SIO Technical Publications Office Records, 1945-2000

bulk 1968-1999

Physical Description: 5 mss

Description: The accession consists of subject files of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography Technical Publications Office under the leadership of Kittie Kerr Kuhns. The bulk of these files were generated between 1968 and 1999. The files include correspondence, manuscripts, committee files, guidelines, procedures and policies governing the publication of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography including contract and cruise reports, SIO Annual Reports, Explorations, SIO Bulletin, SIO Contributions, and SIO Reference Series. The files also include material documenting the work of the SIO Staff Council Editorial and Publications Committee.

The files include manuscripts and notes on several books edited by Kittie Kerr Kuhns, notably Scripps Stories: Days to Remember in Celebration of 90 Years, a compilation of anecdotes and memoirs documenting the history of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography which Kuhns authored together with Elizabeth Noble Shor. The accession includes material documenting Ludwig Boltzmann's manuscript, Journey of a German Professor to El Dorado, 1904, which was translated by Irene Jerison and edited by Kuhns and published in Westways in 1983.

Responsibility for publications of the SIO rested largely with the Public Affairs Office until 1968, when Kittie Kerr Kuhn was hired as an editor to take over responsibility for contract reports and the SIO Contributions. She later assumed responsibility for editing content, printing and distribution of other publications including annual reports, scientific papers and the SIO Log. Kuhns worked with the Committee on Educational Policy to prepare the Scripps section of the General Catalog and with the SIO Staff Council Editorial and Publications Committee on the SIO Contributions. In 1971, she took responsibility for editing the Marine Technicians Handbook, which was formerly issued by Sea Grant.
