

A Revelle College Publication - University of California, San Diego

VOLUME 9 NUMBER 9½

SPRING QUARTER

WANTED: Revelle Student Leaders

Don't miss this exciting chance of a lifetime to.....

- ....travel to far-off lands
(See the Australian eucalyptus trees surrounding the Provost's Office!)
- ....experience the exciting world of fashion
(by modelling outrageous, assorted and sundry pieces of "clothing" in the Fashion Show)
- ....learn valuable life-preserving skills
(e.g., crisis management, when Murphy's Law proves true under the most unfavorable circumstances)
- ....enrich your resume with extra-curricular activities
(but take note of the sometimes adverse effects on your GPA!)
- ....make some money
(by suing the editors of this publication for libel. Or be an RA - at 59.5¢ per hour for 9 months, you can't say that it's not a steady job.)

and for those of you, in the true Revellian image, who are more scientifically oriented, this is your opportunity to....

- ....speak to one of the reclusive scientists residing in Urey Hall
(when he finds the band on the Plaza too loud and threatens to sue!)
- ....apply your problem-solving skills to save fellow students from life-threatening situations
(as a member of the Food and Housing Committee. Save the Revelle community! Nuke the Cafe!)

Be a Revelle Leader! It's not just another job - it's an adventure!!!!!!

What is to be done with all those dollar bills you give UCSD each year (besides parties). Student government serves no purpose if you don't participate. For example, you should be able to decide whether you get plus or minus grades or even the larger concerns of whether beer is served at TG's. So.... as they say, vote early and vote often. And hopefully, vote for me, Ken Okazaki, a student who will try to make college an experience, not just lectures and all-nighters.

David Appleby

I believe in order to fulfill Revelle students' interests, the first important thing for RCC to develop is effective internal communication between the approximately 100 Revelle student government volunteers and external communication with the remaining 2000 plus Revelle students. The second important item, is when students' interests are made known and policy chosen, is to guarantee there is enough student manpower to implement the policy or project. I feel the best way to achieve these goals is to set an example as an RCC member, by attending meetings and spending the necessary time outside of meetings conferring with others and keeping myself up on the issues.

When these two things are established, specific topics, such as effects of budget cuts, programming for social activities, setting up new services, can be effectively addressed.

As former chairman of the Revelle Curriculum Review Committee, I will offer to use my experience gained there; as RCC representative to the Revelle Provost Executive Committee, which determines Revelle academic policy. Last, my required RCC project will be Electric Vehicles, Applications to Commuter Travel.

our concerns about issues (especially the desperately needed Revelle apartments), and with the other college councils to join in making student concerns clear to the administration.

Next year I would like to work even harder to make RCC's voice heard and heeded. I would like to work with the other college councils to form a board (the quad council), which the Chancellor would regularly consult when making policy decisions which have a particular impact on students. (Presently, he seeks only our comments, not our advice.)

I would like the chance to continue to work for Revelle students and for something that we can all be proud of - the Revelle College Council.

Marianne Woo

As a candidate for RCC, I am asking you, the student body, to exercise your right to effective representation. In my opinion, effective representation does not simply entail attending weekly council meetings, discussing several issues, and then leaving it at that. Effective representation is taking a stand on these issues in the best interests of the student body, promoting students' awareness of the policies which may soon affect their lives, and then acting on the feedback from the student body. Undoubtedly, there is a need to improve communications among students, student government, and UCSD administration. Only a council with hard-working, sincerely concerned members can achieve these goals. My experiences in student organizations (particularly, Revelle student government) in the past two years have shown me the value and rewards in devoting your best effort to recognizing and responding effectively to student concerns. Thus, I hope that you will give me the opportunity of representing you next year in RCC. Thank you.

P.S. For those of you curious: no, I'm not the Provost's daughter.

A Revelle College Publication - University of California, San Diego

VOLUME 9 NUMBER 9½

SPRING QUARTER

WANTED: Revelle Student Leaders

Don't miss this exciting chance of a lifetime to.....

- ....travel to far-off lands
(See the Australian eucalyptus trees surrounding the Provost's Office!)
- ....experience the exciting world of fashion
(by modelling outrageous, assorted and sundry pieces of "clothing" in the Fashion Show)
- ....learn valuable life-preserving skills
(e.g., crisis management, when Murphy's Law proves true under the most unfavorable circumstances)
- ....enrich your resume with extra-curricular activities
(but take note of the sometimes adverse effects on your GPA!)
- ....make some money
(by suing the editors of this publication for libel. Or be an RA - at 59.5¢ per hour for 9 months, you can't say that it's not a steady job.)

and for those of you, in the true Revellian image, who are more scientifically oriented, this is your opportunity to....

- ....speak to one of the reclusive scientists residing in Urey Hall
(when he finds the band on the Plaza too loud and threatens to sue!)
- ....apply your problem-solving skills to save fellow students from life-threatening situations
(as a member of the Food and Housing Committee. Save the Revelle community! Nuke the Cafe!)

Be a Revelle Leader! It's not just another job - it's an adventure!!!!!!

RCC ELECTIONS

APRIL 19 - 20

2 Who's Who? at Revelle

Can you name the person who would be most likely to.....

