At ~~the~~ I began to remember the story
I had written & thrown away. It began with a poem that has been a dream & as far as I remember now is:

Everyone was going on a journey
Some people were going out
Some people were coming home One man lived in the second story of a wooden house where the gray flat went up & down

day the sun come with his candles every day.

except when it rained Beside the house was a road

a beige road that curved,

~~so he could not see them~~

Beyond the curve was the post office & next to the post office, the flour shop. Only with the flour sack the man yellow

dappled of varying shades of yellow. The man
painted these flowers, of the picture being everywhere. Sometimes there were no daffodils, so the floral sent daisies, + one, sunflowers, all the yellow flowers, in the varying shades of yellow.
Once there were no

yellow flowers & to send the man to pink roses.

Here the man painted very carefully. Taking great pleasure in the many shades of pink

from pale to dark &

the shape of the petals that centered around the

bud. This was the only pink painting in the house. One day the man

hung all the flower

paintings on one wall.

One wall is painted

blue like the sea with

(I don't remember the other one was given the color of using a setting. There were no adjective whatso ever in this story except the word thought, as applied to flowers.

(Nasturtium + mums) for one day the man wanted to send some flowers to a woman but he had no money and was too lazy or spent too much time sitting under a large tree that was ~~massive~~ colored red in the trunk, with blue leaves & some gold somewhere, maybe in the little branches. So he was he didn't want to leave this little piece of hake instead what said? I thought however what is something? that is my secret, don't you? But what is remarkable is the the what is really remarkable is the point at which I start writing - up above - the thought flower I made myself - ~~travelling~~ - at I haven't told you about the sunflowers - the sunflower I brought home (yellow & brown sunflower appears it was brought) from the beach - one I gave away.

The stem had 3 buds on it, one was blooming, & the I put the vase on the table shelf in the kitchen & 26 2 other buds opened & 2 blossomed. So I dried the 3 sunflowers & put them in a glass jar (D + B had left me in a jar) with the blue head water in a wooden box (I see these as I write, later have I remember now)

on a grey nylon cord

yellow daisy with brown center I bought for $1 at F&T & couldn't steal the blue one - ~~found one~~ I put these on a little trial table on the large <sup>(table)</sup> mental rug in the studio & lay on the bed which was covered with many colour cloths & throws & looked at the sunplume & saw 1 man tiny - about 1/4" long - the size of the units, prob ably from one of the real dried sunflowers & I really almost jumped! The calas were so thick & real as opposed to now the calas are so thin I can barely see them which is an indication of my energy level. low!
