucks for transportation of the oil palm fruits.

Mr Siune stressed that it was important for all stakeholders - the company, OPIC, the growers, the provincial government, DAL to cooperate and maintain close dialogue.

He said problems faced by the growers will not go away and urged the stakeholders to work together to address the problems and find solutions.

He also called on political leaders at the national, provincial and local government level to put aside their differences and work closely with the private sector in supporting economic development.

Mr Siune said the oil palm industry offers more potential for further development and that positive action should be taken now to create opportunities for the people.

He revealed that the Government is prepared to study the feasibility of restructuring the oil palm industry, involving the repealing of the Oil Palm Industry Corporation Act and placing the States regulatory powers in an industry body.

Mr Siune said despite the reported success story of the oil palm industry, growth of the industry has been stagnant for over ten years.

He said further growth will only come through mobilization and development of customary land under community or village oil palm development models as successfully demonstrated in the Bialla project.

Existing palm oil companies were also urged to make use of the package of incentives provided under the Green Revolution Policy and venture into new production areas.

Livestock boost for Laloki

Livestock development activities in the Laloki area near Port Moresby should be revitalized and expanded to cater for the city's growing demand for livestock meat products.

A preliminary study has revealed that there is potential for the livestock industry to be resurrected in the Laloki catchment area, once a major livestock producer and supplier pork and beef to the city's supermarkets and retailers.

The findings of the study, conducted by a team from the Nucleus Agro-Enterprise Project under the Technical Assistance and Screening Management Unit (TASMU) were discussed at a two-day workshop held at Laloki High School recently and was attended by livestock producers, farmers, government officials and other stakeholders.

It was held primarily to discuss the study report and prepare for a full feasibility study.

The Laloki area over the past 30 years had witnessed the establishment of a number of intensive livestock production enterprises that encompassed both pig and poultry production.

At the peak of its production the area was supplying a substantial proportion of the urban demand of Port Moresby city.

The study shows that revitalizing the intensive livestock industry in the Laloki catchment area is by adopting a nucleus-enterprise concept where essential services of water and electricity.

In the case of pig production, commercial interest would focus on the maintenance of the breeders and the production of improved stocks that can be fattened either by commercial producers or by smallholder growers.

In poultry, the production of day old chicks for broilers or layers would be raised by commercial farmers or by smallholder growers.

There would be a need to re-establish the feed mill and improve the slaughtering and processing facilities.

Team leader and project analyst, Mr David Moles of TASMU in his preliminary study report, recommended that more consultation should take place with a range of stakeholders including customary landowners to ensure that landowners play an active role in livestock development.

The report identified three key areas as the central facilities for the whole Laloki catchment.

These included nucleus breeder farms for pigs and poultry which would provide nucleus rearing, distribution, marketing and smallholder out-grower support service centres; a feed mill; a central abattoir and processing facilities with adequate waste disposal systems.

The report stated that the environment of the area has been extensively disturbed, and the Laloki river is also experiencing ecological stress.

It said the water requirements need to be regulated through an effective integrated catchment management model that would meet the demands of present and future water users or investors.

It further recommended a comprehensive water use survey to determine the number of people and industries abstracting water or discharging wastes into the Laloki river system.

There will be a need for full consultation with all stakeholders prior to the development of each livestock enterprise.

It is expected that new livestock development and expansion of current livestock projects may create employment and income generation opportunities thus reducing social problems.

The study also recommended a more rigid adherence to building standards for all future livestock enterprises to ensure that structures are durable and comply with safety requirements.

It made special mention of the state-of-the-art facilities constructed by Boroma Piggery as an example for other enterprises.

Farmers To Get Credit Access

Farmers in Morobe and Eastern Highlands Provinces will soon have the opportunity to gain access to loan credit facilities.

This will be made possible through a new initiative - a partnership programme between two ADB-financed projects, the Smallholder Support Services Pilot Project (SSSPP) and PNG-ADB MicroFinance Project.