- A) win the "I don't want any sleep this year" award
- B) be mistaken as a John Denver look-alike
- C) run a boarding house for freshman orientation leaders
- D) someday be prosecuted for unnecessary cruelty to animals
- E) model for GQ magazine
- F) start her own dialect of the English language here in San Diego
- G) win a trivia contest based entirely on questions about the Padres
- H) apply for the position of Provost of Revelle College
- I) find ample use of old telephone books, Sears catalogs, and other makeshift stepladders and foot stools

ANSWERS:

- A) Sal Veas
- B) Peter Mortensen
- C) Hoyt Yee
- D) John "the animal killer" Byrne
- E) Hoyt "GQ" Yee
- F) "Burly Sue Dee" Dessinger
- G) Ray Narragon
- H) Hoyt Yee
- I) Robyn Warner

Residence Halls

The Most Spirited Floor Award goes to Argo 7....

where their highly motivated RA has kept the floor satisfied throughout the year. Argo & went further than floor T-shirts to express their loving devotion to their wonderful RA; they composed their own ballad, sung to the tune of "Home on the Range," which they dedicated to their RA. While the rest of this year's RA staff could take comfort only by drowning their sorrows in the alternative beverage or by eradicating the rampant flocks of mechanical sheep left from last year's population boom, the Argo 7 RA found relaxation amidst the refined beauty of the floor. Let's hope that next year's RA's can live up to the standards of the Argo 7 RA.

INTERNS • INTERNS • INTERNS 3

Unforgettable quotes:

- "I don't want to take any money away from Pat that he could use for food."
-Yolanda Garcia
- "But must we keep up with the Loftuses and the Simones?"
-Pat Burke Woo, to Marianne Woo

BEWARE PAUL EVANS!!!!!!! Someday, the little "saps" of the world may unite and take over the galaxy! (And then, where would we all be???)

*****Here's to you, Lisa "the Nobody" Simone

Least likely to do without TAB - Marianne Woo
Least likely to do without beer - Pat Burke

Least likely to arrive at staff meetings without her chauffeur - Lisa Simone

*****Here's to you, Lisa "the Nobody" Simone

ALMOST
The Wedding Bells Award..... for putting a little romance into the otherwise mundane life of the Revelle Intern, goes to Father Patrick Joseph Burke, Thornbird, and Marianne "I'm NOT the Provost's Daughter" Woo. (Sorry, Yolanda. There's always next year's Interns!)

*****Our apologies to Lisa "the Nobody" Simone. She is now finally receiving the recognition Revelations has denied her in previous issues.

And award for devotion to the job, above and beyond the call of duty..... goes to Kathy Loftus. Kathy, after suffering a bloody lip after being carelessly slapped by Pat Burke for some trivial reason, nevertheless continued working in the Community Center Office for the remainder of the year. Really, Kathy - is this job worth risking your life?

*****Here's to you, Lisa "the Somebody" Simone

Memorable Moments in HPA

- Mary McReynolds, giggling in the corner: "Boy, am I glad I'm not an officer!"
- Brad Earhart: best suggestion fo a Semi-Formal theme, "Airport '83"
- Gretchen Long: Most Likely to do Everything. Go for it, Gretchen!
- Alan Gaswirth: Best Dressed at HPA meetings
- Laura Carrel: Tom Campbell Speak-alike Award; she can hype HPA just as fast and enthusiastically as Tom can hype Dow.

Resident Advisors

AWARDS:

- Lisa Johnson - the '82-'83 Black Tongue Award ("Can this be counted as my RA project?")
- Allison Jones - the Purple Heart Award for Bravery displayed as she floated helplessly in the Fountain in the Das Boot incident
- Bob Darroch - the Fashion Chutzpah Award. Where can I get a pair of those shorts, Bob?
- Jack Stephens- the Best New Talent Discovery Award for his heart-warming performance of "Little Bunny Foo Foo" in the Cafe.
- Jamie Baudizzon - the Florence Henderson Award for showing great potential of someday making a great wife AND mother.
- Annette Roberts - the Neatness Award for the $5 bill neatly rolled in her pocket which was discovered at an untimely part of the famous "The Spot" incident.
- Bob Anderson - the Thomas Edison Award for another bright idea - the Alternative Beverage, an achievement towards alcohol awareness.
- Chris Alvarez - Best Dressed La Jollan. Do they always wear beach towels towels in town, Chris?

HONORABLE MENTIONS:

- Alan Gaswirth - Congrats to Alan, who will finally graduate after having won an IM championship. Was it worth 5 years, Alan?
- Lisa Lincoln - Here's to you, future Jane Fonda's of America! (Lori and Lisa opened their own "Workout" Studio earlier this year.)
- Margot Gordon - Our sympathies go with you, Margot. Nothing looks realistic behind 3-d glasses, honest.
- Pat Ikeda - Good luck, Pat, at your CHP officer aspirations. But are you sure it's worth it to avoid being ticketed in your bug?
- Kathie Fuchs - Congrats for the production of your new play! (Please refer to RA award.)
- Karen Stevents - Good luck, Legs. With a nickname like that, the Rockettes should look out!

NOT SO HONORABLE MENTION:

- Vince Van Joolen: Was that you I saw tackling newspaper machines in La Jolla, Vince?