

UCSD assistant professor of Ethnomusicology in the Department of music receives a postdoctoral fellowship for 1993-94 at the Center for Korean Studies, Institute of East Asian Studies at UC Berkeley

February 22, 1994

Contact: Bonnie Harkins, Department of Music, 534-4830 or Alixandra Williams, 534-3120

HONORS AND AWARDS

Marnie Dilling, assistant professor of Ethnomusicology in the Department of Music at the University of California, San Diego, has received a postdoctoral fellowship for the academic year of 1993-94 at the Center for Korean Studies, Institute of East Asian Studies at the University of California, Berkeley.

Dilling will be completing a book, "Stories Within Stories: Music in the Making of the Seoul Olympic Ceremonies," while also continuing work on rhythm in Korean folk music and the place of music in the cultural movement of Korean and Korean American students.

(February 22, 1994)