Farmers in the two provinces who are being assisted through the SSSPP will get access to credit through the Wau MicroBank. The bank, which was opened in 2004, has facilities established in Wau and will open its Lae branch in April 2005.

Eastern Highlands farmers can seek assistance at the bank's branch in Lae for now or through a group linkage method that is being trialed in Wau and Lae.

A survey team has conducted a market study this month to determine the viability of opening a branch in Kainantu and Goroka.

This initiative has been welcomed by the ADB PNG Resident

Mission Deputy Head, Mr Werner Schneider, SSSPP Project Coordinator, Dr Sam Lahis and, Project Manager of MicroFinance Project, Ms Josie Mari when they recently visited the Wau MicroBank and held discussions on its operations and how the two projects can partner with the bank to help farmers gain access to credit.

The partnership between the two projects was included in the design of the two projects but due to different stages of loan processing and loan effectiveness, the partnership was not possible until now.

Mr Schneider says the new initiative will give the farmers the opportunity to secure affordable loans which will assist in rehabilitating and expanding their projects.

He said the move is a boost for farmers in the rural communities and the whole agriculture sector.

The Wau Microbank was officially opened on April 22, 2004 to promote a micro-finance culture suitable to the needs of the rural population and to give more convenient and easy access to banking services.

The Wau Microbank provides both savings and credit facilities.

TRANSPORT INFRASTRUCTURE : ROAD DEVELOPMENT

Papa-Lealea road project launched

People living along the eighteen kilometer stretch of the Papa-Lealea road celebrated in fine Motuan tradition, the launching of the upgrading and sealing work by the Minister for National Planning and Monitoring, Hon. Arthur Somare at Papa in the Central Province, mid-this month.

The Minister told the people that the project is being undertaken in-line with the Government's export-driven economy policy, rural infrastructure development and poverty alleviation, enshrined in the Medium Term Development Strategy.

Mr Somare said: "This is an impact project that will generate socio-economic benefits to the people of Kairuku-Hiri electorate".

He said the project will assist the transportation of goods to market in the city by the local community and improve the living conditions of people living in Papa, Lealea and other nearby villages.

"The road project will also improve the transportation of raw salt from Papa village to the salt refinery at Konedobu for the processing of iodized salt", he said.

He said the project signifies the good relationship between China and PNG and acknowledge China's continued support and persistence to improve the living conditions and general welfare of the people in PNG.

"Through the strong and stable relationship the development aid programme provided to PNG has increased through out the years;" Mr Somare stressed.

China is currently the third largest financial aid donor to PNG after Australia and Japan. PNG is also the largest recipient under its aid programme to the South Pacific.

Mr Somare extended his sincere gratitude and appreciation to the People's Republic of China for the generosity in extending the grant aid fund of K10 million for the road project.

The national Government has given K1 million in counterpart funding of the project.

Work to commence on Papa-Lealea road

Work on the upgrading and sealing of the 18.6 kilometer Papa-Lealea road in the Central Province will commence soon.

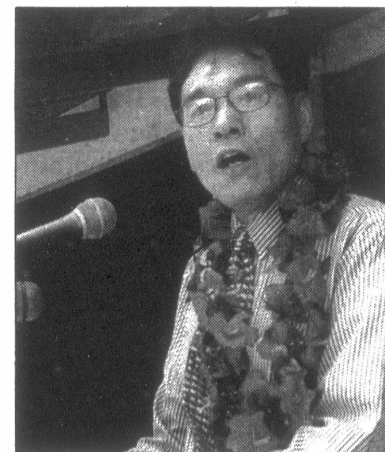

And to mark the launching of the project, a ground-breaking ceremony was performed by a high-level delegation of senior Government Ministers including National Planning and Rural Development Minister, Mr Arthur Somare, Works Minister, Mr Gabriel Kapris, Treasury and Finance Minister, Mr Bart Philemon, Minister for Trade and Industry, Mr Paul Tiensten and Minister for Petroleum and Energy, Sir Moi Avei.

