

A program of black cultural performing arts presented by The Revolutionary Black Drama Association of UCSD

November 12, 1973

The Revolutionary Black Drama Association of the University of California, San Diego will present a program of black cultural performing arts at 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 16, in room 2100 of the Basic Science Building, School of Medicine.

The program will be repeated at 8 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 17, in the Lincoln High School Auditorium.

Singing, poetry, dancing, skits and a minstrel show will be featured in the performances which are free and open to the public.

The show, called "Black Chess," looks at life as a chessboard with each individual having a position and a set of moves determined by his environment.

Caspar "Chip" Glenn, a Third College sophomore, and Michael Curry, a recent UCSD graduate, will provide music for the program which will be directed by Cheryl A. Garrett, a Muir College senior.

Some 70 students are active in the one-year-old drama association, which was founded to further understanding of black cultural arts.

(November 12, 1973)