February's Recommendation

The Gentleman's Guide to Vice and Virtue By Mackenzi Lee

This story centers around Monty, a born-to-be gentleman who goes against his father's wishes and embarks on an adventure filled with virtues and vices. Not only does he have to avoid being chased by bandits and being captured by pirates, Monty must also confront the feelings he has fostered towards his best friend and travel companion: Percy.

The Gentleman's Guide to Vice and Virtue tackles issues of privilege, abuse, misconceptions of illnesses, and racism.

WOMXN'S HERSTORY MONTH

CALL FOR PROGRAMS

Creating Our Feminist Future

The month of March was designated Women's History month by Congress in 1987. Though recognition of the month can be traced back to nearly a century in Germany and Sweden, the first organized women's history conferences were not held until the 1970s and 1980s. The contributions of women to society have been largely overlooked and their contributions have been systematically denied from the public consciousness.

Call for Programs: Womxn's Herstory Month Feb. 01 | Women's Center

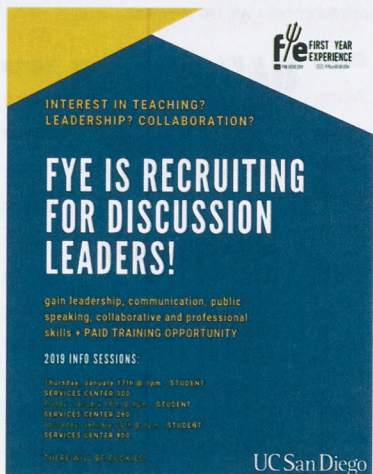

Womxn's Herstory Month is a time to intentionally make space for the stories that have been removed, ignored, or silenced from history. We must also actively acknowledge that the same systems that have diminished the accomplishments of women throughout history have diminished the stories of all communities who experience gender marginalization.

This year's theme is Creating Our Feminist Future. Please submit potential programs for our Herstory Month calendar here by February 1st! Thank you!