The road project which is in Mr Avei's electorate of Kairuku-Hiri is being funded under a K10 million grant assistance from the Chinese Government under the PNG-China Economic Technical Cooperation Program.

The National Government's counterpart funding of K1 million for the project was presented at the scene to Works Minister, Mr Kapris by the National Planning Minister, Mr Somare.

A Chinese company, Beijing Municipal Engineering Group has been contracted to undertake the upgrading and sealing work.

Speaking during the ceremony, China's Ambassador to Papua New Guinea, H.E. Mr Li Zhengjun said when the road project is completed, it will provide better transportation infrastructure from the Papa-Lealea area to the city.

China's Ambassador to Papua New Guinea, H.E. Mr Li Zhengjun

Ambassador Li said: "With the completion of this road, I hope it will make it easier for local villagers to get their agricultural products to Port Moresby's markets to earn more cash from their produce and improve their living standards".

During the occasion the envoy also said he was hopeful of the commencement of the construction of other projects under China's Technical Assistance Program to Papua New Guinea within this year.

These projects include the renovation of the Government House, construction of a Mathematics and Computer Center at the University of Technology and a dormitory and teachers house at the Vudal University.

Mr Li also said if everything goes smoothly, representatives of China's Metallurgical Construction Corporation will come to Port Moresby to sign the development agreement of the multi million kina nickel mine in the Madang Province.

Moi: Road project - An opportunity for development

Sir Moi Avei

Minister for Petroleum and Energy, Sir Moi Avei says, the road upgrading project into Papa-Lealea area of the Central will present a real opportunity for development to his people.

Sir Moi said "This road

now opens the opportunity for the sons and daughters of this soil to get up and work the soil, to catch more fish, build up some eco-tourism places around Papa to allow Papua New Guineans to leave the city of Port Moresby to come and enjoy the communal setting of our villages.

Our future remains on the sea and on the land and the road will allow us to have access to the biggest markets in Port Moresby. About twenty years ago we were able to get jobs in the city but that opportunity no longer exists for us".

He said the road upgrading and sealing is not only because of the salt project, the children who sang and danced on the launching have the right to demand equal opportunity for development.

Sir Moi thanked the Ambassador, Mr Li Zhengjun, the government and the People's Republic of China for the funding of the road project.

He also expressed joy on the national government's support and assistance in making the project a reality.

The Minister for National Planning and Rural Development Hon. Arthur Somare officially launched the Papa-Lealea road upgrading and sealing project on March 16, 2005.

Katik-Maprik upgrading roadworks contract signed

The upgrading and sealing work on the Katik-Maprik section of the Sepik highway will get underway soon.

The project agreement, paving the way for work to begin was signed between the Government and the contractor, Dekenai Construction company at the Government House on 9 March 2005.

The project will be carried out under the auspicious of the AusAID funded National Roads and Bridges Maintenance Program (NRBMP).

The contract covers the upgrading and sealing works on twenty-two kilometers of the highway at a cost of K11.5 million.

NRBMP was established in 2001 and is designed to maintain approved section of roads, including East Sepik Province. The other provinces covered by the project are Sandaun, Madang, Milne Bay, New Ireland, East New Britain and West New Britain.

Works Minister, Mr Gabriel Kapris said AusAID has spent over K65 million under the NRBMP in East Sepik Province since the beginning of the program in 2001.

Other provinces covered NRBMP are Sandaun, Madang, Milne Bay, New Ireland East New Britain and West New Britain Provinces.

"This shows the generous assistance of our AusAID friends when it comes to the development of our country. AusAID has also funded many other major and minor roads and bridges maintenance works on many highways and roads in the country, including the Highlands highway," Mr Kapris said.

He said although the upgrading and sealing of the Sepik highway is funded by the government of PNG, the East Sepik Provincial Government has contributed K6 million to the project for sealing with an additional K6.9 million to complete the maintenance program of the Sepik highway.

