

TEAMSTER ACCORD WITH RIVAL IS NEAR

Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, June 28—The International Brotherhood of Teamsters and an arm of the A.F.L.-C.I.O. have reached a tentative agreement to end their year-long quarrel over organizing farm workers.

Cesar Chavez, director of the United Farm Workers' organizing committee, and William Graml, director of field organization for the Western Conference of Teamsters, acknowledged the preliminary accord.

An official agreement between the teamsters and a branch of the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations would be the first since the federation ousted the union in 1957 on corruption charges.

The tentative agreement would establish categories of employment to be organized by each union and provide a no-raiding agreement. The pact, which would last one year, would provide for arbitration of disputes between the two unions.

Authoritative sources said the accord would give Mr. Chavez's union jurisdiction over all agricultural workers except full-time professional drivers. The teamsters, the source said, would have jurisdiction over canning, creamery, processing, warehousing and drivers.

The New York Times

Published: June 29, 1967

Copyright © The New York Times