CALENDAR ITEM

June 4, 1992 "Deconstructivist Architects," the second in an architectural film series organized by the UCSD School of Architecture, the San Diego AIA and the San Diego Society for Architectural Administrators, will be shown at Warren Lecture Hall 2005, University of California, San Diego, from 7 to 9 p.m. Admission is $3. The film introduces a new international design movement that is challenging post-modernism and transforming modernism. The rational frame and traditional architectural box are no longer assumed; different pieces of a building are abruptly juxtaposed, walls cant, columns incline.