"When completely maintained, the highway will play a major part in the development of the province and the country. Besides giving our people easy and smooth access to government services, the maintained road will also enable the people to help themselves through various projects," the Minister stressed.

Mr Kapris said the Sepik highway runs through some economically vibrant areas in the province and this upgrading work will complement the government's export-driven economic policy.

HEALTH

Dr Temu addresses World Stop TB Day

Minister for Lands and Physical Planning and acting Health Minister, Dr Temu, says there is a need to upscale the efforts made in containing the spread of tuberculosis (TB) in Papua New Guinea.

Dr Temu urged all leaders in government, the private sector and the communities to give the same level of support to TB as that being given to HIV/AIDS program.

"I want to demand that the support for TB must go hand in hand with the support given to HIV/AIDS," Dr Temu said this in his official address on the occasion of the World Stop TB Day observed in Port Moresby on March 24, 2005.

It is proven that TB with HIV/AIDS is a deadly combination as TB can kill HIV positive persons at a faster rate, and the germ can spread fast and easily in a community as TB is air-borne.

Speaking to a crowd of over 400 people, comprising health workers, health program managers, school children, TB patients, and the public at Tabari Place, Dr Temu, said the PNG society remains vulnerable to TB.

"I want to say this in the strongest possible term for the society to react positively towards addressing TB.

"We are not yet protecting the PNG society from tuberculosis," said Dr Temu.

Dr Temu called on leaders in all sectors, development partners and non-government organisations to re-look at the support and commitment to TB because the disease still remains a major killer in the country.

Current figures show that in PNG 3,500 people die from TB every year while over 14,000 are estimated to be living with the disease. At the same year over 6,000 people are diagnosed TB positive, which is about 15% of the total estimated. Of those who are detected and diagnosed with TB only 22% are properly cured while the rest slipped out of the detection and treatment strategy and remain a serious threat to the society.

More worrying and frightening is that of the total detected and put on the treatment strategy almost half of them do not complete their treatment.

This means TB patients can die from this preventable and curable disease, who can pass on the germ to other persons, and if they go on and off the treatment program for a couple of times, the patients can develop drug-resistance TB where it can be hard to treat.

"This has proved to be a dilemma as the United Nations millennium development goal (for 2005) is set at 75% (cure rate) and PNG only achieves 22%.

"PNG is rated as one of the countries with a high rate of TB cases and it is quite dangerous. If we don't control TB, a lot of people living with HIV/AIDS will die. Like HIV/AIDS there should be an upscale effort from all people in the community to tackle this disease as it has a cure and we can prevent its occurrence," said Dr Temu.

He added that if the health system was only able to detect 15% of all TB patients and cure 22% then that is not enough, everyone in the community has to find the rest and cure the rest of the cases.

The effective cure program for TB is the Directly Observed Treatment Short-course (DOTS), which is being implemented in selected provinces and the Department of Health will soon extend DOTS to cover the entire nation.

Eradicating TB - A Priority Concern

The National Health Plan (2001 - 2010) identified tuberculosis (TB) as a priority health burden disease.

TB is an air-borne diseases, which means it can spread from the infected person to others through spitting, sneezing and coughing.

TB is preventable and curable, but the disease has become a national burden because patients lack early diagnosis and treatment and do not comply to treatment strategy.

Preventive measures involve hygiene, improved living standards and better nutrition.

According to the National Health Plan TB poses the following challenges to the nation:

- Tuberculosis-related illnesses and deaths have increased due to poor case detection and treatment compliance, poor sanitation, overcrowding, poor nutrition and HIV infection.

- There is a lack of community awareness of the spread of tuberculosis.

- Diagnostic and treatment facilities are insufficient.

- There are inadequate levels of qualified staff and funding for the tuberculosis program.

- Drug supply for tuberculosis treatment is poor and irregular, especially at the district levels.

- Deaths are due to delayed diagnosis, referral and treatment among other conditions.

Priorities spelt out in the National Health Plan are:

- Improve primary health care facilities for early detection and treatment of tuberculosis...

- Improve diagnostic and treatment capacity.

