

2008 Nobel Prize in Chemistry Shared by UC San Diego Researcher Roger Tsien

Watch a video on Tsien's work

Click here to view a slideshow of Prof. Roger Tsien's first day as a Nobel laureate.

Professor of Pharmacology, UC San Diego School of Medicine Professor of Chemistry and Biochemistry, UC San Diego Howard Hughes Medical Institute Investigator (1989 - present)

Wolf Prize in Medicine Gairdner Foundation International Award American Chemical Society Award for Creative Invention Lewis S. Rosenstiel Award for Distinguished Work in Basic Medical Science Heineken Prize for Biochemistry and Biophysics, Royal Netherlands Academy of Sciences Keio Medical Science Prize, Keio University, Japan

Sydney Brenner Nobel Prize in Physiology and Medicine