Participants at the World Stop TB Day - Tabari Place, Boroko.

- Implement Directly Observed Treatment Short-course for TB control.

- Improve community awareness through education about personal hygiene, overcrowding and nutrition.

- Encourage and strengthen partnerships with the private sector.

Policies:

- The Directly Observed Treatment Short-course program or TB shall be implemented nationwide.

- Treatment of TB shall be free of charge.

- Sputum microscopy for diagnosis of TB shall be provided at the district level.

Objectives of the National Health Plan on TB are:

- To increase the TB treatment completion rate from 38% to 70% by 2010.

- To expand coverage of the Directly Observed Treatment Short-course program for TB to all provinces by 2005.

OFFICE OF GOVERNOR-GENERAL

Queen's Golden Thread of Knowledge

As Papua New Guinea celebrated Commonwealth Day on March 14, 2005, Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth said the key to unlocking human potential and creating opportunity is education.

In a statement released from Government House in Port Moresby, the Queen says education is sometimes described as the golden thread that binds the Commonwealth.

"Our shared use of a common world language - English - has underpinned a long and rich tradition of education co-operation. With our shared practises and similar systems, an extensive network of scholarships and many examples of excellence, much has been achieved.

"The work continues as the Commonwealth responds to today's new challenges. In our association, where around 75 million children lack access to basic education, one clear objective is the UN Millennium Development Goal of achieving universal primary education by 2015.

"Another is mitigating the effects of HIV and AIDS, two thirds of whose sufferers around the world are Commonwealth citizens, and which in some member countries each year causes the death of more teachers than can be met by newly qualified replacements.

A third objective is to expand distance education through bodies as the Commonwealth of Learning-based in Canada-, which encourages Commonwealth countries to pool their expertise, she said.

The Queen says knowledge-based economics are the key to future prosperity and overcoming technological and other inequalities will be in the minds of Commonwealth

Governor-General Sir Paulias Matane in full regalia.

Heads of Government Leaders when they meet in Malta in November, 2005.

She said education is a precious gift which should be available to everyone, young and old.

"Not only does it equip us with the skills and the intellect to overcome the problems we face, it also increases our understanding other people, whatever our differences may be" she added.

G-G praise private training efforts

Governor-General, Sir Paulias Matane has commended the International Training Institute (ITI) for affiliating to higher learning to open up new opportunities for students in business and information technology training.

"Your advances toward developing and introducing new courses that are tailored to meet the requirements of employers in Papua New Guinea is an appropriate step. Do not give up, but continue to persevere to achieve the highest expectations of the employment sector," Sir Paulias said.

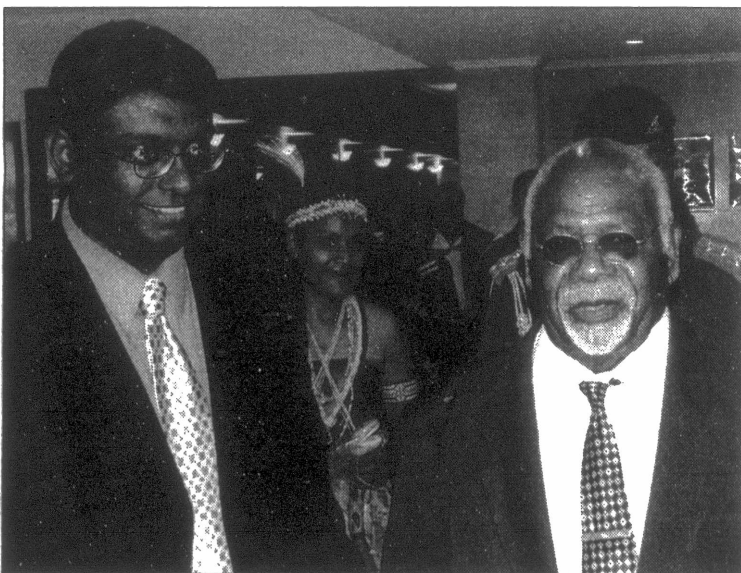

Speaking at the 18th graduation of the International Training Institute in Port Moresby recently, Sir Paulias said it was time the private sector mobilized its existing resources to draw up policies and directives that will influence decision makers in Government to recognize and support efforts in equipping students with appropriate fields of study.

"This no doubt enables you to take care of many Papua New Guineans, who are unfortunate to continue studies through the normal education system.

You are also giving an opportunity to the workforce by teaching employees the latest trends and skills in the areas of business and information technology," Sir Paulias said.

More than seventy students graduated with Certificates and Diplomas in Business and Information Technology while four students completed their university preparatory program from the University of South Queensland.

Governor-General arriving at the Holiday Inn to speak at ITI's 18th graduation.

Proud moments for some of the graduands.

Night clubs concern G-G

Governor-General, Sir Paulias Matane, has called for drastic action against nightclubs, a source of the spread of HIV/AIDS in Papua New Guinea.

He said it is places where young people consume large quantities of alcohol, dance the hours of the nights out and take partners out and pass on the dreadful disease to others.

He warned that the spread of new HIV infections could escalate to 25% or more by the end of this year.

To respond to these challenges, Sir Paulias said religious organizations must be supported and transformed to bring healing and hope to all who are affected by HIV/AIDS.

Sir Paulias made these remarks at the Workshop on Introduction to Basic Care and Counselling, whose objective was to promote care and counselling through compassion and love.

He told the Workshop that religious leaders are in a unique position to alter the course of this epidemic because they shape social values, promote responsible behaviour that respects the dignity of all persons and defends the sanctity of life.

Since the first African AIDS detection in 1981, well over 20 million lives have been lost, and tens of millions more, increasingly women and young people are living with HIV, most of whom are subject to sickness, destitution and premature death.

West Pomio resource owners export timber

THE recent placement of buffaloes and trailers to assist in the sustainable harvesting of natural forest resources of West Pomio communities in the East New Britain province has achieved its goal, with the first export of sawn timber being prepared for shipment to New Zealand under the watchful eyes of Timber Marketing Officer, Mr Aiten Maniho.

Although the timber was inspected before it left Pomio, National Forest Authority (NFA) forest inspectors in Rabaul carried out the final inspection.

The sawn timber will leave PNG shores as a positive advertisement for the promotion of timber harvest from sustainable managed resources.

This milestone achievement has largely been attained as a result of the will of the respective communities with some input by the European Union funded Eco-Forestry Programme (EFP).

Eco-Forestry Advisor Robin Kimpton is very keen on the future of this venture and the positive role it can play to benefit other communities that want to utilise their natural forest resources in a sustainable manner.

The recent tragic tsunami in South East Asia is already having a bearing on timber exports, with a resounding increase in sawn timber prices. Though, timber from West Pomio was initially going to New Zealand, it could eventually be used in specialist construction work in Hawaii, according to the importers' representative.

The initial export order is less than 30 cubic metres, which earned the resource owners about K30,000.00, but this will significantly increase with the production from two more communities that are currently receiving training in saw milling and chainsaw felling techniques.

Mr Kimpton said production could eventually reach more than 100 cubic metres per month.

On-going training in timber export documentation and product presentation will endure the West Pomio resource owners and their communities will be more self-reliant in the future.

Increase use of IT systems: GG

Governor-General, Sir Paulias Matane has said the Government businesses in Papua New Guinea are progressively becoming dependent on electronic information systems to conduct their daily operations.

Sir Paulias says audit, control and security of the information technology systems was of critical important to develop trustworthy financial, administrative and education support systems for the nation.

He was speaking at the 8th Annual Information Systems Audit and Control Association, (ISACA) conference in Port Moresby this month.

He said the PNG chapter has established itself as a professional society amongst the information technology community.

ISACA provides structured framework to answer questions that constantly being asked by leaders, managers and supervisors.

He said Papua New Guineans can excel in what they want to do if they strive towards excellence.
